Authors' Note

Sigmund Freud, Carl Jung, aur Alfred Adler psychology ke duniya ke bade naam hain. Yeh book Adler ke philosophical aur psychological ideas aur teachings ka distillation hai, jo ek philosopher aur ek young ladke ke beech narrative dialogue ke form mein hai.

Adlerian psychology Europe aur United States mein kaafi popular hai, aur yeh simple aur straightforward answers deti hai ek philosophical sawal ka: Kaise koi insaan khush ho sakta hai? Adlerian psychology shayad iska jawab de sakti hai. Yeh book padhne se tumhara life badal sakta hai.

Ab, chalo hum young ladke ke saath chalte hain aur "door" ke paar kuch naya explore karte hain.

Ek hazaar saal purani sheher ke kinare ek philosopher rehta tha, jo yeh sikhata tha ki duniya simple hai aur har insaan ke liye khushi turant mil sakti hai. Ek young ladka jo apni zindagi se dissatisfied tha, is philosopher ke paas gaya tha taaki yeh samajh sake ki asli baat kya hai. Yeh ladka duniya ko ek chaos aur contradictions ka mass samajhta tha aur uski aankhon mein khushi ka koi bhi concept pura ka pura absurd lagta tha.

Introduction

YOUTH: Main tumse ek baar phir poochna chahta hoon; kya tumhe sach mein lagta hai ki duniya har tarah se ek simple jagah hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, yeh duniya bohot hi simple hai aur zindagi bhi.

YOUTH: Toh, yeh tumhara idealistic argument hai ya ek workable theory? Mera matlab yeh hai, kya tum keh rahe ho ki jo issues tum ya main apni zindagi mein face karte hain, woh bhi simple hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, bilkul.

YOUTH: Theek hai, lekin mujhe samjhane do ki main tumhare paas kyun aaya hoon. Sabse pehle, main tumse is par debate karna chahta hoon jab tak main satisfied nahi ho jata, aur phir agar ho sake toh main tumse yeh theory wapas lene ke liye kehna chahta hoon.

PHILOSOPHER: Ha-ha.

YOUTH: Kyunki maine tumhari reputation ke baare mein suna hai. Kaha jaata hai ki yahan ek eccentric philosopher rehta hai jiske teachings aur arguments ko ignore karna mushkil hai, matlab ki log badal sakte hain, duniya simple hai aur har koi khush ho sakta hai. Aise baatein maine suni hain, lekin mujhe yeh bilkul bhi acceptable nahi lagti, isliye main khud confirm karna chahta tha. Agar mujhe tumhara koi bhi kehna bilkul galat laga, toh main usse point out karunga aur phir tumhe correct karunga... Lekin tumhe yeh irritate toh nahi karega na?

PHILOSOPHER: Nahi, main toh is moka ka intezaar kar raha tha. Main chahta hoon ki tum mere paas aao aur jo tum keh sakte ho, usse seekhne ka moka mile.

YOUTH: Shukriya. Main tumhe bina kisi prejudice ke nahi dismiss karunga. Main tumhare views ko dhyaan se sununga aur phir jo possibilities dikhen, unko dekhoonga. "Duniya simple hai aur zindagi bhi simple hai" — agar is thesis mein koi sachai ho sakti hai, toh woh ho sakta hai ek bachche ke nazariye se. Bachche ke paas koi obvious duties nahi hote, jaise ki taxes dena ya kaam par jaana. Unhe unke parents aur society se protection milti hai, aur woh din bhar bina kisi fikr ke apna waqt guzar sakte hain. Woh ek aisa future imagine kar sakte hain jo kabhi khatam na ho, aur jo chahein woh kar sakte hain. Unhe thodi si bhi harsh reality nahi dekhni padti — woh blindfolded hote hain. Toh unke liye duniya kaafi simple lagti hogi. Lekin jaise hi ek bachcha adulthood mein badalta hai, duniya apni asli nature dikhane lagti hai. Jaldi hi, woh bachcha samajh jayega ki asli cheezein kaise hain aur kya woh asal mein kar sakta hai. Uska opinion badal jayega aur woh sirf impossibility dekh paayega. Uska romantic view khatam ho jayega aur cruel realism se replace ho jayega.

PHILOSOPHER: Samajh gaya. Yeh ek interesting nazariya hai.

YOUTH: Aur yeh sab nahi hai. Jab ek bachcha bada hota hai, toh woh kai tarah ke complicated relationships mein uljha jaata hai aur uske upar kai tarah ki responsibilities daali jaati hain. Zindagi aise hi hoti hai, kaam pe ho ya ghar pe, aur jo bhi role woh public life mein apnaye. Yeh kehna galat nahi hoga ki woh uss samay tak kai social issues ko samajh jaayega jo usne bachpan mein nahi samjhe the, jaise discrimination, jang, aur inequality, aur woh unhe nazarandaaz nahi kar sakta. Kya main galat hoon?

PHILOSOPHER: Mujhe yeh theek lag raha hai. Kripya aage badho.

YOUTH: Achha, agar hum abhi bhi uss waqt jee rahe hote jab dharmik vichar prabhavit karte the, toh salvation ek option ho sakta tha kyunki divine teachings humare liye sab kuch hoti thi. Hum bas unhe maanne ke liye itna sochte nahi the. Lekin ab dharm ki taqat chali gayi hai aur ab insaan ka asli vishwas khud par hai. Ab koi bhi kisika bhi sahara nahi le sakta aur sabhi mein ek anxiety aur doubt hoti hai. Har koi apne liye jeeta hai. Aaj ke samaj ka yeh haal hai, toh batao — in sab cheezon ko dekhte hue, kya tum ab bhi keh sakte ho ki duniya simple hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Mera kehna ab bhi wahi hai. Duniya simple hai aur zindagi bhi simple hai.

YOUTH: Kaise? Koi bhi dekh sakta hai ki yeh ek chaos ka mass hai jo contradictions se bhara hua hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh isliye nahi hai kyunki duniya complicated hai. Yeh isliye hai kyunki tum duniya ko complicated bana rahe ho.

YOUTH: Main?

PHILOSOPHER: Hum mein se koi bhi ek objective duniya mein nahi rehta, balki hum sab apni subjective duniya mein rehte hain jo humne khud apne liye meaningful banayi hai. Tum jo duniya dekh rahe ho, woh meri duniya se alag hai, aur tum apni duniya ko kisi aur ke saath share nahi kar sakte.

YOUTH: Kaise ho sakta hai? Tum aur main ek hi desh mein reh rahe hain, ek hi samay mein, aur hum dono wahi cheezein dekh rahe hain — kya nahi?

PHILOSOPHER: Tum mujhe kaafi young lag rahe ho, lekin kya tumne kabhi woh paani piya hai jo bilkul naya nikaala gaya ho?

YOUTH: Well water? Um, bahut time pehle ki baat hai, lekin mere dadi ke ghar ke aas-paas ek kuaan tha. Mujhe yaad hai ki garmiyan mein us kuaan ka thanda, taaza paani pina bada accha lagta tha.

PHILOSOPHER: You may know this: Tumhe shayad pata hoga, lekin kuaan ka paani puri saal ek hi temperature pe rehta hai, lagbhag 60 degrees. Yeh ek objective number hai—sabko same hi dikhai deta hai jo ise measure karein. Lekin jab tum garmi mein yeh paani peete ho toh yeh thanda lagta hai aur jab tum same paani thand mein peete ho toh yeh garam lagta hai. Chahe paani same ho, thermometer ke hisaab se 60 degrees pe, par yeh kaise lagta hai, yeh depend karta hai ki garmi hai ya thand.

YOUTH: So, it's an illusion? Toh, yeh ek illusion hai jo environment ke change se hota hai?

PHILOSOPHER: No, it's not an illusion: Nahi, yeh illusion nahi hai. Dekho, us moment mein, tumhare liye, kuaan ka paani ka thanda ya garam hona ek undeniable fact hai. Yeh hi hota hai apne subjective world mein jeene ka matlab. Tum apne subjective world se bhaag nahi sakte. Abhi tumhe duniya complicated aur mysterious lagti hai, par agar tum change karoge, duniya tumhe zyada simple dikhayi degi. Yeh issue duniya ke hone ka nahi hai, balki tumhare hone ka hai.

YOUTH: How I am? Mera hona?

PHILOSOPHER: Right... Jaise tum duniya ko andhe chashme ke through dekh rahe ho, toh naturally sab kuch andhera lagta hai. Par agar aisa hai, toh duniya ke andhere par shikayat karne ki bajaye, tum bas chashma utar sakte ho. Shayad phir duniya tumhe bahut bright lagegi aur tum apne aap aankhein band kar loge. Ho sakta hai tum chashma waapas lagaana chaaho, par kya tum pehle usse utar bhi sakte ho? Kya tum duniya ko seedha dekhne ki himmat rakhte ho?

YOUTH: Courage? Himmat?

PHILOSOPHER: Yes, it's a matter of courage: Haan, yeh himmat ki baat hai.

YOUTH: Well, alright. Accha, theek hai. Mere paas bahut objections hain jo main raise karna chahta hoon, lekin mujhe lagta hai ki unhe baad mein discuss karna behtar hoga. Main yeh confirm karna chahta hoon ki tum keh rahe ho 'log badal sakte hain', right?

PHILOSOPHER: Of course people can change: Haan, bilkul log badal sakte hain. Woh khushi bhi paa sakte hain.

YOUTH: Everyone, without exception? Sabhi, bina kisi exception ke?

PHILOSOPHER: No exceptions whatsoever: Bilkul, koi exception nahi hai.

YOUTH: Ha-ha! Now you're talking big! Yeh interesting ho raha hai. Main abhi tumse argue karne laga hoon.

PHILOSOPHER: I am not going to run away or hide anything: Main bhaag ke nahi jaane wala ya kuch chhupane wala nahi hoon. Chalo, aaram se is baat par debate karte hain. Toh, tumhara position hai 'log nahi badal sakte?'

YOUTH: That's right, they can't change: Haan, sahi kaha. Woh nahi badal sakte.

PHILOSOPHER: And at the same time, you wish you could: Aur saath hi, tum chaahte ho ki tum badal sako.

YOUTH: Of course. If I could change, if I could start life all over again, I would gladly fall to my knees before you: Bilkul. Agar main badal sakta, agar main apni zindagi dobara shuru kar sakta, toh main khushi se tumhare saamne jhuk jaata.

PHILOSOPHER: You remind me of myself during my own student days, when I was a hot-blooded young man searching for the truth, traipsing about, calling on philosophers: Tum mujhe apni student life yaad dilate ho, jab main bhi ek garam khoon wala jawaan tha jo sachchai ki talaash mein tha, philosophers se milne jaata...

YOUTH: Yes. I am searching for the truth. The truth about life: Haan. Main sachchai ki talaash mein hoon. Zindagi ke baare mein sachchai.

PHILOSOPHER: My study is just over there. Go into it. It's going to be a long night: Mera study bas wahan hai. Wahan jao. Aaj raat kaafi lambi hogi. Main jaake kuch garam coffee banaata hoon.

THE FIRST NIGHT

Deny Trauma

The young man study mein enter kiya aur ek chair pe slouched baitha.

Why wo itna determined tha philosopher ke theories ko reject karne ke liye?

Uske reasons bilkul clear the.

Usmein self-confidence ki kami thi, aur bachpan se hi, yeh deep-seated feelings of inferiority se aur badh gayi thi, especially apne personal aur academic backgrounds ke regarding, aur apne physical appearance ko lekar bhi.

Shayad is wajah se, jab log usse dekhte the, wo zyada self-conscious ho jata tha.

Mostly, wo doosre logon ki khushi ko truly appreciate karne mein incapable lagta tha aur hamesha apne aapko pity karta rehta tha.

Uske liye, philosopher ke claims bas fantasy ka stuff the.

The Unknown Third Giant

YOUTH: Abhi kuch time pehle, aapne "another philosophy" ka word use kiya, par maine suna tha ki aapki specialty Greek philosophy mein hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, Greek philosophy meri life ka center raha hai jab se main teenager tha. Woh great intellectual figures: Socrates, Plato, Aristotle. Main abhi Plato ka ek work translate kar raha hoon, aur mujhe ummid hai ki baaki ki life main classical Greek thought study karte huye guzarunga.

YOUTH: Toh phir yeh "other philosophy" kya hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh ek bilkul nayi school of psychology hai jo Austrian psychiatrist Alfred Adler ne 20th century ke shuruat mein establish ki thi. Isse generally Adlerian psychology kaha jata hai.

YOUTH: Huh. Main kabhi nahi sochta tha ki Greek philosophy ka specialist psychology mein interested ho sakta hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Main dusre schools of psychology ke paths se zyada familiar nahi hoon. Lekin mujhe yeh kehna galat nahi hoga ki Adlerian psychology clearly Greek philosophy ke saath aligned hai, aur yeh ek proper field of study hai.

YOUTH: Mujhe thoda bohot Freud aur Jung ki psychology ka pata hai. Ek fascinating field hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, Freud aur Jung dono renowned hain. Adler Vienna Psychoanalytic Society ke original core members mein se ek tha, jo Freud ke dwara lead ki ja rahi thi. Uske ideas Freud se counter the, aur isliye wo group se alag ho gaya aur apni original theories pe based "individual psychology" propose ki.

YOUTH: Individual psychology? Aur ek ajeeb term. Toh Adler, Freud ka disciple tha?

PHILOSOPHER: Nahi, wo nahi tha. Yeh misconception common hai, aur humein ise dur karna hoga. Ek toh, Adler aur Freud ka age mein kaafi similarity thi, aur jo unke beech ka relationship tha, wo research ke level pe barabar ka tha. Is point par Adler Jung se bilkul different tha, jo Freud ko ek father figure samajhta tha. Jabki psychology mainly Freud aur Jung se associated hai, Adler ko poore duniya mein Freud aur Jung ke saath ek of the three giants maana jata hai is field mein.

YOUTH: Samajh gaya. Shayad mujhe isse zyada study karna chahiye tha.

PHILOSOPHER: Main samajh sakta hoon ki aapko Adler ke baare mein nahi pata. Jaise ki usne khud kaha tha, “Aisa waqt aa sakta hai jab koi mera naam bhi yaad na kare; log yeh bhi bhool sakte hain ki hamari school kabhi thi.” Fir usne yeh bhi kaha ki isse farq nahi padta. Iska matlab tha ki agar uski school bhool gayi, toh isliye hoga kyunki uske ideas ek single area of scholarship ke bounds ko cross kar chuke honge, aur woh common sense ban gaye honge, aur sabke beech samajh bani hogi. Jaise, Dale Carnegie, jo international bestsellers How to Win Friends and Influence People aur How to Stop Worrying and Start Living ke author hain, unhone Adler ko “ek great psychologist jo apni life human beings aur unki latent abilities ko samajhne mein laga diya tha” kaha. Adler ke thinking ka influence unke writings mein clearly dikhta hai. Aur Stephen Covey ki The 7 Habits of Highly Effective People mein, kaafi content Adler ke ideas se milta hai. Dusre shabdon mein, Adlerian psychology ek strict area of scholarship se zyada ek realization, truths aur human understanding ka culmination hai. Phir bhi, Adler ke ideas ko kaha jata hai ki yeh apne time se ek sau saal aage the, aur aaj bhi hum inhe puri tarah se samajh nahi paaye. Yeh isliye itne groundbreaking the.

YOUTH: Toh aapke theories initially Greek philosophy se nahi, balki Adlerian psychology ke viewpoint se develop huye hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, bilkul.

YOUTH: Accha. Ek aur baat poochni thi aapke basic stance ke baare mein. Aap philosopher hain? Ya psychologist hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Main philosopher hoon, ek aise insaan jo philosophy jeeta hai. Aur mere liye, Adlerian psychology ek aisi soch hai jo Greek philosophy ke saath aligned hai, aur wahi philosophy hai.

YOUTH: Theek hai, phir. Chalo shuru karte hain.

Why People Can Change

YOUTH: Pehle, chalo discussion ke points plan karte hain. Aap kehte ho ki log badal sakte hain. Phir aap usse aage badhate ho, kehte ho ki har koi khushi paa sakta hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, har koi, bina kisi exception ke.

YOUTH: Chalo, khushi ke baare mein baad mein baat karte hain aur pehle badlav ko address karte hain. Har koi chahta hai ki wo badal sake. Main janta hoon ki main chahta hoon, aur mujhe yakin hai ki jo bhi aap sadak pe milenge, wo bhi is baat se sehmata honge. Par kyun har koi chahta hai ki wo badle? Sirf ek jawab hai: kyunki wo badal nahi sakte. Agar logon ke liye badalna aasaan hota, toh wo apni zindagi itna waqt is soch mein nahi bitate ki wo badal sakte. Chahe jitna bhi wo chahe, log badal nahi sakte. Aur isi liye hamesha log naye dharmon, shakhsiyat ko badalne wali self-help seminars, aur preaching mein aasani se fasa jaate hain. Kya main galat hoon?

PHILOSOPHER: Accha, jawab mein main aap se yeh puchna chahunga ki aap itna pakka kyun kehte ho ki log nahi badal sakte?

YOUTH: Yeh hai wajah. Mere ek dost hai, ek ladka, jo apne kamre mein kuch saalon se band ho gaya hai. Wo chahta hai ki wo bahar jaaye aur sochta hai ki wo kaam bhi kar sakta hai, agar ho sake. Toh wo apni situation ko badalna chahta hai. Main yeh apne dost ke baare mein keh raha hoon, lekin main aapko bata duun ki wo ek bahut serious insaan hai jo samajh ke liye kaafi faayde mand ho sakta hai. Bas wo apne kamre se bahar jaane se dar raha hai. Agar wo ek kadam bhi bahar rakhta hai, toh usse palpitations hoti hain, aur uske haath-paon mein kaanpna hota hai. Yeh ek tarah ka neurosis ya panic hai, main keh sakta hoon. Wo badalna chahta hai, par wo nahi badal sakta.

PHILOSOPHER: Aapko kya lagta hai ki usse bahar jaane mein kyon mushkil ho rahi hai?

YOUTH: Mujhe sach mein nahi pata. Ho sakta hai uske parents ke saath kuch issues ho, ya shayad usne school ya kaam mein bullying jhela ho. Usne shayad kisi trauma ka samna kiya ho. Par phir, yeh uske opposite bhi ho sakta hai—shayad wo bachpan mein zyada pampered tha aur reality ka samna nahi kar pata. Main bas nahi janta, aur main uske past ya family situation mein dakhil nahi de sakta.

PHILOSOPHER: Toh aap keh rahe ho ki aapke dost ke past mein kuch incidents the, jo trauma ka kaaran bane, ya kuch aisa, aur usi wajah se wo ab bahar nahi jaa sakta?

YOUTH: Haan, bilkul. Har effect se pehle ek cause hota hai. Ismein kuch bhi mysterious nahi hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Phir shayad uska bahar nahi jaa paane ka kaaran uske bachpan ke ghar ke mahaul mein chhupa ho. Uske parents ne uska abuse kiya aur wo kabhi bhi pyaar mehsoos nahi kar paya. Isi liye wo logon se interact karne se dar raha hai aur isliye wo bahar nahi jaa sakta. Yeh feasible hai, hai na?

YOUTH: Haan, bilkul feasible hai. Main sochta hoon ki yeh kaafi challenging hoga.

PHILOSOPHER: Aur phir aap keh rahe ho, “Har effect se pehle ek cause hota hai.” Yaani, jo main abhi hoon (effect), wo mere past incidents (causes) ke dwara tay kiya gaya hai. Kya main sahi samajh raha hoon?

YOUTH: Haan.

PHILOSOPHER: Toh agar duniya ke har insaan ka jo aaj hai, wo unke past incidents ki wajah se hai, toh aapko nahi lagta ki yeh kuch ajeeb ho jayega? Aap samajh rahe ho? Agar sabhi log jo apne parents ke dwara abuse hue hain, wo bilkul aapke dost ki tarah ban jayenge aur ek recluse ban jayenge, toh pura concept hi galat ho jayega. Matlab, agar past sach mein present ko tay karta hai, aur causes effects ko control karte hain, toh yeh baat sahi nahi lagti.

YOUTH: Aap kya keh rahe ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Agar hum sirf past causes pe focus karenge aur cheezon ko bas cause aur effect ke through samjhne ki koshish karenge, toh hum determinism mein chale jayenge. Kyunki yeh kehna hai ki hamara present aur future already past occurrences se tay ho chuka hai, aur wo badalne ki koshish nahi kar sakte. Kya main galat hoon?

YOUTH: Toh aap keh rahe ho ki past ka koi matlab nahi hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, yeh Adlerian psychology ka viewpoint hai.

YOUTH: Samajh gaya. Ab mujhe lagta hai ki conflict points thode clear ho gaye hain. Par dekho, agar hum aapke viewpoint ko follow karen, toh iska matlab yeh ho jayega ki mere dost ke bahar na jaane ki koi wajah nahi hai? Kyunki aap keh rahe ho ki past incidents ka koi matlab nahi hai. Mujhe maaf kijiye, par yeh bilkul galat hai. Iske peeche koi na koi wajah honi chahiye. Agar nahi, toh koi explanation nahi ho sakti!

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul, agar aisa hota toh koi explanation nahi hoti. Toh Adlerian psychology mein hum past “causes” ke baare mein nahi sochte, balki present “goals” ke baare mein sochte hain.

YOUTH: Present goals?

PHILOSOPHER: Aapke dost insecure hain, isliye wo bahar nahi jaa pa rahe. Isko doosre tareeke se samjho. Wo bahar jaana nahi chahte, isliye wo apne aapko anxiety ka shikar bana rahe hain.

YOUTH: Kya?

PHILOSOPHER: Isse iss tareeke se socho. Aapke dost ka pehle se yeh goal tha ki wo bahar nahi jaaye, aur is goal ko achieve karne ke liye unhone anxiety aur fear ka ek state create kar liya. Adlerian psychology mein isse “teleology” kaha jata hai.

YOUTH: Aap mazak kar rahe ho! Mere dost ne apni anxiety aur fear imagine kiya? Toh kya aap yeh keh rahe ho ki wo sirf bimaar hone ka naatak kar rahe hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Wo bimaar hone ka naatak nahi kar rahe. Jo anxiety aur fear wo mehsoos kar rahe hain, wo asli hain. Kabhi-kabhi unhe migraines aur violent stomach cramps bhi ho sakte hain. Par yeh sab symptoms unhone apne goal ko achieve karne ke liye create kiye hain, jise wo bahar nahi jaana chahte.

YOUTH: Yeh sach nahi ho sakta! Koi tareeka nahi! Yeh bahut depressing hai!

PHILOSOPHER: Nahi. Yeh hai fark etiology (causation ka study) aur teleology (ek given phenomenon ke purpose ko samajhna, na ki uska cause). Jo aap mujhe bata rahe ho, wo sab etiology pe based hai. Agar hum etiology mein hi rahenge, toh hum ek bhi kadam aage nahi badhenge.

Trauma Does Not Exist

YOUTH: Agar aap itni zor se baat kar rahe ho, toh mujhe ek thorough explanation chahiye. Shuruat mein, aap jo etiology aur teleology ke beech ka difference keh rahe ho, vo kya hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Maan lo tumhe cold ho gayi hai aur high fever hai, aur tum doctor ke paas jaate ho. Phir maan lo doctor yeh kehta hai ki tumhare bimari ka reason yeh hai ki kal jab tum bahar gaye the, tum properly dressed nahi the, aur isi wajah se tumhe cold ho gayi. Ab, kya tum isse satisfied ho jaoge?

YOUTH: Bilkul nahi. Mujhe yeh farq nahi padta ki reason kya tha—kya main galat kapde pehna tha, ya barish thi ya kuch aur. Jo mujhe matter karega, vo yeh hai ki abhi main high fever se suffer kar raha hoon. Agar vo doctor hai, toh mujhe usse dawa dene, shots lene, ya jo bhi zaroori measures hain, woh lene ki zarurat hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Lekin jo log etiological stance lete hain, jismein zyada tar counselors aur psychiatrists shamil hain, woh yeh kahenge ki jo tum suffer kar rahe ho vo past mein kisi cause ki wajah se hai, aur phir tumhe bas yeh kehkar tasalli denge, "Dekho, yeh tumhara fault nahi tha." Traumas ke baare mein yeh argument typical hai etiology ka.

YOUTH: Ruk jao! Kya aap trauma ki existence ko poori tarah se deny kar rahe ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, main bilkul deny kar raha hoon.

YOUTH: Kya! Kya aap, ya shayad main kehna chahta hoon Adler, psychology ke authority nahi hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Adlerian psychology mein trauma ko definitively deny kiya gaya hai. Yeh ek bahut nayi aur revolutionary baat thi. Zaroori nahi hai ki Freud ka trauma wala viewpoint fascinating na ho. Freud ka kehna hai ki kisi vyakti ke psychic wounds (traumas) uski present unhappiness ka reason hote hain. Jab aap kisi vyakti ki zindagi ko ek bade narrative ke roop mein dekhte ho, toh wahan ek samajhne layak causality hoti hai aur ek dramatic development ka sense hota hai jo strong impressions banaata hai aur bahut attractive hota hai. Lekin Adler, jo trauma argument ko deny karta hai, yeh kehta hai: "Koi bhi anubhav apne aap mein hamari safalta ya asafalta ka kaaran nahi hota. Hum apne experiences ke shock se nahi suffer karte—jo so-called trauma hai—par hum unse wahi nikaalte hain jo humare purpose ke liye suitable ho. Hum apne experiences se determined nahi hote, balki unhe jo meaning hum dete hain, vo humein self-determined banaata hai."

YOUTH: Toh hum un experiences se wahi nikaal lete hain jo hamare purposes ke liye suitable ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Focus karo Adler ke point par jab woh kehte hain ki humara self humare experiences ke basis par nahi, balki un experiences ko jo meaning hum dete hain, uss basis par determined hota hai. Woh yeh nahi keh rahe hain ki ek bhayankar calamity ya childhood mein abuse ya aur kisi aise incident ka personality formation par koi influence nahi hota; unka influence strong hota hai. Lekin zaroori baat yeh hai ki kuch bhi un influences se determined nahi hota. Hum apni zindagi ko apne past experiences ke meaning ke according determine karte hain. Tumhari zindagi kuch aisi nahi hai jo kisi ne tumhe di ho, balki tum apni zindagi khud choose karte ho, aur tumhi decide karte ho ki tum kaise jeena chahte ho.

YOUTH: Toh tum keh rahe ho ki mera friend apne kamre mein band ho gaya hai kyunki usne apni zindagi is tarah se jeene ka decision liya hai? Yeh serious hai. Mujhe yakeen hai, yeh uska chahna nahi tha. Agar kuch tha toh, yeh kuch tha jo usse circumstances ke wajah se choose karna pada. Uske paas koi aur choice nahi thi ki vo aaj jo hai, vo waise hi ho.

PHILOSOPHER: Nahi. Maan lo tumhara friend sach mein yeh sochta hai ki vo society mein fit nahi ho sakta kyunki usse uske parents ne abuse kiya, toh bhi yeh isliye hai kyunki yeh uska goal hai ki vo aise soch raha ho.

YOUTH: Aisa kis type ka goal hota hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Immediate goal shayad "bahar na jaana" ho sakta hai. Vo apni anxiety aur fear ko reasons bana raha hai apne andar rehne ke liye.

YOUTH: Lekin vo bahar kyun nahi jaana chahta? Wahi toh problem ka main reason hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Accha, socho usse parents ke nazariye se. Tumhara kya reaction hoga agar tumhara baccha apne kamre mein band ho?

YOUTH: Main pareshan ho jaunga, bilkul. Main chaunga ki vo society mein wapas aaye, main chaunga ki vo theek ho, aur main sochunga ki maine usse sahi tareeke se nahi raise kiya. Mujhe sure hai ki main seriously concerned ho jaunga aur har tarah se usse wapas normal life jeene mein madad karunga.

PHILOSOPHER: Yehhi toh problem hai.

YOUTH: Kahan?

PHILOSOPHER: Agar main apne kamre mein hamesha rehta hoon, bina kabhi bahar jaaye, toh mere parents chinta karenge. Main apne parents ki puri attention khud pe la sakta hoon. Vo mere aas-paas bohot careful rahenge aur hamesha mujhe kid gloves se handle karenge. Dusri taraf, agar main ghar se ek kadam bhi bahar rakhta hoon, toh main bas ek faceless mass ka hissa ban jaunga jise koi nahi dekhega. Main un logon se ghir jaunga jinko main nahi jaanta aur bas average ya less than average ban jaunga. Aur koi mujhe special care nahi dega... Aise stories reclusive logon ke baare mein common hoti hain.

YOUTH: Toh agar main tumhare reasoning ko follow karoon, toh mera friend apne goal ko accomplish kar chuka hai aur apne current situation se satisfied hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Mujhe lagta nahi vo satisfied hai, aur mujhe yakin hai ki vo happy bhi nahi hai. Lekin koi shak nahi hai ki vo apne goal ke according action le raha hai. Yeh sirf tumhare friend ke liye nahi hai. Hum sab apne life mein kisi na kisi goal ke according jee rahe hain. Yehhi teleology ka kehna hai.

YOUTH: Bilkul nahi. Main isse puri tarah se reject karta hoon. Dekho, mera friend—

PHILOSOPHER: Suno, agar hum sirf tumhare friend ke baare mein baat karte rahenge, toh yeh discussion kahin nahi jayegi. Yeh ek trial ban jayega aur vo hopeless ho jayega. Chalo, koi aur example lete hain.

YOUTH: Accha, yeh wala example kaise rahega? Yeh mera apna experience hai jo maine kal feel kiya.

PHILOSOPHER: Oh? Main sun raha hoon.

People Fabricate Anger

YOUTH: Kal dopahar, main ek coffee shop mein kitab padh raha tha, jab ek waiter guzra aur meri jacket par coffee gira di. Maine abhi hi khareedi thi aur yeh meri sabse achi kapda hai. Main kuch nahi kar sakta tha, bas mera gussa bahut badh gaya. Maine use zor se daanta. Main aam taur par un logon mein se nahi hoon jo public jagah pe zor se baat karte hain. Lekin kal, shop mere cheekhon se goonj rahi thi, kyunki main gusse mein tha aur mujhe pata bhi nahi chala ki main kya kar raha hoon. Toh, ab batao? Kya yahan koi goal ka bhi idea tha? Chahe jaise bhi dekh lo, kya yeh behavior kisi cause se nahi aata?

PHILOSOPHER: Toh aapko gussa aaya aur aap chilla pade. Halanke aap aam taur pe shaant hote hain, aap apne gusse ko rok nahi paye. Yeh ek aise ghatna thi jo aapko apne control mein nahi thi. Kya aap yeh keh rahe hain?

YOUTH: Haan, kyunki yeh itna achanak ho gaya. Shabdon ne mere muh se nikal kar aise aaye, jaise mujhe sochne ka waqt hi nahi mila.

PHILOSOPHER: Toh maan lo, aapke paas kal ek chaku tha, aur jab aap gusse mein aaye toh aap usse le kar usse maar diya. Kya aap ab bhi keh sakte ho, "Yeh ek unavoidable ghatna thi, aur main kuch nahi kar sakta tha"?

YOUTH: Yeh... Arey yaar, yeh koi extreme argument hai!

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh koi extreme argument nahi hai. Agar hum aapke reasoning ko follow karein, toh koi bhi crime jo gusse mein ho, usse gusse par daal diya jaayega, aur fir woh person ki responsibility nahi rahegi, kyunki aap asal mein yeh keh rahe ho ki log apne emotions ko control nahi kar sakte.

YOUTH: Toh phir mere gusse ko kaise samjhaoge?

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh asaan hai. Aap itne gusse mein nahi the ki chilla padte. Yeh sirf yeh tha ki aap gussa hue taaki aap chilla sakein. Dusre shabdon mein, shouting ka goal pehle tha, aur uske liye aapne gussa banaya.

YOUTH: Aap keh rahe ho ki maine gussa banaya? Yeh aap mujhe joke maar rahe ho!

PHILOSOPHER: Toh phir aapne apni awaaz kyun uthayi?

YOUTH: Jaise maine pehle kaha, main apna temper lose kar gaya tha. Main bohot frustrated tha.

PHILOSOPHER: Nahi. Aap bina awaaz badhaye apne baat samjha sakte the, aur waiter shayad aapko sacchi maafi de deta, aapki jacket ko saaf kar deta, aur dusre zaroori steps leta. Shayad woh aapki jacket dry-clean karwane ka bandobast bhi kar leta. Aur kahin na kahin aapke dimaag mein yeh soch raha tha ki woh yeh sab karega, lekin phir bhi aapne chilla diya. Aapko normal shabdon mein samjhane ka tareeka bohot mushkil laga, aur aapne socha ki aapko yeh sab karne ki bajaye is be-izzat shakhs ko apni baat sunana hai. Yeh kaam karne ke liye, aapne gussa ka istemaal kiya.

YOUTH: Bilkul nahi. Aap mujhe nahi samjha rahe ho. Main gussa isliye nahi banaya taaki woh meri baat maane. Main aapko kasam khata hoon, mujhe is baat ko sochne ka ek bhi second nahi mila. Main bas gussa ho gaya tha, gussa ek impulsive emotion hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul sahi, gussa ek instant emotion hai. Ab suno, mere paas ek kahani hai. Ek din, ek maa aur beti zor zor se ladh rahe the. Tabhi, achanak telephone ki awaaz sunayi di. "Hello?" Maa ne receiver uthaya, lekin unki awaaz abhi bhi gusse se bhari thi. Caller maa ki beti ki homeroom teacher thi. Jaise hi maa ne jaana ki kaun phone kar raha tha, unki awaaz ka tone badal gaya aur unhone bohot polite tareeke se baat ki. Phir, agle paanch minute tak, unhone apni best telephone voice mein baat ki. Jab unhone phone rakha, ek hi pal mein unka chehra badla aur woh dobara apni beti par chillane lag gayi.

YOUTH: Arre yeh koi ajeeb kahani toh nahi hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Samajh rahe ho? Ek shabd mein, gussa ek tool hai jo zaroorat padne par nikala ja sakta hai. Jaise hi phone ka ringtone suna, usse rakh diya, aur phir phone rakhte hi wapas nikaal liya. Maa gusse mein apni beti par chillane nahi thi, woh bas apne gusse ko apni beti ko zyada zor se apne views sunane ke liye use kar rahi thi.

YOUTH: Toh gussa ek goal achieve karne ka tareeka hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, yeh hai teleology ka kehna.

YOUTH: Ah, ab samajh gaya. Tumhare is dheere-dheere mask ke neeche, tumhare andar ek nihilist hai! Chahe hum anger ke baare mein baat kar rahe ho, ya meri introverted friend ke baare mein, tumhare sare ideas human beings ke liye mistrust se bhare hue hain!

How to Live Without Being Controlled by the Past

PHILOSOPHER: Main kaise nihilistic hoon?

YOUTH: Socho. Seedha kehna, tum insani jazbaat ko deny karte ho. Tum kehte ho ke jazbaat sirf tools hain, sirf goals achieve karne ke liye ek means hain. Par suno, agar tum jazbaat ko deny karte ho, toh tum humaari insaniyat ko bhi deny kar rahe ho. Kyunki humare jazbaat hi hain, aur yeh jo hum alag-alag feelings se prabhavit hote hain, yeh hi toh humein insaan banata hai. Agar jazbaat deny kiye jayein, toh hum insaan sirf ek bekaar machine ke excuse ban jayenge. Agar yeh nihilism nahi hai, toh aur kya hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Main yeh nahi keh raha ke jazbaat nahi hote. Sabhi ke paas jazbaat hote hain, yeh toh sabko pata hai. Par agar tum yeh keh rahe ho ke log aise hain jo apne jazbaat pe control nahi rakh sakte, toh main iske khilaf hoon. Adlerian psychology ek aisi philosophy hai jo nihilism ke bilkul opposite hai. Hum apne jazbaaton se control nahi hote. Is sense mein, yeh dikhata hai ke log apne jazbaaton se control nahi hote, aur yeh bhi dikhata hai ke hum apne past se bhi control nahi hote.

YOUTH: Toh log na apne jazbaaton se control hote hain, na apne past se?

PHILOSOPHER: Samajh lo, maan lo koi aadmi hai jiske parents ka divorce ho gaya tha uske past mein. Kya yeh kuch objective nahi hai, bilkul waise jaise paani ka temperature jo hamesha 60 degrees hota hai? Par phir, kya woh divorce thanda mehsoos hota hai ya garam? Toh yeh ek "abhi" ka cheez hai, ek subjective cheez hai. Past mein jo bhi hua ho, yeh usi baat ka matlab hai jo ab kisi ka present define karta hai.

YOUTH: Sawal yeh nahi hai "Kya hua?" balki yeh hai "Kaise solve kiya gaya?"

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Hum past ko time machine se wapas nahi jaa kar dekh sakte. Hum waqt ke haathon ko wapas nahi kar sakte. Agar tum etiology mein raho, toh tum apne past se bandhe rahoge aur kabhi bhi khushi nahi paa paoge.

YOUTH: Bilkul! Hum past ko badal nahi sakte, aur isi liye zindagi itni mushkil hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Zindagi sirf mushkil nahi hai. Agar past hi sab kuch decide karta ho aur usse badla na jaa sake, toh jo log aaj zinda hain, woh apni life mein aage kadam nahi badha paayenge. Phir kya hoga? Hum woh nihilism aur pessimism mein fasa denge jo duniya se umeed tod deta hai aur zindagi se hat jata hai. Freudian etiology jo trauma argument ko dikhaati hai, woh ek form of determinism hai aur yeh nihilism ka rasta hai. Kya tum aise values ko accept karoge?

YOUTH: Main inhe accept nahi karna chahta, par past itna powerful hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Socho toh sahi. Agar hum maan lein ke log aise hain jo badal sakte hain, toh etiology par adharit values maintain karna mushkil ho jaata hai, aur aise mein teleology ko naturally apnana padta hai.

YOUTH: Toh tum keh rahe ho ki hamesha “log badal sakte hain” ka premise lena chahiye?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Aur please samajhna, yeh Freudian etiology hi hai jo humari free will ko deny karti hai aur insaan ko ek machine ki tarah treat karti hai.

YOUTH: Samajh gaya.

PHILOSOPHER: Acha, suno ek kahani. Ek din, ek maa aur beti zor se lad rahi thi. Tabhi, achanak telephone ki awaaz aayi. “Hello?” Maa ne receiver uthaya, aur unki awaaz mein abhi bhi gussa tha. Caller unki beti ki homeroom teacher thi. Jaise hi maa ko pata chala ke kaun phone kar raha hai, unka tone badal gaya aur woh bohot polite ho gayi. Phir, agle paanch minute tak, woh apni best telephone voice mein baat kar rahi thi. Jab call khatam hui, turant unka expression wapas badla aur woh phir se apni beti par chillane lagi.

YOUTH: Yeh koi itni ajeeb kahani nahi hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Tum samajh nahi rahe ho? Ek shabd mein, gussa ek aisa tool hai jo zarurat par nikaala jaa sakta hai. Jaise hi phone aata hai, woh ghuma ke rakh diya jaata hai, aur phone rakhne ke baad wapas nikaal liya jaata hai. Maa gussa nahi kar rahi thi jo woh control nahi kar sakti. Woh bas apni beti ko zor se apne opinions pe submit karne ke liye gussa ka use kar rahi thi.

YOUTH: Toh gussa ek means hai goal achieve karne ke liye?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, bilkul.

YOUTH: Samajh gaya. Tumhare pyaare se mask ke neeche tum bohot nihilistic nikle! Chahe gussa ho ya mera reclusive friend, tumhare har insight mein insaanon se distrust ka ehsaas hai!

Socrates and Adler

YOUTH: Theek hai. Tumhe apne ek aur dost ke baare mein batata hoon, ek aadmi jiska naam Y hai. Woh aise insaan hai jiske paas hamesha ek bright personality thi aur jo aasani se kisi se bhi baat kar leta hai. Woh ek sunflower ki tarah hai—sab usse pyaar karte hain, aur log hamesha uske aas-paas muskurate hain. Iske contrast mein, main aise insaan hoon jise kabhi bhi social hone mein asaani nahi hui aur jo kai tareekon se thoda alag hai. Ab tum keh rahe ho ke log Adler ke teleology ke through badal sakte hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Tum, main, aur sab log badal sakte hain.

YOUTH: Toh kya tumhe lagta hai ki main Y jaisa insaan ban sakta hoon? Dil se main sach mein chahta hoon ki main uske jaisa ho sakoon.

PHILOSOPHER: Is point par, main kehna padta hoon ke yeh bilkul mumkin nahi hai.

YOUTH: Aha! Ab tum apne asli rang dikhane lage! Toh kya tum apni theory wapas loge?

PHILOSOPHER: Nahi, main apni theory wapas nahi loonga. Dukh ki baat hai ki tumhein abhi Adlerian psychology kaafi kam samajh hai. Badlav ka pehla step samajhna hota hai.

YOUTH: Toh agar main Adlerian psychology ke baare mein kuch samajh paaun, kya main Y jaisa insaan ban sakta hoon?

PHILOSOPHER: Tum answers ke liye kyu itni jaldi mein ho? Tumhein apne answers khud dhoondhne chahiye, kisi aur se nahi. Dusre logon ke diye gaye answers sirf temporary solutions hote hain, unmein koi asli value nahi hoti. Socrates ko dekho, uske paas khud ka likha hua koi book nahi thi. Usne apne din Athens ke nagrikon, khaas kar yuvaon, ke saath public debates mein guzaare, aur uske chele, Plato, ne uski philosophy ko likh kar future generations ke liye chhoda. Adler bhi literary activities mein zyada interested nahi tha, usne Vienna ke cafés mein personal dialogues karne ko zyada tarjeeh di thi, aur chhoti chhoti discussion groups rakhe the. Woh definitely ek armchair intellectual nahi tha.

YOUTH: Toh Socrates aur Adler dono ne apni ideas dialogue ke through convey ki thi?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Tumhare jo bhi doubts hain, woh iss dialogue ke through door ho jaayenge. Aur tum badalna shuru kar doge. Mere words se nahi, balki apne apne kaam se.

Main woh qeemti process nahi cheen na chahta jo answers ko dialogue ke zariye dhoondhne ka hota hai.

YOUTH: Toh kya hum uss tarah ka dialogue karenge jo Socrates aur Adler ne kiya tha? Is chhoti si study mein?

PHILOSOPHER: Kya yeh tumhare liye kaafi nahi hai?

YOUTH: Yahi toh main jaanne ki koshish kar raha hoon! Toh chalo isse jitna ho sake aage badhate hain, jab tak tum apni theory wapas nahi le lete ya main tumhare saamne jhuka nahi deta.

Are You Okay Just As You Are?

PHILOSOPHER: Toh chalo, tumhare sawal par wapas aate hain. Tum Y jaisa upbeat insaan banna chahte ho?

YOUTH: Par tumne abhi yeh mana kar diya tha aur kaha tha ke yeh mumkin nahi hai. Toh lagta hai ki yeh bas aise hi hai. Main toh bas tumhe tang karne ke liye keh raha tha—mujhe apne baare mein achhe se pata hai. Main kabhi bhi uske jaisa nahi ban sakta.

PHILOSOPHER: Tum kyun nahi ban sakte?

YOUTH: Yeh toh bilkul clear hai. Kyunki hum dono ki personalities alag hain, ya phir keh sakte ho ke humari dispositions alag hain.

PHILOSOPHER: Hmm.

YOUTH: Tum, for example, apne aas-paas in sab kitabon se ghiray hue ho. Tum ek nayi kitab padhte ho aur nayi knowledge hasil karte ho. Basic tarike se tum knowledge ko accumulate karte rehte ho. Jitni zyada tum padhte ho, utni zyada tumhara knowledge badhta hai. Tum naye concepts of value dhoondte ho, aur tumhein lagta hai ke yeh tumhein badal rahe hain. Dekho, main tumhe bura na lagay, lekin chahe tum kitni bhi knowledge hasil kar lo, tumhara disposition ya personality zyada nahi badalne wali. Agar tumhara base skew ho gaya, toh jo kuch tumne seekha hai, woh bekaar ho jayega. Haan, jitni bhi knowledge tumne hasil ki, woh sab gir ke tut jayegi, aur phir tum phir se wahan pahuch jaoge jahan tumne shuru kiya tha! Aur Adler ke ideas ke saath bhi yahi hota hai. Chahe main kitni bhi facts uske baare mein dhoondho, woh mere personality par koi asar nahi dalne wale. Knowledge bas knowledge hi ban kar reh jaati hai, jab tak usse aakhirkar discard na kar diya jaaye.

PHILOSOPHER: Toh yeh batao, tumhe kyun lagta hai ke tum Y jaisa banna chahte ho? Mera matlab hai, tum bas ek alag insaan banna chahte ho, chahe woh Y ho ya koi aur. Lekin iska goal kya hai?

YOUTH: Tum phir se goals ki baat kar rahe ho? Jaise maine pehle kaha, bas yeh hai ki main uski izzat karta hoon aur mujhe lagta hai ke agar main uske jaisa hoon, toh main zyada khush ho sakta hoon.

PHILOSOPHER: Tumhe lagta hai ke agar tum uske jaisa banoge, toh tum khush ho jaoge. Matlab tum abhi khush nahi ho, hai na?

YOUTH: Kya?

PHILOSOPHER: Abhi, tum sach mein khush mehsoos nahi kar rahe. Yeh isliye kyunki tumne apne aap se pyaar karna nahi seekha. Aur apne aap se pyaar karne ki koshish kar rahe ho, tum apne aap ko ek naye insaan ke roop mein janm lena chahte ho. Tum Y jaisa banna chahte ho aur apne abhi ke roop ko hata dena chahte ho. Sahi hai na?

YOUTH: Haan, lagta hai yeh sahi hai! Sach kahoon toh, mujhe apne aap se nafrat hai! Main, jo purani philosophical discourse ke saath khel raha hoon, aur jo bas is tarah ka kaam karte rehta hoon—haan, main apne aap se sach mein nafrat karta hoon.

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh theek hai. Agar tum un logo se poochho jo kehte hain ki unhe apne aap se pyaar hai, toh tumhe kisi ko bhi yeh kehne ke liye nahi milega, "Haan, main apne aap se pyaar karta hoon."

YOUTH: Tumhare baare mein kya? Kya tum apne aap se pyaar karte ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Kam se kam, main yeh nahi sochta ki main kisi aur insaan banna chahta hoon, aur main apne aap ko accept karta hoon.

YOUTH: Tum apne aap ko accept karte ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Dekho, chahe tum Y jaisa banna chahte ho, tum uske jaise kabhi nahi ban sakte. Tum Y nahi ho. Tumhare liye yeh theek hai ke tum apne aap ko tumhara apna banne do. Lekin main yeh nahi keh raha ki "just as you are" hona theek hai. Agar tum sach mein khush mehsoos nahi kar rahe, toh yeh clearly dikhata hai ki cheezein abhi jaisi hain waise theek nahi hain. Tumhein apne kadam aage badhana hoga, rukna nahi hoga.

YOUTH: Yeh thoda kathor tareeke se keh rahe ho, par main samajh gaya. Yeh clear hai ki main waise theek nahi hoon jaise hoon. Mujhe aage badhna hoga.

PHILOSOPHER: Adler ko phir se yaad karte hue kehna chahta hoon: "Sabse zaroori baat yeh nahi hai ki insaan kis cheez ke saath janm leta hai, balki yeh hai ki woh us equipment ka kaise istemal karta hai." Tum Y ya kisi aur banna chahte ho kyunki tum apni janm se judi hui cheezon par puri tarah focus ho, lekin tumhein apne equipment se kya bana sakte ho, uspar focus karna hoga.

Unhappiness Is Something You Choose for Yourself

YOUTH: No way. That's unreasonable.

PHILOSOPHER: Kyun unreasonable hai?

YOUTH: Kyun? Kuch log affluent circumstances mein paida hote hain, ache parents ke saath, aur kuch log gareeb hote hain bure parents ke saath. Kyunki duniya aise hi chal rahi hai. Aur main is subject pe zyada baat nahi karna chahta, lekin duniya mein sab kuch barabar nahi hai, race, nationality, aur ethnicity ke beech farq utna hi gehra hai. Tum jo keh rahe ho, woh sirf academic theory hai—tum asli duniya ko ignore kar rahe ho!

PHILOSOPHER: Tumhi ho jo reality ko ignore kar rahe ho. Tum jo paida hone se jo kuch mila us par fixate karna kya reality ko badal deta hai? Hum replace hone wale machines nahi hain. Hume replacement nahi, renewal chahiye.

YOUTH: Mere liye replacement aur renewal ek hi baat hain. Tum main point ko avoid kar rahe ho. Dekho, kuch aise cheezein hoti hain jise hum paida hone ke waqt unhappiness ke roop mein jhelte hain. Pehle tum ise samjho.

PHILOSOPHER: Main is baat ko nahi maanunga.

YOUTH: Kyun?

PHILOSOPHER: Ek toh, abhi tum sach mein happiness feel nahi kar pa rahe ho. Tumhe living bohot mushkil lagta hai, aur tum yeh chaahte ho ke tum kisi aur ke jaise paida hote. Lekin tum abhi unhappy isliye ho kyunki tumne khud apne liye unhappiness choose kiya hai. Yeh nahi ki tum kisi unlucky star ke neeche paida hue the.

YOUTH: Maine unhappiness choose kiya? Main kaise yeh maan sakta hoon?

PHILOSOPHER: Isme koi extraordinary baat nahi hai. Yeh baat classical Greek era se repeat hoti aayi hai. Tumne “No one desires evil” ka suna hai? Yeh ek proposition hai jo Socratic paradox ke naam se jaana jaata hai.

YOUTH: Evil chaahne waale log toh har jagah hain, hain na? Haan, chhote chor aur maarne waale bohot hain, aur politicians aur officials bhi apne shady deals ke saath. Accha, sacche aur upright log jo evil nahi chaahte, unhe dhoondhna toh aur bhi mushkil hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul, duniya mein evil ka behaviour kam nahi hai. Lekin koi bhi, chahe kitna bhi hardened criminal ho, crime mein शामिल nahi hota sirf evil ka kaam karne ki chaah mein. Har criminal ke paas apne crime mein शामिल hone ka apna justification hota hai. Jaise paisa ka jhagda kisi ko murder karne par majboor kar sakta hai. Us person ke liye, woh ek justified kaam hai, jo woh apne aap ko “good” ke roop mein justify karta hai. Of course, yeh good moral sense mein nahi, balki apne liye “benefit” ke sense mein hota hai.

YOUTH: Apne liye benefit?

PHILOSOPHER: Greek word “good” (agathon) ka koi moral meaning nahi hota. Yeh bas “beneficial” ka matlab hota hai. Iske opposite, “evil” (kakon) ka matlab hai “not beneficial.” Hamari duniya bhar mein injustice aur galat kaamon se bhari hui hai, lekin koi bhi insaan pure sense mein “evil” nahi chahta, yani jo “not beneficial” ho.

YOUTH: Iska mujhe kya lena-dena hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Tumhare life ke ek stage par, tumne “being unhappy” choose kiya. Yeh isliye nahi ki tum unhappy circumstances mein paida hue, ya phir unhappy situation mein phase. Tumne yeh judge kiya ki “being unhappy” tumhare liye achha hai.

YOUTH: Kyun? Kis liye?

PHILOSOPHER: Tum isse kaise justify karte ho? Tumne unhappiness kyun choose ki? Mujhe specific jawab ya details pata nahi hain. Shayad yeh debate karte waqt clear ho.

YOUTH: Tum mujhe bevakoof banane ki koshish kar rahe ho. Tumhein lagta hai yeh philosophy hai? Main bilkul yeh nahi maanta.

Apne aap ko sambhalte hue, young man utha aur philosopher ko gussa bhari nazron se dekha. Maine unhappy life choose ki? Kyunki woh mere liye achha tha? Kitna absurd argument hai! Yeh kyun mere saath itni der tak mazaak kar raha hai? Maine kya galat kiya tha? Main uska argument tod ke rahunga, chahe jo bhi ho. Main usse apne saamne jhuka ke dikhaunga. Young man ka chehra excitement se laal ho gaya.

People Always Choose Not to Change

PHILOSOPHER: Baith jao. Jaisa ki abhi situation hai, yeh bilkul natural hai ki humare views clash karte hain. Main ab tumhe ek simple explanation dunga, ki humans ko Adlerian psychology mein kaise samjha jaata hai.

YOUTH: Theek hai, lekin please thoda brief raho.

PHILOSOPHER: Pehle tumne kaha tha ki kisi bhi insaan ka disposition ya personality nahi badla jaa sakta. Adlerian psychology mein hum personality aur disposition ko “lifestyle” shabd se describe karte hain.

YOUTH: Lifestyle?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Lifestyle woh tendencies hain jo thought aur action ki life mein hoti hain.

YOUTH: Thought aur action ki tendencies?

PHILOSOPHER: Jise hum duniya ko dekhte hain. Aur apne aap ko kaise dekhte hain. Lifestyle ko ek aise concept ke roop mein samjho jo in tariko ko ekatha karta hai jisse hum meaning nikalte hain. Narrow sense mein, lifestyle ko kisi ki personality ke roop mein define kiya jaa sakta hai; lekin broadly, yeh ek aisa shabd hai jo us insaan ke worldview aur uski life outlook ko encompass karta hai.

YOUTH: Duniya ko dekhne ka kisi ka tareeka?

PHILOSOPHER: Maan lo, ek insaan hai jo apne baare mein chinta karta hai aur kehta hai, “Main pessimist hoon.” Tum ise kuch is tareeke se rephrase kar sakte ho, “Mera duniya ko dekhne ka nazariya pessimistic hai.” Tum yeh maan sakte ho ki issue personality ka nahi hai, balki duniya dekhne ka nazariya hai. Yeh lagta hai ki “personality” shabd ka ek nuance hai jo is baat ko suggest karta hai ki woh change nahi ho sakti. Lekin agar hum duniya dekhne ke nazariye ki baat kar rahe hain, toh woh badla jaa sakta hai.

YOUTH: Hm. Yeh thoda confusing lag raha hai. Jab tum lifestyle ki baat karte ho, kya tum living ke tareeke ki baat kar rahe ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, tum yeh keh sakte ho. Thoda aur accurate kehna ho toh, yeh ek tareeka hai jis tarah se kisi ka life hona chahiye. Tum shayad disposition ya personality ko kuch aise samajhte ho jo tumhe bina tumhare will ke diya gaya ho. Lekin Adlerian psychology mein, lifestyle ko aise samjha jaata hai ki yeh tum apne liye choose karte ho.

YOUTH: Tum apne liye choose karte ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, bilkul. Tum apna lifestyle choose karte ho.

YOUTH: Toh na sirf maine unhappiness choose ki, par maine apni yeh distorted personality bhi choose ki?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul.

YOUTH: Ha! Ab tum sach mein jyada bol rahe ho. Jab main aware hua tha, tab mujhe yeh personality already thi. Mujhe toh yeh bilkul yaad nahi ki maine isse choose kiya tha. Lekin tumhare liye bhi yeh waise hi hai, hai na? Apni personality ko apni marzi se choose karna... ab yeh tum robots ki baat kar rahe ho, insaanon ki nahi.

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul, tumne consciously apni yeh “self” choose nahi ki. Tumhara pehla choice shayad unconscious tha, jo tumhare external factors ke saath combine ho gaya — jaise race, nationality, culture, aur home environment. Yeh sab un choices par significant influence daal rahe the. Lekin, yeh tum hi the jinhone apni “self” choose ki.

YOUTH: Main samajh nahi pa raha hoon jo tum keh rahe ho. Main kaise yeh choose kar sakta tha?

PHILOSOPHER: Adlerian psychology ke hisaab se, yeh decision lagbhag 10 saal ke age ke aas paas hota hai.

YOUTH: Theek hai, maano main jab 10 saal ka tha, maine unconsciously apna lifestyle ya jo bhi choose kiya. Kya yeh koi farq padta hai? Tum isse personality, disposition, ya lifestyle kuch bhi bula lo, par sach toh yeh hai ki main already “is tareeke ka self” ban chuka hoon. Jo bhi cheez hai, woh change nahi hoti.

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh sach nahi hai. Agar tumhara lifestyle kuch aisa nahi tha jo tum naturally paida hote, balki tumne khud choose kiya ho, toh isse phir se choose karna mumkin hona chahiye.

YOUTH: Ab tum keh rahe ho ki main isse dobara choose kar sakta hoon?

PHILOSOPHER: Shayad ab tak tumhe apne lifestyle ka pata nahi tha, aur shayad tumhe lifestyle ke concept ka bhi pata nahi tha. Haan, yeh sach hai ki koi bhi apni apni janm ko choose nahi kar sakta. Is desh mein, is yug mein, aur in parents ke saath janm lena yeh sab tumne choose nahi kiya. Aur yeh sab cheezein kaafi influence daalti hain. Tum shayad disappointed ho aur doosron ko dekh kar soch rahe ho, “Mujhe unke circumstances mein janm milta toh achha hota.” Par tumhe yahan rukna nahi chahiye. Issue past ka nahi hai, balki yeh present mein hai. Aur ab tumne lifestyle ke baare mein seekh liya hai. Par ab tum usse kya karte ho, yeh tumhari responsibility hai. Chahe tum apna purana lifestyle continue karna chahte ho, ya ek naya lifestyle choose karna chahte ho, yeh bilkul tum par depend karta hai.

YOUTH: Toh phir main kaise dobara choose karoon? Tum keh rahe ho, “Tumne apna lifestyle khud choose kiya tha, toh ab naya lifestyle choose kar lo,” lekin main bas turant badal nahi sakta!

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, tum kar sakte ho. Log kabhi bhi change kar sakte hain, chahe jo bhi environment ho. Tum badal nahi rahe ho, kyunki tum yeh decision le rahe ho ki tum nahi badalna chahte.

YOUTH: Tumhara matlab kya hai, exactly?

PHILOSOPHER: Log apna lifestyle hamesha choose karte rehte hain. Abhi, jab hum yeh baat kar rahe hain, hum apna lifestyle choose kar rahe hain. Tum apne aap ko ek unhappy insaan ke roop mein describe kar rahe ho. Tum keh rahe ho ki tum bilkul abhi change hona chahte ho. Tum yeh bhi keh rahe ho ki tum kisi aur insaan ke roop mein dobara janm lena chahte ho. Phir bhi, kyun tum badal nahi pa rahe ho? Yeh isliye, kyunki tum apne lifestyle ko badalne ka decision nahi le rahe ho.

YOUTH: Nahi, tum nahi dekh rahe ho ki yeh bilkul illogical hai? Main toh badalna chahta hoon; yeh meri sachchi ichha hai. Toh kaise main decision le raha hoon ki main badalna nahi chahta?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, kuch chhoti inconveniences aur limitations hain, lekin tumhe lagta hoga ki jo lifestyle tumhare paas ab hai, wahi sabse practical hai, aur yeh asaan hai ki cheezein waise hi chhodi jaayein. Agar tum bas aise hi reh jaate ho, toh tumhare experiences tumhe har situation mein proper response dene ka mauka dete hain, aur tum apne actions ke results ko guess kar paate ho. Tum keh sakte ho ki yeh apni purani, pehchani hui car chalane jaisa hai. Thoda sa rattle ho sakta hai, lekin tum usse adjust kar ke asaani se drive kar lete ho. Lekin agar tum ek naya lifestyle choose karte ho, toh koi nahi jaan sakta ki nayi self ke saath kya hoga, ya tum har situation ko kaise handle karoge. Tumhe aage ka future dikhayi nahi dega, aur zindagi mein anxiety bhar jayegi. Ek zyada painful aur unhappy life aage ho sakti hai. Seedha kehna ho toh, log cheezon ke baare mein kai complaints karte hain, lekin apni purani self ko rakhna zyada asaan aur secure lagta hai.

YOUTH: Toh hum change karna chahte hain, lekin badalna dar lagta hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Jab hum apne lifestyle ko badalne ki koshish karte hain, hum apni badi himmat ko test kar rahe hote hain. Badalne ka jo anxiety hoti hai, aur na badalne ka jo disappointment hoti hai, woh sab humare saamne aati hai. Main sure hoon ki tumne doosre ko choose kiya hai.

YOUTH: Ruk jao... Abhi tumne “himmat” shabd ka istemal kiya.

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Adlerian psychology ek psychology hai jo himmat par based hai. Tumhari unhappiness ka sabab tumhara past ya tumhara environment nahi hai. Aur yeh nahi ki tumhe competence ki kami hai. Tum bas himmat ki kami rakhte ho. Ek tarah se kaha jaa sakta hai ki tumhe khushi hone ki himmat nahi hai.

Your Life Is Decided Here and Now

YOUTH: Khushi hone ki himmat, hai na?

PHILOSOPHER: Kya tumhe aur explanation chahiye?

YOUTH: Nahi, ruk jao. Ab yeh thoda confusing ho raha hai. Pehle, tum mujhe kehte ho ki duniya ek simple jagah hai. Yeh bas mujhe lagta hai ki yeh complicated hai, aur meri subjective view hi usse complicated bana deti hai. Aur yeh bhi, zindagi isliye complicated lagti hai kyunki main usse complicated bana leta hoon, aur yahi cheez mujhe khushi se jeene mein mushkil bana deti hai. Phir tum kehte ho ki ek insaan ko teleology ki stance leni chahiye, na ki Freudian etiology—ki insaan apne past mein causes ko search na kare, aur trauma ko deny kare. Tum kehte ho ki log kisi goal ko achieve karne ke liye kaam karte hain, na ki apne past mein causes se driven hote hain. Sahi hai na?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan.

YOUTH: Aur phir, teleology ka major premise kehte ho ki log badal sakte hain. Log apne lifestyle ko hamesha select karte hain.

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul sahi.

YOUTH: Toh main badal nahi pa raha hoon, kyunki main khud apne aap ko baar-baar yeh decision le raha hoon ki main badalna nahi chahta. Mujhe ek naya lifestyle choose karne ki himmat nahi hai. Matlab, mere paas khush hone ki himmat nahi hai, aur isi wajah se main unhappy hoon. Kya maine kuch galat kaha?

PHILOSOPHER: Nahi, tumne kuch galat nahi kaha.

YOUTH: Toh phir, mera sawal yeh hai, ki mujhe ab kaunse asli measures lene chahiye? Mujhe apni zindagi ko badalne ke liye kya karna hoga? Tumne ab tak yeh sab explain nahi kiya.

PHILOSOPHER: Tum sahi keh rahe ho. Tumhe jo ab karna chahiye, wo hai apne current lifestyle ko band karne ka decision lena. Jaise ki pehle tumne kaha, “Agar main Y jaisa insaan ho sakta, toh main khush hota.” Jab tak tum aise sochte rahoge, “Agar yeh hota toh aisa hota,” tum kabhi bhi change nahi kar paoge. Kyunki “Agar main Y jaisa hota” kehna tumhare liye apne aap ko change na karne ka ek excuse hai.

YOUTH: Change na karne ka excuse?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Mere ek dost hain jo novel writer banna chahta hai, par kabhi apna kaam complete nahi kar pata. Uske according, uska job bahut busy rehta hai, aur usse kabhi time nahi milta novels likhne ka, aur isliye wo apna kaam complete nahi kar pata aur writing awards ke liye submit nahi kar pata. Par kya yeh sach hai? Nahi! Asal mein, usko yeh “Main agar try karun toh kar sakta hoon” ka possibility khula rakhna pasand hai, bina kuch committed kiye. Usse apne kaam ko criticism ke saamne laana nahi pasand, aur wo bilkul nahi chahta ki wo yeh dekhe ki ho sakta hai ki uska kaam inferior ho aur reject ho jaye. Wo uss realm of possibilities mein rehna chahta hai, jahan wo keh sakta hai ki “Agar mujhe time milta toh main kar sakta tha” ya “Agar mujhe sahi environment milta toh likh sakta tha,” aur yeh ki uske paas uss kaam ko karne ki talent hai. Shayd agle 5 ya 10 saal mein wo aur excuses dhoondh lega, jaise “Main ab budha ho gaya hoon” ya “Ab toh mujhe apne family ke baare mein sochna hai.”

YOUTH: Main bahut relate kar sakta hoon, wo kaise feel kar raha hoga.

PHILOSOPHER: Usse apna kaam award ke liye submit karna chahiye, aur agar reject ho gaya toh chalega. Agar usne aisa kiya, toh wo grow karega, ya shayad wo yeh samjhega ki usse kuch aur pursue karna chahiye. Chahe kuch ho, wo aage badh sakta hai. Yeh hai apne current lifestyle ko badalne ka matlab. Wo kisi bhi direction mein nahi jaa sakta jab tak wo kuch submit nahi karta.

YOUTH: Par shayad uske sapne toot jayenge.

PHILOSOPHER: Main sochta hoon. Simple tasks, jo karne chahiye, unhe karne ka excuse dhundhna aur har baar reasons dhoondhna ki kyun nahi kar sakte, yeh zindagi jeene ka kaafi mushkil tareeka lagta hai, hai na? Toh mere dost ke case mein, jo novelist banna chahta hai, yeh bilkul “Main,” yaani “self,” hi hai jo zindagi ko complicated bana raha hai aur khushi se jeene mein mushkil la raha hai.

YOUTH: Par... Yeh toh kafi kathor lagta hai. Tumhari philosophy bahut tough lagti hai!

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, yeh sach mein ek strong medicine hai.

YOUTH: Strong medicine! Haan, main maanata hoon.

PHILOSOPHER: Lekin agar tum apni lifestyle ko badalte ho—jo duniya aur apne aap ko meaning dene ka tareeka hai—tab tumhara duniya ke saath interaction aur tumhara behavior bhi badalna padega. Yeh point mat bhoolna: Tumhe badalna padega. Tumhe apni lifestyle choose karni padegi. Shayad yeh mushkil lage, par asal mein yeh kaafi simple hai.

YOUTH: Tumhare hisaab se, koi trauma nahi hota, aur environment ka koi farq nahi padta. Sab kuch bas baggage hai, aur meri unhappiness meri apni galti hai, hai na? Main lagta hai ki tum mujhe jo bhi main ho aur jo bhi maine kiya hai uska critique kar rahe ho!

PHILOSOPHER: Nahi, tumhe criticize nahi kiya ja raha. Balki, Adler ki teleology yeh kehti hai, "Jo kuch bhi tumhari zindagi mein ab tak hua hai, uska tumhari aage ki zindagi par koi asar nahi hona chahiye." Tum jo ho, jo abhi ho, wahi tumhari apni zindagi ka faisla karte ho.

YOUTH: Meri zindagi iss exact point par determined hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, kyunki past ab exist nahi karta.

YOUTH: Theek hai. Accha, main tumhare theories se puri tarah se agree nahi karta. Bohot se points hain jin par main convinced nahi hoon aur jinke baare mein main argue kar sakta hoon. Lekin tumhari theories ko aur sochne layak lagti hain, aur main Adlerian psychology ke baare mein aur seekhne mein interested hoon. Aaj ke liye itna kaafi hai, par main ummid karta hoon ki tumhe agar main agle hafte dobara aayi toh koi problem nahi hogi. Agar main break nahi leta, toh mera dimaag shayad phat jayega.

PHILOSOPHER: Mujhe pata hai ki tumhe apne aap se thoda waqt chahiye hoga, taaki tum cheezein soch sako. Main hamesha yahan hoon, tum jab chaaho aa sakte ho. Mujhe maza aaya. Shukriya. Phir baat karte hain.

YOUTH: Great! Ek last baat, agar main pooch sakoon. Hamari aaj ki discussion kaafi lambi aur intense ho gayi thi, aur shayad maine thoda rude tareeke se bola. Iske liye main maafi chahta hoon.

PHILOSOPHER: Fikr mat karo. Tumhein Plato ki dialogues padhni chahiye. Socrates ke chelon ka conduct aur language kaafi loose hota tha. Waise hi ek dialogue hona chahiye.

THE SECOND NIGHT

All Problems Are Interpersonal Relationship Problems

Woh naujawan apne shabd par poora utara. Bilkul ek hafte baad, woh philosopher ke study mein wapas aaya. Sach kehna, usse wahan wapas jaane ki ichha sirf do ya teen din baad hi hui thi. Usne apne dimaag mein cheezein bohot dhyan se sochi thi, aur uske doubts ab certainty mein badal chuke the. Seedha kehna, teleology, yani kisi bhi phenomenon ka purpose uske cause ke bajaye samajhna, ek sophistry thi, aur trauma ka hona toh saboot ke saath apni jagah tha. Log apne past ko bas bhool nahi sakte, aur na hi woh usse azad ho sakte hain. Aaj, woh naujawan ne faisla kiya ki woh is eccentric philosopher ki theories ko puri tarah se tod dega aur mamle ko ek baar ke liye suljha dega.

Why You Dislike Yourself

YOUTH: Toh pichli baar ke baad, maine apne aap ko shant kiya, focus kiya, aur sab kuch socha.

Aur phir bhi, mujhe yeh kehna padega ki main abhi bhi aapke theories se agree nahi kar pa raha hoon.

PHILOSOPHER: Oh? Aapko unmein kya questionable lagta hai?

YOUTH: Jaise, doosre din maine apni nafrat apne aap se admit ki thi. Chahe jo bhi karoon, mujhe sirf apni kami hi dikhayi deti hai, aur mujhe koi reason nahi dikhayi deta ki main apne aap ko pasand karna shuru karoon.

Lekin phir bhi main chahta hoon. Aap har cheez ko goals se explain karte ho, lekin yahan kaunsa goal ho sakta hai?

Mujhe samajh nahi aata ki apne aap ko na pasand karne se koi faida kya ho sakta hai. Mujhe lagta nahi koi cheez mil sakti hai isse.

PHILOSOPHER: Samajh gaya. Aapko lagta hai ki aapke paas koi strong points nahi hain, sirf kamiyaan hi hain.

Chahe jo sach ho, aapko waise hi lagta hai. Matlab, aapka self-esteem bohot low hai.

Toh yeh questions hain, aap apne aap ko itna khatarnak kyun feel karte ho?

Aur, aap apne aap ko itni low esteem se kyun dekhte ho?

YOUTH: Kyunki yeh sach hai—mujhe sach mein koi strong point nahi dikhayi deta.

PHILOSOPHER: Aap galat ho. Aap sirf apni kamiyaan hi dekhte ho kyunki aapne yeh decide kiya hai ki apne aap ko pasand nahi karna.

Agar aap apne aap ko na pasand karenge, toh aap apne strong points nahi dekhoge, bas apni kamiyaan hi dekhoge.

Pehle yeh samajh lo.

YOUTH: Maine apne aap ko pasand na karne ka faisla kiya?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Aapke liye, apne aap ko na pasand karna ek virtue hai.

YOUTH: Kyun? Kyon ke liye?

PHILOSOPHER: Shayad yeh kuch aapko khud sochna chahiye. Aapko kis tarah ki kamiyaan lagti hain apne andar?

YOUTH: Mujhe lagta hai ki aapne pehle hi notice kiya hai. Sabse pehle, meri personality. Mera koi self-confidence nahi hai, aur main hamesha sab kuch pessimistic hi sochta hoon. Aur lagta hai main zyada self-conscious hoon, kyunki mujhe hamesha yeh tension rehti hai ki dusre log kya dekhenge, aur phir, main hamesha dusre logon se mistrust karta hoon. Main kabhi naturally act nahi kar pata; jo main kehta hoon aur karta hoon, woh hamesha kuch theatrical hota hai. Aur yeh sirf meri personality nahi hai—meri wajah ya body mein bhi kuch pasand karne wala nahi hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Jab aap apni kamiyaan aise list karte ho, toh aapko kaise lagta hai?

YOUTH: Wow, yeh kitna bura hai! Naturally, ek unpleasant mood hota hai. Mujhe lagta hai koi bhi aise ladke se pyaar nahi karega, jo itna warped ho. Agar koi aise wretched aur bothersome insaan mere paas hota, toh main bhi apna distance bana leta.

PHILOSOPHER: Samajh gaya. Toh, ab toh yeh clear ho gaya.

YOUTH: Aapka kya matlab hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Shayad apne example se samajhna mushkil ho, isliye main ek aur example deta hoon. Main yeh study simple counseling sessions ke liye use karta hoon. Yeh kaafi saal pehle ki baat hogi, lekin ek female student mere paas aayi thi. Woh bilkul wahi baith kar gayi thi jahan aap baith kar aaye ho. Uska concern tha uska blush karne ka dar. Usne mujhe bataya ki woh hamesha public mein red ho jaati thi, aur woh isse chutkaara paane ke liye kuch bhi karegi. Toh maine usse kaha, “Agar aap isse thik kar sakti ho, toh aap phir kya karna chahti ho?” Aur usne bola ki uske dil mein ek ladka tha. Woh secretly usse pyaar karti thi, lekin apne jazbaat batane ke liye ready nahi thi. Jab uska blush karne ka dar thik ho jayega, tab woh usse apne jazbaat bata degi.

YOUTH: Huh! Theek hai, yeh toh typical hai jo ek female student counseling ke liye aati hai. Woh apne feelings usse confess karne ke liye pehle apna blush karne ka problem thik karna chahti thi.

PHILOSOPHER: Lekin kya yeh poora case hai? Mera alag opinion hai. Us ladki ko blush karne ka dar kyun tha? Aur kyun yeh theek nahi ho paaya? Kyunki usse blush karne ka symptom chahiye tha.

YOUTH: Aap kya keh rahe ho? Woh aap se uska blush karne ka dar thik karne ke liye keh rahi thi, hai na?

PHILOSOPHER: आपको क्या लगता है, उसके लिये सबसे scary चीज क्या थी, वो चीज जो वो सबसे ज्यादा avoid करना चाहती थी? वो यही थी कि वो लड़का उसे reject कर देगा, बिल्कुल. वो यही सोचती थी कि उसका unrequited love उसकी पूरी जिंदगी को खतम कर देगा, उसके होने और “I” होने की सम्भावनाएँ. यह aspect काफी deep होता है जब adolescent unrequited love होता है.

YOUTH: समझ गया, तो उसने अपने blush करने का डर एक excuse बना लिया था अपनी feelings confess ना कर पाने के लिये. या फिर यही एक तरह का insurance था जब वो उसे reject हो जाती.

PHILOSOPHER: हाँ, आप यही कह सकते हो.

YOUTH: Theek है, यह एक interesting interpretation है. लेकिन अगर यह सच में ऐसा था, तो क्या उसकी मदद करना impossible नहीं होता?

क्योंकि वो एक तरफ उस blush करने का डर चाहती थी और दूसरी तरफ उसी से परेशान भी थी, तो उसकी मुसीबत कभी खतम नहीं होती.

PHILOSOPHER: हाँ, मैंने उसे यही कहा था: “Blush करने का डर थिक करना बहुत आसान है.”

यह सब आपके blush करने के डर की वजह से हो रहा है.”

उसने पूछा, “कैसे हो सकता है...?”

मैंने कहा, “अगर मैं यही थिक कर दूँ, और आपके situation में कुछ भी बदलाव ना हो, तो आप क्या करेंगे? आप शायद फिर से यहाँ आयेगी और बोलेगी, ‘मुझे मेरा blush करने का डर वापस दो.’ और वो मेरे बस का काम नहीं होगा.”

YOUTH: Hmm.

Company के workers सोचते हैं, “अगर मुझे transfer मिल गया, तो सब कुछ theek हो जायेगा.”

Lekin jab woh wishes पूरी हो जाती हैं, तो अक्सर उनकी situation में कुछ भी बदलाव नहीं होता.

YOUTH: Sach mein.

PHILOSOPHER: Jab koi client blush करने के दर्द का इलाज चाहता है, तो counselor को symptoms का इलाज नहीं करना चाहिए.
Agar wo karte hain, toh recovery aur bhi mushkil ho sakti hai. Yeh Adlerian psychology ka tareeqa hai is tarah ke issues ko samajhne ka.

YOUTH: Toh aap phir specifically kya karte ho? Kya aap bas unke worries padhte ho aur phir bas unhe waise hi chhod dete ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Uske paas apne aap par confidence नहीं था. Usse kaafi dar था कि जो situation थी, usmein woh usse confess करने के बाद भी reject हो जायेगी.
Aur agar woh reject hoti, toh uska confidence aur toot jayega aur woh hurt हो जायेगी. Isi liye usne blush करने का दर्द अपने आपको protect करने के लिए बनाया.
Maine jo kiya, woh yeh था कि सबसे पहले usse “अपने आपको अभी accept करना” समझाया, aur phir chahe jo bhi outcome हो, usse aage badhne ki himmat देने की कोशिश की.
Adlerian psychology में इस approach को “encouragement” कहा जाता है.

YOUTH: Encouragement?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Main systematically iske baare में tab samjhaunga jab hamara discussion thoda aur aage badhega.
Abhi hum us stage par नहीं हैं.

YOUTH: Theek hai, yeh mujhe samajh में आया. Tab tak, main “encouragement” शब्द को ध्यान में रखूंगा.
Toh phir uska kya hua?

PHILOSOPHER: Lagta hai usse doston के एक group में शामिल होने का मौका मिला था aur usne us ladke के साथ वाक़्त गुज़ारना शुरू किया. Aakhir में, woh ladka khud अपने ज़बात usse express करता है कि woh usके साथ रहना चाहता है. Bilkul, usके बाद usने फिर कभी is study में वापस नहीं आयी. Mujhe नहीं पता usके blush करने के दर्द का क्या हुआ. Lekin shayad usसे अब उसकी ज़रूरत नहीं थी.

YOUTH: Haan, yeh bilkul clear है कि usसे अब उसकी कोई ज़रूरत नहीं रही.

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Ab, is student के कहानी को ध्यान में रखते हुए, चलो अब तुम्हारे problems पर सोचते हैं. Tum keh rahe ho कि अभी, tum अपनी कामियाँ ही देखते हो, aur yeh lagta है कि tum kabhi अपने आपको पसंद नहीं कर पाओगे. Aur phir tumne yeh kaha, “Mujhe yakin hai ki koi bhi itna warped insaan mujhse shamil hona nahi chahega.” Mujhe lagta hai tumhe yeh already samajh aagaya hoga. Tum apne aap ko kyun nafrat karte ho? Tum sirf apni kamiyaan kyun dekhte ho, aur tumne apne aapko pasand karna kyun band kar diya hai? Yeh sab isliye ho raha hai kyunki tum doosre logon se nafrat hone aur apne interpersonal relationships mein dard sehne se kaafi dar rahe ho.

YOUTH: Tumhara yeh kya matlab hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul us ladki ki tarah, jise blush karne ka dar tha aur jo ladke se reject hone se dar rahi thi, tumhe bhi doosre logon se nafrat hone ka dar hai. Tumhe dar hai ki tumhe neechे dikhaya jayega, tumhe reject kiya jayega, aur tumhein gehra emotional dard hoga. Tum sochte ho ki agar tum aise situations mein nahi fase, toh behtar hoga, aur tumne decide kiya hai ki tum kisi se bhi rishte nahi rakhoge. Matlab, tumhara goal yeh hai ki tum apne interpersonal relationships mein kabhi dard na mehsoos karo.

YOUTH: Huh...

PHILOSOPHER: Ab, yeh goal kaise achieve kiya jaa sakta hai? Jawab aasan hai. Bas apni kamiyaan dhoondho, apne aapko nafrat karo, aur ek aise insaan bano jo kabhi interpersonal relationships mein na aaye. Iss tarah se, agar tum apne aapko apne hi shell mein band kar lo, toh tumhein kisi se interact karne ki zarurat nahi padegi, aur jab koi tumhein ignore kare, tumhare paas justification ready hoga. Yeh kehne ka ki tumhe ignore isliye kiya gaya kyunki tumhara apne andar kuch kamiyaan thi, aur agar yeh na hota, toh tum bhi pyaar kiye jaate.

YOUTH: Ha-ha! Wah, tumne toh mujhe sahi jagah pe rakh diya hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Avoid mat karo. Tumhare liye yeh “jaisa main hoon” yeh sab kamiyaan ke saath ek precious virtue hai. Matlab, tumhare faayde ke liye hai.

YOUTH: Aah! Yeh toh dard de raha hai. Kya sadist ho tum; tumhare andar koi shaitan hai! Theek hai, haan yeh sach hai: Main dar raha hoon. Main nahi chahta ki interpersonal relationships mein dard ho. Main dar raha hoon ki log mujhe jo hoon, uske liye ignore karenge. Yeh accept karna mushkil hai, lekin tum sahi ho.

PHILOSOPHER: Accept karna ek achi approach hai. Lekin mat bhoolna, dusre logon ke saath apne rishte mein kabhi na dard hona, yeh mushkil hai. Jab tum interpersonal relationships mein shamil hote ho, toh yeh inevitable hai ki ek na ek level par tumhe dard milega, aur tum kisi ko dard pohchao ge bhi. Adler ka kehna hai, “Apne problems ko khatam karne ka ek hi tareeqa hai, aur woh hai akela jeena.” Lekin aisa karna mumkin nahi hai.

All Problems Are Interpersonal Relationship Problems

YOUTH: Ek minute! Main bas yeh sab kuch itna asaani se jaane dunga? “Apne problems se chutkaara paane ka ek hi tareeqa hai, aur woh hai duniya mein akela rehna”? Tumhara isse kya matlab hai? Agar tum akela rehte, toh kya tumhein bhari udaasi mehsoos nahi hoti?

PHILOSOPHER: Oh, lekin akela rehna hi tumhein udaas nahi banaata. Udaasi tab hoti hai jab tumhare aas paas doosre log, samaj, aur community ho, aur phir tumhein lagta hai ki tum usse alag ho. Udaasi mehsoos karne ke liye, humein doosre logon ki zarurat hoti hai. Matlab, sirf social contexts mein hi ek insaan apne aap ko “individual” mehsoos karta hai.

YOUTH: Agar tum sach mein akela hote, matlab agar tum poori tarah se is duniya mein akela hote, toh kya tum individual nahi hota aur tumhein udaasi bhi mehsoos nahi hoti?

PHILOSOPHER: Mujhe lagta hai ki udaasi ka concept hi tab nahi aata. Tumhein language ki zarurat nahi hoti, aur logic ya common sense ka bhi koi kaam nahi hota. Lekin aisi koi cheez mumkin nahi hai. Agar tum ek uninhabited island par bhi rehte, toh tum sochoge kisi ke baare mein jo ocean ke doosre kinare par ho. Agar tum apne raat akela bitaate, toh tum kisi ki saans ki awaaz sunne ki koshish karte. Jab tak kahi na kahi koi insaan hai, tum udaasi se pareshan rahoge.

YOUTH: Toh phir tum isse aise bhi keh sakte ho, “Agar koi insaan poori duniya mein akela jeeta, toh uske problems chala jaayenge,” hai na?

PHILOSOPHER: Theoretically, haan. Jaise Adler yeh bhi keh rahe hain, “Saare problems interpersonal relationship problems hote hain.”

YOUTH: Kya tum yeh dobara keh sakte ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Hum jitni baar chaho, yeh repeat kar sakte hain: Saare problems interpersonal relationship problems hote hain. Yeh Adlerian psychology ka ek buniyaadi concept hai. Agar duniya se saare interpersonal relationships chala jaayein, matlab agar tum universe mein akela hote aur doosre sab insaan chale jaate, toh tumhare saare problems khatam ho jaate.

YOUTH: Yeh jhoot hai! Yeh bas ek academic sophistry hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul, hum interpersonal relationships ke bina nahi jee sakte. Ek insaan ka existence apne aap mein doosre insaanon ke existence ko assume karta hai. Doosron se poori tarah alag rehna, principle ke hisaab se, impossible hai. Jaise tum keh rahe ho, yeh premise “Agar koi duniya mein akela jeeta” galat hai.

YOUTH: Mera jo point hai, woh yeh nahi hai. Haan, interpersonal relationships shayad kaafi bada problem hain, yeh main maanta hoon. Lekin yeh kehna ki sab kuch interpersonal relationship problems par aata hai, yeh sach mein ek extreme position hai. Aur woh jo problem hoti hai jab insaan interpersonal relationships se alag ho jaata hai, woh jo ek individual apne aap ko leke sochta hai, kya tum yeh sab deny kar rahe ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Aisi koi cheez nahi hai jo puri tarah se individual ke dwara define ki jaaye; jo so-called internal worry hoti hai, woh exist nahi karti. Jo bhi worry hoti hai, doosre logon ki shadow hamesha hoti hai.

YOUTH: Par phir bhi, tum ek philosopher ho. Insaan ke paas interpersonal relationships se zyada ucha aur bada problems hona chahiye. Khushi kya hai? Azadi kya hai? Aur zindagi ka maqsad kya hai? Kya yeh woh themes nahi hain jinpar philosophers purane Greece se hi kaam kar rahe hain? Aur tum keh rahe ho, “Toh kya? Interpersonal relationships sab kuch hain?” Mujhe yeh kafi chhoti baat lagti hai. Yeh yakeen karna mushkil hai ki ek philosopher aise baatein keh raha ho.

PHILOSOPHER: Toh, lagta hai ki ab mujhe thoda aur clear tarike se explain karna hoga.

YOUTH: Haan, zarur! Agar tum mujhe philosopher keh rahe ho, toh tumhein sach mein baatein samjhaani padengi, nahi toh yeh sab kuch nonsensical lag raha hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Tum itna dar rahe the interpersonal relationships se ki tumne apne aap ko nafrat karna shuru kar diya. Tumne apne aap ko nafrat karke, interpersonal relationships se door rehna shuru kar diya.

Yeh baatein youth ko gehra dard pahunchayi. In shabdon mein ek undeniable sachai thi jo uske dil ko choo gayi thi. Fir bhi, usse is baat ka jawab dhoondhna tha ki yeh kehna ki log jo bhi problems face karte hain, woh interpersonal relationship problems hi hote hain, yeh kaise sach ho sakta hai? Adler toh logon ke problems ko trivialize kar raha tha. Uske apne jo problems the, woh itne mundane nahi the!

Feelings of Inferiority Are Subjective Assumptions

PHILOSOPHER: Chalo, interpersonal relationships ko thoda alag nazariye se dekhte hain. Kya tumhein “inferiority ka ehsaas” (feeling of inferiority) ka matlab pata hai?

YOUTH: Kya sawaal hai yeh. Jaise humne ab tak baat ki, tumhe clearly pata chalega ki main toh bas ek bada sa blob hoon, jo inferiority ka ehsaas karta rehta hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Woh feelings specifically kya hoti hain?

YOUTH: Accha, jaise agar main kisi newspaper mein apni umra ke kisike baare mein padhta hoon, jo bohot successful hai, toh main hamesha yeh inferiority ka ehsaas mehsoos karta hoon. Agar koi aur jisne utna hi samay jeeya ho jitna maine, itni safalta paa gaya hai, toh main apne aap ko kya samajh raha hoon? Ya jab main kisi dost ko dekhta hoon jo khush lag raha hai, aur uske saath khushi manane ke bajaye, main jealousy aur frustration se bhara hoon. Aur toh aur, yeh pimple-covered face bhi zyada madad nahi karta, aur mujh mein education aur occupation ko leke bhi kaafi inferiority ka ehsaas hota hai. Phir meri income aur social standing bhi hai. Lagta hai, main toh bas puri tarah se inferiority ka shikar hoon.

PHILOSOPHER: Samajh gaya. Waise, Adler ko yeh term “feeling of inferiority” pehli baar aise context mein istemal karne ka credit diya jata hai, jaise aaj kal hum iske baare mein baat karte hain.

YOUTH: Huh, mujhe yeh nahi pata tha.

PHILOSOPHER: Adler ke native German mein yeh word hai Minderwertigkeitsgefühl, jo ka matlab hai “kam hone ka ehsaas” ya “apne aap ko kam samajhna”. Toh “feeling of inferiority” apne aap ki value judgment se juda hua hai.

YOUTH: Value judgment?

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh woh ehsaas hota hai ki tumhare paas koi value nahi hai, ya tumhare paas bas itni value hai.

YOUTH: Aah, yeh toh ek aisa ehsaas hai jo main achhe se samajhta hoon. Yeh toh mera hi case hai. Har din apne aap ko torture karta hoon ki jeene ka koi matlab nahi hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Toh phir, chalo, meri khud ki feelings of inferiority dekhte hain. Jab tum mujhse pehli baar mile, toh tumhara kya impression tha? Physical characteristics ke maamle mein.

YOUTH: Umm, achha . . .

PHILOSOPHER: Koi baat nahi, seedha batao.

YOUTH: Theek hai, main samajhta hoon ki tum jo soch rahe the, usse thoda chhote nikle.

PHILOSOPHER: Shukriya. Mera height 61 inches hai. Adler bhi lagbhag itni hi height ke the. Ek waqt tha—jab tak main tumhari umra ka nahi tha—jab main apni height ko lekar pareshan tha. Mujhe lagta tha ki agar main average height ka hota, ya bas 8 ya 4 inch zyada lamba hota, toh sab kuch alag hota. Jaise zindagi aur enjoyable hoti. Main apne ek dost se baat kar raha tha jab yeh feelings aa rahi thi, aur usne yeh kaha tha “Yeh sab bakwaas hai” aur bas is baat ko dismiss kar diya.

YOUTH: Yeh toh bohot beizzati kar diya! Aisa dost kaise ho sakta hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Phir usne kaha, “Agar tum lamba ho jaoge, toh kya karoge? Tumhare paas ek aisi gift hai ki tum logon ko relax karne mein madad karte ho.” Ek bada aur strong aadmi, sach mein, kabhi kabhi apni size ki wajah se doosron ko dara deta hai. Lekin koi chhota aadmi, jaise main, logon ko apne aap ko kholne ka mauka deta hai. Toh isse mujhe yeh samajh aaya ki meri chhoti si build mere liye aur mere aas paas ke logon ke liye desirable cheez hai. Dusre shabdon mein, yeh value ka transformation tha. Ab main apni height ko lekar pareshan nahi hoon.

YOUTH: Theek hai, lekin yeh—

PHILOSOPHER: Ruko, jab tak main khatam nahi kar leta. Yahaan jo important baat hai woh yeh hai ki mera 61 inches ka height inferior nahi tha.

YOUTH: Inferior nahi tha?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul nahi, yeh kisi cheez se kam ya neeche nahi tha. Haan, mera 61 inches average height se kam hai, aur yeh ek objectively measured number hai. Pehli nazar mein, koi soch sakta hai ki yeh inferior hai. Lekin asli baat yeh hai ki main apni height ko kis tarah se dekh raha hoon, ya kis tarah ki value de raha hoon.

YOUTH: Iska matlab kya hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Mere height ke baare mein jo bhi feelings thi, woh saari subjective thi, jo sirf dusron se apne aap ka comparison karne se aayi thi. Matlab, yeh sab mere interpersonal relationships se judi thi. Agar koi aur insaan nahi hota jisse main apne aap ka comparison karta, toh shayad mujhe kabhi yeh ehsaas nahi hota ki main chhota hoon. Abhi bhi, tumhein bhi kaafi subjective inferiority ka ehsaas ho raha hai. Lekin samajhna yeh zaroori hai ki jo tum mehsoos kar rahe ho, woh objective inferiority nahi hai, balki ek subjective feeling hai. Height jaise issue mein bhi, yeh sab sirf subjectivity tak hi simat jata hai.

YOUTH: Toh tum keh rahe ho ki jo hum inferiority mehsoos kar rahe hain, woh subjective interpretations hain, na ki objective facts?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Mere dost ke point of view se, jab usne kaha ki main logon ko relax karne mein madad karta hoon ya unhein intimidate nahi karta—yeh sab cheezein mere liye strong points ban gayi. Of course, yeh ek subjective interpretation thi. Tum keh sakte ho yeh ek arbitrary assumption hai. Lekin subjectivity ka ek acha cheez yeh hai: Yeh tumhein apna decision lene ka mauka deti hai. Bilkul isliye, main apni height ko ek advantage ya disadvantage ke roop mein dekhne ka choice apne aap ke upar chhod sakta hoon.

YOUTH: Kya yeh argument tumhare naye lifestyle ko choose karne ka hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, bilkul. Hum objective facts ko badal nahi sakte. Lekin subjective interpretations ko jitna chaho, badal sakte ho. Aur hum sab ek subjective duniya mein jeete hain. Humne iske baare mein shuru mein baat ki thi, yaad hai?

YOUTH: Haan, woh chhassi degree ka well water.

PHILOSOPHER: Ab, yaad rakhna woh German word Minderwertigkeitsgefühl jo feeling of inferiority ke liye hai. Jaise maine abhi kaha, “feeling of inferiority” ek term hai jo apne aap ki value judgment se sambandhit hai. Toh yeh value kya ho sakti hai? Chalo, diamonds ka example lete hain, jo high value par trade kiye jate hain. Ya currency. Hum in cheezon ke liye particular values nikaalte hain aur kehte hain ki ek carat itna hai, ya yeh price hain. Lekin agar tum apna nazariya badal lo, toh ek diamond bas ek chhoti si pathar ki tukda ho jata hai.

YOUTH: Intellectual level pe, yeh sahi hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Matlab, value woh cheez hai jo social context par based hoti hai. Ek dollar bill ko jo value milti hai, woh objectively attributed value nahi hai, chahe yeh commonsense approach ho. Agar tum uski actual cost ko dekho, jo printed material ke roop mein hai, toh uski value dollar ke barabar nahi hai. Agar main is duniya ka akela insaan hota aur koi aur nahi hota, toh shayad main woh one-dollar bills apne fireplace mein rakhta, shayad unhein apne naak saaf karne ke liye use karta. Bilkul wahi logic follow karte hue, mujhe apni height ko lekar pareshan hone ka koi reason nahi tha.

YOUTH: Agar tum is duniya ke akela insaan hote aur koi aur nahi hota?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Value ka problem aakhirkar humein phir se interpersonal relationships ke paas le aata hai.

YOUTH: Toh yeh wohi baat hai jo tum keh rahe the ki saare problems interpersonal relationship ke problems hote hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, bilkul.

An Inferiority Complex Is an Excuse

YOUTH: Lekin kya tum yeh keh sakte ho ki inferiority ki feelings sach mein interpersonal relationships ka problem hain? Jaise jo insaan socially success maana jaata hai, jo doosron ke saath relationships mein apne aap ko neecha nahi karta, woh bhi inferiority ki feelings rakhta hai? Jaise ek businessman jo bohot paisa kamata hai, ek peerless beauty jo sabki envy hoti hai, aur ek Olympic gold medalist—har ek ko inferiority ki feelings hoti hain. Accha, mujhe yeh aise lagta hai. Main is baare mein kaise sochun?

PHILOSOPHER: Adler yeh maanta hai ki inferiority ki feelings har insaan mein hoti hain. Inferiority ki feelings khud mein kuch galat nahi hoti.

YOUTH: Toh logon ko yeh feelings kyun hoti hain pehle?

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh samajhne ke liye shayad ek certain order mein sochna zaroori hai. Sabse pehle, log is duniya mein helpless beings ke roop mein aate hain. Aur har insaan ka universal desire hota hai apni helpless state se bahar nikalne ka. Adler ne ise "pursuit of superiority" kaha.

YOUTH: Pursuit of superiority?

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh kuch aise samajh sakte ho jaise "improve karne ki aasha" ya "ek ideal state ki taraf badhna". Jaise ek toddler apne dono pairon par khada hona seekhta hai. Uska universal desire hota hai language seekhna aur apne aap ko improve karna. Aur insaanit ki tareekhон mein jo bhi advancements hui hain, woh bhi isi "pursuit of superiority" ki wajah se hui hain.

YOUTH: Theek hai. Aur phir?

PHILOSOPHER: Iska counterpart hai inferiority ki feeling. Har insaan is "improve hone ki chaah" mein hai, jo pursuit of superiority ka hissa hai. Log apne various ideals ya goals rakhte hain aur unki taraf badhte hain. Lekin jab apne ideals ko achieve nahi kar pate, toh ek sense hota hai ki main kam hoon. Jaise kuch chefs jo, jaise-jaise unka kaam behtar hota jaata hai, unhe kabhi bhi yeh inferiority ki feeling hoti hai ki "Main abhi bhi achha nahi hoon" ya "Mujhe apni cooking ko next level tak le jaana hai," aur aise thoughts.

YOUTH: Yeh sach hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Adler keh rahe hain ki pursuit of superiority aur inferiority ki feeling diseases nahi hain, balki yeh normal aur healthy striving aur growth ke liye stimulants hain.

Agar yeh galat tareeke se istemal na ho, toh inferiority ki feeling bhi striving aur growth ko promote kar sakti hai.

YOUTH: Inferiority ki feeling ek tarah se launch pad hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Ek insaan apni inferiority ki feeling ko door karne ki koshish karta hai aur aage badhne ki koshish karta hai. Woh apni present situation se kabhi bhi satisfied nahi hota—chahe woh ek hi kadam ho, woh progress karna chahta hai. Woh zyada khush rehna chahta hai. Is tarah ki inferiority ki feeling mein bilkul kuch galat nahi hai. Lekin kuch log hote hain jo ek kadam bhi aage badhne ki himmat nahi karte, jo yeh accept nahi kar paate ki situation ko realistic efforts se badla jaa sakta hai. Aise log, bina kuch kiye, bas haar maan lete hain aur keh dete hain "Main anyway achha nahi hoon" ya "Chahe main koshish karoon, toh mujhe koi chance nahi milega."

YOUTH: Haan, yeh sach hai. Yeh doubt nahi hai—agar inferiority ki feeling bohot zyada ho, toh zyada log negative ho jaate hain aur keh dete hain, "Main anyway achha nahi hoon." Kyunki yeh inferiority ki feeling hi hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Nahin, yeh inferiority ki feeling nahi hai—yeh ek inferiority complex hai.

YOUTH: Complex? Yeh inferiority ki feeling nahi hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Dhyan se suno. Aaj kal jo "complex" shabd use kiya jaata hai, woh aksar inferiority ki feeling ke hi samaan lagta hai. Log yeh kehte hain, "Mujhe apni eyelids ka complex hai," ya "Usse apni education ka complex hai," aise baatein. Yeh bilkul galat istemal hai. Asliyat mein, "complex" ek abnormal mental state ko refer karta hai jo emotions aur ideas ka ek complicated group hota hai, aur yeh inferiority ki feeling se kaafi alag hai. Jaise Freud ka Oedipus complex, jo child ke opposite-sex parent ke liye abnormal attraction ko explain karta hai.

YOUTH: Haan. Abnormality ke nuances khaas taur par mother complex aur father complex ke case mein zyada hoti hain.

PHILOSOPHER: Isi liye, yeh zaroori hai ki hum "inferiority ki feeling" aur "inferiority complex" ko mix na karein aur inhe clearly alag samjhein.

YOUTH: Concrete tor pe, yeh dono kaise alag hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Inferiority ki feeling khud mein koi khaas galat baat nahi hai. Tumhein yeh point ab samajh aaya hai, hai na? Jaise Adler kehte hain, inferiority ki feeling striving aur growth ka trigger ban sakti hai. Maan lo, agar kisi ko apni education ko leke inferiority ki feeling ho, aur usne yeh faisla kiya ho ki, "Main achha educated nahi hoon, toh mujhe sabse zyada mehnat karni padegi,” toh yeh ek desirable direction hai. Dusri taraf, inferiority complex ka matlab hai jab insaan apni inferiority ki feeling ko ek excuse bana leta hai. Jaise, woh sochta hai, “Main educated nahi hoon, toh main successful nahi ho sakta,” ya “Main achha nahi dikhta, toh main shaadi nahi kar sakta.” Jab koi insaan everyday life mein “A hai, toh B nahi ho sakta” ki logic ko insist karta hai, toh woh inferiority ki feeling mein nahi aata, woh inferiority complex hai.

YOUTH: Nahin, yeh ek legitimate causal relationship hai. Agar tumhe acchi education nahi hai, toh tumhare paas work paane ya duniya mein success hone ke chances kam hote hain. Tumhe social scale par neeché mana jaata hai, aur tum success nahi kar sakte. Yeh koi excuse nahi hai, yeh bas ek cold hard fact hai, hai na?

PHILOSOPHER: Nahin, tum galat ho.

YOUTH: Kaise? Main kahan galat hoon?

PHILOSOPHER: Tum jo causal relationship keh rahe ho, woh Adler kehte hain ki “apparent cause and effect” hai. Matlab, tum apne aap ko yeh convince kar lete ho ki koi serious causal relationship hai, jabki aise koi relationship hoti hi nahi. Ek din kisi ne mujhse kaha, “Main shaadi asaani se nahi kar sakta kyunki mere parents ka divorce ho gaya tha jab main bachcha tha.” Freud ke nazariye se, parents ka divorce ek bada trauma tha, jo shaadi ke views ke saath ek clear causal relationship banata hai. Adler, lekin, apne teleology ke stance mein (jo purpose ki taraf dheere dheere badhta hai), aise arguments ko “apparent cause and effect” ke roop mein reject karte hain.

YOUTH: Lekin phir bhi, reality yeh hai ki acchi education hone se society mein successful hona aasaan ho jaata hai. Maine socha tha tum duniya ke tariqon ko samajhte ho.

PHILOSOPHER: Asli baat yeh hai ki tum uss reality ka kaise samna karte ho. Agar tum yeh soch rahe ho, “Main achha educated nahi hoon, toh main successful nahi ho sakta,” toh tumhein “Main successful nahi ho sakta” ke bajaye yeh sochna chahiye, “Mujhe successful hona nahi hai.”

YOUTH: Main successful nahi hona chahta? Yeh kaisa reasoning hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh bas yeh hai ki ek kadam bhi aage badhna dar lagta hai; aur yeh bhi ki tum realistic efforts karna nahi chahte. Tum apni lifestyle ko itna badalna nahi chahte ke tum apni abhi ki jo khushiyan hain, unhe sacrifice kar pao—jaise tum jo waqt apne hobbies aur khel kud mein guzaarte ho. Matlab, tumhare paas apni lifestyle ko badalne ki himmat nahi hai. Abhi jo cheezen hain, unhi ke saath rehna aasaan lagta hai, chahe kuch complaints ya limitations bhi ho.

Braggarts Have Feelings of Inferiority

YOUTH: Shayad, lekin...

PHILOSOPHER: Aur, tum education ko leke inferiority complex rakhte ho aur soch rahe ho, "Main accha educated nahi hoon, toh main successful nahi ho sakta." Agar ulta socha jaye, toh reasoning ho sakti hai, "Agar main achha educated hota, toh main sach mein successful ho sakta tha."

YOUTH: Haan, sach hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh inferiority complex ka doosra pehlu hai. Jo log apne inferiority complex ko apne shabdon ya attitudes mein dikhate hain, jo kehte hain ki "A hai, toh B nahi ho sakta," woh yeh imply karte hain ki agar A na hota, toh woh capable hote aur unmein value hoti.

YOUTH: Agar yeh na hota, toh main bhi kar sakta tha.

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Jaise Adler kehte hain, koi bhi apne inferiority ke feelings ko lambi der tak nahi seh sakta. Sabko inferiority ki feelings hoti hain, lekin uss condition mein lambe samay tak rehna bahut bhaari hota hai.

YOUTH: Huh? Yeh kaafi confusing ho raha hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Theek hai, chalo sab kuch ek-ek karke samajhte hain. Inferiority ki feeling hona ek aisi condition hai jahan insaan ko apne aap mein kuch kami mehsoos hoti hai. Toh phir, sawaal yeh hota hai—

YOUTH: Kaise wo jo kami hai, usse pura karna hai, right?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Jo cheez kami hai, usse compensate kaise karein. Sabse healthy tareeka yeh hai ki striving aur growth ke zariye compensate kiya jaye. Jaise apne studies mein apply hona, lagataar training karna, ya apne kaam mein mehnat karna. Lekin jo log uss himmat se nahi bhare hote, woh inferiority complex mein chala jaate hain. Dubara, yeh sochna, "Main accha educated nahi hoon, toh main successful nahi ho sakta," aur yeh imply karna ki tumhare paas capability hai, "Agar main accha educated hota, toh main sach mein successful ho sakta tha." Ki tumhara "real mein," jo abhi education ke wajah se chhupa hua hai, woh superior hai.

YOUTH: Nahin, yeh samajh nahi aata—jo doosra tum keh rahe ho, woh inferiority ki feeling se kaafi zyada hai. Woh asal mein toh bas bravado hai, hai na?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, bilkul. Inferiority complex kuch aur khaas mental state mein bhi badal sakta hai.

YOUTH: Aur woh kya hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Shayad tumne iske baare mein zyada nahi suna hoga. Yeh hai "superiority complex."

YOUTH: Superiority complex?

PHILOSOPHER: Jab insaan ko strong inferiority ki feelings hoti hain, aur upar se usmein itni himmat nahi hoti ki woh healthy tareekon se striving aur growth ke zariye compensate karein. Fir woh apne inferiority complex ko, jismein woh sochta hai, "A hai, toh B nahi ho sakta," usse seh nahi pata. Woh apne "incapable self" ko accept nahi kar pata. Tab woh kisi doosre tareeke se compensate karne ki koshish karta hai aur asaan raasta dhoondhta hai.

YOUTH: Woh kaunsa raasta hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Woh yeh hai ki apne aap ko superior dikhane ki koshish karna aur ek fabricated superiority ka ehsaas lena.

YOUTH: Ek fabricated feeling of superiority?

PHILOSOPHER: Ek aasan example ho sakta hai "authority dikhana."

YOUTH: Iska kya matlab hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Jab koi apne aap ko ek powerful insaan se acchi dosti dikhata hai (broadly speaking—yeh koi bhi ho sakta hai, jaise tumhare school class ka leader ya koi famous celebrity). Aur is tarah se woh apne aap ko special dikhata hai. Aise behaviors, jaise apne work experience ko misrepresent karna ya kisi particular clothing brand ke liye excessive allegiance dikhana, authority dikhane ke tareeke hain, aur yeh shayad superiority complex ka hissa bhi hote hain. Har case mein, yeh nahi hai ki "main" sach mein superior ya special hoon. Yeh bas hai ki main apne aap ko superior dikhane ki koshish kar raha hoon by linking it to authority. In short, yeh ek fabricated feeling of superiority hai.

YOUTH: Aur uske neechे, wahan ek intense inferiority ka ehsaas hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Mujhe fashion ke baare mein zyada pata nahi hai, lekin mujhe lagta hai ki jo log apne saare ungliyon par rubies aur emeralds wale rings pehente hain, unko inferiority ki feelings se jyada aesthetic sensibility ka issue hai, aise sochna behtar hoga. Matlab, unmein superiority complex ke signs hain.

YOUTH: Samajh gaya.

PHILOSOPHER: Lekin jo log apne aap ko borrowed power se bada dikhane ki koshish karte hain, woh asal mein doosron ke value systems ke according jee rahe hote hain—woh doosre logon ki zindagi jee rahe hote hain. Yeh ek point hai jo zaroor emphasize karna chahiye.

YOUTH: Toh, superiority complex. Yeh ek kaafi interesting psychology hai. Kya tum mujhe ek aur example de sakte ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Ek aisa insaan ho sakta hai jo apni achievements ka bohot zyada shauk se zikar kare. Koi jo apni past glory ko pakad ke baitha ho aur hamesha uss waqt ki yaadein bataye jab uska light sabse zyada chamka tha. Shayad tumhe aise log mile honge. Aise logon ko sab superiority complex hota hai.

YOUTH: Jo aadmi apni achievements ka shauk se zikar karta hai? Haan, yeh ek arrogant attitude hai, lekin woh boast kar sakta hai kyunki woh sach mein superior hai. Tum isse fabricated feeling of superiority nahi keh sakte.

PHILOSOPHER: Ah, lekin tum galat ho. Jo log apne baare mein itna zyada zikar karte hain, unmein apne aap pe confidence nahi hota. Jaise Adler ne clearly bataya hai, "Jo boast karta hai, woh bas apni inferior feelings ke wajah se karta hai."

YOUTH: Tum keh rahe ho ki boasting ek inverted feeling of inferiority hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Agar koi insaan sach mein apne aap par confident ho, toh usse boast karne ki zaroorat nahi hoti. Jo insaan apne aap ko inferior mehsoos karta hai, wahi boasting karta hai. Usse apne superiority ko flaunt karne ka zaroorat mehsoos hota hai. Yeh darr hota hai ki agar tum aisa nahi karte, toh koi bhi tumhe "waise jaise tum ho" accept nahi karega. Yeh ek full-blown superiority complex hai.

YOUTH: Toh, yeh sochkar ki inferiority complex aur superiority complex ek doosre se bilkul opposite hain, yeh sach mein ek doosre ke kareeb hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, yeh clearly connected hain. Ab, ek last example dena chahta hoon, ek complex example jo boasting se related hai. Yeh ek aisa pattern hai jo superiority ka ehसास dilata hai, jo inferiority ki feeling ke intense hone par hota hai.

YOUTH: Apni hi misfortune ka boasting?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, jab koi apni upbringing ya apni life ke jo bhi misfortunes hain, unka boasting karta hai. Agar koi is insaan ko comfort dene ki koshish kare ya kuch badlav karne ka suggestion de, toh woh madad lene se inkaar kar dega aur kahega, "Tum samajh nahi sakte jo main mehsoos kar raha hoon."

YOUTH: Haan, aise log hain, lekin...

PHILOSOPHER: Aise log apne misfortune ke experience se apne aap ko "special" dikhane ki koshish karte hain, aur bas apni misfortune ke fact ke zariye apne aap ko doosron se upar dikhane ki koshish karte hain. Maan lo main short hoon. Agar koi kind-hearted insaan mujhse aaye aur bole, "Ismein koi tension ki baat nahi," ya "Aise cheezen human values se nahi judi hoti," toh agar main unhein reject karke kahoon, "Tumhe lagta hai ki tumhein short logon ke jo struggles hain, woh samajh aate hain?" toh koi bhi mujhse kuch nahi boleگا. Mujhe lagta hai ki sab mujhe bilkul waise treat karenge jaise main ek boil hoon jo phatne wala ho, aur mujhe bahut carefully handle karenge—ya main keh sakta hoon, circumspectly.

YOUTH: Bilkul sahi.

PHILOSOPHER: Is tarah se, meri position doosron se superior ho jaati hai, aur main apne aap ko special bana sakta hoon. Kaafi log apne aap ko "special" dikhane ke liye yeh attitude adopt karte hain jab woh beemaar hote hain, ya kisi physical injury ka samna karte hain, ya phir emotional dard se guzar rahe hote hain.

YOUTH: Toh woh apne inferiority ke feeling ko reveal karke apne faayde ke liye istemaal karte hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Woh apne misfortune ko apne faayde ke liye use karte hain aur doosron ko usse control karte hain. Jab woh apni misfortune ko dikhate hain aur kehte hain ki woh kitne unfortunate hain aur kitni takleef jhel chuke hain, toh woh apne aas paas ke logon (jaise unki family aur friends) ko pareshan karne ki koshish karte hain, unki baatein aur behaviors ko restrict karte hain, aur unhe control karte hain. Jo log main pehle baat kar raha tha, jo apne kamre mein band ho jaate hain, woh kaafi baar superiority ke feelings mein indulge karte hain aur apne misfortune ko apne faayde ke liye use karte hain. Is baat ko Adler ne khud kaha tha, "Hamari culture mein weakness kaafi strong aur powerful ho sakti hai."

YOUTH: Toh weakness powerful hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Adler ne kaha tha, "Agar hum apne aap se yeh poochhein ki hamari culture mein sabse strong insaan kaun hai, toh logical jawab hoga, bachcha. Bachcha rule karta hai aur usse dominate nahi kiya jaa sakta." Bachcha apni weakness ke saath adults par rule karta hai. Aur yeh weakness hi hai jo kisi ko usse control karne nahi deti.

YOUTH: Main kabhi yeh viewpoint nahi suna.

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul, jo log apne aap ko hurt mehsoos kar rahe hote hain, unki baat "Tum samajh nahi sakte jo main mehsoos kar raha hoon" kuch had tak sach bhi hoti hai. Bilkul apne dukh-dard ko samajhna kisi ke liye bhi mushkil hai. Lekin jab tak koi apne misfortune ko apne faayde ke liye istemaal karte hue apne aap ko "special" dikhane ki koshish karta hai, tab tak usse apne misfortune ki zaroorat padti rahegi.

Ab youth aur philosopher ne inferiority feelings, inferiority complex, aur superiority complex par ek kaafi lambi baat ki thi. Yeh sab psychological terms the, lekin jo sachchaiyaan ismein thi, woh youth ke sochne ke tareeke se kaafi alag thi. Phir bhi, kuch cheez thi jo youth ko theek se samajh nahi aa rahi thi.

YOUTH: Is sab mein aisa kya hai jo mujhe accept karna mushkil lag raha hai? Yeh shayad introductory part, premise hai, jo mujhe doubt de raha hai. (Youth ne shaanti se apna muh khola aur bola.)

Life Is Not a Competition

YOUTH: Lekin mujhe abhi bhi poorā samajh nahi aaya.

PHILOSOPHER: Theek hai, jo bhi tumhe poochhna ho, poochho.

YOUTH: Adler yeh maanta hai ki superiority ka peeche karna—matlab apne aap ko zyada superior banana ki koshish karna—ek universal desire hai, hai na? Dusri taraf, woh inferiority aur superiority ke excessive feelings ke baare mein warning dete hain. Agar woh superiority ki pursuit ko chhod dene ka keh rahe hote, toh main samajh sakta tha aur usse accept kar sakta tha. Humein kya karna chahiye?

PHILOSOPHER: Is tarah socho. Jab hum superiority ke peeche bhaagne ki baat karte hain, toh hum aksar yeh samajhte hain ki yeh doosron se superior hone ki koshish hai; zyada upar chadne ki koshish, chahe doosron ko neeche girana pade—jaise kisi zameen par safed staircase par chadhte hue doosron ko side mein karte jaana. Adler aise attitudes ko nahi support karte. Woh yeh kehte hain ki ek hi level ke playing field par kuch log aage badh rahe hote hain, aur kuch log unke peeche. Is image ko apne dimaag mein rakho. Chahe distance covered ho ya chalne ki speed, sab log ek hi flat jagah par barabar chal rahe hain. Superiority ka peeche karne ka matlab apne pairon par ek kadam aage badhna hai, na ki doosron se zyada bade hone ki competition mein apne aap ko daalna.

YOUTH: Toh zindagi competition nahi hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Bas aage badhne ke liye apni raah par chalna kaafi hai, bina kisike saath compete kiye. Aur, bilkul, apne aap ko doosron se compare karne ki koi zaroorat nahi hai.

YOUTH: Nahi, yeh impossible hai. Hum hamesha apne aap ko doosron se compare karenge, chahe kuch bhi ho. Yeh wahi hai jahan humari inferiority ka feeling aata hai, hai na?

PHILOSOPHER: Ek healthy feeling of inferiority woh nahi hai jo hum doosron se compare karke mehsoos karte hain; yeh apne ideal self se compare karke hoti hai.

YOUTH: Lekin...

PHILOSOPHER: Dekho, hum sab alag hain. Gender, age, knowledge, experience, appearance—hum mein se koi bhi bilkul ek jaise nahi hai. Is baat ko positive tareeke se samajhna zaroori hai ki doosre log humse alag hain. Hum same nahi hain, lekin hum barabar hain.

YOUTH: Hum same nahi hain, lekin hum barabar hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Har insaan alag hai. Lekin yeh alag hona, achhe aur bure, superior aur inferior hone ke sath na jodna. Jo bhi humare beech mein differences hain, hum sab barabar hain.

YOUTH: Logon mein rank ka koi farq nahi. Idealistically kehna toh sahi lagta hai. Lekin kya hum abhi haqeeqat ke baare mein sach mein baat nahi kar rahe hain? Tum keh rahe ho ki, for example, main, ek adult, aur ek bachha jo apne arithmetic ke questions ko solve karne mein struggle kar raha hai, dono barabar hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Knowledge aur experience, aur phir responsibility lene ki capacity mein farq ho sakta hai. Bachha apne jute achhe se nahi bandh paata ho sakta, complicated mathematical equations solve nahi kar paata ho sakta, ya ek adult ki tarah problems ke samne utni zyada responsibility nahi le paata ho sakta. Lekin yeh cheezein human values se sambandhit nahi honi chahiye. Mera jawab wahi hai—insaan sab barabar hain, lekin same nahi hain.

YOUTH: Toh kya tum keh rahe ho ki bachche ko ek full-grown adult ki tarah treat kiya jaana chahiye?

PHILOSOPHER: Nahi. Bachche ko na toh adult ki tarah treat karna chahiye, na hi bachche ki tarah. Unhe ek insaan ki tarah treat karna chahiye. Bachche ke saath sincerity ke saath interact karna chahiye, jaise ki wo bhi ek insaan ho.

YOUTH: Chalo, sawal badalte hain. Sab log barabar hain. Sab ek hi level ke playing field par hain. Lekin asal mein, yahaan kuch disparity hai, hai na? Jo log aage badh rahe hain wo superior hain, aur jo unke peeche aane ki koshish kar rahe hain wo inferior hain. Toh hum phir superior aur inferior ke problem pe aa jaate hain, hai na?

PHILOSOPHER: Nahi, hum nahi aa rahe. Yeh farq nahi padta ki koi doosron se aage chalne ki koshish kar raha hai ya unke peeche. Yeh waise hai jaise hum ek flat space mein chal rahe hain jisme koi vertical axis nahi hai. Hum kisike saath compete karne ke liye nahi chal rahe. Jab hum apne aap ko aaj jo hai usse aage badha rahe hote hain, tab usme value hoti hai.

YOUTH: Kya tum sabhi tarah ke competition se free ho gaye ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Main status ya honor paane ke baare mein nahi sochta, aur main apni zindagi ek outsider philosopher ke tarah jeeta hoon, jiska duniya ke competition se koi lena-dena nahi hai.

YOUTH: Kya iska matlab yeh hai ki tumne competition ko chhod diya hai? Tumne apni haar ko accept kar liya hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Nahi. Maine un jagahon se doori bana li hai jahan jeetne aur haarne ka fixation hota hai. Jab koi apne aap ko paane ki koshish kar raha ho, toh competition apni raah mein aata hai.

YOUTH: Nahi! Yeh toh ek purani aur thaki hui baat hai. Young logon ko apni bootstraps se uthna padta hai, competition ke tension ke beech. Jab tak mujhe koi rival nahi milta, main apne aap ko kaise outdo kar sakta hoon? Interpersonal relationships ko competitive samajhne mein kya galat hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Agar wo rival tumhara comrade ho, toh ho sakta hai ki yeh self-improvement ka raasta ban jaye. Lekin kai baar, ek competitor tumhara comrade nahi hota.

YOUTH: Matlab kya?

You're the Only One Worrying About Your Appearance

PHILOSOPHER: Chalo, ab sab kuch clear karte hain. Shuru mein, tumne Adler ki definition se dissatisfaction express ki thi, jisme kaha gaya tha ki saare problems interpersonal relationship problems hote hain, yaad hai? Yeh humari baat ka base tha feelings of inferiority par.

YOUTH: Haan, yeh sahi hai. Inferiority ke feelings ka topic thoda zyada intense tha, aur main almost us point ko bhool gaya tha. Tumne pehle yeh topic kyun uthaya tha?

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh competition ke topic se connected hai. Yeh yaad rakho. Agar kisi ke interpersonal relationships mein competition ka element ho, toh woh interpersonal relationship problems se bach nahi sakta, aur na hi wo apni misfortune se chutkaara paa sakta hai.

YOUTH: Kyun nahi?

PHILOSOPHER: Kyunki competition ke end mein hamesha winners aur losers hote hain.

YOUTH: Toh? Winners aur losers hone mein kya galat hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Agar tum khud ko apne aas-paas ke logon ke saath competition mein dekh rahe ho, toh tumhare relationships mein hamesha jeetne ya haarne ka consciousness hoga. Mr. A ne yeh famous university join ki, Mr. B ne kisi badi company mein kaam paaya, aur Mr. C ne achi looking ladki se dosti kar li—tum apne aap ko unse compare karoge aur sochoge, "Mere paas toh bas yeh hi hai."

YOUTH: Ha-ha. Yeh kaafi specific hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Jab tum competition aur jeetne-haarne ki baat soch rahe hote ho, toh feelings of inferiority aana unavoidable hota hai. Tum hamesha apne aap ko doosron se compare karte ho aur sochte ho, "Maine usko haraya ya maine usse haara." Inferiority complex aur superiority complex is ka extension hote hain. Ab, tumhe doosra insaan kis tarah ka lagta hai iss point par?

YOUTH: Pata nahi—ek rival, shaayad?

PHILOSOPHER: Nahi, sirf ek rival nahi. Tum dheere-dheere har ek insaan ko, duniya ke har ek insan ko apna dushman samajhne lagte ho.

YOUTH: Mera dushman?

PHILOSOPHER: Tum sochne lagte ho ki log tumhe hamesha neech dekha rahe hote hain aur tumhare saath scorn se pesh aa rahe hote hain. Sab log tumhare dushman hote hain, jo kabhi bhi underestimate nahi kiya jaa sakte, jo har waqt tumhara koi weakness dekhte hain aur tum par attack karne ke liye ready rehte hain. Yeh short mein, duniya ko ek bhayankar jagah samajhna ho jata hai.

YOUTH: Dushman jo kabhi underestimate nahi kiya jaa sakte... yeh wahi log hain jinke saath mujhe competition karna hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh hai competition ka jo bhayankar pehlu hai. Chahe tum loser na bhi ho, chahe tum jeet rahe ho, agar tum khud ko competition mein daal chuke ho, toh tumhe kabhi bhi shaanti ka pal nahi milega. Tum nahi chahte ke tum loser ban jao, aur tumhe hamesha jeetna padta hai agar tum winner banana chahte ho. Tum doosron par trust nahi kar sakte. Jo log apni success ko build kar rahe hote hain, woh society ki aankhon mein, lekin phir bhi khush nahi hote, kyunki woh competition mein jeene ke liye majboor hote hain. Unke liye duniya ek khatarnak jagah ban jaati hai, jo dushman se bhari hoti hai.

YOUTH: Haan, shayad, lekin...

PHILOSOPHER: Lekin kya doosre log sach mein tumhe itna dekha rahe hote hain? Kya woh tumhare har ek pal ko monitor kar rahe hain aur tumhare liye perfect moment ka intezaar kar rahe hote hain attack karne ke liye? Aisa hona thoda unlikely lagta hai. Mere ek dost the, jab woh teenager the, toh apne baal set karte waqt mirror ke samne kaafi waqt bitate the. Aur ek baar unki dadi ne kaha, "Tumhi ho jo apne look ki chinta kar rahe ho." Unka kehna tha ki is baat ke baad unke liye life thodi aasan ho gayi thi.

YOUTH: Hey, yeh meri taraf ek tawaaj ka nishana hai, hai na? Haan, shayad main apne aas-paas ke logon ko dushman samajhta hoon. Main hamesha is dar mein rehta hoon ki kabhi bhi koi attack kar sakta hai, ya koi teer mujhe maar sakta hai. Main hamesha sochta hoon ki log mujhe dekha rahe hain, ki mujhe sakht judgement ka samna karna pad raha hai, aur main attack ho jaunga. Aur shayad yeh sach hai ki yeh meri apni conscious reaction hai, bilkul waise jaise ek mirror mein apne baal set karte hue ladka. Duniya ke log mujhe dekha nahi rahe hote. Agar main street par apne haathon par chalke jaa raha hoon, toh bhi unko koi farq nahi padta! Lekin main nahi janta. Tum keh rahe ho, kya mere inferior feelings kuch aisi cheez hain jo maine apni marzi se choose ki, ya koi goal hai inka? Yeh mujhe samajh nahi aata.

PHILOSOPHER: Aur kyun nahi?

YOUTH: Mere ek bhai hain, jo mujhse teen saal bade hain. Woh typical bada bhai hain—hamesha humare parents ki baat sunti hain, padhai aur sports mein hamesha best hote hain, aur mehnat ka asli misaal hain. Aur jab se main chhota tha, hamesha mujhe unse compare kiya gaya. Woh bade hain aur unki tarakki bhi zyada hui hai, toh main unse kabhi jeet nahi sakta tha. Humare parents ko yeh sab cheezein kabhi nahi fark padti thi, aur mujhe kabhi koi recognition nahi milti thi. Jo bhi main karta, mujhe hamesha bachcha samjha jaata aur har waqt maar-pit hoti thi, aur chup rehne ke liye kaha jaata. Maine apne feelings ko apne andar hi rakhna seekh liya tha. Main apni zindagi ko bilkul inferior feelings mein dooba hua jeeta hoon, aur mujhe apne bhai se competition mein jeene ke alawa koi option nahi tha!

PHILOSOPHER: Samajh gaya.

YOUTH: Kabhi-kabhi main yeh sochta hoon: Main ek aise lauki ki tarah hoon jo dhup nahi paa paayi thi. Toh yeh bilkul natural hai ki main inferior feelings se bhara hoon. Agar koi aise situation mein seedha badh sakta ho, toh main usse milna chahta hoon!

PHILOSOPHER: Main samajhta hoon. Main waaqai samajhta hoon jo tum mehsoos kar rahe ho. Ab, chalo "competition" ko tumhare apne bhai ke saath ke rishton ko dekhte hue samajhte hain. Agar tum apne bhai aur apne doosre interpersonal relationships mein competition ka sochna band kar doge, toh log tumhe kaise dikhte hain?

YOUTH: Toh, mera bhai mera bhai hai, aur dusre logon ka apna ek alag hi kissa hoga.

PHILOSOPHER: Nahi, unhe tumhe positive comrades ban jaana chahiye.

YOUTH: Comrades?

PHILOSOPHER: Tumne pehle kaha tha, "Main doosron ki khushi dil se nahi manata." Tum interpersonal relationships ko competition ke roop mein dekhte ho, aur tum doosron ki khushi ko "meri haar" samajhte ho, isliye tum usse celebrate nahi kar pate. Lekin, jab tum competition ki thinking se azaad ho jaate ho, tab tumhe jeetne ki zarurat nahi hoti. Aur tum us dar se bhi azaad ho jaate ho, jo kehta hai, "Shayad main haar jaaunga." Tab tum doosron ki khushi dil se manane mein saksham ho jaate ho. Tum doosron ki khushi mein actively contribute karne mein saksham ho jaate ho. Jo vyakti hamesha doosron ki madad karne ki ichha rakhta hai unke zaroorat ke waqt—woh sach mein tumhara comrade kehlaa sakta hai.

YOUTH: Hmmm.

PHILOSOPHER: Ab hum important cheez tak pahuch rahe hain. Jab tum sach mein yeh mehsoos kar paoge ki "log mere comrades hain," toh tumhara duniya dekhne ka nazariya puri tarah se badal jaayega. Ab tum duniya ko ek bhayankar jagah nahi samjhoge, aur bekar ke doubts tumhe pareshan nahi karenge; duniya tumhare liye ek safe aur pleasant jagah ban jaayegi. Aur tumhare interpersonal relationship problems dramatic tareeke se kam ho jayenge.

YOUTH: Kitna khush insaan ho tum! Lekin yeh toh bilkul ek surajmukhi jaise hai. Yeh unsoorajmukhiyon ka reasoning hai jo har din dhoop mein khilte hain aur unhe achi tarah se pani milta hai. Jo lauki andheray mein ugti hai, woh utni achi nahi hoti!

PHILOSOPHER: Tum phir se etiology (kaaran dena) pe laut aaye ho.

YOUTH: Haan, bilkul! Mere strict parents ne mujhe palne diya, aur main hamesha apne bade bhai se compare hota raha bachpan se. Meri koi baat kabhi nahi suni gayi, aur har waqt mujhe maar ka kaha jaata tha ki main ek bekar chhota bhai hoon. School mein bhi dosti karne ka mauka nahi mila, main apna saara free time library mein hi bitata tha, jo meri ek hi jagah thi jahaan main khud ko surakshit mehsoos karta tha. Yeh ladka jo apni zindagi is tarah guzaar raha tha, waaqai ek etiology ka rehne waala tha. Agar woh aise parents ke saath nahi pala hota, agar woh bada bhai kabhi nahi hota, aur agar woh us school mein nahi gaya hota, toh uski zindagi thodi roshan ho sakti thi. Yeh ladka jo apne ghanto ki purani feelings ko andar rakhke baat kar raha tha, ab usne apne lambe samay ke gussa ko bahar nikal diya.

From Power Struggle to Revenge

YOUTH: Yeh jo teleology ka baat ho rahi hai, yeh sab bekaar hai, aur trauma to hai hi. Aur log apne past se kabhi bhi chutkaara nahi paate, yeh aap samajhte hain na? Hum time machine se past ko wapas nahi laa sakte, aur jab tak past hai, hum uske context mein hi jeete hain. Agar hum past ko aise hi ignore kar den, to apni puri zindagi ko hi negaate karna hoga. Kya aap keh rahe hain ki main aise beparwah zindagi jeeyoon?

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh sach hai ki tum time machine ya waqt ko wapas nahi laa sakte. Par asli sawaal yeh hai ki tum apne past ko kis tareeke se samajhte ho? Yeh tumhare liye abhi ka kaam hai.

YOUTH: Theek hai, to ab "abhi" ke baare mein baat karte hain. Pichli baar aapne kaha tha ki log gussa banaate hain, hai na? Yeh teleological standpoint tha aapka. Par main is baat ko abhi bhi nahi samajh paa raha. Agar log samajh ya government ke baare mein gussa ho rahe hain, to kya aap keh rahe hain ki yeh bhi unka emotion fabricate kiya gaya hai apni raye ko push karne ke liye?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, kabhi-kabhi main bhi samajik maslon ke liye gussa ho jaata hoon. Par main kehna chaahunga ki yeh koi achanak bhavnaa nahi hai, yeh gussa logic par adhaarit indignation hai. Personal anger (apna personal gussa) aur samaj ke contradictions aur anyay (righteous indignation) mein farq hai. Personal gussa jaldi thanda ho jaata hai. Righteous indignation, doosri taraf, kaafi samay tak rehta hai. Personal grudges par adhaarit gussa bas doosron ko apne aage jhukane ka tareeka hai.

YOUTH: Aap keh rahe ho ki personal grudges aur righteous indignation alag hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, bilkul alag hain. Righteous indignation tumhare apne faayde se aage ka hai.

YOUTH: Toh personal grudges ke baare mein kya kehna? Kya aap kabhi gussa nahi ho jaate? Jaise agar koi bina kisi wajah ke aapko gaali de, to kya aapko gussa nahi aata?

PHILOSOPHER: Nahi, mujhe nahi aata.

YOUTH: Arre, sach bolo!

PHILOSOPHER: Agar koi mujhse gaali de, to main sochta hoon ki unka asli maqsad kya hai. Agar tum gussa mehsoos karte ho dusre ke lafzon ya harkaton ki wajah se, to socho ki wo tumhein ek power struggle mein challenge kar rahe hain.

YOUTH: Power struggle?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Jaise ek bachcha ek bade se chhupke chhupke ched-chad karega. Aksar, iska maqsad bas attention paana hota hai, aur jab tak bade ko sach mein gussa nahi aata, tab tak yeh ruk jaata hai. Lekin agar bachcha nahi rukta, to iska matlab hai ki unka maqsad hai ek ladai shuru karna.

YOUTH: Par bachcha ladai kyun chahega?

PHILOSOPHER: Wo jeetna chahta hai. Wo apni taqat ko jeet kar sabit karna chahta hai.

YOUTH: Mujhe yeh samajh nahi aata. Kya aap mujhe kuch concrete examples de sakte ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Maan lo tum aur tumhara dost current political situation par discuss kar rahe ho. Dheere dheere yeh heated argument mein badal jaata hai, aur tum dono apni baat manwane ke liye tayyar nahi hote. Aakhirkaar yeh personal attacks mein badal jaata hai, jaise "tum pagal ho," ya "aise log jaise tum ho, is desh ka kuch nahi ho sakta."

YOUTH: Agar koi mujhse aise baat kare, to main bilkul bardasht nahi kar paunga.

PHILOSOPHER: To tumhare khyaal mein doosre vyakti ka maqsad kya hai? Kya wo bas politics par baat karna chahta hai? Nahi, wo tumhe pasand nahi karta, aur wo tumhein criticize aur provoke karna chahta hai. Wo tumhe ek power struggle mein jhukaana chahta hai. Agar tum gussa ho jaate ho, to tum usi trap mein aa jaoge jise wo anticipate kar raha tha, aur tab tumhari baat-cheet ek power struggle ban jaayegi. Chahe jo bhi provocation ho, tumhe isme nahi uljhana chahiye.

YOUTH: Nahi, isse bhaagne ki koi zarurat nahi hai. Agar koi ladai shuru karna chahta hai, to usse accept karna theek hai. Kyunki galti to doosre ki hi hai, waise bhi. Tum uske naak ko tod sakte ho, wo bewakoof hai. Shabdon se, waise.

PHILOSOPHER: Maan lo, tum ladai ka control le lete ho. Aur phir wo doosra aadmi, jo tumhe haraane ki koshish kar raha tha, sportsmanlike tareeke se pichhe hat jaata hai. Par baat yeh hai, power struggle yahin pe khatam nahi hoti. Apni haar ke baad, wo agle stage pe jaata hai.

YOUTH: Agla stage?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Yeh revenge stage hai. Abhi ke liye to wo pichhe hat gaya hai, lekin wo kahin aur, kisi aur tareeke se apna badla lene ka plan bana raha hoga, aur ek retaliatory action ke saath wapas aa jaayega.

YOUTH: Jaise, kaise?

PHILOSOPHER: Jaise agar koi bachcha apne maa-baap se dukhhi hai, to wo apni ghalat harkaton ki taraf jaa sakta hai. Wo school jaana band kar dega. Apne haathon se katne ya doosre self-harm acts karega. Freud ke etiology mein, isse simple cause aur effect ke roop mein dekha jaata hai: Maa-baap ne bachche ko is tareeke se pala, isliye wo aise badla. Jaise koi paudha paani nahi milne par sukh jaata hai. Yeh interpretation samajhne mein asaan hai. Lekin Adlerian teleology maa-baap par badle ka jo goal chhupa hai, usse nazarandaaz nahi karta. Matlab yeh hai, bachcha maa-baap se badla lena chahta hai. Agar wo delinquent ban jaata hai, school jaana band kar deta hai, apne haath kaat leta hai, to maa-baap pareshan ho jaayenge. Wo ghabra jaayenge aur uske liye pareshan ho jaayenge. Bachcha yeh jaanta hai ki yeh hoga, aur isi liye wo yeh problem behavior karta hai. Taaki wo apna current goal (maa-baap se badla) pura kar sake, na ki wo past causes (ghar ka mahaul) se motivated ho.

YOUTH: Wo apne maa-baap ko upset karne ke liye problem behavior karta hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Aise kai log honge jo ek bachche ko dekhkar hairaan ho jaate hain jo apne haath kaat raha hota hai, aur sochte hain, "Yeh aise kyu kar raha hai?" Par socho, bachche ke aas-paas ke log, jaise maa-baap, is behavior se kaisa feel karenge. Agar tum yeh sochoge, to tumhe uske behavior ke peeche ka goal apne aap nazar aayega.

YOUTH: Goal badla lena?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Aur jab interpersonal relationship revenge stage tak pahuchti hai, to dono taraf se solution milna mushkil ho jaata hai. Isse bachne ke liye, jab tumhe power struggle ka challenge mile, to kabhi bhi apne aap ko usme fasaane na do.

Admitting Fault Is Not Defeat

YOUTH: Theek hai, to jab koi mujhse personal attack kare, to main kya karoon? Kya main bas muskara ke usse bardaasht kar loon?

PHILOSOPHER: Nahi, yeh jo "bardaasht karna" ka idea hai, yeh is baat ka proof hai ki tum abhi bhi power struggle mein phanse hue ho. Jab tumhe ladai ke liye challenge kiya jaata hai, aur tumhe lagta hai ki yeh ek power struggle hai, to jitna jaldi ho sakhe, us conflict se bahar nikal jao. Uske action ka jawab reaction se mat do. Yeh hi sabse accha tareeka hai jo hum kar sakte hain.

YOUTH: Par kya yeh sach mein itna asaan hai ki provocation ka jawab na diya jaaye? Sabse pehle, main apna gussa kaise control karun?

PHILOSOPHER: Jab tum apna gussa control karte ho, to tum "bardaasht kar rahe ho," hai na? Isliye, chalo hum ek tareeka seekhte hain jisme hum bina gusse ka istemal kiye, cheezon ko suljha sakein. Kyunki aakhirkar, gussa ek tool hai. Ek tareeka apne goal ko achieve karne ka.

YOUTH: Yeh kaafi mushkil lagta hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Sabse pehle jo main chahta hoon ki tum samajh pao, wo yeh hai ki gussa ek communication ka tareeka hai, aur yeh communication bina gussa ke bhi mumkin hai. Hum apne vichar aur iraade bina gussa dikhaye, express kar sakte hain aur samjhe jaa sakte hain. Agar tum yeh experiential tareeke se samajh pao, to gussa apne aap kam ho jaayega.

YOUTH: Par agar koi galat ilzaam lagaaye, ya beizzat karne wale comments kare? Kya main tab bhi gussa nahi karoon?

PHILOSOPHER: Tumhe abhi tak yeh nahi samajh aaya. Yeh nahi hai ki tumhe gussa nahi karna chahiye, par yeh hai ki gusse ka tool ka istemal karna zaroori nahi hai. Jo log gussa karte hain, unka temper chhota nahi hota—bas unhe yeh pata nahi hota ki gussa ke alawa bhi effective communication tools hain. Isi liye log aise kehte hain jaise "main bas phat gaya," ya "wo puri tarah se gusse mein aa gaya." Hum gussa ko communication ke liye istemal kar lete hain.

YOUTH: Gusse ke alawa aur bhi effective communication tools...

PHILOSOPHER: Humare paas language hai. Hum language ke through communicate kar sakte hain. Language ki taqat par vishwas rakho aur logic ki language ko samjho.

YOUTH: Bilkul, agar main is par vishwas nahi karta, to hum yeh dialogue nahi kar rahe hote.

PHILOSOPHER: Power struggles ke baare mein ek aur baat. Har dafa, chahe tumhe lagta ho ki tum sahi ho, doosre vyakti ko us basis par criticize karne ki koshish mat karo. Yeh ek interpersonal relationship ka trap hai, jisme kai log phas jaate hain.

YOUTH: Kyu?

PHILOSOPHER: Jab kisi vyakti ko yeh yakeen ho jaata hai ki "main sahi hoon" interpersonal relationship mein, to wo pehle hi power struggle mein phans gaya hota hai.

YOUTH: Bas isliye ki tumhe lagta hai tum sahi ho? Nahi, yeh to cheezon ko bahut hi zyada badha chadha ke dekhna hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Main sahi hoon. Matlab doosra vyakti galat hai. Us point par discussion ka focus "assertions ki sahi hone" se badal kar "interpersonal relationship ki state" pe shift ho jaata hai. Matlab, jab tumhe yeh yakeen ho jaata hai ki "main sahi hoon," to tum yeh maan lete ho ki "yeh vyakti galat hai," aur aakhirkar yeh ek competition ban jaata hai aur tum soch rahe hote ho ki "mujhe jeetna hai." Yeh ek pura power struggle hota hai.

YOUTH: Hmm.

PHILOSOPHER: Pehle to, apne assertions ka sahi hona jeetne ya haarne se sambandhit nahi hai. Agar tumhe lagta hai ki tum sahi ho, chahe doosre log kya soch rahe hain, to yeh baat wahi pe khatam ho jaani chahiye. Lekin kai log power struggle mein ghus jaate hain aur doosron ko apne aage jhukne ke liye kehna chahte hain. Aur isi liye wo "apni galti maan lena" ko "haar maan lena" samajhte hain.

YOUTH: Haan, yeh bilkul hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Apni galti na maan paane ka reason yeh hai ki wo haar na hone ka mindset rakhta hai, aur isse galat raste pe chal padte hain. Galtiyan ko maanna, maafi ke shabdon ko kehna, aur power struggle se utarna—yeh sab haar nahi hai. Superiority ka peecha karna doosron ke saath competition mein nahi hota.

YOUTH: To jab tum jeetne aur haarne mein atak jaate ho, to sahi decisions lene ki ability kho dete ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Yeh tumhara judgment cloud kar deta hai, aur tum sirf apne jeetne ya haarne ko dekhte ho. Phir tum galat raste pe chal padte ho. Hum jab competition aur jeetne-haarne ke lenses ko hata dete hain, tab hum apne aap ko sudharne aur badalne mein safal ho paate hain.

Overcoming the Tasks That Face You in Life

YOUTH: Thik hai, lekin ek ab bhi problem hai. Woh statement "Sabhi problems interpersonal relationship problems hain" mujhe thodi puzzling lagti hai. Main samajh sakta hoon ki inferiority ka feeling ek interpersonal relationship ka chinta hai, aur iska hum par kuch prabhav padta hai. Aur main yeh logical samajhta hoon ki life competition nahi hai. Main doosre logon ko comrades ke roop mein nahi dekh sakta, aur kahin na kahin andar se unhe dushman samajhta hoon. Yeh bilkul sahi hai. Lekin jo cheez mujhe confusing lagti hai, woh yeh hai ki Adler interpersonal relationships ko itna zyada importance kyun deta hai? Woh kyun keh raha hai ki "sabhi" problems interpersonal relationships hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Interpersonal relationships ka issue itna mahatvapurn hai ki chahe isey kitna bhi broadly address kiya jaaye, yeh kabhi bhi kaafi nahi lagta. Pichhli baar maine tumhe kaha tha, "Tumhein jo kami hai, woh hai khushi paane ka hausla." Tumhe yaad hai na?

YOUTH: Agar main koshish bhi karoon to main ise bhool nahi sakta.

PHILOSOPHER: Toh tum doosre logon ko dushman kyun dekhte ho, aur unhe apne comrades kyun nahi samajhte? Yeh isliye hai kyunki tumne apna hausla kho diya hai aur tum apne "life tasks" se bhaag rahe ho.

YOUTH: Mere life tasks?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Yeh ek mahatvapurn point hai. Adlerian psychology mein, human behavior aur psychology ke liye spasht objectives diye jaate hain.

YOUTH: Kaise objectives?

PHILOSOPHER: Pehle, do objectives hain behavior ke liye: self-reliant hona aur samaj ke saath mel-jol mein rehna. Phir, un behavior ko support karne wali psychology ke do objectives hain: yeh ahsas ki mujhe apni kshamata hai aur yeh ahsas ki log mere comrades hain.

YOUTH: Thodi der rukho. Main yeh likh raha hoon... Behavior ke liye do objectives hain: self-reliant hona aur samaj ke saath mel-jol mein rehna. Aur un behaviors ko support karne wali psychology ke liye do objectives hain: yeh ahsas ki mujhe apni kshamata hai aur yeh ahsas ki log mere comrades hain... Thik hai, mujhe lagta hai ki yeh ek mahatvapurn vishay hai: ek vyakti ke roop mein self-reliant hona aur logon aur samaj ke saath mel-jol mein rehna. Yeh lagta hai ki yeh humare har discussion ke saath judta hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Aur yeh objectives un cheezon ko face kar ke achieve kiye ja sakte hain, jo Adler "life tasks" kehte hain.

YOUTH: Life tasks kya hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Chalo, "life" shabd ko bachpan tak trace karte hain. Bachpan mein humare maa-baap humein protect karte hain aur hum bina kaam kiye jeete hain. Lekin aakhirkar woh samay aata hai jab humein self-reliant hona padta hai. Hum apne maa-baap par hamesha nirbhar nahi reh sakte, aur humein apni manasik aur samajik self-reliance zaroori hai, aur kuch kaam karna padta hai—jo sirf company mein kaam karne tak simit nahi hai. Aage chal kar, hum apni zindagi mein kai tarah ke dostana rishte banate hain. Bilkul, hum kisi se prem rishte bhi bana sakte hain jo shaadi tak bhi le jaa sakte hain. Agar aisa hota hai, toh shaadi ka rishte ka aarambh hota hai, aur agar humare bachche hote hain, toh parent-child relationship shuru hota hai. Adler ne in interpersonal relationships ko teen categories mein baata: "tasks of work," "tasks of friendship," aur "tasks of love," aur in sabko milakar "life tasks" kaha.

YOUTH: Kya yeh tasks wo obligations hain jo insaan ko samajik roop se nibhaani hoti hain? Matlab, jaise kaam aur taxes ka bhugtan?

PHILOSOPHER: Nahi, kripya ise sirf interpersonal relationships ke terms mein socho. Matlab, doosron ke saath ke rishton ki doori aur gehraai. Adler kabhi-kabhi "three social ties" ka istemal karte the is point ko emphasize karne ke liye.

YOUTH: The distance and depth in one's interpersonal relationships?

PHILOSOPHER: Jo interpersonal relationships hain jo ek insaan ko apni social life jeene ke liye samna karna padta hai—yehi hain life tasks. Ye sach mein tasks hain is sense mein ki insaan ko inse samna karna hi padta hai.

YOUTH: Thoda aur specific batayein?

PHILOSOPHER: Pehle, chaliye work tasks dekhte hain. Chahe kaam kis type ka ho, koi bhi kaam aise nahi hota jo sirf apne aap kiya jaa sake. Jaise ki main yahan apne study mein manuscript likh raha hoon. Writing ek bilkul autonomous kaam hai, jo main kisi aur se nahi karwa sakta. Lekin phir editor aur kaafi log hote hain, jinke bina ye kaam complete nahi ho sakta, jaise book design, printing, distribution aur bookstore staff. Aisa kaam jo bina dusre logon ke cooperation ke kiya jaaye, wo principle mein mumkin nahi hai.

YOUTH: Haan, broadly speaking, sahi hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Lekin agar hum distance aur depth ke perspective se dekhein, toh work ke interpersonal relationships ko sabse kam hurdles wale kaha jaa sakta hai. Work ke interpersonal relationships ka ek common objective hota hai—achhe results pana, isliye log cooperate kar sakte hain, chahe wo hamesha ek doosre ke saath na ban rahe ho. Aur kuch had tak unhe cooperate karna hi padta hai. Aur jab tak relationship sirf kaam ke base par ban raha ho, tab tak wo kaam khatam hone ke baad ya job change karne par ek outsider ke relationship mein badal jaata hai.

YOUTH: Haan, bilkul sahi kaha.

PHILOSOPHER: Aur jo log is stage pe interpersonal relationships mein phas jaate hain, wo wo log hote hain jo “NEETs” (young person not in education, employment, or training) ya “shut-ins” (jo log ghar ke andar confined hote hain) kehlate hain.

YOUTH: Huh? Ek minute! Kya aap keh rahe hain ki wo kaam isliye nahi karte kyunki wo work ke saath judi interpersonal relationships se bachna chahte hain, na ki wo kaam nahi karna chahte ya manual labor karne se mana kar rahe hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Chahe wo khud se is baat ko samajh rahe hain ya nahi, interpersonal relationships kaafi important hain. Maan lo ek aadmi resumes bhejta hai kaam dhoondhne ke liye, interviews milte hain, lekin ek ke baad ek company usse reject kar deti hai. Uski pride hurt hoti hai. Wo sochne lagta hai ki kaam karne ka purpose kya hai agar usse aise cheezon se guzarna pade. Ya wo kaam pe koi bada mistake karta hai. Company ko uski wajah se bohot paisa ka nuksan ho sakta hai. Pure tareeke se hopeless feel karta hai, jaise wo andhere mein chala gaya ho, aur usse agle din kaam par jaane ka soch kar bhi bilkul nahi jeene ki himmat milti. Ye koi kaam ke khilaaf nahi hai. Jo cheez disagreeable hai wo hai dusron ke through criticize ya rebuke hona, apne aap ko bekaar ya incapable ke label milna, aur apne apne dignity ko hurt karna. Matlab, har cheez ek interpersonal relationship issue hai.

Red String and Rigid Chains

YOUTH: Well, main apne objections baad mein rakhunga. Ab agla, dosti ka task kya hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Ye ek dosti ka relationship hai jo kaam se thoda alag hai, jahan kaam ki koi majboori nahi hoti. Ye ek relationship hai jo shuru karna ya gehraai tak le jaana kaafi mushkil hota hai.

YOUTH: Ah, aap bilkul sahi keh rahe hain! Agar koi space ho, jaise school ya workplace, toh bhi ek relationship bana sakte hain. Lekin phir wo ek superficial relationship hota hai, jo usi space tak limited rehta hai. Agar aap apne school ya workplace ke bahar ek personal friend relationship shuru karna chahte hain, ya koi friend dhoondhna chahte hain, toh wo kaafi mushkil hota hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Kya aapke paas koi aisa hai jise aap close friend kehte hain?

YOUTH: Mere paas ek friend hai. Lekin main sure nahi hoon ki main use close friend keh sakta hoon...

PHILOSOPHER: Mere saath bhi aisa hi tha. Jab main high school mein tha, maine dosti karne ki koshish bhi nahi ki thi aur apne din Greek aur German padhai mein guzaar diye, philosophy ki kitaabein padhte hue. Meri maa mujhe lekar chintit thi aur unhone mere homeroom teacher se baat ki. Mere teacher ne unhe kaha, “Koi fikar ki baat nahi hai. Wo ek aise insaan hain jo doston ke bina bhi reh sakte hain.” Wo shabda meri maa ke liye kaafi himmat dene wale the, aur mere liye bhi.

YOUTH: Ek aisa insaan jo doston ki zarurat nahi rakhta? Toh high school mein aapke paas ek bhi dost nahi tha?

PHILOSOPHER: Mere paas ek dost tha. Usne kaha, “University mein seekhne layak kuch bhi nahi hai,” aur aakhirkar usne university join nahi ki. Wo kuch saalon tak pahaadon mein akela rehne chala gaya, aur aajkal main sunta hoon ki wo Southeast Asia mein journalism kar raha hai. Main use kai saalon se nahi mila hoon, lekin mujhe lagta hai ki agar hum dobara milte hain, toh hum waise hi ghoom phir sakte hain jaise pehle karte the. Kai log yeh sochte hain ki jitne zyada dost ho, utna accha, lekin main utna sure nahi hoon. Doston ya acquaintances ki taadaad mein koi value nahi hoti. Aur yeh ek aisa topic hai jo pyaar ke task se bhi connected hai, lekin humein yeh sochna chahiye ki relationship ka distance aur depth kitna hai.

YOUTH: Kya mujhe close friends banane ka mauka milega?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul milega. Agar aap badalenge, toh aapke aas paas ke log bhi badalenge. Unhe badalne ke liye kuch na kuch toh badalna hi padega. Adlerian psychology ek aisi psychology hai jo khud ko badalne ki hoti hai, dusron ko badalne ki nahi. Dusron ke badalne ka intezaar karne ki bajaye, aap khud pehla kadam aage badhaiye.

YOUTH: Hmm...

PHILOSOPHER: Sach toh yeh hai ki aap aise hi mere kamre mein mujhse milne aaye ho. Aur aap mein, maine ek young friend dhoond liya hai.

YOUTH: Main aapka friend hoon?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, kyunki aap ho. Yeh jo dialogue chal raha hai, wo counseling nahi hai, aur humara koi work relationship bhi nahi hai. Mere liye, aap ek irreplaceable friend hain. Kya aapko nahi lagta?

YOUTH: Main aapka... irreplaceable friend? Nahi, main abhi is baare mein kuch nahi sochunga. Chaliye, aage badhte hain. Pyaar ka task ke baare mein kya kehna hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Isay do stages mein socho: pehla, jo love relationships kehte hain; aur doosra, parivaar ke relationships, khaas kar parent-child relationships. Humne kaam aur dosti ke baare mein discuss kiya hai, lekin teen tasks mein se, sabse mushkil task pyaar ka hi hota hai. Jab ek friend relationship pyaar mein badal jaata hai, toh wo baatein aur vyavhaar jo doston ke beech allowed the, wo ab lovers ke beech allowed nahi hote. Matlab, opposite sex ke friends se milna mana ho jata hai, aur kuch cases mein bas opposite sex ke kisi se phone pe baat karna bhi jealousy ko janm de sakta hai. Yeh distance itna close hota hai, aur relationship utna gehra.

YOUTH: Haan, shayad isse bachna mushkil hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Lekin Adler apne partner ko restrict karna nahi maanta. Agar aapka partner khush dikh raha ho, toh uss condition ko honestly celebrate karna chahiye. Yeh pyaar hai. Aise relationships jahan log ek doosre ko restrict karte hain, wo aakhirkar toot jaate hain.

YOUTH: Rukiye, yeh argument toh bas infidelity ko justify karne ki taraf jaa sakta hai. Kyunki agar aapka partner khushi se affair kar raha ho, toh aap keh rahe hain ki usse bhi celebrate karna chahiye.

PHILOSOPHER: Nahi, main affair ko justify nahi kar raha. Isay kuch is tarah se samajhye: Woh relationship jo jab dono log saath hote hain, tab wo thoda oppressive aur strained mehsoos hoti hai, usse pyaar nahi kaha jaa sakta, chahe kitna bhi junoon ho. Jab aap soch sakte hain, "Jab bhi main is insaan ke saath hoon, main bilkul free mehsoos kar sakta hoon," tab aap sach mein pyaar mehsoos kar rahe hote hain. Aap ek shaant aur natural state mein ho sakte hain, bina kisi inferior feelings ke ya apni superiority dikhane ki zarurat ke. Yeh hai asli pyaar. Dusri taraf, restriction ek aise mindset ki nishani hai jo apne partner ko control karne ki koshish kar raha hai, aur yeh ek aisa vichaar hai jo distrust pe based hota hai. Aise kisi ke saath ek hi space mein rehna jo aap pe trust nahi karta, wo ek natural situation nahi hai, aap usse bardasht nahi kar sakte, hai na? Jaise Adler kehte hain, "Agar do log achhe terms pe saath rehna chahte hain, toh unhe ek doosre ko equal personalities ke roop mein treat karna hoga."

YOUTH: Samajh gaya.

PHILOSOPHER: Lekin, pyaar aur shaadi ke relationships mein, separation ka option hota hai. Toh ek husband-wife jo kai saalon se saath hain, wo alag ho sakte hain agar unke liye relationship ko continue karna distressful ho. Parent-child relationship mein, lekin, principle ke roop mein yeh nahi kiya jaa sakta. Agar romantic love ek relationship hai jo red string se juda hota hai, toh parent-child ka relationship rigid chains se bandha hota hai. Aur jo chhoti scissor aapke paas hoti hai, bas wahi hoti hai. Yeh parent-child relationship ka mushkil hissa hai.

YOUTH: Toh ab aap kya karne ko keh rahe hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Abhi jo main keh sakta hoon, wo yeh hai: Aapko bhaagna nahi chahiye. Chahe relationship kitna bhi distressful ho, aapko usse avoid ya postpone nahi karna chahiye. Chahe aapko aakhir mein use scissor se kaatna ho, pehle usse face karna zaroori hai. Sabse bura yeh hoga ki aap bas waise ka waise khade rahein, bina kuch kiye. Yeh bilkul impossible hai ki ek insaan apni zindagi poori tarah se akela jeevan jee sake, aur sirf social contexts mein hi insaan apne aap ko ek "individual" banata hai. Isi liye Adlerian psychology mein, self-reliance as an individual aur society ke andar cooperation ko overarching objectives ke roop mein rakha gaya hai. Toh, kaise aap yeh objectives achieve kar sakte hain? Is point pe, Adler teen tasks—kaam, dosti, aur pyaar—ke baare mein baat karte hain, jo interpersonal relationships hain jo ek jeevit insaan ko apne aap ko samajhna zaroori hai. Yuva ab bhi unke asli matlab ko samajhne mein struggle kar raha tha.

Don't Fall for the "Life-Lie"

YOUTH: Ah, yeh phir se confusing ho raha hai. Aapne kaha tha ki main doosron ko dushman samajhta hoon aur unhe comrades nahi samajh pata kyunki main apne life tasks se bhaag raha hoon. Yeh ka matlab tha?

PHILOSOPHER: Maan lijiye, ek Mr. A hain, jise aap nahi pasand karte kyunki unmein kuch aise flaws hain jo aapke liye maaf karna mushkil hain.

YOUTH: Ha-ha, agar aise log dhoondhna ho jo mujhe nahi pasand, toh candidates ki kami nahi hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Lekin aap Mr. A ko is liye nahi pasand karte kyunki aap unke flaws ko nahi maaf kar paate. Aapka pehle se yeh goal tha ki aapko Mr. A se nafrat karni hai, aur phir aapne unke flaws dhoondhna shuru kiya taaki us goal ko pura kar sakein.

YOUTH: Yeh to pagalpan hai! Main aisa kyun karunga?

PHILOSOPHER: Taaki aap Mr. A ke saath ek interpersonal relationship se bach sakein.

YOUTH: Bilkul nahi, yeh toh bilkul galat hai. Cheezon ka order ulta hai. Usne kuch aisa kiya jo mujhe pasand nahi aaya, isliye. Agar usne aisa nahi kiya hota, toh mujhe usse nafrat karne ka koi reason nahi milta.

PHILOSOPHER: Nahi, aap galat hain. Agar aap pichle example ko yaad karein, jahan kisi love relationship se alag hone ki baat hui thi, toh samajh sakte hain. Lovers ya married couples ke beech aise waqt aate hain jab kisi point ke baad, ek doosre ki har baat ya kaam par irritate hona shuru ho jaata hai. Jaise, agar woh ladki ko uska khana khane ka tareeka pasand nahi aata, ya ghar pe uska appearance usse nafrat karne wala lagta hai, ya uski snoring bhi use chidhati hai, jabki kuch mahine pehle tak yeh sab kuch bhi nahi bother kar raha tha.

YOUTH: Haan, yeh thoda familiar lag raha hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Us insaan ko aisa mehsoos ho raha hai kyunki usne apne aap se ek stage pe yeh faisla kiya hota hai ki us relationship ko khatam karna hai, aur phir usne us relationship ko khatam karne ke liye cheezein dhoondhna shuru kar diya. Dusra insaan bilkul bhi nahi badla. Jo badla hai, wo uska apna goal hai. Dekho, log bohot hi selfish creatures hote hain jo kabhi bhi doosron ke flaws aur kamiyaan dhoondh nikaalte hain, jab unka man ho. Agar ek perfect character wala insaan bhi aaye, toh usme bhi koi na koi wajah dhoondh kar usse nafrat karne ka tareeka mil jayega. Isi liye duniya kabhi bhi khatarnak ho sakti hai, aur hamesha yeh ho sakta hai ki har kisi ko apne dushman ki tarah dekha jaaye.

YOUTH: Toh main doosron ke flaws bana raha hoon sirf apne life tasks se bachne ke liye, aur interpersonal relationships se door rehne ke liye? Aur main doosron ko apne dushman samajh kar bhaag raha hoon?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Adler ne iss state ko jisme insaan apne life tasks se bachne ke liye har tareeke ke excuses banaata hai, "life-lie" kaha tha.

YOUTH: Theek hai...

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, yeh ek kaafi sakht shabd hai. Apni situation ka zimmedari doosron par daal dena, ya yeh kehna ki sab kuch doosron ki wajah se ho raha hai, ya environment ki wajah se ho raha hai, yeh apne life tasks se bhaagna hai. Yeh bilkul waise hi hai jaise maine pehle us female student ki kahani batayi thi jo blush karne ka darr rakhti thi. Insaan apne aap se jhoot bolta hai, aur apne aas paas ke logon se bhi jhoot bolta hai. Jab aap sach mein soch kar dekhte hain, toh yeh kaafi sakht baat hai.

YOUTH: Lekin aap kaise keh sakte hain ki main jhoot bol raha hoon? Aapko mere aas paas ke logon ke baare mein kuch nahi pata, ya mere jeene ka tareeka kaisa hai, yeh aap kaise jaan sakte hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Sach hai, mujhe aapke past ke baare mein kuch nahi pata. Aapke parents ke baare mein bhi nahi, ya aapke bade bhai ke baare mein bhi nahi. Lekin ek baat mujhe zaroor pata hai.

YOUTH: Kya hai wo?

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh hai ki aap — aur koi nahi — aapne apne lifestyle ka faisla khud kiya hai.

YOUTH: Argh!

PHILOSOPHER: Agar aapka lifestyle doosre logon ya environment se decide hota, toh yeh mumkin hota ki aap zimmedari doosron par daal dete. Lekin hum apne lifestyle ka faisla khud karte hain. Zimmedari kaafi clear hai.

YOUTH: Toh aap mujhe dosh de rahe hain. Aap logon ko jhoot bolne wale aur coward keh rahe hain, aur keh rahe hain ki sab kuch meri zimmedari hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Aapko gussa ka istemal karke aankhon se door nahi bhagna chahiye. Yeh ek bohot zaroori baat hai. Adler kabhi bhi life tasks ya life-lies ko good and evil ke terms mein nahi discuss karte. Humare liye yeh moral ya good and evil ka masla nahi hai, yeh courage ka masla hai.

YOUTH: Phir se courage!

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Agar aap apne life tasks se bhaag rahe hain aur life-lies ko pakad kar baith gaye hain, toh yeh is liye nahi hai kyunki aap buray hain. Yeh ek moralistic perspective ka masla nahi hai. Yeh sirf courage ka masla hai.

From the Psychology of Possession to the Psychology of Practice

YOUTH: Toh aakhirkar jo aap keh rahe hain, woh courage hai? Mujhe yaad hai, aakhri baar aapne kaha tha ki Adlerian psychology ek "psychology of courage" hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Main isme yeh bhi add karunga ki Adlerian psychology ek "psychology of possession" nahi hai, balki ek "psychology of use" hai.

YOUTH: Toh yeh waala statement hai: "Yeh nahi ki insaan kis cheez ke saath paida hota hai, balki woh us equipment ka kya istemal karta hai."

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Dhanyavaad, aapne yaad rakha. Freudian etiology ek psychology hai jo possession se judi hoti hai, aur aakhirkar yeh determinism tak pahuchti hai. Adlerian psychology, doosri taraf, ek psychology hai jo use se judi hoti hai, aur yeh aap khud decide karte hain.

YOUTH: Adlerian psychology ek psychology hai courage ki, aur saath hi ek psychology hai use ki...

PHILOSOPHER: Hum insaan itne naazuk nahi hain ki hum bas etiological (cause-and-effect) traumas ke taare mein hi bandhe rahein. Teleology ke nazariye se, hum apni zindagi aur apne lifestyle ka faisla khud karte hain. Humare paas yeh taqat hai.

YOUTH: Lekin, sach mein, mujhe apne inferiority complex ko overcome karne ka vishwas nahi hai. Aur aap yeh keh sakte hain ki yeh ek life-lie hai, lekin shayad main kabhi apne inferiority complex se chutkaara nahi paaunga.

PHILOSOPHER: Aap aisa kyun soch rahe hain?

YOUTH: Shayad jo aap keh rahe hain woh sahi ho. Sach mein, mujhe yakeen hai ki yeh sahi hai, aur courage sach mein meri kami hai. Main life-lie ko bhi accept kar sakta hoon. Mujhe logon se interact karne ka darr hai. Main interpersonal relationships mein dard nahi chahata, aur apne life tasks ko talna chahta hoon. Isliye mere paas yeh saare excuses ready hote hain. Haan, bilkul aap jo keh rahe hain woh sahi hai. Lekin kya jo aap keh rahe hain, woh ek tarah ka spiritualism nahi hai? Aap jo keh rahe hain, bas yeh hai, "Aapne apna courage kho diya hai, aapko apna courage dubara paana hoga." Yeh bilkul us bekar instructor ki tarah hai jo soche ki woh aapko advice de raha hai jab woh aake aapko shoulder par thappad maar kar kehta hai, "Cheer up." Jabki asli wajah yeh hai ki main isliye achha nahi kar pa raha hoon kyunki main bas cheer up nahi kar sakta!

PHILOSOPHER: Toh aapka kehna yeh hai ki aap chahte hain ki main kuch specific steps suggest karoon?

YOUTH: Haan, please. Main ek insaan hoon. Main koi machine nahi hoon. Mujhe kaha gaya ki mera courage bilkul khatam ho gaya hai, lekin main apne courage ka refuel aise nahi kar sakta jaise main apne tank mein fuel bhar raha hoon.

PHILOSOPHER: Theek hai. Lekin aaj raat hum kaafi der ho gayi hai, toh chalo isey hum agle baar continue karte hain.

YOUTH: Aap isse bhaag nahi rahe hain, right?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul nahi. Agle baar, hum shayad freedom ke baare mein discuss karenge.

YOUTH: Courage nahi?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, woh freedom ki baat hogi, jo courage ki baat karte waqt zaroori hota hai. Kripya sochna ki freedom ka matlab kya hota hai.

YOUTH: Freedom ka matlab... Theek hai. Main agle baar ka intezaar kar raha hoon.

THE THIRD NIGHT

Discard Other People's Tasks

Do hafte guzar gaye, aur ab main phir se aapke paas aaya hoon. Freedom kya hai? Log free kyun nahi ho sakte? Main free kyun nahi ho sakta? Jo bhi cheez mujhe rok rahi hai, uska asli nature kya hai? Jo assignment aapne mujhe diya tha, woh mere upar bohot bhari ho gaya hai, lekin lagta hai ki uska koi convincing jawab milna impossible hai. Jaise-jaise main is baare mein sochta hoon, waise-waise mujhe apne freedom ki kami ka ehsaas hone laga hai.

Deny the Desire for Recognition

YOUTH: Toh aapne kaha tha ki aaj hum freedom par discuss karenge.

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Kya tumhare paas time tha sochne ka ki freedom kya hai?

YOUTH: Haan, actually maine iske baare mein kaafi seriously socha.

PHILOSOPHER: Aur koi conclusion pehunch paaye?

YOUTH: Well, mujhe koi answer nahi mila. Par ek cheez mili—yeh mera khud ka idea nahi hai, but library mein mujhe ek novel by Dostoevsky mein yeh line mili: “Money is coined freedom.” Aap kya sochte ho? Kya “coined freedom” ek interesting term nahi hai? Par seriously, mujhe yeh ek line kaafi fascinating lagi jo directly money ki core baat tak ja rahi thi.

PHILOSOPHER: I see. Agar ek general sense mein dekhein, toh shayad money ke wajah se jo cheez aati hai usko freedom kaha jaa sakta hai. Yeh ek accha observation hai, no doubt. Par tum yeh toh nahi kahoge ki “freedom therefore is money,” right?

YOUTH: Exactly, jaise aapne kaha. Shayad money ke through kuch freedom mil sakti hai. Aur mujhe lagta hai ki woh freedom hum imagine karte hain usse zyada badi ho sakti hai. Kyunki reality mein, life ke saare necessities financial transactions ke through hi poore hote hain. Toh kya iska matlab yeh hai ki agar kisi ke paas zyada wealth hai, toh woh free hai? Mujhe nahi lagta ki yeh sach hai; main toh yeh maanna chahunga ki yeh sach nahi hai, aur human values aur happiness money se buy nahi ki ja sakti.

PHILOSOPHER: Chalo maan lo ki tumne financial freedom achieve kar li hai. Phir, chahe tumhare paas kitni bhi wealth ho, agar tumhe happiness nahi milti, toh uss samay tumhare paas kya problems aur difficulties honggi?

YOUTH: Jaise aapne pehle mention kiya tha—interpersonal relationships. Maine ispe deeply socha hai. For example, tumhare paas great wealth ho sakti hai but tumhare paas koi tumhe pyaar karne wala nahi hoga; tumhare paas koi dost nahi honge jise tum comrades bula sako, aur tumhe koi pasand nahi karega. Yeh ek badi misfortune hai. Ek aur cheez jo mere dimaag se ja nahi rahi hai, woh hai “bonds.” Hum sab kisi na kisi tarah in strings mein phanse hue hain jo hum “bonds” bulate hain. Jaise kisi aise insaan ke saath attach rehna jise tum pasand bhi nahi karte, ya hamesha apne boss ke mood swings ko dekhna padta hai. Socho, agar tum in petty interpersonal relationships se free ho jao, toh life kitni easy ho jaaye! But koi bhi aisa kar nahi sakta. Jahan bhi jaate hain, hum doosre logon se ghir jaate hain, aur hum social beings hain, jo apne interpersonal relations ke through exist karte hain. Chahe hum kuch bhi karen, hum apne interpersonal relationships ke strong rope se escape nahi kar sakte. Ab mujhe samajh aata hai ki Adler ka yeh kehna ki “All problems are interpersonal relationship problems” kitna insightful hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh ek crucial point hai. Chalo thoda aur deeply samajhte hain. Kya hai jo humare interpersonal relationships mein humari freedom chheen raha hai?

YOUTH: Last time, aapne baat ki thi ki kya hum dusre logon ko apna enemy samajhte hain ya apne comrades. Aapne kaha tha ki agar hum dusron ko apne comrades ki tarah dekhna shuru karen, toh humari duniya dekhne ka nazariya badal jayega. Yeh baat kaafi sense banati hai. Jab main pichli baar yahaan se gaya, mujhe yeh baat samajh aayi thi. Par phir kya hua? Maine is baare mein achhe se socha, aur mujhe laga ki interpersonal relationships ke kuch aspects aise hain jo poore tarike se explain nahi ho sakte.

PHILOSOPHER: Jaise kya?

YOUTH: Sabse obvious example hai parents ka. Main parents ko kabhi enemy nahi maan sakta. Especially childhood mein, woh mere greatest guardians the jo mujhe raise aur protect karte the. Uske liye main sincerely grateful hoon. Phir bhi, mere parents kaafi strict the. Maine aapko pichli baar bataya tha ki unhone mujhe hamesha mere bade bhai se compare kiya aur kabhi mujhe recognize nahi kiya. Aur woh hamesha mere life ke baare mein comments karte rahe, jaise ki mujhe zyada padhna chahiye, aise walo ke saath dosti nahi karni chahiye, is university mein jaana chahiye, is type ka job lena chahiye, aur aise hi baaki demands. Unki yeh demands mujhe kaafi pressure deti thi aur woh ek tarah ke bonds the.

PHILOSOPHER: Phir tumne kya kiya?

YOUTH: Jab tak main university start nahi ki, tab tak mujhe lagta hai ki main kabhi bhi apne parents ki intentions ko ignore nahi kar paya. Mujhe anxiety hoti thi, jo unpleasant thi, par fact yeh hai ki mere wishes hamesha unki wishes ke saath overlap hote the. Lekin apni job maine khud choose ki.

PHILOSOPHER: Ab jab tumne yeh mention kiya, mujhe iske baare mein suna nahi tha. Tum kya kaam karte ho?

YOUTH: Main ab ek university library mein librarian ka kaam karta hoon. Mere parents chahte the ki main apne father ke printing plant ko join karun, jaise mere bhai ne kiya. Is wajah se, jab se maine apni current job shuru ki, humara relationship thoda strained ho gaya hai. Agar woh mere parents nahi hote, aur mere life mein enemy-type presences hote, toh mujhe shayad koi farak nahi padta. Kyunki chahe woh kitna bhi interfere karte, main unhe ignore kar sakta tha. Par jaise maine kaha, parents mere liye enemies nahi hain. Chahe woh comrades hain ya nahi, yeh alag baat hai, par kam se kam main unhe enemies nahi keh sakta. Yeh relationship itna close hai ki main unki intentions ko ignore nahi kar sakta.

PHILOSOPHER: Jab tumne apne parents ki wishes ke according apni university choose ki, us samay tumne apne parents ke liye kya emotion feel kiya?

YOUTH: Yeh complicated hai. Mujhe kuch resentment feel hota tha, par doosri taraf ek relief ka sense bhi hota tha. Jaise ki, agar main woh school join karta hoon toh main unka recognition paa sakta hoon.

PHILOSOPHER: Tum unka recognition paa sakte the?

YOUTH: Come on, yeh roundabout leading questions band karo. Mujhe pata hai ki aap kya refer kar rahe ho. Yeh so-called desire for recognition hai. Yeh interpersonal relationship problems ka ek summary hai. Hum insaan hamesha dusre logon ki recognition ki zarurat feel karte hain. Yeh tabhi possible hai kyunki woh dusra insaan koi hateful enemy nahi hai, isliye hum uski recognition chahte hain, right? Toh haan, main apne parents ki taraf se recognized feel karna chahata tha.

PHILOSOPHER: I see. Chalo is matter pe Adlerian psychology ke ek major premise ke baare mein baat karte hain. Adlerian psychology dusron ki recognition chahne ki zarurat ko deny karti hai.

YOUTH: Recognition ki desire ko deny karti hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Dusron ki taraf se recognize hone ki koi zarurat nahi hai. Actually, ek insaan ko recognition seek nahi karni chahiye. Yeh point bahut zaruri hai.

YOUTH: No way! Kya recognition ki desire ek truly universal desire nahi hai jo sab insaano ko motivate karti hai?

Do Not Live to Satisfy the Expectations of Others

PHILOSOPHER: Dusre logon se pehchaan milna zarur khushi ki baat hai. Lekin yeh kehna galat hoga ki pehchaan milna bilkul zaroori hai. Toh sabse pehle insaan pehchaan kyun chahta hai? Ya, seedha seedha poochhein, insaan dusron se tareef kyun chahta hai?

YOUTH: Yeh simple hai. Dusron se pehchaan milne ke through hi har ek insaan apni value ko asli mehsoos kar sakta hai. Dusron ki pehchaan se hi insaan apni inferiority complex ko door kar pata hai. Apne aap par bharosa karna seekhta hai. Haan, yeh value ka issue hai. Mujhe lagta hai aapne pichhli baar kaha tha: inferiority ka ehsaas value judgment ka issue hai. Yeh isliye hai kyunki main kabhi apne parents se pehchaan nahi pa sakta, isliye meri zindagi inferiority ke feelings se bhari hui hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Ab ek familiar situation ko consider karte hain. Maan lo, tum apne kaam ke jagah ke aas-paas kachra utha rahe ho. Lekin baat yeh hai ki koi bhi tumhe notice nahi kar raha hai. Agar koi dekhta bhi hai, toh kisi ne tumhara shukriya tak nahi kaha. Toh, kya tum aage bhi yeh kaam karte rahoge?

YOUTH: Yeh ek mushkil situation hai. Mujhe lagta hai agar koi bhi mere kaam ki tareef nahi karega, toh main shayad ruk jaunga.

PHILOSOPHER: Kyun?

YOUTH: Kachra uthana sabke liye hota hai. Agar main apne kaam ko ache se kar raha hoon, lekin mujhe ek bhi shukriya nahi mil raha, toh shayad mera motivation chala jayega.

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh pehchaan ki chah ka khatra hai. Log dusron se pehchaan kyun chahte hain? Aksar, yeh reward-and-punishment education ki wajah se hota hai.

YOUTH: Reward-and-punishment education?

PHILOSOPHER: Agar koi insaan sahi kaam kare, toh usse tareef milti hai. Agar galat kaam kare, toh usse saza milti hai. Adler ne reward aur punishment wale education ko kaafi criticize kiya tha. Yeh galat tarike se zindagi jeene ka sabab banta hai, jisme log sochne lagte hain: Agar koi mujhe tareef nahi dega, toh main sahi kaam nahi karunga, aur agar koi mujhe saza nahi dega, toh main galat kaam bhi karunga. Tumhare paas already yeh goal hai ki tum kachra uthane ke baad tareef chahte ho. Agar koi tumhe tareef nahi deta, toh tum ya toh gussa ho jaoge ya sochoge ki aage se aisa kaam kabhi nahi karna. Bilkul, is situation mein kuch galat hai.

YOUTH: Nahi! Main chahta hoon ki aap isko trivialize na karein. Main education ke baare mein nahi keh raha hoon. Apne pasand ke logon se pehchaan chahna, apne aas-paas ke logo se accept hona ek normal chaah hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Tum galat samajh rahe ho. Dekho, hum apni zindagi dusron ke expectations ko pura karne ke liye nahi jee rahe hain.

YOUTH: Aapka kya matlab hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Hum apni zindagi dusron ke expectations ko pura karne ke liye nahi jee rahe hain, aur na hi tum jee rahe ho. Dusron ke expectations ko pura karna zaroori nahi hai.

YOUTH: Yeh kitna selfish argument hai! Kya aap keh rahe hain ki insaan ko bas apne baare mein sochna chahiye aur self-righteously jeena chahiye?

PHILOSOPHER: Judaism ke teachings mein ek aisa nazariya milta hai jo kuch is tarah ka hai: Agar tum apni zindagi apne liye nahi jee rahe ho, toh kaun jeeyega tumhare liye? Tum apni zindagi apne liye hi jee rahe ho. Jab baat aaye ki tum kis ke liye jee rahe ho, toh woh tum ho. Aur agar tum apni zindagi apne liye nahi jee rahe ho, toh kaun hai jo tumhari zindagi jeeyega? Aakhirkar, hum apne "I" ke baare mein soch kar jeete hain. Ismein koi problem nahi hai.

YOUTH: Toh aap nihilism ke zeher se peedit hain, phir. Aap keh rahe ho, aakhirkar, hum "I" ke baare mein soch kar jeete hain? Aur yeh theek hai? Kitna bekar sochne ka tareeka hai!

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh nihilism bilkul nahi hai. Iske bilkul opposite hai. Jab koi dusron se pehchaan chahta hai, aur sirf is baat ki chinta karta hai ki dusre usse kaise judge karte hain, toh aakhirkar woh dusron ki zindagi jee raha hota hai.

YOUTH: Iska kya matlab hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Dusron se pehchaan chahna itna zaroori ho jayega ki tum apni asli pehchaan ko chhodkar doosre logon ke expectations ko follow karoge, jo chaahte hain ki tum "is tarah ke insaan" bano. Matlab, tum apni asli zindagi ko chhodkar dusron ki zindagi jeene lagte ho. Aur yeh yaad rakho: Agar tum apni zindagi dusron ke expectations ko pura karne ke liye nahi jee rahe ho, toh yeh bhi sach hai ki dusre log tumhare expectations ko pura karne ke liye nahi jeene waale. Koi tumhare chaahne ke hisaab se behave nahi karega, toh gussa hona zaroori nahi hai. Yeh bilkul natural hai.

YOUTH: Nahi, yeh nahi ho sakta! Yeh wo argument hai jo hamari society ko apne hi foundation se hila dega. Dekho, humare paas pehchaan ki chah hai. Lekin dusron se pehchaan paane ke liye, sabse pehle humein khud dusron ko pehchaan na hoga. Jab hum doosron ko pehchaan karte hain aur unke values ko samajhte hain, tabhi hum dusron se pehchaan paate hain. Yeh mutual recognition ka rista hi hamari society ko banata hai. Tumhara yeh argument bilkul galat hai, yeh ek khatarnaak tareeka hai jo insaan ko akela kar dega aur jhagde ka sabab banega. Yeh ek shaitani salah hai jo bekaar ki distrust aur doubt ko jagata hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Ha-ha, tumhare paas sach mein interesting vocabulary hai. Apna awaaz uthana zaroori nahi hai—chalo is par sochte hain. Agar tumhe pehchaan nahi milti, toh tum suffer karoge. Agar tumhe dusron se aur tumhare parents se pehchaan nahi milti, toh tumhe apne aap par bharosa nahi hoga. Kya aisi zindagi healthy ho sakti hai? Tum soch sakte ho, "God dekh raha hai, toh acche kaam karte raho." Lekin yeh aur wo nihilist nazariya "agar God nahi hai, toh sab kuch allowed hai" ek hi coin ke do pehlu hain. Maan lo agar God nahi hai, aur agar hum God se pehchaan nahi paa sakte, tab bhi humein apni zindagi jeeni hogi. Asal mein, ek godless duniya ke nihilism ko paar karne ke liye yeh zaroori hai ki hum dusron se pehchaan ko inkaar karen.

YOUTH: Mujhe God ki baatein bilkul pasand nahi. Seedha aur plainly socho, jo asli zindagi ke log hain, unke mentalities ke baare mein. Jaise, social recognition ki chah ke baare mein kya kehna hai? Koi insaan corporate ladder par kyun chadhna chahta hai? Koi insaan status aur fame kyun chahta hai? Yeh hai sabhi logon ke saamne apni ahmiyat dikhane ki chah—yeh pehchaan ki chah hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Toh agar tumhe yeh pehchaan mil jaati hai, kya tum keh sakte ho ki tum sach mein khush ho? Kya jo log apna social status bana chuke hain, wo sach mein khush mehsoos karte hain?

YOUTH: Nahi, lekin yeh...

PHILOSOPHER: Jab tum dusron se pehchaan chahte ho, toh aksar log dusron ki expectations ko pura karna apne goal samajhte hain. Aur yeh wohi soch hai jo reward-and-punishment education se milti hai, jo kehata hai ki agar tum sahi kaam karte ho, toh tumhe tareef milegi. Agar, for example, tumhara kaam dusron ki expectations ko pura karna hai, toh yeh kaam tumhare liye bahut mushkil ho jayega. Kyunki tum hamesha dusron ki nazar mein rehne ki chinta karoge, unke judgment ka dar hoga, aur tum apne "I-ness" ko dabaoge. Tumhein shayad yeh surprise ho, lekin mere almost kisi client ne jo counseling ke liye aaye hain, wo selfish nahi the. Balki, wo dusron ki expectations ko pura karte hue dard seh rahe the, apne parents aur teachers ki expectations. Aur achhe tareeke se, wo apne aap ko self-centered tareeke se behave nahi kar pa rahe the.

YOUTH: Toh kya mujhe selfish hona chahiye?

PHILOSOPHER: Dusron ki feelings ki izzat bina nahi chalna. Isse samajhne ke liye Adlerian psychology mein ek idea hai jo "separation of tasks" ke naam se jaana jaata hai.

YOUTH: Separation of tasks? Yeh naya term hai. Chalo, iske baare mein sunte hain.

YOUTH ki irritation apne peak par pahunch chuki thi. Pehchaan ki chah ko inkaar karna? Dusron ke expectations ko pura na karna? Zyada self-centered tareeke se jeena? Yeh philosopher kya keh raha tha? Kya yeh "separation of tasks" ka idea mujhe convince karega? Agar nahi, toh main is insaan ya Adler ko apni zindagi bhar ke liye accept nahi kar paunga.

How to Separate Tasks

PHILOSOPHER: Maan lo ek bachcha hai jo padhai mein dhyaan nahi deta. Wo class mein dhyaan nahi deta, homework nahi karta, aur apni kitaabein school mein chhod deta hai. Ab, agar tum uske pita hote, toh tum kya karte?

YOUTH: Arre, main toh jo kuch bhi soch sakta hoon, wo sab karne ki koshish karta. Tutors ko hire karta, study center bhejta, agar zaroorat padti toh usse kaan se kheench kar bhi bhejta. Yeh toh ek maa-baap ka farz hai. Waise bhi, main bhi isi tarah pala bada hoon. Mujhe kabhi dinner nahi milta tha jab tak din ka homework complete nahi hota tha.

PHILOSOPHER: Toh ek aur sawal puchta hoon. Kya tumne uss tariqe se padhai karne se padhai mein maza seekha?

YOUTH: Dukh ki baat hai, maine nahi seekha. Main bas school aur exams ke liye routine tareeke se padhai kar leta tha.

PHILOSOPHER: Samajh gaya. Chalo, ab main yeh baat Adlerian psychology ke basic stance se samjhaata hoon. Jab kisi ko padhai ka kaam diya jaata hai, toh Adlerian psychology ke hisaab se hum yeh dekhte hain ki "Yeh kaam kis ka hai?"

YOUTH: Kis ka kaam?

PHILOSOPHER: Kya bachcha padhai karega ya nahi karega. Kya wo apne doston ke saath khelega ya nahi. Asal mein yeh bachche ka kaam hai, maa-baap ka kaam nahi.

YOUTH: Tum yeh keh rahe ho ki yeh kaam bachche ka hi hona chahiye?

PHILOSOPHER: Seedha aur sidha, haan. Agar maa-baap ki jagah bachche ke liye padhai karenge, toh koi fayda nahi hoga, hai na?

YOUTH: Haan, bilkul.

PHILOSOPHER: Padhai bachche ka kaam hai. Agar maa-baap usse padhai karne ke liye keh rahe hain, toh wo asal mein doosre insaan ke kaam mein dakhil de rahe hain. Aise mein, takraav ko rokna mushkil hai. Humein yeh sochna padega ki "Yeh kaam kis ka hai?" aur hamesha apne kaam ko doosre logon ke kaam se alag karna hoga.

YOUTH: Aur yeh kaise karte hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Tum doosre logon ke kaam mein dakhla mat do. Bas, yeh hai.

YOUTH: Bas?

PHILOSOPHER: Aam taur pe, saari interpersonal relationship ki pareshaniyan doosron ke kaam mein dakhla dene ya apne kaam ke beech mein doosron ka dakhla dene se hoti hain. Agar hum apne kaamon ko alag kar lein, toh hum apne interpersonal relationships ko kaafi badal sakte hain.

YOUTH: Hmm. Main itna samajh nahi pa raha hoon. Pehle toh, yeh kaise pata chalega ki kis ka kaam hai? Mere nazariye se, yeh toh maa-baap ka kaam hai ki apne bachche ko padhai ke liye rakhne ki koshish karein. Kyunki lagbhag koi bhi bachcha sirf maza ke liye padhai nahi karta, aur aakhir kaar maa-baap hi uske guardian hote hain.

PHILOSOPHER: Ek simple tareeka hai yeh jaanne ka ki kis ka kaam hai. Socho, jo bhi faisla kiya gaya uska anjaam kaun bhugatne wala hai? Jab bachcha padhai na karne ka faisla karta hai, toh us faisle ka anjaam—jaise ki class mein piche rehna ya pasandida school mein admission na milna—maa-baap ko nahi bhugatna padta. Yeh saaf hai ki yeh bachcha hi hai jo is kaam ka anjaam bhugatne wala hai. Matlab, padhai bachche ka kaam hai.

YOUTH: Nahi, nahi. Tum bilkul galat ho! Maa-baap jo zindagi mein zyada anubhav rakhte hain aur jo guardian hote hain, unka farz banta hai ki bachche ko padhai karne ko kahe, taaki aise halat na bane. Yeh bachche ke bhale ke liye kiya jaata hai, yeh koi dakhla nahi hai. Haan, padhai bachche ka kaam hai, lekin bachche ko padhai karne ke liye kehna maa-baap ka kaam hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh sach hai ki aajkal maa-baap yeh kehte hain "Yeh tumhare bhale ke liye hai." Lekin wo clearly apne apne goals ko pura karne ke liye yeh kar rahe hote hain, jaise ki apne samaj mein achha dikhna, apni image banana, ya apne control ka matlab dikhana. Matlab, yeh "tumhare bhale ke liye" nahi, balki maa-baap ke liye hai. Aur isi liye bachcha is dhokhe ko mehsoos karta hai aur rebel karne lagta hai.

YOUTH: Toh tum keh rahe ho ki agar bachcha bilkul padhai nahi kar raha, toh tum keh rahe ho ki main usse bas waise hi chhod doon?

PHILOSOPHER: Dhyaan se suno. Adlerian psychology mein hum noninterference ka approach nahi kehte. Noninterference ka matlab hai ki humein pata hi na ho aur humein yeh bhi interest na ho ki bachcha kya kar raha hai. Balke, jab humein pata hota hai ki bachcha kya kar raha hai, toh hum usse protect karte hain. Agar padhai ka mamla ho, toh hum bachche ko yeh bataate hain ki yeh uska kaam hai, aur hum usse yeh bhi bataate hain ki jab bhi wo padhai karna chahe, hum uski madad ke liye tayaar hain. Lekin humein bachche ke kaam mein dakhhal nahi dena chahiye. Jab koi request nahi hoti, toh humare liye yeh zaroori hai ki hum dakhhal na dein.

YOUTH: Kya yeh sirf maa-baap aur bachche ke rishton tak hi limited hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, bilkul. Adlerian psychology mein counseling ke case mein, hum yeh nahi sochte ki client ka badalna ya na badalna counselor ka kaam hai.

YOUTH: Tum yeh kya keh rahe ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Jab counseling ke baad client ka kya faisla hota hai? Kya wo apni lifestyle ko badalna chahega ya nahi. Yeh client ka kaam hai, aur counselor ko usmein dakhhal nahi dena chahiye.

YOUTH: Aise khudgarz tareeke ko main bilkul accept nahi kar sakta!

PHILOSOPHER: Fitratan, hum jitna ho sake madad dete hain. Lekin uske aage hum dakhhal nahi dete. Purani baat yaad rakho, "Tum ghode ko paani tak le jaa sakte ho, lekin usse paani peene ke liye nahi keh sakte." Counseling aur kisi ko madad देने का तरीका Adlerian psychology mein isi stance pe hota hai. Jab bina kisi ke irade ko samjhe usse badalne ki koshish ki jaati hai, toh sirf intense reaction milta hai.

YOUTH: Counselor client ki zindagi nahi badalta?

PHILOSOPHER: Tum khud ko hi badal sakte ho.

Discard Other People's Tasks

YOUTH: Toh phir, jaise shut-ins ki baat hai, aise kisi insaan ke saath, jaise mere dost ki situation. Kya tum yeh keh rahe ho ki kaam ko alag karna, dakhal na dena, aur yeh maa-baap se related nahi hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Kya wo shut-in situation se bahar nikal sakta hai ya nahi? Ya kis tareeke se wo is situation se bahar nikal sakta hai? Mool roop se, yeh kaam us insaan ka hai jo uska hal nikaale. Yeh maa-baap ka kaam nahi hai. Lekin, jaise ki wo abhi bilkul anjaane nahi hain, kuch madad zaroori ho sakti hai. Is point pe, sabse zaroori cheez yeh hai ki kya bachcha apne maa-baap ke saath apne dilemma par khul kar baat kar sakta hai, aur kya unhone apne beech mein kaafi trust banaya hai regular basis pe.

YOUTH: Toh maan lo, agar tumhara apna bachcha shut-in ho gaya ho, toh tum kya karoge? Is sawal ka jawab ek philosopher ke roop mein nahi, ek parent ke roop mein dena.

PHILOSOPHER: Sabse pehle, main khud sochunga, yeh bachche ka kaam hai. Main uski shut-in situation mein dakhal dene se bachne ki koshish karunga, aur ispe zyada dhyaan dene se bachunga. Phir main usse yeh message bhejunga ki jab bhi usse madad chahiye ho, main uski madad ke liye tayaar hoon. Is tareeke se, bachcha apne maa-baap mein badlav mehsoos karega, aur usse apne kaam ke baare mein sochna padhega. Shayad wo madad maangne aaye, ya apne tareeke se kuch cheezein suljhaane ki koshish kare.

YOUTH: Kya tum sach mein apne hi bachche ke liye itna straightforward ho paoge agar wo shut-in ho gaya ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Ek maa-baap jo apne bachche ke saath relation mein dard mehsoos kar raha hota hai, wo sochta hai, "Mera bachcha meri zindagi hai." Matlab, maa-baap bachche ke kaam ko apne kaam ki tarah lete hain aur bas usi ke baare mein sochne lagte hain. Jab aakhir kar maa-baap ko yeh ehsaas hota hai, tab unki "main" zindagi se chali gayi hoti hai. Lekin, jitna bhi maa-baap bachche ke kaam ka bojh uthaye, bachcha phir bhi ek swatantra vyakti hota hai. Bachche apne maa-baap ki chaahaton ke mutabiq nahi badalte. Unke university, job, partner ka chunaav, aur unki daily life ke chhote-chhote tareeqe maa-baap ki chaahaton ke mutabiq nahi hote. Fitraatan maa-baap unke liye chintit rahte hain, aur shayad kabhi kabhi dakhal dena chahte hain. Lekin, jaise maine pehle kaha, doosre log aapki ummeedon ko pura karne ke liye jeevit nahi hote. Haan, bachcha aapka apna hai, lekin wo aapke ummeedon ko pura karne ke liye nahi jeevit hota.

YOUTH: Toh kya tum keh rahe ho ki yeh line family mein bhi banani padti hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Asal mein, family mein yeh doori kam hoti hai, isliye yeh aur bhi zaroori ho jata hai ki kaamon ko alag se samjha jaaye.

YOUTH: Yeh samajh nahi aata. Ek taraf tum pyaar ki baat kar rahe ho, aur doosri taraf ise naakar rahe ho. Agar tum apne aap ko aur doosron ke beech yeh line khinch doge, toh tum kis par bhi yakeen nahi kar paoge!

PHILOSOPHER: Dekho, yakeen karna bhi ek kaam ko alag karna hai. Tum apne partner par yakeen karte ho; yeh tumhara kaam hai. Lekin wo kis tareeke se tumhari ummeedon aur yakeen ke mutabiq react karta hai, yeh doosre logon ka kaam hai. Jab tum apni chaahatein bina is line ko samjhe push karte ho, toh tum jaane anjaane mein stalker jaise dakhil dene lagte ho. Maan lo tumhara partner tumhare hisaab se nahi chal raha. Kya tum phir bhi uss insaan par yakeen kar paoge? Kya tum usse pyaar kar paoge? Adler jo pyaar ke kaam ke baare mein keh rahe hain, wo iss tarah ke sawalon se juda hai.

YOUTH: Yeh kaafi mushkil hai! Yeh kaafi mushkil hai.

How to Rid Yourself of Interpersonal Relationship Problems

YOUTH: Mujhe samajh nahi aata, yeh baat mere liye theek nahi lagti.

PHILOSOPHER: Toh phir ek scene socho, jisme tumhare maa-baap tumhari job ke chune hue sthaan par bilkul virodh kar rahe hain. Wo waaqai mein isse virodh kar rahe the, hai na?

YOUTH: Haan, wo the. Main yeh nahi keh sakta ki wo puri tarah se virodh kar rahe the, lekin unhone kaafi taunts kiye the.

PHILOSOPHER: Toh phir chalo, hum isey thoda exaggerate karte hain aur maante hain ki wo puri tarah se virodh kar rahe the. Tumhare pitaji gusse mein aakar keh rahe the, aur tumhari maa aansuon ke saath tumhare faisle ka virodh kar rahi thi. Wo tumhe bilkul bhi librarian banne ko nahi keh rahe the, aur agar tum apne bhai ki tarah family business nahi apnate, toh wo tumhe apna nahi maanenge. Lekin, yeh "unko manzoor nahi hai" ka jazba tumhare maa-baap ka kaam hai, tumhara nahi. Yeh tumhara chinta karne ka mamla nahi hai.

YOUTH: Ab ruk jao. Tum keh rahe ho ki isse farq nahi padta ki main apne maa-baap ko kitna udaas kar dunga?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, bilkul. Isse farq nahi padta.

YOUTH: Tum mazak kar rahe ho! Kya koi aisi philosophy ho sakti hai jo apne maa-baap ke prati aise vyavhaar ki salaah de?

PHILOSOPHER: Tum apni zindagi ke baare mein jo kuch kar sakte ho, wo yeh hai ki tum apne liye sabse achha rasta chuno jo tumhe sahi lage. Doosri taraf, doosre log tumhare chune huye raaste par kya faisla karte hain? Wo unka kaam hai, aur tum us par kuch nahi kar sakte.

YOUTH: Jo koi aur tumhare baare mein sochta hai—kya wo tumhe pasand karta hai ya nahi—wo us insaan ka kaam hai, mera nahi. Kya tum yeh keh rahe ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, yeh hi separation ka matlab hai. Tum doosron ke nazariye se pareshan ho. Tumhe is baat ki chinta hai ki doosre log tumhe kaise dekhte hain. Isliye tum hamesha doosron se recognition ki tamanna karte ho. Toh phir tum doosron se kyun pareshan ho, yeh sochne ki baat hai? Adlerian psychology ka is ka jawab hai. Tumne ab tak apne kaam ko doosron ke kaam se alag nahi kiya. Tum yeh samajhte ho ki jo cheezein doosron ka kaam honi chahiye, wo tumhara kaam hain. Apni dadi ke shabdon ko yaad karo: "Tumhi tumhare chehre ko dekh kar pareshan ho." Unke shabdon mein task ki separation ka matlab chhupa hua hai. Jo doosre tumhe dekh kar sochte hain—wo unka kaam hai, aur tumhara us par koi control nahi hai.

YOUTH: Theory ke roop mein, mujhe samajh aata hai. Meri reasoning brain ke liye, yeh sahi lagta hai. Lekin meri emotions is itne straight argument ke saath nahi chal pa rahi hain.

PHILOSOPHER: Toh chalo, ek aur tareeka try karte hain. Maan lo, ek insaan hai jo apni company mein interpersonal relationships ko lekar pareshan hai. Uska boss bilkul irrational hai jo har waqt usse chillata rehta hai. Chahe wo kitni bhi mehnat kare, uska boss uski koshishon ko samajhta nahi, aur kabhi bhi uski baat dhyaan se nahi sunta.

YOUTH: Yeh bilkul mere boss jaisa lagta hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Lekin kya tumhare boss se acknowledgment milna "kaam" hai jo tumhein sabse zyada zaroori samajhna chahiye? Tumhara kaam yeh nahi hai ki tumhare colleagues tumhe pasand karein. Tumhara boss tumhe pasand nahi karta. Aur uske tumhe pasand na karne ke reasons bilkul bekaar hain. Lekin, uss case mein, tumhare liye usse dosti karna zaroori nahi hai.

YOUTH: Yeh sahi lagta hai, lekin boss toh mera boss hai, na? Agar wo mujhe na pasand kare, toh main kaam kaise karunga?

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh Adler ki life-lie hai. Main apna kaam nahi kar sakta kyunki mere boss ne mujhe ignore kar diya hai. Mere kaam ka khata uske hone ka kaam hai. Jo insaan aise baat karta hai, wo apne kaam mein safalta na hone ke liye boss ki wajah ko excuse bana raha hai. Bilkul waise jaise wo female student jo blushing se darti thi, usse bhi zarurat thi ek bure boss ki, taki wo keh sake, "Agar mere paas yeh boss na hota, toh main kaafi kaam kar sakta tha."

YOUTH: Nahi, tum meri aur mere boss ki situation ko nahi samajhte! Tumhe yeh arbitrary guesses band kar dene chahiye.

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh ek aise discussion hai jo Adlerian psychology ke fundamentals se judi hai. Agar tum gussa ho, toh kuch samajh nahi paoge. Tum sochte ho, mere paas yeh boss hai, isliye main kaam nahi kar sakta. Yeh poori etiology hai. Lekin asal mein, yeh hai, "Mujhe kaam nahi karna, isliye main ek bura boss banaunga," ya "Main apne aap ko na kaabil maan na chahta hoon, isliye main ek bura boss banaunga." Yeh teleological nazariya hoga.

YOUTH: Shayad tumhare stock teleology approach mein yeh aise framed hoga. Lekin meri case mein, yeh alag hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Toh maan lo tumne apne tasks ko alag kar liya. Ab kya hota? Matlab, chahe tumhara boss apna bekaar gussa tumpar utarta rahe, yeh tumhara kaam nahi hai. Unke bekaar jazbaat unke apne tasks hain, jo unhe apne aap se deal karna chahiye. Tumhe usse dosti karne ki zaroorat nahi, ya usse itna jhukne ki bhi nahi. Tumhe yeh sochna chahiye, "Mujhe jo karna chahiye, wo yeh hai ki main apne apne tasks ka samna apni zindagi mein karoon, bina jhoot bole."

YOUTH: Lekin yeh...

PHILOSOPHER: Hum sab interpersonal relationships mein dard seh rahe hain. Chahe wo apne maa-baap ya bade bhai ke saath ho, ya office ke relations ho. Ab, pichli baar tum keh rahe the ki tumhein kuch specific steps chahiye. Yeh wo hai jo main propose karta hoon. Sabse pehle, tumhein yeh poochna chahiye, "Yeh kiska task hai?" Phir tasks ki separation karo. Shaanti se yeh decide karo ki tumhare tasks ka boundary kahan tak hai, aur kis point par wo doosre insaan ke tasks ban jate hain. Aur doosre logon ke tasks mein dakhil mat do, aur apne tasks mein bhi kisi ko dakhil dene na do. Yeh ek specific aur revolutionary viewpoint hai jo Adlerian psychology se aata hai aur interpersonal relationship problems ko badal dene ki potential rakhta hai.

YOUTH: Aha. Ab mujhe samajh aane laga hai jab tum keh rahe the ki aaj ki discussion ka topic "freedom" hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Hum ab freedom ke baare mein baat kar rahe hain.

Cut the Gordian Knot

YOUTH: Mujhe lagta hai ki agar tasks ko alag karne ka concept samajhkar usse apni zindagi mein lagu kiya jaye, toh interpersonal relationships ekdum se free ho jayenge. Lekin phir bhi, main ise apna nahi pa raha hoon.

PHILOSOPHER: Aagey bolo, main sun raha hoon.

YOUTH: Mera yeh maanna hai ki theory mein tasks ki separation bilkul sahi hai. Jo doosre log mere baare mein sochte hain, ya jo unka judgment hai mere baare mein, wo unka kaam hai, aur main usme kuch nahi kar sakta. Aur mujhe apni zindagi mein jo karna hai, wo karna chahiye bina jhoot bole. Agar aap yeh keh rahe hain ki yeh life truth hai, toh mujhe koi problem nahi hai, bilkul sahi hai. Lekin ek baat socho: Ek ethical ya moral nazariye se, kya yeh sahi hai? Matlab, kya yeh ek aisa tareeka hai jisme apne aap ko doosron se alag rakha jaye? Kya yeh doosron ki achhai ko thukraane jaise nahi hai, jab wo aap se puchhne aaye ki aap kaise ho? Mujhe lagta hai yeh doosron ke goodwill par paav rakhne jaise hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Tumne Alexander the Great ka naam suna hai?

YOUTH: Alexander the Great? Haan, main uske baare mein world history mein padha tha.

PHILOSOPHER: Wo ek Macedonian king tha, jo chouthi sadi mein Christ se pehle jeeta tha. Jab wo Persian kingdom Lydia ki taraf badh raha tha, toh usne ek rath ke baare mein suna jo acropolis mein rakha gaya tha. Wo rath ek pillar ke saath temple mein tightly bandha gaya tha, aur wahan ek local kahani thi jo keh rahi thi, "Jo is rath ka gath bandh dega, wo Asia ka maalik hoga." Yeh ek bahut tightly wound knot tha, jise kaafi skilled aadmi samajh rahe the ki wo khol sakte hain, lekin koi bhi safal nahi ho paaya. Ab, tumhe kya lagta hai, jab Alexander the Great is knot ke saamne khada tha, toh usne kya kiya?

YOUTH: Toh kya usne us legendary knot ko asaani se khola aur Asia ka ruler ban gaya?

PHILOSOPHER: Nahi, aisa nahi hua. Jaise hi Alexander the Great ne dekha ki knot kitna tight hai, usne apna sword nikala aur ek hi zordaar vaar mein usse kaat diya.

YOUTH: Wah!

PHILOSOPHER: Phir, kaha gaya ki usne yeh ghoshna ki, "Destiny woh nahi hota jo kahaniyon se aata hai, balki woh apne sword se saaf karna hota hai." Usse kahaniyon ki taqat ki koi zaroorat nahi thi, aur apni taqdeer wo apne sword ke saath banayega. Jaise ki tum jaante ho, uske baad wo puri Middle East aur western Asia ka mahan conqueror bana. Yeh mashhoor kahani hai jo Gordian knot ke naam se jaane jaati hai. Aur aise jatil knots—jo hamare interpersonal relationships mein hote hain—unhe conventional tareeke se nahi, balki kuch nayi approach se kaatna padta hai. Jab bhi main tasks ki separation ke baare mein samjhata hoon, toh mujhe hamesha Gordian knot yaad aata hai.

YOUTH: Achha, main tumhe contradict nahi karna chahta, lekin har koi Alexander the Great nahi ban sakta. Kya yeh nahi hai ki wo knot ko kaatne ki jo kahani hai, wo isliye aaj tak sunayi jaati hai kyunki koi aur us knot ko nahi kaat sakta tha? Bilkul waise hi tasks ki separation ke saath bhi. Chahe insaan ko yeh pata ho ki wo kuch apne sword se kaat sakta hai, phir bhi yeh mushkil lagta hai. Kyunki jab hum tasks ko alag karne ki koshish karte hain, toh aakhir kar humein logo se rishte todne padte hain. Hum logo ko tanha kar denge. Jo tum keh rahe ho task separation, wo bilkul insaan ki emotions ko ignore karta hai! Aise mein achhe interpersonal relationships kaise banaye ja sakte hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Unhe banaya ja sakta hai. Tasks ki separation interpersonal relationships ka objective nahi hai. Balki, yeh ek gateway hai.

YOUTH: Gateway?

PHILOSOPHER: Maan lo, jab tum ek kitaab padh rahe ho, agar tum apna chehra uske bahut kareeb le jaoge, toh kuch dikhai nahi dega. Bilkul waise hi, achhe interpersonal relationships banane ke liye ek certain distance ki zaroorat hoti hai. Jab distance bahut kam ho jaata hai aur log ek doosre se chipak jaate hain, toh baat karna bhi mushkil ho jaata hai. Lekin, distance itni bhi zyada nahi honi chahiye. Jab parents apne bachon ko bahut zyada daantte hain, toh wo mentally bahut door ho jaate hain. Is waqt, bachcha apne parents se consult bhi nahi kar pata, aur parents bhi sahi madad nahi de paate. Jab zaroorat ho, tab madad dena chahiye, lekin kisi ke territory mein dakhla nahi dena chahiye. Yeh moderate distance maintain karna zaroori hai.

YOUTH: Kya distance zaroori hai, even parents aur children ke beech ke relationship mein?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Pehle tumne kaha tha ki tasks ki separation doosre logon ki goodwill par paav rakhne jaise hai. Yeh ek reward se judi soch hai. Yeh woh soch hai jisme jab koi doosra tumhare liye kuch karta hai, toh tumhe uska jawab dena padta hai, chahe wo kuch chahe ya na chahe. Goodwill ka jawab देने से ज्यादा, ये reward के साथ बंधा होता है। चाहे दूसरा व्यक्ति जो appeal करे, तुम्हें बस अपने काम का फैसला खुद करना होता है।

YOUTH: Toh kya reward woh base hai jo main "ties" keh raha hoon?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Jab reward interpersonal relationship ka base ban jaata hai, tab ek feeling uthti hai jo kehti hai, "Maine itna diya, toh tumhein utna mujhe wapas dena chahiye."

Yeh ek aisi soch hai jo tasks ki separation se bilkul alag hai. Hum reward nahi dhundhna chahiye, aur na hi hum usse bandhe rehna chahiye.

YOUTH: Hmm.

PHILOSOPHER: Lekin, kuch situations aisi hoti hain jahan doosron ke tasks mein dakhla dena, bina tasks ki separation ke, zyada asaan hota hai—jaise bachpan mein, jab ek bachcha apne shoes nahi bandh paa raha hota. Ek busy maa ke liye yeh zyada tezi se ho sakta hai ki wo uske shoes bandh de, na ki intezaar kare ki bachcha khud kar sake. Lekin yeh ek intervention hai, aur yeh bachche ka task usse cheen leta hai. Aur jab baar-baar yeh intervention kiya jaata hai, toh bachcha kuch nahi seekh pata, aur apne life ke tasks ka samna karne ka hosla bhi kho deta hai. Jaise Adler kehta hai, "Bachche jo challenges ka samna nahi seekhte, wo har challenge se bachne ki koshish karte hain."

YOUTH: Lekin yeh kitna sookha soch hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Jab Alexander the Great ne Gordian knot ko kaata, toh shayad kuch logon ko waise hi lag raha hoga, ki knot ko haath se kholna ka matlab tha, aur sword se kaatna galat tha; ki Alexander ne oracle ki baaton ka galat matlab samjha. Adlerian psychology mein kuch cheezein aam samajik soch se bilkul alag hoti hain. Yeh etiology ko deny karta hai, trauma ko deny karta hai, aur teleology ko apnaata hai. Yeh logo ke problems ko interpersonal relationship problems ke roop mein dekhta hai. Aur recognition ko nahi dhundhna aur tasks ki separation bhi shayad aam samajik soch ke khilaaf hota hai.

YOUTH: Yeh mumkin nahi hai! Main nahi kar sakta!

PHILOSOPHER: Kyun?

YOUTH bahut udaas ho gaya tha jab PHILOSOPHER ne tasks ki separation ko describe karna shuru kiya tha. Jab apne sare problems ko interpersonal relationships ke roop mein socha, toh tasks ki separation effective thi. Bas yeh nazariya apnaane se duniya kaafi simple ho jaati thi. Lekin ismein koi maas aur khoon nahi tha. Yeh insaan ki garmahat ka koi ehssaas nahi deta tha. Kya koi aise philosophy ko accept kar sakta tha? YOUTH apni kursi se uth kar zor se guzar gaya.

Desire for Recognition Makes You Unfree

YOUTH: Dekho, main kaafi samay se dissatisfied hoon. Duniya ke adults hum young logon se kehte hain, "Woh kaam karo jo tumhe pasand ho." Aur wo yeh muskurahat ke saath kehte hain jaise ki wo sach mein samajhdaar log hain, jaise wo young logon ke side mein hain. Lekin yeh sab bas lip service hai, jo sirf isliye nikalti hai kyunki wo young log unke liye bilkul ajnabi hote hain, aur yeh relationship bilkul responsibility se door hoti hai. Phir parents aur teachers humse kehte hain, "Us school mein admission lo," ya "Ek stable occupation dhundo," aur yeh concrete aur boring instructions bas ek intervention nahi hain. Yeh asal mein yeh hai ki wo apni responsibilities pura kar rahe hain. Bilkul isliye ki hum unse closely connected hote hain aur wo humare future ko lekar serious hote hain, wo "Woh kaam karo jo tumhe pasand ho" jaise irresponsible baatein nahi keh sakte. Main yakin se keh sakta hoon ki aap bhi apna samajhdaar chehra banaoge aur mujhe kahoge, "Woh kaam karo jo tumhe pasand ho." Lekin main aise kisi doosre vyakti se yeh baat nahi maan sakta! Yeh bilkul irresponsible comment hai, jaise koi apne kandhe se ek caterpillar hata raha ho. Aur agar duniya ne us caterpillar ko maar diya, toh tum kehoge, "Yeh mera kaam nahi hai," aur beparwah chal dete ho. Yeh separation of tasks kya hai, tum monster!

PHILOSOPHER: Arre, tum toh puri tarah se gussa ho gaye ho. Toh tum keh rahe ho, dusre shabdon mein, tumhe kisi ke intervention ki zaroorat hai? Tum chahte ho koi doosra vyakti tumhara raasta decide kare?

YOUTH: Haan, shayad mujhe yeh chahiye! Yeh hai: Dusron se yeh samajhna ki wo humse kya expect kar rahe hain, ya humse kis role ki demand ki ja rahi hai, itna mushkil nahi hai. Lekin apni marzi se jeena kaafi mushkil hai. Tum kya chahte ho? Tum kya banna chahte ho, aur kaise jeena chahte ho? Aksar humein aise concrete ideas nahi milte. Yeh galat soch hai ki har kisi ke paas clear-cut dreams aur objectives hote hain. Kya tumhe yeh nahi pata?

PHILOSOPHER: Shayad yeh asaan hota hai dusron ki expectations ko pura karte hue jeena. Kyunki tum apni life ko unko trust kar ke de rahe hote ho. Maan lo, tum apne parents ke banaye hue raaste par chal rahe ho. Chahe tumhein bahut si baatein ittefaq na ho, tum apna raasta nahi bhoologe agar tum un rails par raho. Lekin agar tum apna raasta khud decide kar rahe ho, toh yeh natural hai ki tum kabhi-kabhi bhool jaoge. Tum "kaise jeena chahiye" ki deewaar se takra jaoge.

YOUTH: Isi liye main doosron se recognition ki talash kar raha hoon. Tum ne pehle God ki baat ki thi, aur agar hum aaj bhi us daur mein jeete hote jab God ko log sach mein maante the, toh shaayad "God is watching" ek self-discipline ka criterion hota. Agar koi God ke द्वारा पहचाना जाता, तो शायद दूसरों से recognition की जरूरत नहीं होती. लेकिन वो daur bahut pehle khatam ho gaya. Aur ab, humare paas doosron ke nazar mein apne aap ko discipline karne ke alawa koi option nahi hai. Doosron se pehchana jaane ki aasha aur imandaar zindagi jeene ki koshish. Doosron ki nazar meri raah dikhaati hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Kya insaan doosron se recognition choose karta hai, ya phir recognition ke bina apni azadi ka raasta choose karta hai? Yeh ek important sawal hai—chalo is par saath mein sochte hain. Apni zindagi dusron ke jazbaat samajhne ki koshish karte hue jeena aur yeh sochna ki dusre tumhe kaise dekh rahe hain. Aise jeene ki koshish karna ki dusron ki khwahishen puri ho jayein. Shayad is raaste par guide karne ke liye kuch signposts hon, lekin yeh jeene ka tareeka bohot hi unfree hai. Ab, tum aise unfree tareeke se kyun jeene ka soch rahe ho? Tum "recognition ki chah" ka shabd istemal kar rahe ho, lekin jo tum sach mein keh rahe ho wo yeh hai ki tum nahi chahte ke koi tumhe nafrat kare.

YOUTH: Kaun chahta hai? Aise koi nahi hai jo sach mein nafrat ki taraf jaana chahega.

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Yeh sach hai ki koi bhi vyakti nafrat nahi chahta. Lekin isey aise dekho: Tumhein kisi ko nafrat karne se bachne ke liye kya karna chahiye? Ek hi jawab hai: Tumhein hamesha doosron ke jazbaat samajhna hoga aur un sab ke liye loyalty dikhani hogi. Agar das log hain, toh tumhein un sab ki loyalty dikhani hogi. Jab tum yeh karte ho, toh temporary taur pe tum sabko pasand na aane se bach jaate ho. Lekin ab ek badi contradiction samne aati hai. Tum sabko loyalty dikhate ho sirf yeh chah kar ki tumhe koi nafrat na kare. Yeh waise hai jaise ek politician jo populism mein fasa ho aur impossible promises karna shuru kar de aur un responsibilities ko apna le jo uske bas ki baat nahi hoti. Naturally, uske jhoot jaldi samne aa jayenge. Wo logon ka bharosa kho dega aur apni zindagi ko aur zyada dukh bhari bana lega. Aur obviously, lagatar jhoot bolne ka stress bhi kai tarah se asar dalta hai. Kripya yeh point samajh lo. Agar tum apni zindagi dusron ki expectations ko pura karte hue jeete ho, aur apni zindagi doosron ke haath mein daal dete ho, toh yeh ek tareeka hai jeene ka jisme tum apne aap se jhoot bol rahe ho aur yeh jhoot doosron tak bhi pahuncha rahe ho.

YOUTH: Toh insaan ko apni marzi se jeena chahiye, bas apni ego ko follow karke?

PHILOSOPHER: Apni tasks ko alag karna koi egoistic baat nahi hai. Doosron ke tasks mein dakhil dena asal mein egoistic tareeka hai. Parents apne bachon ko padhne ke liye force karte hain; wo unke life aur marriage choices mein dakhil dete hain. Yeh sab kuch aur kuch nahi, bas egoistic tareeka hai.

YOUTH: Toh bachcha apne parents ke intentions ko ignore kar ke apni marzi se jee sakta hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Aisi koi wajah nahi hai ki insaan apni zindagi apne hisaab se na jeeaye.

YOUTH: Ha-ha! Tum na sirf nihilist ho, tum anarchist aur hedonist bhi nikle. Main ab aashcharya ko paar kar chuka hoon, aur ab toh bas hansii aa rahi hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Ek adult, jo apni zindagi ko unfree tareeke se jeene ka faisla kar chuka hai, jab wo ek young person ko aaj aur iss pal mein azadi se jeete dekh raha hota hai, toh wo usse hedonistic hone ka ilzaam lagata hai. Yeh sach mein ek life-lie hai jo us adult ke apne unfree life ko accept karne ke liye aata hai. Jo adult apni asli azadi ko choose karta hai, wo aise comments nahi karega aur uski jagah wo azadi ke irade ko cheer karega.

YOUTH: Theek hai, toh tum yeh keh rahe ho ki azadi hi sabse bada mudda hai? Chalo, main point par aate hain. Tum baar-baar "azadi" ka shabd istemal kar rahe ho, lekin tumhare liye azadi ka matlab kya hai? Hum kaise azad ho sakte hain?

What Real Freedom Is

PHILOSOPHER: Pehle tumne yeh kaha tha ki tum nahi chahte ke koi tumhe nafrat kare, aur tumne kaha, "Aise koi nahi hai jo sach mein nafrat ki taraf jaana chahega."

YOUTH: Bilkul.

PHILOSOPHER: Main bhi waise hi hoon. Mujhe bhi yeh nahi chahiye ke koi mujhe nafrat kare. Main yeh keh sakta hoon ki "Aise koi nahi hai jo sach mein nafrat karna chahe" ek teekhi samajh hai.

YOUTH: Yeh ek universal chah hai!

PHILOSOPHER: Phir bhi, chahe hum kitni bhi koshish kar lein, kuch log hain jo mujhe nafrat karte hain aur kuch log hain jo tumhe nafrat karte hain. Yeh bhi ek sach hai. Jab tumhein nafrat kiya jata hai, ya jab tumhe lagta hai ki koi tumse nafrat kar raha hai, toh tumhe kis mental state mein daal deta hai?

YOUTH: Bahut pareshan ho jata hoon, seedha seedha. Main sochta hoon ki main kyun nafrat ka shikar ho gaya, aur maine kya kaha ya kiya jo kisi ko bura laga. Lagta hai ki main us insaan se alag tareeke se pesh aata toh behtar hota, aur main is baat par baar baar sochta hoon aur guilty mehsoos karta hoon.

PHILOSOPHER: Dusron se nafrat na kiya jaana. Yeh insaan ke liye ek purani aur natural chah hai, aur ek impulse bhi hai. Kant, jo modern philosophy ka ek bada naam tha, is chah ko "inclination" kehte the.

YOUTH: Inclination?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, yeh apni instinctive chahen, apne impulsive desires hain. Ab agar koi yeh kahe ke neeche girte huye patthar ki tarah jeena aur aise desires ya impulses ko apni manmarzi se jeene dena "freedom" hai, toh yeh galat hoga. Aise jeena sirf apne desires aur impulses ka gulam hona hai. Real freedom ek aisi attitude hai jo apne girte hue apne aap ko neeche se uthana jaisi hai.

YOUTH: Neeche se uthana?

PHILOSOPHER: Ek patthar bekaar hota hai. Jab wo neeche girna shuru kar deta hai, toh wo tab tak girta rehta hai jab tak ki gravity aur inertia ke natural laws se chhuta nahi hota. Lekin hum patthar nahi hain. Hum aise prani hain jo inclination ka virodh kar sakte hain. Hum apne girte hue aap ko rok sakte hain aur pahaadi chadh sakte hain. Recognition ki chah shayad ek natural chah ho sakti hai. Toh kya tum apni life ko bas neeche girte jaoge sirf doosron se recognition paane ke liye? Kya tum apne aap ko ek girte patthar ki tarah thaka doge, jab tak tum bilkul smooth na ho jao? Jab sirf ek chhoti gol ball reh jaaye, kya woh "real main tum ho" hoga? Nahin, yeh nahi ho sakta.

YOUTH: Toh kya tum keh rahe ho ki apne instincts aur impulses ka virodh karna hi azadi hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Jaise maine baar baar kaha hai, Adlerian psychology mein hum maante hain ki sabhi problems interpersonal relationship problems hote hain. Matlab hum interpersonal relationships se chutkaara chaahte hain. Hum in relationships se azadi chaahte hain. Lekin yeh bilkul impossible hai ki hum akela poore universe mein jee sakte hain. Ab tak jo humne baat ki hai, uske roshni mein, "Azadi kya hai?" ka jawab bilkul saaf hona chahiye.

PHILOSOPHER: Short mein, "Azadi ka matlab hai dusre logon se nafrat hona."

YOUTH: Huh? Yeh kya tha?

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh hai ki tumhein koi nafrat karta hai. Yeh is baat ka saboot hai ki tum apni azadi ka istemal kar rahe ho aur apne principles ke mutabiq jee rahe ho.

YOUTH: Lekin, lekin...

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh sach hai ki nafrat hona pareshani ka sabab banta hai. Agar ho sake, toh har koi chahega ki wo bina kisi ki nafrat ke jeeye. Wo apni recognition ki chah ko pura karna chahega. Lekin aise jeene ki koshish karna ki koi tumse nafrat na kare, yeh ek bilkul bandhan mein jeene ka tareeka hai, aur yeh namumkin hai. Jab tum apni azadi ka istemal karna chahte ho, toh ek cost hoti hai. Aur interpersonal relationships mein azadi ka cost yeh hai ki tumhein dusre log nafrat karte hain.

YOUTH: Nahi! Yeh bilkul galat hai. Isse azadi kaise kaha jaa sakta hai? Yeh toh ek shaitani soch hai jo bure kaamon ko dikhawa karne ke liye hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Tum shayad soch rahe ho ki azadi ka matlab hai "organizations se chutkaara." Matlab apne ghar, school, company, ya nation se break ho jaana hi azadi hai. Lekin agar tum apni organization se break kar jaoge, toh tum real azadi nahi paa sakte. Jab tak tumhe doosron ki soch ka koi farq nahi padta, jab tak tumhein nafrat se dar nahi lagta aur tum apni pehchaan ke liye yeh cost nahi uthate, tab tak tum apni zindagi ko apne tareeke se nahi jee sakte. Matlab, tum azad nahi ho sakte.

YOUTH: Dusre logon se nafrat hona—kya tum yeh keh rahe ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Main keh raha hoon, nafrat se dar mat rakhna.

YOUTH: Lekin yeh toh...

PHILOSOPHER: Main yeh nahi keh raha ke tum aise jeeyo ki tumhein log nafrat karen, aur main yeh nahi keh raha ke tum galat kaam karo. Kripya isey galat mat samajhna.

YOUTH: Nahi. Toh chalo, sawal ko badalte hain. Kya log sach mein apni azadi ka bojh utha sakte hain? Kya log utne majboot hain? Apne maa-baap se nafrat ho toh kya kisi ko apne aapko itna zyada apne tareeke se jeene ka haq hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Tumhein na apne aapko self-righteous banane ki tayyari karni hoti hai, na hi apne aapko defiant banana hota hai. Tum bas kaam ko alag karte ho. Ho sakta hai koi tumhein accha na samjhe, lekin woh tumhara kaam nahi hai. Aur phir, yeh sochna ki "Usse mujhe pasand karna chahiye" ya "Maine yeh sab kiya, toh yeh ajeeb hai ki wo mujhe nahi pasand karta," yeh doosre ke kaam mein dakhil dene wala reward-oriented tareeka hai. Tum bina is dar ke aage badhte ho ki tumhe nafrat kiya jaayega. Tum apne raste ko neeche girne wale patthar ki tarah nahi jeetay, balki aage jaane wale pahaad ko chadhhte ho. Yeh insaan ke liye azadi hai. Maan lo mere paas do choices hain—ek aisi zindagi jisme sab log mujhe pasand karte hain, aur ek aisi zindagi jisme kuch log mujhe nafrat karte hain—aur mujhe ek ka chunav karne ko kaha jaaye. Main bina sochay samjhey doosri ko chununga. Dusron ki soch se pehle, main apni apni pehchaan par dhyaan dena chahta hoon. Matlab, main azadi mein jeena chahta hoon.

YOUTH: Kya tum ab azad ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Main azad hoon.

YOUTH: Tum nahi chahte ki tumse koi nafrat kare, lekin tumhe agar koi nafrat kare toh tumhe koi farq nahi padta?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, bilkul. Nafrat na karna shayad mera kaam hai, lekin yeh ki koi mujhe nafrat kare ya na kare, yeh doosre insaan ka kaam hai. Agar koi mujhe accha nahi samajhta, toh main usmein dakhil nahi kar sakta. Jo mai pehle kah chuka hoon, us proverb se borrow karte hue, naturally insaan paani tak le jaane ki koshish karega, lekin kya woh paani peeyega ya nahi, yeh us insaan ka kaam hai.

YOUTH: Yeh ek naya nateeja hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Khush rehne ki himmat mein nafrat ka saamna karne ki himmat bhi शामिल होती है। जब तुम्हें यही हिम्मत मिलती है, तो तुम्हारे interpersonal relationships ekdum halka aur aasan ho jaate hain.

You Hold the Cards to Interpersonal

YOUTH: Mujhe kabhi yeh sochne ka mauka nahi mila tha ki ek philosopher ke paas aake nafrat hone ki baat sununga.

PHILOSOPHER: Main janta hoon ki yeh baat samajhna asaan nahi hai. Shayad tumhe isey samajhne aur apne dimaag mein ghuma kar samajhne mein kuch waqt lagega. Agar hum aaj aur zyada is par baat karenge, toh mujhe lagta hai tum isey apne dimaag mein nahi rakh paoge. Isliye, main tumse ek aur baat karna chahta hoon, jo tasks ke separation se judi hai, aur phir aaj ka session khatam karna chahta hoon.

YOUTH: Thik hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh bhi mere parents ke saath ke relationship se judi hai. Mere pita ke saath mera relationship hamesha hi kaafi khatta raha hai, bachpan mein bhi. Meri maa meri twenties mein mar gayi thi, aur hum dono ke beech kabhi bhi asli baat-cheet nahi hui thi. Uske baad, mera pita ke saath mera relationship aur bhi khattam ho gaya tha. Yeh sab tab tak tha, jab tak maine Adlerian psychology ko nahi samjha aur Adler ki soch ko nahi jaana.

YOUTH: Tumhare pita ke saath tumhara relationship itna kharaab kyun tha?

PHILOSOPHER: Mere dimaag mein ek tasveer hai, jab unhone mujhe maara tha. Mujhe yaad nahi ki maine kya kiya tha, jisse unhone mujhe maara. Mujhe bas yeh yaad hai ki main apne aap ko desk ke neeche chhupane ki koshish kar raha tha, jab unhone mujhe kheench kar bahar nikala aur bahut zor se maara. Aur sirf ek baar nahi, kai baar.

YOUTH: Woh dar ek trauma ban gaya hoga...

PHILOSOPHER: Main samajhta hoon ki jab tak maine Adlerian psychology nahi samjhi thi, tab tak main isey iss tareeke se samajhta tha. Mere pita moody aur chupchaap insaan the. Lekin agar main yeh sochta ki, "Unhone mujhe uss waqt maara, isliye hamara relationship khatam ho gaya," toh yeh ek Freudian etiological soch hoti. Adlerian teleology position poori tarah se cause-and-effect interpretation ko ulat deti hai. Matlab, maine unka maarne waala yaad tab nikala, jab main nahi chahta tha ki mera relationship apne pita ke saath behtar ho.

YOUTH: Toh pehle tumhara yeh goal tha ki tum apne pita ke saath apna relationship behtar nahi karna chahte the, aur tum nahi chaahte the ki cheezein theek ho jayein.

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Mere liye apne pita ke saath apne relationship ko theek na karna zyada convenient tha. Main aise pita ko apna excuse bana sakta tha jise main apni zindagi ki mushkilon ka sabab bata sakta tha. Yeh mere liye ek virtue tha. Aur ek aur pehlu yeh tha ki maine ek feudal pita se badla lena tha.

YOUTH: Yeh bilkul wahi tha jo main tumse puchna chahta tha! Chahe cause aur effect ko reverse kiya gaya ho, matlab, tum apne aap ko yeh analyze karne mein safal ho gaye ho aur keh rahe ho, "Yeh isliye nahi hua ki unhone mujhe maara, balki main unka maarne waala yaad isliye nikaal raha hoon ki main nahi chahta ki mera relationship apne pita ke saath theek ho," phir bhi yeh baat kaise cheezein badalti hai? Yeh toh yeh nahi badalta ki bachpan mein tumhe maara gaya tha, hai na?

PHILOSOPHER: Hum interpersonal relationships ko ek card ki tarah samajh sakte hain. Agar main etiology ka istemal karta hoon aur yeh sochta hoon ki "Unhone mujhe maara, isliye mera apne pita ke saath relationship khatam ho gaya," toh yeh ek aisi baat ho jaayegi jiske baare mein main kuch nahi kar sakta. Lekin agar main yeh sochne lagoon ki maine maarne ki yaad isliye nikali kyunki main apne pita ke saath apne relationship ko behtar nahi karna chahta, toh tab main woh card apne haath mein rakh raha hoon jo relations ko repair kar sakta hai. Kyunki agar main apna goal badal doon, toh sab kuch theek ho jaata hai.

YOUTH: Kya yeh sach mein cheezein theek kar deta hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, bilkul.

YOUTH: Mujhe lagta hai ki tum sach mein dil se yeh mehsoos karte ho. Main isey theory mein samajh sakta hoon, lekin yeh feeling mujhe bilkul bhi sahi nahi lagti.

PHILOSOPHER: Toh yeh separation of tasks ka mudda hai. Yeh sach hai ki mera aur mere pita ka relationship kaafi complex tha. Woh ek ziddi insan the, aur main kabhi yeh nahi soch sakta tha ki unke jazbaat asaani se badal jayenge. Iske alawa, yeh bhi mumkin tha ki unhone mujhe maarne ki kabhi bhi yaad na rakhi ho. Lekin jab maine apne relationship ko repair karne ka faisla kiya, toh mujhe yeh matter nahi karta tha ki mere pita ka lifestyle kaisa tha, woh mujhe kis tarah dekhte the, ya unka kya attitude hoga jab main unse milunga—yeh sab bilkul bhi matter nahi karta tha. Chahe unhone apne taraf se kabhi bhi relationship repair karne ka irada nahi rakha ho, mujhe usse koi farq nahi padta. Yeh mudda sirf yeh tha ki main apne aap ko is faisle par pahunchaata hoon, aur main hamesha interpersonal relationship cards apne haath mein rakhta hoon.

YOUTH: Tum hamesha interpersonal relationship cards apne haath mein rakhte the?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Bahut log samajhte hain ki interpersonal relationship cards doosre insaan ke paas hote hain. Isliye woh yeh sochne lagte hain ki "Woh insaan mujhe kaise feel karta hai?" aur phir woh doosron ki khushiyon ke liye apni zindagi jeene lagte hain. Lekin agar woh separation of tasks ko samajh sakein, toh unhe yeh pata chalega ki woh sab cards apne haath mein rakh rahe hain. Yeh ek nayi soch hai.

YOUTH: Toh kya tumhare badalne se tumhare pita ne bhi badla?

PHILOSOPHER: Main apne pita ko badalne ke liye nahi badla. Yeh doosre insaan ko manipulate karne ki galat soch hai. Chahe main badlu, yeh sirf "main" hoon jo badalta hoon. Mujhe nahi pata ki doosra insaan kya karega uske baad, aur yeh mere liye nahi hai. Yeh bhi separation of tasks ka ek pehlu hai. Zaroori nahi ki doosra insaan badle. Bahut baar jab main badalta hoon, toh doosra insaan bhi badalta hai, lekin yeh mera goal nahi hota. Hamesha yeh yaad rakhein, doosre insaan ko manipulate karne ka sochna galat hai.

YOUTH: Humein doosre insaan ko manipulate nahi karna chahiye, aur yeh karne ki koshish bhi nahi karni chahiye.

PHILOSOPHER: Jab hum interpersonal relationships ki baat karte hain, toh hum hamesha do logon ke beech ki baat karte hain, ya apne aap ko ek badi group ke saath jodte hain, lekin sabse pehle yeh apne aap se hai. Jab koi recognition ki chah mein phans jaata hai, toh interpersonal relationship cards hamesha doosre insaan ke paas chala jaata hai. Kya koi apni zindagi ke cards doosre insaan ke haath mein de deta hai, ya khud apne haath mein rakhta hai? Kripya in ideas ko dhyaan se samajhkar apne ghar mein is par sochna, separation of tasks aur freedom ke baare mein. Main tumhara intezaar karunga yahan, agle waqt.

YOUTH: Thik hai. Main is par apne aap sochunga.

PHILOSOPHER: Achha, toh phir...

YOUTH: Kripya, ek aur baat puchna chahta hoon.

PHILOSOPHER: Kya hai?

YOUTH: Aakhirkar, kya tum apne pita ke saath apna relationship repair kar paaye?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, bilkul. Main samajhta hoon ki main kar paaya. Mere pita bimaar ho gaye the, aur unki zindagi ke aakhri kuch saalon mein, mujhe aur meri family ko unka khayal rakhna zaroori tha. Phir ek din, jab main unka khayal rakh raha tha jaise har din karta tha, unhone kaha, "Shukriya." Main nahi jaanta tha ki mere pita ke paas aisi koi baat thi unki zubaan mein, aur main hairaan ho gaya aur un dinon ke liye shukr guzaar hua. Main apni caregiving life ke lambe saalon mein jo bhi kar sakta tha, woh kiya. Matlab, maine apna best diya tha apne pita ko paani peene ke liye le jaane ka. Aur aakhirkar, unhone piya. Main samajhta hoon ki unhone piya.

YOUTH: Accha, shukriya. Main phir se waise hi samay par aaoonga.

PHILOSOPHER: Mujhe maza aaya. Tumhara bhi shukriya.

THE FOURTH NIGHT
Where the Center of the World Is

Woh bahut close tha—main almost ismein phas gaya tha! Agle hafte, woh young man philosopher ke paas phir se aaya, aur ek gussa bhari expression ke saath, darwaza pe dastak di.

Tasks ko separate karne ka idea zaroor ek useful hai. Tumne mujhe last time puri tarah se convince kar diya tha. Par yeh lagta hai ki yeh ek bohot akela tareeka hai jeene ka. Tasks ko separate karna aur apne interpersonal relations ka load halka karna, yeh bas dusre logon se apni connection kaatne jaise hai. Aur, uske upar, tum mujhse kehte ho ke main dusre logon se disliked hoon? Agar yeh tum freedom kehte ho, toh phir main freedom nahi chahunga!

Individual Psychology and Holism

PHILOSOPHER: Well, you're looking rather gloomy today.

YOUTH: Aap dekho, jab se hum last time mile the, maine calmly aur carefully socha hai tasks ko separate karne ke baare mein, aur freedom ke baare mein. Maine apne emotions settle hone tak wait kiya aur phir maine apne reasoning mind ka istemal kiya. Par tasks ka separation mujhe realistic nahi lagta.

PHILOSOPHER: Hmm, okay. Kripya aage badhein.

YOUTH: Tasks ko separate karna basically ek idea hai jo boundary define karne ke liye hai aur kehne ke liye, "Main main hoon, aur aap aap hain." Haan, is tareeke se shayad kam interpersonal relationship problems ho sakti hain. Par kya aap sach mein keh sakte hain ki aise jeene ka tareeka sahi hai? Mujhe yeh bas ek bahut hi self-centered, galat individualism lagta hai. Mere pehle visit par aapne mujhe bataya tha ki Adlerian psychology ko formally "individual psychology" kaha jaata hai. Yeh term kaafi time se mujhe pareshan kar rahi thi, par maine aakhir kar samajh liya ki kyun: Jo aap Adlerian psychology, ya individual psychology keh rahe hain, wo asal mein ek aise individualism ki study hai jo logon ko isolation ki taraf le jaata hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh sach hai ki term "individual psychology," jo Adler ne coin kiya, kuch aspects mein misunderstanding ka sabab ban sakta hai. Main abhi jo keh raha hoon wo samjhata hoon. Sabse pehle, etymologically, "individual" shabd ka matlab hai "indivisible."

YOUTH: Indivisible?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Dusre shabdon mein, yeh sabse chhoti unit hai aur isliye ise aur divide nahi kiya ja sakta. Ab, kya hai jo divide nahi ho sakta? Adler kisi bhi dualistic value system ke khilaf the jo mind ko body se alag samajhta tha—reason ko emotion se alag, ya conscious mind ko unconscious mind se alag.

YOUTH: Iska kya matlab hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Maan lijiye, kya aapko yaad hai wo story jo ek female student ki thi jo mujhe blush karne ke dar ke liye counseling ke liye aayi thi? Usne yeh blush karne ka dar kyun develop kiya? Adlerian psychology mein, physical symptoms ko mind (psyche) se alag nahi dekha jaata. Mind aur body ko ek hi samjha jaata hai, ek whole jo parts mein divide nahi ho sakta. Mind mein tension aane se kisi ke arms aur legs shake kar sakte hain, ya cheeks laal ho sakti hain, aur dar se face safed ho sakta hai. Aur aise hi.

YOUTH: Haan, theek hai, kuch parts of mind aur body connected hote hain.

PHILOSOPHER: Waise hi reason aur emotion, aur conscious mind aur unconscious mind ke liye bhi yeh sach hai. Ek normally coolheaded insaan yeh nahi expect karta ki wo koi violent emotion mein hil jaayega aur kisike upar chillayega. Hum emotions se itne prabhavit nahi hote jo somehow humse alag ho. Hum sab ek unified whole hain.

YOUTH: Nahi, yeh sach nahi hai. Bilkul isliye ki hum mind aur body, reason aur emotion, aur conscious aur unconscious mind ko alag se dekhne ki ability rakhte hain, hum logon ko sahi tareeke se samajh paate hain. Kya yeh sab obvious nahi hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh sach hai ki mind aur body alag cheezein hain, reason aur emotion alag hain, aur dono conscious mind aur unconscious mind bhi hain. Par, jab koi insaan gussa ho jaata hai aur doosre insaan par chillata hai, toh yeh “Main poori” jo hai, wo decide karta hai chillana. Kabhi bhi aap aise emotions ko jo somehow alag hote hain—apni intentions se alag, kehna nahi sochenge ki unhone wo chillane wali awaaz banayi. Jab koi “Main” ko “emotion” se alag kar leta hai aur sochta hai, “Yeh emotion thi jisne mujhe yeh karne par majboor kiya,” ya “Emotion ne mujhe bas apne control mein kar liya, aur main kuch nahi kar sakta tha,” toh aise sochna jaldi se life-lie ban jaata hai.

YOUTH: Aap uss waqt ki baat kar rahe hain jab maine waiter par chillaya tha, hai na?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Human being ko “Main poori” ke roop mein dekhna, ek indivisible being ke roop mein jo parts mein divide nahi ho sakta, usse “holism” kaha jaata hai.

YOUTH: Accha, yeh theek hai. Par main aap se “individual” ka definition dene ke liye academic theory nahi pooch raha tha. Dekho, agar aap Adlerian psychology ko uske logical conclusion tak le jaate ho, toh yeh basically keh raha hai, “Main main hoon, aur aap aap ho,” aur logon ko isolation ki taraf le jaa raha hai. Yeh keh raha hai, “Main aap mein interfere nahi karunga, toh aap bhi mere saath interfere mat karo, aur hum dono apni marzi se jeete rahein.” Kripya mujhe seedha seedha bataiye ki aap ka is baat ko lekar kya awareness hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Theek hai. Saare problems interpersonal relationship problems hote hain. Aap is Adlerian psychology ke basic tenet ko samajhte ho, hai na?

YOUTH: Haan, samajhta hoon. Interpersonal relations mein noninterference ka idea, yaani tasks ka separation, shayad un problems ko solve karne ke liye aaya hoga.

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh wo cheez hai jo maine last time discuss ki thi—ki achhe interpersonal relationships banane ke liye ek certain degree ka distance hona zaroori hai. Wahi waqt, jo log bohot close ho jaate hain, wo ek dusre se baat tak nahi kar paate, toh yeh bhi galat hai ki bohot door ho jaana. Kripya tasks ke separation ko aise mat sochiye ki yeh doosre logon ko door rakhne ka tareeka hai; isse ek tareeka samajhkar dekhiye jo aapke interpersonal relations ke complex entanglement ko solve karne ka ek method hai.

YOUTH: Entanglement ko solve karna?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Abhi, aapke threads aur doosre logon ke threads sab ek confused mess mein uljhe hue hain, aur aap duniya ko uss condition mein dekh rahe ho. Laal, neela, bhura, aur hara—sab rang milke—aur aap ise “connection” samajh rahe ho. Par yeh connection nahi hai.

YOUTH: Toh phir, aap connection ko kaise dekhte hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Last time, maine tasks ke separation ko interpersonal relationship problems ko solve karne ke liye ek prescription ke roop mein bataya tha. Par interpersonal relationships aise nahi hote ki jab ek baar tasks separate kar diye, toh wo khatam ho jaate hain. Tasks ka separation actually interpersonal relations ka shuru hone ka point hota hai. Aaj, chaliye hum discussion ko thoda gehra karte hain aur Adlerian psychology mein interpersonal relations ko kaise dekha jaata hai, aur humen doosron ke saath kis type ke relationships banane chahiye, is par bhi vichar karte hain.

The Goal of Interpersonal Relationships Is a Feeling of Community

YOUTH: Theek hai, mujhe ek sawaal hai. Kripya mujhe ek simple jawab dein jo seedha mudde par aaye. Aapne kaha tha ki tasks ka separation interpersonal relations ke liye departure point hai. Toh interpersonal relations ka goal kya hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Seedha mudde par aake, wo hai "community feeling."

YOUTH: ... Community feeling?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Yeh Adlerian psychology ka ek key concept hai, aur iske application par kaafi debate ho chuki hai. Actually, Adler ne community feeling ka concept propose kiya tha, aur is wajah se kai log usse alag ho gaye.

YOUTH: Mujhe toh yeh kaafi fascinating lag raha hai. Yeh concept kya hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Mujhe lagta hai ki yeh uss waqt ki baat hai, jab maine bataya tha ki hum doosron ko kaise dekhte hain, yani enemies ya comrades ke roop mein. Ab, isse ek step aur gehra karte hain. Agar doosre log humare comrades hain, aur hum unke aas paas jeete hain, toh humein uss jeewan mein apna "refuge" milna chahiye. Aur, is tarah, humein apne comrades ke saath share karne ki, community mein contribute karne ki ichha hone lagni chahiye. Doosron ko comrades ke roop mein dekhna, aur "apna refuge" hone ka ehsaas, ise "community feeling" kaha jaata hai.

YOUTH: Par ismein kaunsa hissa debate ka hai? Yeh toh ekdum irrefutable point lag raha hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Mudda community ka hai. Yeh kis cheez se bana hota hai? Jab aap "community" shabd sunte ho, toh aapke dimaag mein kaunse images aati hain?

YOUTH: Jaise household, school, workplace, ya local society.

PHILOSOPHER: Jab Adler community ki baat karta hai, toh wo household, school, workplace, aur local society se aage jaata hai, aur ise sabhi ko include karta hai—sirf nations aur humanity hi nahi, balki puri time axis ko, past se future tak—and usmein plants, animals, aur even inanimate objects bhi shamil hain.

YOUTH: Huh?

PHILOSOPHER: Dusre shabdon mein, wo yeh keh raha hai ki community sirf un preexisting frameworks ka hissa nahi hai jo aapke dimaag mein aaye, balki yeh literally sab kuch ko include karta hai—poori universe, past se future tak.

YOUTH: Koi chance nahi. Ab aapne mujhe confuse kar diya. Universe? Past aur future? Aap kis duniya ki baat kar rahe ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Jo log isse sunte hain, unmein zyada tar aise hi doubts hote hain. Yeh kuch aisa hai jo turant samajhna mushkil hai. Adler ne khud bhi yeh maana tha ki jo community wo espouse kar rahe the, wo "ek unattainable ideal" hai.

YOUTH: Ha-ha. Toh yeh thoda ajeeb lag raha hai, hai na? Toh phir dusre tareeke se, aap kya sach mein is community feeling ko samajhte ho aur accept karte ho, jo poori universe ko include karti hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Main koshish karta hoon. Kyunki mujhe lagta hai ki Adlerian psychology ko sach mein samajhne ke liye, is point ko samajhna zaroori hai.

YOUTH: Theek hai phir!

PHILOSOPHER: Jaise main pehle keh chuka hoon, Adlerian psychology ka yeh maana hai ki saare problems interpersonal relationship problems hote hain. Interpersonal relations hi unhappiness ka source hote hain. Aur ulta bhi kaha jaa sakta hai—interpersonal relations hi happiness ka source hote hain.

YOUTH: Bilkul.

PHILOSOPHER: Iske alawa, community feeling ko interpersonal relations ki ek happy state ke liye sabse important index bhi kaha jata hai.

YOUTH: Samajh gaya. Main iske baare mein sab kuch sunna chahta hoon.

PHILOSOPHER: Community feeling ko "social interest" bhi kaha jata hai, matlab "interest in society." Ab mere paas aap se ek sawaal hai: Kya aap jaante ho ki sociology ke point of view se society ka smallest unit kya hai?

YOUTH: Society ka smallest unit, hmm? Main kahunga family.

PHILOSOPHER: Nahi, wo hai "aap aur main." Jab do log hote hain, toh society unke presence mein ubharti hai, aur wahan community bhi ubharti hai. Adler jo community feeling ki baat karte hain, usse samajhne ke liye "aap aur main" ko starting point banana achha rahega.

YOUTH: Aur isko starting point banaake aap kya karte ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Aap apni attachment ko self (self-interest) se badal ke doosron ki chinta (social interest) par focus karte ho.

YOUTH: Attachment to self? Concern for others? Yeh sab kya hai?

Why Am I Only Interested in Myself?

PHILOSOPHER: Accha, chaliye isey concretely samajhte hain. Clarity ke liye, "attachment to self" ki jagah main "self-centered" shabd ka use karunga. Aapke nazariye se, jo insan self-centered hota hai, wo kis type ka insaan hota hai?

YOUTH: Hmm, sabse pehla jo cheez dimag mein aati hai wo hai ek tyrant jaise insaan. Aisa insaan jo domineering hota hai, doosron ko takleef dene mein koi sharm nahi rakhta, aur bas apne faayde ke baare mein sochta hai. Wo sochta hai ki duniya uske aas-paas ghoomti hai, aur wo ek dictator ki tarah behave karta hai jo absolute authority aur force ke saath rule karta hai. Wo wo insaan hota hai jo sabke liye bohot musibat create karta hai. Jaise Shakespeare ka King Lear, ek typical tyrant.

PHILOSOPHER: Samajh gaya.

YOUTH: Dusri taraf, wo zaroori nahi ke tyrant ho—ek aise insaan ke baare mein bhi socha ja sakta hai jo group ki harmony ko disturb karta ho. Wo wo insaan hota hai jo group mein kaam nahi kar pata aur akela kaam karna pasand karta hai. Wo kabhi apne actions par sochta nahi, chahe wo appointments ke liye late ho ya apne promises ko poora na kare. Ek shabd mein, wo ek egotist hota hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul, yeh wahi image hai jo generally self-centered logon ke baare mein sochne par aati hai. Par ek aur type bhi hai jo dhyaan mein rakhna zaroori hai. Wo log jo tasks ko separate karne mein incapable hote hain aur jo recognition ki desire se obsessed hote hain, wo bhi kaafi self-centered hote hain.

YOUTH: Kyu?

PHILOSOPHER: Recognition ki desire ki reality ko samjho. Dusre aap par kitna dhyaan dete hain, aur unka aapke baare mein kya judgment hai? Matlab, wo aapki desire ko kitna satisfy karte hain? Jo log aise recognition ke obsession mein hote hain, wo doosron ko dekhte hue lagte hain, jabki wo asli mein apne aapko hi dekh rahe hote hain. Unmein doosron ke liye concern nahi hota, sirf "I" ke liye hota hai. Seedha seedha kehna toh, wo self-centered hote hain.

YOUTH: Toh kya aap keh rahe ho ki main, jo doosron ke judgment se dar raha hoon, wo bhi self-centered hoon? Chahe main hamesha doosron ka khayal rakhta hoon aur unke hisaab se apne aap ko adjust karta hoon?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Jis tarah se aap sirf "I" ke baare mein soch rahe ho, aap self-centered ho. Aap chahte ho ki doosre aapko accha soche, aur isi liye aapko dar hota hai ki wo aapko kaise dekh rahe hain. Wo doosron ke liye concern nahi hai. Yeh bas attachment to self hai.

YOUTH: Par...

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh maine pichli baar bhi kaha tha. Yeh ki kuch log jo aapke baare mein accha nahi soch rahe, wo is baat ka proof hai ki aap freedom mein jee rahe ho. Aapko lagta ho sakta hai ki isme kuch self-centered hona lag raha hai. Par mujhe lagta hai aapne aaj ki baat se samajh liya hoga: Aisi zindagi jisme aap hamesha yeh soch rahe ho ki doosre aapko kaise dekh rahe hain, wo ek self-centered lifestyle hai jisme sirf "I" ka concern hota hai.

YOUTH: Wah, yeh toh kaafi hairat-angaiz baat hai!

PHILOSOPHER: Sirf aap nahi, jo log bhi "I" ke saath attached hain, wo sab self-centered hote hain. Aur isi liye yeh zaroori hai ki hum "attachment to self" se "concern for others" ki taraf switch karein.

YOUTH: Theek hai, toh haan, yeh sach hai ki main hamesha sirf apne aapko dekh raha hoon, yeh main maan leta hoon. Main hamesha yeh fikr karta hoon ki doosre log mujhe kaise dekhte hain, par yeh nahi ki main unhe kaise dekhta hoon. Agar aap keh rahe ho ki main self-centered hoon, toh main isse refute karne ke liye kuch nahi keh sakta. Par socho yeh: Agar meri zindagi ek feature-length movie hoti, toh protagonist toh zaroor yeh "I" hota, hai na? Kya protagonist par camera rakhna itna bura kaam hai?

You Are Not the Center of the World

PHILOSOPHER: Chaliye, cheezon ko dhang se samajhte hain. Sabse pehle, har ek hum mein se ek community ka hissa hai, aur wahi humari jagah hai. Jab aap mehsoos karte ho ki aapka apna ek safe place hai community mein, jab aap mehsoos karte ho ki “yahaan hona theek hai,” aur jab aapko belonging ka ehsaas hota hai—ye sab basic human desires hain. Chahe wo aapki padhai ho, kaam ho, ya dosti ho, ya aapki mohabbat ya shaadi ho, yeh sab cheezein apni jagah aur rishtey dhundhne se judi hoti hain, jahan aap yeh mehsoos kar sako ki “yahaan hona theek hai.” Kya aap is baat se sehmat ho?

YOUTH: Haan, bilkul! Bilkul waise hi!

PHILOSOPHER: Aur aapki zindagi ka protagonist hai “I.” Ab tak jo soch thi, wo bilkul sahi thi. Par “I” duniya ke center ko rule nahi karta. Jabki “I” zindagi ka protagonist hai, wo kabhi bhi community ka ek hissa hota hai, aur poore ka ek part hota hai.

YOUTH: Poore ka ek part?

PHILOSOPHER: Wo log jo sirf apne liye sochte hain, wo samajhte hain ki wo duniya ke center mein hain. Aise logon ke liye, doosre bas “wo log hain jo mere liye kuch karenge.” Wo puri tarah se yeh maanna shuru kar dete hain ki sab dusre unke liye exist karte hain, aur unke jazbaat ko sabse pehle rakhna chahiye.

YOUTH: Bilkul ek prince ya princess ki tarah.

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, bilkul. Wo “zindagi ke protagonist” se “duniya ke protagonist” banne ka jump kar lete hain. Isliye jab bhi wo kisi doosre insaan se milte hain, to unka sabse pehla soch hota hai, “Yeh insaan mere liye kya karega?” Lekin, aur yeh baat prince ya princess ke liye bhi sach nahi hai—yeh expectation har waqt pura nahi hoga. Kyunki doosre log aapki expectations ko pura karne ke liye nahi jeete.

YOUTH: Bilkul.

PHILOSOPHER: Phir jab wo expectations पूरी nahi hoti, toh wo gahra nirash ho jaate hain aur mehsoos karte hain ki unki beizzati ho gayi hai. Aur wo gussa ho jaate hain, sochne lagte hain, “Usne mere liye kuch nahi kiya. Usne mujhe neecha dikhaya. Wo ab mera comrade nahi hai. Wo mera dushman hai.” Jo log yeh maante hain ki wo duniya ke center hain, wo kabhi bhi apne comrades ko jaldi kho dete hain.

YOUTH: Yeh ajeeb hai. Aapne toh kaha tha ki hum subjective duniya mein jee rahe hain. Jab tak duniya ek subjective space hai, main hi uska center hoon. Main kisi aur ko wahan nahi hone dunga.

PHILOSOPHER: Mujhe lagta hai jab aap “duniya” ki baat karte ho, aap jo soch rahe ho wo kuch is tarah ka world map hoga.

YOUTH: World map? Aap kya keh rahe ho?

dikhaya gaya hota hai, bilkul. Par jo map China mein use hota hai, usmein Americas right side par aur Europe left side par dikhayi dete hain. Jab French log Chinese world map dekhte hain, to unhe ek ajeeb si feeling hoti hai, jaise unhe na-insaafi se duniya ke kinaare pe bheja gaya ho, ya duniya se unhe manmarzi se bahar kar diya gaya ho.

YOUTH: Haan, ab samajh aata hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Par jab globe ka use karke duniya ko dikhaya jata hai, to kya hota hai? Kyunki globe se aap duniya ko France ke center se dekh sakte ho, ya China se, ya Brazil se, jo bhi ho. Har jagah center hai, aur koi bhi jagah ek hi waqt mein center nahi hoti. Globe par har jagah ek anant number of centers ho sakte hain, jo ki dekhne wale ki location aur view ke angle ke hisaab se hote hain. Yeh hai globe ka nature.

YOUTH: Haan, yeh sach hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Jo maine pehle kaha tha—“aap duniya ke center nahi ho”—wo ussi tarah hai. Aap ek community ka hissa ho, uska center nahi.

YOUTH: Main duniya ka center nahi hoon. Hamari duniya ek globe hai, na ki ek flat plane par kaata gaya map. Accha, yeh theory mein samajh aata hai. Par mujhe yeh kyun jaana zaroori hai ki main duniya ka center nahi hoon?

PHILOSOPHER: Ab hum wahan wapas aate hain jahan se humne shuru kiya tha. Hum sab apne aapko belong karne ki feeling dhund rahe hain, wo “yahaan hona theek hai.” Adlerian psychology mein, yeh feeling tabhi milti hai jab aap apne aap ko actively community ke liye commit karte ho, sirf yahaan hone se nahi.

YOUTH: Active commitment karna? Matlab kya karna padta hai, exactly?

PHILOSOPHER: Aap apne life tasks ka samna karte ho. Matlab, aap apne aap aage badhte ho, bina interpersonal relations ke tasks—jaise kaam, dosti, aur mohabbat—se bachne ke. Agar aap “duniya ke center” ho, to aapko community ke liye commitment ka koi soch nahi hoga; kyunki doosre log “wo log hain jo mere liye kuch karenge,” aur aapko khud kuch karne ki zaroorat nahi hai. Par aap duniya ke center nahi ho, aur na hi main hoon. Aapko apne pairon par khada hona padta hai, aur interpersonal relations ke tasks ke saath apne kadam aage badhana padta hai. Aapko yeh nahi sochna hai, “Is insaan ne mere liye kya kiya?” Balki, aapko yeh sochna hai, “Main is insaan ke liye kya kar sakta hoon?” Yeh hai community ke liye commitment.

YOUTH: Kya isliye diya jaane wala kuch hi aapko apni jagah milne ka ehssaas dilata hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Belonging ka ehssaas tabhi hota hai jab aap apni mehnat se usse haasil karte ho—yeh wo cheez nahi hai jo aapko janam se milti ho. Community feeling Adlerian psychology ka ek important concept hai.

Yeh concept waise bhi pehle is ladke ke liye samajhna mushkil tha. Aur naturally, usse yeh sunna accha nahi laga ki wo self-centered hai. Par jo sabse zyada usse samajhna mushkil laga, wo tha community ka extent, jo ki universe aur inert cheezon tak bhi tha. Adler aur yeh philosopher kis baare mein baat kar rahe the, waise?

Confused chehre ke saath, ladka dheere dheere apna muh kholta hai.

Listen to the Voice of a Larger Community

YOUTH: Main maan leta hoon, aap mujhe thoda confuse kar rahe ho. Chaliye, main koshish karta hoon, thoda sab kuch clear karne ki. Pehle, interpersonal relations ke gateway par, humare paas tasks ka separation hai, aur goal hai community feeling. Aur aap keh rahe ho ki community feeling ka matlab hai “doosron ko apne saathiyon jaise dekhna” aur “apni ek apni jagah ka ehssaas hona” community ke andar. Is tak to main samajh sakta hoon aur accept bhi kar sakta hoon. Par details abhi bhi thodi mushkil lag rahi hain. Ek baat toh yeh hai, aap jo community ka scope keh rahe ho, usse aap universe tak kaise expand kar sakte ho, phir past aur future tak, aur jitni bhi zinda cheezein hain unse leke inert objects tak, iska kya matlab hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Agar aap Adler ki community ke concept ko literally lena ki koshish karenge aur yeh sochne ki koshish karenge ki yeh universe aur inert cheezon ko shamil karta hai, to samajhna mushkil ho jayega. Abhi ke liye bas itna samajh lijiye ki community ka scope anant hai.

YOUTH: Anant?

PHILOSOPHER: Maan lijiye, ek aadmi hai jo apni retirement age pe pahuchta hai aur kaam karna band kar deta hai. Jaldi se apni vitality kho deta hai aur udas ho jata hai. Usne apni company se judne wali chhoti community se apna sambandh tod diya hai aur apne title ya profession ko bhi kho diya hai, to wo ek “aam aadmi” ban jata hai. Jab wo yeh nahi samajh pata ki wo ab “normal” hai, to wo ek raat mein purana ho jata hai. Par asli mein us aadmi ke saath jo kuch bhi hua, wo yeh tha ki wo apni company ki chhoti community se alag ho gaya. Har insaan apni alag community ka hissa hota hai. Aur agar dekha jaye, to hum sab duniya ki community ka hissa hain, aur universe ki community ka bhi.

YOUTH: Yeh to bas bakwas hai! Aise kehna ki “aap universe ka hissa ho,” jaise yeh kisi ko belonging ka ehssaas de sakta ho.

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh sach hai, aap achanak universe ko imagine nahi kar sakte. Fir bhi, main chahta hoon ki aap yeh samajh paayein ki aap ek alag, badi community ka hissa hain jo aapke aas paas wali community se kaafi zyada badi hai—jaise ki aapka desh ya local society—and aap kisi tareeke se us community mein kuch contribute kar rahe hain.

YOUTH: Toh aise situation mein kya hoga? Maan lijiye ek aadmi hai jo unmarried hai, apna kaam aur doston ko kho chuka hai, aur doosre logon se milne se bach raha hai, sirf apne parents ke diye hue paisa se jee raha hai. Matlab wo kaam ke tasks, dosti ke tasks, aur mohabbat ke tasks sab se bhaag raha hai. Aise kisi ko aap yeh kahenge ki wo kisi community ka hissa hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Maan lijiye wo aadmi ek loaf of bread kharidne jaata hai. Wo us bread ke liye paise deta hai. Wo paisa sirf baker ke paas nahi wapas jata. Wo flour aur butter ke producers tak, jo ingredients deliver karte hain un tak, delivery vehicles mein jo gasoline use hoti hai un tak, aur oil-producing countries tak jahan se fuel aata hai, sab tak jaata hai. Toh yeh sab connected hai. Log kabhi bhi puri tarah se akela ya community se alag nahi hote, aur na hi ho sakte hain.

YOUTH: Matlab aap keh rahe ho ki jab main bread kharidta hoon, toh mujhe aur zyada fantasy mein jaana chahiye?

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh fantasy nahi hai. Yeh fact hai. Wo community jo Adler baat kar rahe hain, wo humari dekhi hui cheezon, jaise humare ghar aur societies, se aage hai, aur un connections ko bhi shamil karta hai jo hum nahi dekh sakte.

YOUTH: Maaf kijiye, par aap bas abstract theory mein chali gaye ho. Jo issue humein address karna chahiye, wo hai belonging ka ehsaas, wo “yahaan hona theek hai.” Aur is belonging ke ehsaas ke maayne mein, wo community jo hum dekh sakte hain, wo zyada strong hoti hai. Aap bhi is baat se agree karenge, na? Maan lijiye agar hum “company” community ko compare karein “earth” community se, to jo aadmi “main is company ka member hoon” keh raha hai, uska belonging ka ehsaas zyada strong hoga. Aapke terminology mein, interpersonal relations ka distance aur depth bilkul alag hai. Yeh bilkul natural hai ki jab hum belonging ka ehsaas dhundhte hain, to hum chhoti community ki taraf attracted honge.

PHILOSOPHER: Woh ek achha observation hai. Toh chalo sochte hain ki humein kyun kai aur bade communities ka dhyaan rakhna chahiye. Jaise maine pehle kaha, hum sabhi kai communities ka hissa hote hain. Hum apne gharo mein, school mein, kaam ke jagah par, aur jo local societies aur desh mein hum rehte hain, unmein shamil hain. Ab tak aap agree karte ho, na?

YOUTH: Haan, main karta hoon.

PHILOSOPHER: Toh maan lijiye ki aap, ek student ke roop mein, apne “school” ko ek absolute community samajhte ho. Matlab, school hi sab kuch hai aapke liye, aapka “I” sirf school ki wajah se hai, aur bina school ke koi aur “I” ho hi nahi sakta. Par naturally, aise time aayenge jab aapko us community mein mushkilein aayengi. Ho sakta hai aapko bully kiya jaye, ya doston se nahi mil paaye, ya apne schoolwork ko handle nahi kar paaye, ya school ke system ke saath adapt nahi kar paaye. Matlab, yeh bhi ho sakta hai ki school ki community mein, aapko yeh feeling na mile, “Yahan hone mein koi problem nahi hai.”

YOUTH: Haan, bilkul. Yeh kaafi mumkin hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Jab aisa hota hai, agar aap school ko apne liye sab kuch samajh rahe ho, toh aap apne aapko kisi bhi cheez se belong nahi karte feel karoge. Aur phir, aap apne aapko ek chhoti community mein escape karoge, jaise ki apne ghar mein. Aap apne aapko band kar doge, aur ho sakta hai apne family ke members ke khilaaf violence bhi karen. Aur aise kar ke, aap kisi tarah se belonging ka sense paane ki koshish karenge. Jo main aap se yahaan pe focus karne ko keh raha hoon, woh yeh hai ki “ek aur zyada alag community” hai, aur isse bhi zyada “ek bada community” hai.

YOUTH: Yeh kya matlab hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh hai ki duniya kaafi badi hai, jo school ke chhote boundaries se bahut aage tak extend karti hai. Aur hum sabhi us duniya ka hissa hain. Agar aapke school mein koi refuge ka jagah nahi hai, toh aapko school ke walls ke bahar koi aur refuge dhoondhna chahiye. Aap school badal sakte ho, aur school se withdraw hona bhi bilkul theek hai. Jo community aap simply withdrawal notice deke tod sakte ho, uske saath aapka connection itna gehra nahi ho sakta, waise bhi. Jab aap samajh jaoge ki duniya kitni badi hai, aap dekhenge ki jo mushkilein aapne school mein jheli thi, woh bas ek chhoti si teacup mein toofan thi. Jaise hi aap teacup se bahar nikaloge, woh gussa toofan chala jayega, aur uske jagah ek halki si hawa aapka swagat karegi.

YOUTH: Kya aap keh rahe ho ki jab tak aap khud ko teacup ke andar band kar ke rakhenge, tab tak aapko bahar ka koi chance nahi milega?

PHILOSOPHER: Apne room mein apne aapko alag kar lena, bilkul teacup mein rehne jaisa hai, jaise aap ek chhoti si shelter mein chup rahe ho. Aap shayad kuch waqt ke liye baarish se bach sakte ho, par toofan waise ka waise hi chalega.

YOUTH: Haan, shayad theory mein yeh sahi ho. Par bahar nikalna mushkil hai. School se withdraw karne ka decision khud mein bahut bada hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Main samajhta hoon ki aap sahi keh rahe ho—yeh asaan nahi hoga. Isliye, ek action ka principle hai jise main chahta hoon aap apne dimaag mein rakh lein. Jab hum apne interpersonal relations mein mushkilon ka samna karte hain, ya jab hum exit ka raasta nahi dekh paate, toh sabse pehle jo humein sochna chahiye, woh principle hai: “Bade community ki awaaz suno.”

YOUTH: Bade community ki awaaz?

PHILOSOPHER: Agar yeh school hai, toh humein cheezon ko school ki community ke common sense se nahi, balki ek bade community ke common sense se judge karna chahiye. Maan lijiye, yeh aapka school hai, aur aapka teacher authoritarian tareeke se behave kar raha hai. Par jo power ya authority aapke teacher ke paas hai, woh bas us chhoti community, school ke andar ka ek hissa hai. Agar hum human society ki community ke standpoint se dekhein, toh aap aur aapka teacher dono barabar ke insaan hain. Agar aap par unreasonable demands ho rahi hain, toh directly unse objection karna bilkul theek hai.

YOUTH: Par jab teacher mere saamne ho, toh objection karna kaafi mushkil hoga.

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul nahi. Chahe yeh “aap aur main” relationship ho, agar yeh tab toot sakti hai jab aap objection uthate hain, toh yeh wo relationship nahi hai jo aapko shuru karni chahiye thi. Isse bas chhod dena theek hai. Kisi ke saath apni relationships ke tootne ka dar rakhna, yeh ek free way of living nahi hai, jisme aap dusre logon ke liye jeete ho.

YOUTH: Aap keh rahe ho ki freedom ko apnana chahiye, jab ki mujhe community ka bhi ehssaas ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, bilkul. Chhoti community se chipak mat raho. Hamesha aur bhi “aap aur main” honge, aur “sabhi” honge, aur bade communities bhi exist karti hain.

Do Not Rebuke or Praise

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh aapne bilkul sahi point par focus kiya hai. Task separation aur community feeling ke beech ka progression kaise hota hai, yeh ek important sawal hai. Sabse pehle toh, main apne tasks ko alag karta hoon. Main sochta hoon ki mere tasks yahaan tak hai, aur jo bhi usse aage ka hai, woh doosron ke tasks hain. Main doosron ke tasks mein daakhil nahi hota, aur main ek line draw karta hoon taaki doosre log mere tasks mein interfere na karein. Par kaise is separation of tasks ke saath interpersonal relations build ki ja sakti hain aur ant mein woh community feeling kaise aati hai jisme yeh lagta hai ki “yahaan rehna bilkul theek hai”? Adlerian psychology humein kaise life tasks—kaam, dosti, aur pyaar—ko overcome karne ka tariqa batata hai? Aisa lagta hai ki aap mujhe bas abstract shabdon se confuse kar rahe ho, bina kisi concrete explanation ke.

YOUTH: Haan, yeh toh maine bhi notice kiya. Aap keh rahe hain ki tasks ko alag karne ka kaise sambandh bana sakte hain achhe relations ke saath? Matlab, kaise hum aise relations banayein jinmein hum ek doosre ke saath milkar kaam karein aur harmony mein kaam karein? Yeh concept “horizontal relationship” kaise aata hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul, chaliye isko ek simple example se samajhte hain—parent-child relationship ka example. Chahe yeh child-rearing ka situation ho, ya workplace mein junior staff ko train karna ho, aam taur par do approaches hoti hain: ek hai rebuke ke through raise karna, aur doosra hai praise ke through raise karna.

YOUTH: Ah, yeh toh ek garam topic hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Toh aapko kya lagta hai, kaunsa tareeka behtar hai? Rebuke karna ya praise karna?

YOUTH: Praise ke through raise karna behtar hai, bilkul.

PHILOSOPHER: Kyun?

YOUTH: Maan lijiye, jaanwar ko training dene ka example lete hain. Jab jaanwaron ko tricks sikhayi jaati hain, aap unhein whip se obey karwa sakte ho. Yeh typical “raising by rebuke” ka tareeka hai. Wahi doosri taraf, aap jaanwaron ko rewards dekar ya achhe shabdon se bhi tricks sikha sakte hain. Yeh “raising by praise” ka tareeka hai. Dono tareekon se aap ek hi result tak pahuch sakte ho—woh naye tricks seekhte hain. Par jo motivation hai woh bilkul alag hai agar jaanwar yeh kar raha ho kyunki usse rebuke milne wala hai ya woh kar raha ho kyunki usse praise milegi. Doosre case mein, yeh khushi ke saath hoga. Rebuke sirf jaanwar ko udaas kar deti hai. Lekin praise ke saath raise karne se woh naturally strong aur healthy grow karta hai. Yeh toh ek obvious conclusion lagta hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Animal training ek interesting example hai. Ab isse Adlerian psychology ke perspective se dekhte hain. Adlerian psychology mein hum yeh stance lete hain ki child-rearing mein, aur doosre logon ke saath kisi bhi tarah ke communication mein, praise nahi karni chahiye.

YOUTH: Praise nahi karni chahiye?

PHILOSOPHER: Physical punishment toh bilkul nahi, aur rebuke bhi accept nahi ki jaati. Praise nahi karni chahiye, aur rebuke nahi karni chahiye. Yeh Adlerian psychology ka standpoint hai.

YOUTH: Par yeh kaise mumkin ho sakta hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Chaliye, praise karne ke act ko samajhte hain. Maan lijiye, maine aapke dwara diye gaye statement ko praise kiya aur kaha, “Achha kaam!” Kya aapko yeh shabd sun kar kuch ajeeb nahi lagega?

YOUTH: Haan, mujhe lagta hai ki yeh kuch unpleasant feel hoga.

PHILOSOPHER: Kya aap bata sakte hain ki yeh unpleasant kyu feel hoga?

YOUTH: Jo unpleasant hai woh yeh hai ki “Good job!” jaise shabdon se aisa lagta hai ki kisi ne aapko neeche giraya hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Praise ke act mein yeh aspect hota hai ki “ek capable insan dusre less capable insan ko judge kar raha hai.” Ek maa apne bachche ko praise karti hai jo uski madad kar raha hai dinner banane mein, keh kar “Tum bahut achhe helper ho!” Par jab uska pati yeh kaam karta hai, toh woh usse nahi keh rahi hogi, “Tum bahut achhe helper ho!”

YOUTH: Ha-ha, aap bilkul sahi keh rahe ho.

PHILOSOPHER: Matlab yeh ki maa jo apne bachche ko “Tum bahut achhe helper ho!” ya “Good job!” ya “Kya tum kuch khaas ho!” jaise shabdon se praise karti hai, woh apne aapko bachche se upar samajh rahi hoti hai aur apne bachche ko neeche dekh rahi hoti hai. Jo animal training ka example aapne diya, woh bhi isi hierarchical relationship ka ek example hai—yeh vertical relationship hai jo praise ke piche hai. Jab ek insan doosre ko praise karta hai, uska goal hota hai “us insaan ko manipulate karna jo usse kam capable hai.” Yeh gratitude ya respect se nahi hota.

YOUTH: Toh aap keh rahe ho ki praise karna manipulate karne ke liye hota hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, bilkul. Chahe hum doosron ko praise karein ya rebuke karein, dono mein bas ek fark hai—ek carrot hai aur doosra stick. Aur background goal har bar manipulate karna hota hai. Is liye Adlerian psychology reward-and-punishment education ko bohot critical samajhta hai kyunki iska maksad bachchon ko manipulate karna hota hai.

YOUTH: Bilkul nahi, aap galat ho. Bachchon ki perspective se sochiye. Kya bachchon ke liye unke parents se praise milna sabse bada khushi ka pal nahi hota? Unhein praise chahiye isliye woh padhai karte hain. Unhein praise chahiye isliye woh acche se behave karte hain. Mujhe yaad hai jab main bachpan mein tha, kitni khushi hoti thi jab mere parents mujhe praise karte the! Aur jab main bada ho gaya, toh bhi yeh wahi tha. Jab aapka boss aapko praise karta hai, toh achha lagta hai. Yeh sab ke saath hota hai. Yeh reason se nahi, yeh bas ek instinctual emotion hai!

PHILOSOPHER: Ek insan chahta hai ki usse praise mile. Ya phir, doosre ko praise dene ka faisla karta hai. Yeh proof hai ki hum sab interpersonal relationships ko “vertical relationships” ke roop mein dekhte hain. Yeh aapke liye bhi sach hai: Aap isliye praise chahte hain kyunki aap vertical relationships mein jeen rahe hain. Adlerian psychology sab vertical relationships ko refute karta hai aur sab interpersonal relationships ko horizontal relationships banane ka sujhaav deta hai. Ek tareeke se, yeh point Adlerian psychology ka fundamental principle ho sakta hai.

YOUTH: Kya yeh woh baat hai jo “equal but not the same” ke shabdon se samjhai jaati hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Equal, matlab horizontal. Maan lijiye, kuch mard apni patniyon ko verbally abuse karte hain, jo poora ghar ka kaam karti hain, aise shabdon ke saath jaise “Tum paisa nahi kama rahi ho, isliye mujhe yeh sab nahi sunna” ya “Mujhe hi toh khana laane ka haq hai.” Aur yeh bhi suna hoga aapne: “Tumhare paas sab kuch hai, toh kis baat ka shikayat kar rahe ho?” Yeh bilkul sharmnak hai. Aise economic superiority ke statements ka insaan ki worth se koi sambandh nahi hota. Ek company ka employee aur ek full-time housewife bas alag-alag workplaces aur roles mein hote hain, aur woh sach mein “equal but not the same” hote hain.

YOUTH: Main poori tarah se sehmata hoon.

PHILOSOPHER: Shayad woh dar rahe hain ki agar auratein apni situation ko samajh jaayengi aur mardon se zyada kamaana shuru karenge, toh auratein apne aap ko assert karenge. Woh sab interpersonal relations ko vertical relationships samajhte hain, aur woh nahi chahte ki auratein unhein neech dekhein. Matlab, unke andar intense, chhupi hui inferiority complex hoti hai.

YOUTH: Toh ek tareeke se, woh superiority complex mein aa gaye hain jisme woh apni abilities ka dikhawa karne ki koshish kar rahe hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Lagta hai aisa hi hai. Pehle toh, inferiority ka ehsaas vertical relationships mein hi hota hai. Agar hum horizontal relationships, jo “equal but not the same” ho, sab logon ke liye bana lein, toh inferiority complexes ko janam dene ki jagah hi nahi rahegi.

YOUTH: Hmm. Shayad mujhe apne andar kahi na kahi manipulation ka ehsaas ho jab main doosron ko praise karta hoon. Apne boss ke saath achhe relations banana ke liye unhe praise karna—yeh definitely manipulation hai, hai na? Aur dusri taraf, main khud doosron se praise hone par manipulated ho gaya hoon. Funny hai, lagta hai yeh hi meri nature hai!

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, yeh is liye lagta hai kyunki aap vertical relationships se bahar nahi aa paaye ho.

YOUTH: Yeh interesting ho raha hai! Kripya aur bataiye!

The Encouragement Approach

PHILOSOPHER: Jaise ki humne tasks ke separation par baat ki thi, maine intervention ka vishay uthaya tha. Yeh doosron ke kaam mein dakhhal dena hai. Toh, insaan kyon dakhhal deta hai? Yahaan bhi, peeche vertical relationships kaam kar rahe hote hain. Jab insaan interpersonal relations ko vertical samajhta hai, aur doosre ko neeche dekhta hai, tab wo dakhhal deta hai. Intervention ke through, insaan doosre ko apni chaah ke hisaab se direction देने की कोशिश करता है। Usne apne aap ko yeh samjha liya hota hai ki wo sahi hai aur doosra galat. Bilkul, yeh intervention ek tarah ka manipulation hai. Jaise ki maa-baap ka apne bachche ko padhai karne ko kehna. Shayad unke intentions achhe hote hain, lekin jab baat aati hai, toh maa-baap dakhhal de rahe hote hain aur bachche ko apni chaah ke hisaab se manipulate kar rahe hote hain.

YOUTH: Agar hum horizontal relationships bana lein, toh kya yeh intervention khatam ho jayega?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, yeh khatam ho jayega.

YOUTH: Theek hai, agar aap bas ek bachche ki padhai ki baat kar rahe ho toh samajh sakte hain. Lekin agar koi aapke saamne dard mein ho, toh aap usse kuch nahi kar sakte, hai na? Kya aap ab bhi kahenge ki madad dena bhi intervention hai, aur fir kuch nahi karenge?

PHILOSOPHER: Aapko ise anjaan nahi rehne dena chahiye. Zaroori hai ki madad aise di jaye jo intervention mein badal na jaye.

YOUTH: Toh intervention aur madad mein kya farq hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Hamare tasks ke separation par jo discussion hui thi usse yaad karo, jaise ek bachche ki schoolwork ka vishay tha. Jaise maine tab kaha tha, yeh ek aisa task hai jo bachcha khud solve karega, yeh woh kaam nahi hai jo maa-baap ya teachers uske liye karein. Toh intervention yeh hota hai, doosron ke tasks mein dakhhal dena aur unhe kehna, "Tumhe padhai karni chahiye" ya "Us university mein jaana chahiye." Jabki madad, doosri taraf, tasks ke separation aur horizontal relationships ko maan ke chalti hai. Agar hum samajhte hain ki padhai bachche ka kaam hai, toh hum yeh sochte hain ki hum uski madad kaise kar sakte hain. Misaal ke taur par, jab hum bachche se yeh nahi keh rahe ki "Tumhe padhai karni hai," toh hum aise kaam karte hain jisse wo apne aap ko apne studies karne ki himmat paa sake aur apne tasks ka samna apne aap kar sake.

YOUTH: Aur yeh kaam zabardasti nahi hota?

PHILOSOPHER: Nahi, yeh zabardasti nahi hota. Bina force kiye, aur tasks ko hamesha separate rakhte hue, hum bachche ki madad karte hain taki wo apne efforts se unhe resolve kar sake. Yeh uss approach ki tarah hai, "Aap ghode ko paani ke paas le jaa sakte ho, lekin usse paani peene par majboor nahi kar sakte." Usse apne tasks ka samna karna hai, aur usse hi apni resolution leni hai.

YOUTH: Toh aap na taarif karte ho, na daant?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul, na taarif karte hain, na daant. Yeh tarah ki madad, jo horizontal relationships par based hoti hai, Adlerian psychology mein "encouragement" ke naam se jaana jaata hai.

YOUTH: Encouragement, haan? Sahi, yeh wahi shabd tha jo aapne kuch waqt pehle kaha tha. Aapne kaha tha ki baad mein ispar samjhaya jaayega.

PHILOSOPHER: Jab insaan apne tasks ko follow nahi karta, toh iska matlab yeh nahi ki usmein ability ki kami hai. Adlerian psychology kehta hai ki yeh masla ability ka nahi, balki yeh hai ki "insaan ne apne tasks ka samna karne ki himmat kho di hai." Aur agar yeh hai, toh sabse pehle jo kaam karna chahiye wo hai us khoi hui himmat ko dobara paana.

YOUTH: Par hum bas ghuma-phirake wahi baat kar rahe hain! Yeh to waise hi hai jaise taarif dena. Jab kisi ko taarif milti hai, toh wo apni ability ko sach mein samajhta hai aur apni himmat wapas paa leta hai. Kripya is baat par ziddi mat ho—bas taarif dene ki zaroorat ko samajh lo.

PHILOSOPHER: Nahi, main yeh nahi maanunga.

YOUTH: Kyon nahi?

PHILOSOPHER: Karana yeh hai ki taarif milne par log yeh sochne lagte hain ki unmein koi ability nahi hai.

YOUTH: Aapne kya kaha?

PHILOSOPHER: Kya main apna jawaab dohraoon? Jo zyada taarif milta hai, wo zyada apne aap ko yeh maan leta hai ki usmein koi ability nahi hai. Kripya is baat ko dhyan se yaad rakhein.

YOUTH: Aise bekaar log bhi hote hain? Yeh to ulta hona chahiye! Jab kisi ko taarif milti hai, tab wo apni ability ko sach mein samajhta hai. Kya yeh sabit nahi hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Aap galat hain. Chahe aap taarif se khush ho, yeh vertical relationships par nirbhar hone jaise hai aur yeh maan na hai ki aap mein koi ability nahi hai. Kyonki taarif dena ek aise vyakti ka faisla hota hai jo capable hai aur jo uss vyakti ko taarif deta hai jo capable nahi hai.

YOUTH: Main is baat se bilkul sehmat nahi hoon.

PHILOSOPHER: Jab taarif milna kisi ka goal ban jaata hai, tab insaan doosre vyakti ke value system ke hisaab se jeene ka rasta chun raha hota hai. Tum apni zindagi ko dekhkar, kya tum apne maa-baap ki ummidon par jeene se thak nahi gaye ho?

YOUTH: Um, achha, shayad.

PHILOSOPHER: Sabse pehle, tasks ka separation karo. Phir, ek doosre ke farq ko samajhte hue, barabari ke horizontal relationships banao. Uske baad encouragement ka approach aata hai.

How to Feel You Have Value

YOUTH: Toh yeh kaise practically kiya jaa sakta hai? Na taarif dena chahiye, na daantna chahiye. Toh aur kaunse shabdon aur choices ka istemal kiya jaa sakta hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Socho, jab tumhe apne kaam mein madad mili ho—bachche se nahi, balki ek partner se jo tumhara saman hai—tab tum shaayad turant jawab samajh jaoge. Jab ek dost tumhari madad karta hai ghar safai mein, tum usse kya kehte ho?

YOUTH: Main kehta hoon, "Shukriya."

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Tum us partner ko jo tumhari madad kar raha hai, shukriya kehkar apni krutagnata dikhate ho. Tum seedha apni khushi bhi vyakt kar sakte ho, jaise "Mujhe khushi hui." Ya tum yeh keh sakte ho, "Yeh bada madadgar tha." Yeh ek aise encouragement ka tareeka hai jo horizontal relationships par adharit hai.

YOUTH: Bas itna hi?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Sabse zaroori baat yeh hai ki doosron ko judge na kiya jaye. "Judgment" ek shabd hai jo vertical relationships se aata hai. Agar tum horizontal relationships bana rahe ho, toh shukriya aur izzat aur khushi ke shabdon ka istemal hoga.

YOUTH: Hmm, yeh jo tum keh rahe ho ki judgment vertical relationships se aata hai, yeh sach lagta hai. Lekin yeh kya, kya "shukriya" jaise shabdon mein itni taqat ho sakti hai ki wo himmat wapas la sake? Aakhirkaar, mujhe lagta hai ki main taarif sunna zyada pasand karunga, chahe wo shabdon mein ho jo vertical relationships se aaye.

PHILOSOPHER: Taarif milna asal mein yeh hota hai ki tumhe kisi doosre vyakti se "achha" hone ka judgment milta hai. Aur us kaam ke achhe ya bure hone ka measurement us vyakti ke apne measure se hota hai. Agar taarif lena tumhara goal hai, toh tumhe us vyakti ke measure ke hisaab se apne aap ko dhalna padega, aur apni azadi par brake lagani padegi. "Shukriya," dusri taraf, judgment nahi hota, yeh ek saaf aur spasht krutagnata ka izhaar hai. Jab tumhe shukriya ke shabd sunayi dete hain, toh tumhe yeh pata chalta hai ki tumne doosre vyakti ke liye yogdan diya hai.

YOUTH: Toh agar tumhe kisi doosre vyakti se "achha" hone ki taarif milti hai, toh kya tumhe lagta hai ki tumne yogdan diya hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, bilkul. Yeh ek aisa point hai jo humare aage ke discussion se bhi judta hai—Adlerian psychology mein "contribution" par kaafi zor diya jaata hai.

YOUTH: Yeh kyun?

PHILOSOPHER: Accha, ek vyakti ko himmat pane ke liye kya karna padta hai? Adler ke nazariye mein, "Sirf tabhi ek vyakti ko himmat milti hai jab wo yeh mehsoos kar pata hai ki uski koi keemat hai."

YOUTH: Jab ek vyakti apne aap ko mehsoos karta hai ki uski koi keemat hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Tumhe yaad hai jab humne inferiority ke ehsaas par baat ki thi? Maine kaha tha ki yeh ek subjective worth ka issue hai. Kya koi apni worth mehsoos kar sakta hai, ya phir koi apne aap ko bekaar mehsoos karta hai? Agar koi apni worth mehsoos kar sakta hai, toh wo apne aap ko jaise bhi hai waise accept kar sakta hai aur apne life tasks ka samna karne ki himmat rakh sakta hai. Toh yeh jo point hai, yeh hai ki kaise koi apni worth ko mehsoos karne ke laayak ho sakta hai?

YOUTH: Haan, yeh bilkul sahi hai! Main chahta hoon ki aap yeh bilkul clearly samjhaayein, please.

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh kaafi simple hai. Jab koi yeh mehsoos karta hai ki "Main community ke liye faayde mand hoon," tabhi wo apni asli worth mehsoos kar sakta hai. Yeh woh jawab hai jo Adlerian psychology ke hisaab se diya jaata hai.

YOUTH: Ki main community ke liye faayde mand hoon?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, yeh ki tum doosron par, yaani community par, asar daal sakte ho, aur yeh mehsoos kar sakte ho ki "Main kisi ke liye kaam ka hoon." Dusre vyakti se "achha" hone ki taarif ki bajaye, apne apne subjective nazariye se yeh mehsoos karna ki "Main doosron ke liye yogdan de sakta hoon." Jab tum yeh mehsoos karte ho, tabhi tum apni asli worth ka ehsaas kar sakte ho. Hum jo bhi baatein kar rahe hain community feeling aur encouragement ke baare mein, woh yahan se judti hain.

YOUTH: Hmm. Mujhe lag raha hai, thoda confusing ho raha hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Ab hum discussion ke core tak pahunch rahe hain. Kripya mere saath thoda aur ruko. Yeh doosron ki chinta karne ki baat hai, horizontal relationships banane ki baat hai, aur encouragement ka tareeka apnane ki baat hai. Yeh sab cheezein "Main kisi ke liye kaam ka hoon" ki gehri jeevan ki soch se judi hain, aur phir tumhare jeene ki himmat se bhi.

YOUTH: Kisi ke liye kaam ka hoon. Kya yeh mere jeene ki worth hai...?

PHILOSOPHER: Chalo, thoda break lete hain. Tumhe coffee chahiye?

YOUTH: Haan, please.

Community feeling ka discussion ab pehle se zyada confusing ho gaya tha. Na taarif deni chahiye. Aur na hi daantna chahiye. Jo bhi shabdon ka istemal doosron ko judge karne ke liye kiya jata hai, wo vertical relationships se aate hain, aur humein horizontal relationships banani chahiye. Aur yeh tabhi mumkin hai jab koi apne aap ko mehsoos kare ki wo kisi ke liye kaam ka hai. Yeh logic kahin na kahin flawed lag raha tha. Yeh baat us young man ko instinctively mehsoos ho rahi thi. Jaise hi usne garam coffee pi, uske dimaag mein apne dadaji ki yaadein chalne lagi.

Exist in the Present

PHILOSOPHER: Toh, kya tumne apna confusion door kar liya?

YOUTH: Dheere-dheere, par haan, ab thoda sa clear ho raha hai. Tumhe shayad is baat ka ehsaas nahi hua, par abhi tumne kuch bohut extreme kaha. Yeh ek dangerous opinion hai jo duniya ki har cheez ko nakara de deta hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Oh, sach mein? Kya hai woh?

YOUTH: Woh idea ki kisi ke liye kaam ka hona hi apni asli worth ka ehsaas dilata hai. Agar tum ise ulta samjho, toh jo log doosron ke liye kisi kaam ke nahi hain, unki koi worth nahi hai. Tum yeh nahi keh rahe ho? Agar hum ise logically samjhein, toh jo naye paida hone wale bachche hain, ya jo beemar hain, ya jo budhe log bed par pade hain, unki zindagi ka koi moolya nahi hai. Yeh kaise ho sakta hai? Mere dadaji ke baare mein baat karte hain. Woh apni zindagi ek old age home mein bita rahe hain. Unhe dementia ho gaya hai, aur woh apne bachon ya pote-potion ko nahi pehchante. Unki halat aisi hai ki unhe constant care ke bina zinda rehna mushkil hoga. Unhe kisi ke liye kaam ka nahi samjha ja sakta. Tum samajh rahe ho na? Tumhara opinion basically yeh kehne ke barabar hai ki mere dadaji ko kehna, "Aise log jeene ke laayak nahi hote!"

PHILOSOPHER: Main yeh bilkul nakarata hoon.

YOUTH: Tum kaise ise nakar rahe ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Aise kai parents hote hain jo mere encouragement ke concept ko is tarah refute karte hain, "Hamare bachche subah se shaam tak galat kaam karte hain, aur kabhi bhi hum unhe 'Thank you' ya 'Tumne bohut madad ki' nahi keh sakte." Jo context tum keh rahe ho, woh shayad same hai, hai na?

YOUTH: Haan, bilkul. Toh please mujhe yeh batayein ki aap ise kaise justify karte hain.

PHILOSOPHER: Tum abhi doosre vyakti ko uske kaam ke level par dekh rahe ho. Matlab, ki usne "kuch kiya." Toh iss nazariye se, yeh lag sakta hai ki bed par pade log sirf pareshani hai aur kisi ke liye bhi kaam ke nahi hain. Toh ab hum doosron ko "kaam ke level" par dekhne ki bajaye, unko "being ke level" par dekhte hain. Hum unhe judge kiye bina, unki bas maujoodgi mein khushi mehsoos karte hain, aur unhe shukriya keh kar unki upastithi ko salute karte hain.

YOUTH: Tum unki upastithi ko salute karte ho? Tum kis baat ka zikr kar rahe ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Agar tum cheezon ko being ke level par samjho, toh hum doosron ke liye kaam ke hote hain aur apni worth sirf apni maujoodgi se mehsoos karte hain. Yeh ek nafrat se pare sach hai.

YOUTH: Yeh toh mumkin nahi! Bas ab aur nahi. Kisi ke liye kaam ka hona sirf apni maujoodgi se—yeh toh koi nayi dharmik baat lag rahi hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Maan lo, tumhari maa ka ek car accident ho jaata hai. Unki halat serious ho, aur unki jaan ko khatra ho sakta hai. Aise waqt mein, tum yeh nahi sochoge ki tumhari maa "kuch kar rahi thi," ya is tarah ki koi baat. Zyada chances hain, tum bas yeh sochoge ki tum khush ho agar wo theek ho jaati hain, aur tum khush ho ki wo abhi zinda hain.

YOUTH: Bilkul, main toh bas yeh hi sochunga!

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh hai being ke level par shukriya ada karna. Tumhari maa ko apni critical condition mein koi kaam nahi karna aata, jo ek act ke roop mein dekha jaaye, lekin bas apni zindagi ke saath, woh tumhare aur tumhare parivar ke psychological state ko support kar rahi hoti hai, aur is tarah se woh kaam ka hoti hai. Tumhare liye bhi yeh kaha jaa sakta hai. Agar tumhari zindagi khatre mein ho aur tum jaan se judha ho, toh tumhare aas-paas ke log bas tumhari maujoodgi se khush ho sakte hain. Woh bas yeh sochkar shukriya mehsoos karenge ki tum abhi zinda ho, aur unhe tumse koi direct act karne ki ummeed nahi hogi. Kam se kam, unhe aise sochne ki koi zarurat nahi hogi. Toh apne aap ko kaam ke level par dekhne ki bajaye, sabse pehle apne aap ko being ke level par accept karna zaroori hai.

YOUTH: Yeh toh ek extreme example hai—rozmarra ki zindagi alag hoti hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Nahi, yeh waise hi hai.

YOUTH: Waise hi kaise? Thoda rozmarra ka example do, please. Agar tum yeh nahi de sakte, toh main is baat se sehmata nahi ho sakta.

PHILOSOPHER: Thik hai. Jab hum doosron ko dekhte hain, toh hum apne liye ideal images banane ki aadat daal lete hain, aur phir unse apne aap ko neeche utar dete hain aur judge karte hain. Maan lo, ek bachcha jo kabhi apne parents se jawab nahi deta, school ka kaam aur sports dono mein achha karta hai, achhe university mein admission leta hai, aur bade company mein kaam karta hai. Aise kai parents hain jo apne bachche ko is ideal child ke image se compare karte hain—jo ek impossible fiction hai—aur phir woh complaints aur dissatisfaction se bhare hote hain. Woh idealized image ko sau number samajh kar dheere-dheere usse ghata dete hain. Yeh sach mein ek "judgment" tareeka hai sochne ka. Iske bajaye, parents apne bachche ko kisi aur ke saath compare karne se bach sakte hain, usse waise dekh sakte hain jaise woh hai, aur uski bas maujoodgi ke liye khushi aur shukriya mehsoos kar sakte hain. Idealized image se points ghataane ke bajaye, woh zero se shuru kar sakte hain. Agar woh yeh karte hain, toh woh uske being ko directly acknowledge kar sakte hain.

YOUTH: Theek hai, lekin main kahunga yeh toh bas ek idealistic approach hai. Toh kya tum keh rahe ho ki agar koi bachcha school nahi jaata ya kaam nahi karta, bas apne kamre mein band ho ke ghar par rehta hai, toh usko bhi shukriya kehna chahiye aur thank you kehna chahiye?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Maan lo, tumhara shut-in bachcha tumhe khana khane ke baad bartan dhone mein madad karta hai. Agar tum us waqt yeh kehdo, "Bas, yeh kafi hai—ab school jao," toh tum un parents ke shabdon ka istemal kar rahe ho jo ek ideal child ki image ko ghata dete hain. Agar tum aise approach apnaoge, toh bachcha aur zyada discouraged ho sakta hai. Lekin agar tum bas ek seedha shukriya keh sakte ho, toh ho sakta hai ki bachcha apni worth mehsoos kare aur ek naya kadam aage badhaye.

YOUTH: Yeh toh bas pure hypocritical hai! Yeh kuch aur nahi, bas ek hypocrite ki bakwaas hai. Yeh toh Christians jo "neighborly love" ke baare mein baat karte hain, waise hi lag raha hai. Community feeling, horizontal relationships, existence ke liye gratitude, aur aise aur bhi cheezein. Kaun insaan sach mein aise kaam kar sakta hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Community feeling ke iss issue ke baare mein, ek aadmi ne Adler se milta-julta sawaal poocha tha. Adler ka jawab tha: "Kisi ko toh shuru karna padega. Dusre log shaayad cooperative na ho, par yeh tumse nahi juda hai. Mera salaah yeh hai: Tumhe shuru karna chahiye. Chahe doosre cooperative ho ya na ho." Mera salaah bhi bilkul yeh hai.

People Cannot Make Proper Use of Self

YOUTH: Mujhe shuru karna chahiye?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Chahe doosre log cooperative ho ya na ho, usse koi farq nahi padta.

YOUTH: Thik hai, phir main tumse phir se poochta hoon. "Log bas apni zindagi se kisi aur ke liye kaam aa sakte hain, aur sirf zinda rehkar apni asli keemat samajh sakte hain." Kya tum yeh keh rahe ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan.

YOUTH: Mujhe nahi pata. Main toh zinda hoon, yahin aur abhi. "Main," jo koi aur nahi bas main hoon, yahin zinda hoon. Lekin phir bhi, mujhe lagta nahi ki meri koi keemat hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Tum yeh kyun mehsoos karte ho, isko shabdon mein bayan kar sakte ho?

YOUTH: Shayad yeh woh interpersonal relations hai jo tumne kaha tha. Bachpan se lekar ab tak, mujhe hamesha mere aas-paas ke logon ne, khaas karke mere parents ne, ek bekar chhote bhai ke roop mein chhota samjha hai. Unhone kabhi bhi mujhe mere asli roop mein pehchaan ne ki koshish nahi ki. Tum kehte ho ki keemat ek cheez hai jo insaan apne aapko deta hai. Lekin yeh bas ek impractical theory hai. Maan lo, main jahan kaam karta hoon, us library mein, wahan kaam kaafi simple hai, jaise ki waapas aaye hue kitabein arrange karna aur shelves par rakhna. Yeh routine kaam hai jo koi bhi kar sakta hai jab tak usse sikhaya gaya ho. Agar main kaam par nahi jaaunga, toh mere boss ko kisi ko bhi mera replacement dhoondhna mushkil nahi hoga. Main bas apne unskilled labor ke liye zaroori hoon, aur asli mein yeh farq nahi padta ki "main" wahan kaam kar raha hoon ya koi aur, ya ek machine, is maamle mein. Koi bhi is specific "main" ki zaroorat nahi hai. Aise circumstances mein, kya tum apne aap par vishwas kar sakte ho? Kya tum apni asli keemat mehsoos kar sakte ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Adlerian psychology ke nazariye se jawab simple hai. Sabse pehle, apne aur kisi doosre vyakti ke beech ek horizontal relationship banao. Ek hi kaafi hai. Wahan se shuru karte hain.

YOUTH: Mujhe pagal mat samajhna! Dekho, mere paas doston kaafi hain. Aur main unke saath mazboot horizontal relationships bana raha hoon.

PHILOSOPHER: Phir bhi, mujhe shak hai ki tumhare parents, tumhare boss, tumhare junior colleagues, aur doosre logon ke saath jo relationships tum bana rahe ho, woh vertical hain.

YOUTH: Bilkul, mere paas alag-alag tarah ke relationships hain. Sabhi ke liye yeh waise hi hota hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh ek bahut zaroori baat hai. Kya tum vertical relationships bana rahe ho, ya horizontal relationships? Yeh lifestyle ka masla hai, aur insaan itna chaalak nahi hota ki jab chaah ho tab apni lifestyle badal sake. Dusre shabdon mein, agar tum yeh faisla kar rahe ho ki tum kisi ke "barabar ho" ya "uske saath hierarchical relationship mein ho," toh yeh kaam nahi karega.

YOUTH: Kya tum keh rahe ho ki insaan ko dono mein se ek ka chunav karna padega—vertical relationships ya horizontal relationships?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul, haan. Agar tum ek bhi vertical relationship bana rahe ho, toh tumhe yeh pata bhi nahi chalega aur tum apne saare interpersonal relations ko vertical hi samjhoge.

YOUTH: Toh kya main apne doston ke saath bhi vertical relationships bana raha hoon?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, yeh sach hai. Chahe tum unhe boss ya subordinate ki tarah treat na kar rahe ho, tum is tarah soch rahe ho jaise, "A mujhse upar hai, aur B mujhse neeche hai," jaise, "Main A ki salahiyat follow karunga, par B ki baat ignore karunga," ya "Main C se kiye gaye vaade ko tod sakta hoon."

YOUTH: Hmm!

PHILOSOPHER: Dusri taraf, agar tumne kam se kam ek vyakti ke saath horizontal relationship bana liya hai—agar tumne sach mein barabar ke rishton ka ek rista banaya hai—toh yeh ek badi lifestyle transformation hai. Us breakthrough ke saath, tumhare saare interpersonal relations dheere dheere horizontal ho jayenge.

YOUTH: Yeh kya bakwas hai! Main isey refute karne ke liye kai tareeqe soch sakta hoon. Socho, ek company setting ka example. Kya yeh possible hoga ki director aur unke naye recruits ek dusre ke saath barabar ke rishton mein ho? Hierarchical relationships hamare samaj ka hissa hain, aur ise nazarandaz karna samajik vyavastha ko nazarandaz karna hoga. Dekho, agar tumhe yeh suna ki tumhare company ka ek naya recruit, jo ki bas bees saal ka hai, suddenly 60 ke aas-paas ke director ke saath dosti karne laga, toh kya tumhe yeh kuch ajeeb nahi lagega?

PHILOSOPHER: Yadi, bade logon ki izzat karna zaroori hai. Company structure mein, alag alag zimmedariyon ka hona bilkul swabhavik hai. Main tumse yeh nahi keh raha ki sabhi se dosti kar lo, ya aise behave karo jaise tum sabse ache dost ho. Balki, jo zaroori hai, woh hai barabar ke dimaagi rishte banana, aur jo zaroori ho usse assert karna.

YOUTH: Main aise nahi hoon jo apne seniors ke samne aise baatein karun, aur main kabhi yeh soch bhi nahi sakta. Agar maine aise kiya, toh meri samajik samajh par sawal uthaya jayega.

PHILOSOPHER: "Senior" ka kya matlab hai? Yeh "mouthing off" kya hai? Agar koi apne boss ki baatein sunne ke baad apna kaam karte hue fail ho jaata hai, toh kya yeh kehna ki "mere boss ki galti thi" zyada aasaan ho jaata hai?

YOUTH: Mera kehna hai, agar main apne boss ke instructions follow kar raha hoon, aur mera kaam fail ho jata hai, toh uss waqt uski zimmedari meri nahi, uski hai. Main toh bas uski baatein follow kar raha hoon.

YOUTH: Nahi, yeh meri zimmedari nahi hai. Yeh boss ki zimmedari hai, jo orders de raha tha. Yeh jo hai, yeh organizational accountability ke naam se jaana jaata hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Tum galat ho. Yeh ek life-lie hai. Tumhare paas inkaar karne ka space hona chahiye, aur tumhe kaafi space milni chahiye apne tareeqe se kaam karne ke liye. Tum bas yeh soch rahe ho ki inkaar karne ka space nahi hai, taaki tum un interpersonal relations ke conflict se bach sako aur zimmedari se bach sako—aur tum vertical relationships par depend ho.

YOUTH: Tum keh rahe ho ki mujhe apne boss ki baat na sunni chahiye? Haan, theoretically mujhe yeh karna chahiye. Theoretically, bilkul tumhare jaise hi hai. Lekin main aisa nahi kar sakta! Main aise relationship kaise bana sakta hoon?

PHILOSOPHER: Sach mein? Tum abhi mere saath ek horizontal relationship bana rahe ho. Tum apne aap ko achhe se assert kar rahe ho. Tum is ya us mushkil ke baare mein sochne ke bajaye, bas yahaan se shuru kar sakte ho.

YOUTH: Main yahaan se shuru kar sakta hoon?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, is chhoti si study mein. Jaise maine tumhe pehle kaha, mere liye tum ek irreplaceable dost ho.

YOUTH: . . .

PHILOSOPHER: Kya main galat hoon?

YOUTH: Main iska shukriya ada karta hoon, sach mein. Lekin main dar raha hoon. Main tumhara proposal apnane se dar raha hoon.

PHILOSOPHER: Tumhe kis baat ka dar hai?

YOUTH: Dosti ke kaam ka, naturally. Maine kabhi tumhare jaise budhe aadmi se dosti nahi ki. Mujhe pata nahi ki itni umra ke farq ke saath dosti ka rista mumkin hai bhi ya nahi, ya mujhe ise student-teacher ka rista samajhna chahiye.

PHILOSOPHER: Umr pyaar aur dosti mein maine rakhti. Yeh sach hai ki dosti ke kaam ko ik mazboot himmat ki zaroorat hoti hai. Mere saath tumhare rishte mein, thoda thoda doori ko kam karte hue sab kuch sahi rahega. Aise ek doori tak, jahan hum bohot close contact mein nahi hote, lekin phir bhi hum ek doosre ke chehre ko apni taareef ke saath chhune ke laayak hote hain.

YOUTH: Mujhe thoda waqt de do. Bas ek aur baar, main chahta hoon ki mujhe apne aap ko samajhne ka waqt mile. Hamari aaj ki baat-chit ne mujhe kaafi sochne ka mauka diya hai. Main chahta hoon ki main ise apne ghar le jaa kar shaanti se sochun.

PHILOSOPHER: Community feeling ko samajhne mein waqt lagta hai. Bilkul mumkin nahi hai ki tum sab kuch yahaan aur abhi samajh pao. Kripaya apne ghar wapas jao aur ise dhyaan se soch kar, humne jo kuch bhi discuss kiya hai, uske saath check karte hue samajhne ki koshish karo.

YOUTH: Main karunga. Waise bhi, mujhe yeh sunke kaafi shock laga ki main kabhi doosron ko sach mein nahi dekhta, aur sirf apne aap ke baare mein sochta hoon. Tum sach mein bade khatarnaak insaan ho!

PHILOSOPHER: Ha-ha. Tum yeh aise khushi se keh rahe ho!

YOUTH: Haan, mujhe ismein kaafi maza aa raha hai. Yeh dard bhi ho raha hai, bilkul jaise ek tez dard mere andar se guzar raha ho, jaise main sootne kaanpne ki dawai kha raha hoon. Lekin phir bhi, mujhe kaafi maza aa raha hai. Yeh aadat ban gayi hai, tumse aise discussions karte hue. Main thodi der pehle yeh samjha ki shaayad main tumhara argument sirf todna nahi chahta—main chahta hoon ki tum mera argument bhi tod kar dikhaye.

PHILOSOPHER: Samajh gaya. Yeh ek interesting analysis hai.

YOUTH: Lekin bhoolna mat. Maine tumse kaha tha ki main tumhara argument tod kar tumhe jhuka doonga, aur main abhi bhi apni baat par qayam hoon.

PHILOSOPHER: Shukriya. Mujhe bhi kaafi maza aaya. Jab bhi tum tayaar ho, tum aake isey dobara shuru kar sakte ho.

THE FIFTH NIGHT:

To Live in Earnest in the Here and Now

Young man apne aap se soch raha tha, Adlerian psychology interpersonal relationships par gehra inquiry kar rahi hai. Aur in interpersonal relationships ka antim goal community feeling hai. Lekin kya yeh sach mein kaafi hai? Kya aur kuch nahi hai jo mujhe is duniya mein kuch achieve karne ke liye laaye gaye hoon? Zindagi ka matlab kya hai? Main kahan ja raha hoon, aur kis tarah ki zindagi jeene ki koshish kar raha hoon? Jaise-jaise yeh soch raha tha, usse lag raha tha ki uski apni zindagi bohot chhoti aur bekar thi.

Excessive Self-Consciousness Stings the Self

PHILOSOPHER: Kafi time ho gaya, hai na?

YOUTH: Haan, main pichle mahine aaya tha. Tab se main community feeling ke matlab par soch raha hoon.

PHILOSOPHER: Toh ab tu iske baare mein kya sochta hai?

YOUTH: Well, community feeling definitely ek acchi idea hai. Wo belonging ka sense, jaise "yahan hona theek hai," jo humare paas ek basic desire ke roop mein hota hai. Mujhe lagta hai ki yeh humari social creatures ke roop mein existence ko samajhne ka ek brilliant tareeka hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh ek brilliant insight hai, lekin...?

YOUTH: Mazedaar hai, tumne bilkul turant samajh liya. Haan, mujhe abhi bhi kuch issues hain isse lekar. Main seedha keh dunga—mujhe bilkul samajh nahi aata ki tum universe aur us sab ke references ke baare mein kya keh rahe ho, aur poore waqt yeh religion ki boo aati hai. Isme kuch cultish quality hai jo main thik se samajh nahi paa raha.

PHILOSOPHER: Jab Adler ne pehli baar community feeling ka concept diya, tab bhi kuch aise hi opposition thi. Logon ka kehna tha ki psychology ek science honi chahiye, aur yahan Adler worth ke issues discuss kar raha hai. Wo sab science nahi tha, unhone kaha.

YOUTH: Toh apne tareeke se, maine yeh samajhne ki koshish ki ki main kyun nahi samajh pa raha tum jo keh rahe ho, aur main soch raha hoon ki shayad cheezon ka order galat ho. Tum universe aur inanimate cheezon se shuru kar rahe ho, aur past aur future ke baare mein baat kar rahe ho, toh main track kho deta hoon. Iske bajaye, pehle "I" ko samajhna zaroori hai. Uske baad, ek-doesre ke relations ko samajhna chahiye, yaani "tum aur main" ke interpersonal relations ko. Aur jab yeh samajh aaye, toh phir larger community dikhayi deni chahiye.

PHILOSOPHER: Samajh gaya. Yeh accha order hai.

YOUTH: Ab, pehla sawaal jo mujhe puchna hai wo hai self se attachment. Tum keh rahe ho ki "I" se attached hona band karna padega aur "concern for others" mein shift karna hoga. Main janta hoon ki tum jo keh rahe ho wo sahi hai—concern for others important hai, main agree karta hoon. Lekin chahe kuch bhi ho, hum apne baare mein hi sochte rehte hain; hum apne aap ko har waqt dekhte hain.

PHILOSOPHER: Kya tumne socha hai ki hum apne baare mein kyun sochte hain?

YOUTH: Haan, maine socha hai. Agar main ek narcissist hota—agar main apne aap se pyar karta aur apne aap se hi hamesha fascinated rehta—shayd tab cheezein simple hoti. Tumhara kehna, "Dusron ke liye jyada socho," wo bilkul sahi hai. Lekin main narcissist nahi hoon. Main ek self-loathing realist hoon. Mujhe apne aap se nafrat hai, aur isi liye main apne aap ko har waqt dekh raha hoon. Mujhe apne upar confidence nahi hai, aur isi liye main excess self-conscious hoon.

PHILOSOPHER: Tumhein kis waqt lagta hai ki tum excessively self-conscious ho?

YOUTH: Jaise, meetings mein, mujhe apna haath uthana aur apne aap ko sunane mein mushkil hoti hai. Main anavashyak cheezein sochta hoon, jaise "Agar main yeh sawaal puchunga toh wo mujhe hansenge," ya "Agar jo point main rakhna chahta hoon wo irrelevant hai, toh mujhe log beizzati karenge," aur phir main bas chup ho jata hoon. Sach kehna toh yeh hai ki main har baar jab logon ke saamne mazaak karne ki koshish karta hoon, main dar ke maare thoda jhujhta hoon. Har baar, meri self-consciousness mujhe rok leti hai, aur aise lagta hai jaise main tight jacket mein band ho gaya hoon. Meri self-consciousness mujhe innocent tareeke se behave nahi karne deti. Lekin mujhe tumse jawab nahi puchna hai. Main jaanta hoon ki tumhara jawab hamesha ek hi hoga: "Himmat rakho." Lekin yeh shabdon ka mujhe koi faayda nahi hai. Kyunki yeh sirf himmat ka mamla nahi hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Samajh gaya. Pichli baar maine community feeling ka overview diya tha. Aaj hum zyada gehraai mein jaayenge.

YOUTH: Toh yeh humein kahaan le jayega?

PHILOSOPHER: Hum shayad yeh sawaal puchenge, "Happiness kya hai?"

YOUTH: Oh! Toh kya happiness community feeling se pare hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Jawaab dene mein jaldrazi karne ki zaroorat nahi hai. Humare paas jo zaroori hai wo hai dialogue.

YOUTH: Theek hai, toh shuru karte hain!

Not Self-Affirmation— Self-Acceptance

PHILOSOPHER: Sabse pehle, jo tum abhi keh rahe the, us par dhyān dete hain, ki tumhari self-consciousness tumhe innocent tareeke se behave karne se rok deti hai. Shayad kai log is mushkil ka samna karte hain. Toh chalo, source tak wapas jaate hain aur tumhara goal samajhne ki koshish karte hain. Tum apne innocent behaviour par brakes kyun laga rahe ho, iska kya reason ho sakta hai?

YOUTH: Yeh sach hai, main yeh nahi chahta ki mujhe hansa banaya jaaye, ya mujhe pagal samjha jaaye.

PHILOSOPHER: Toh matlab, tumhe apne innocent self pe confidence nahi hai, apne aap pe waise hi jaise tum ho, sahi? Aur tum un interpersonal relationships se door rehte ho jahan tum bas apne aap ko dikhaye. Lekin mujhe lagta hai, jab tum ghar akela hote ho, tum zordaar gaana gaate ho, dance karte ho, aur lively voice mein baat karte ho.

YOUTH: Ha-ha! Lagta hai jaise tumne mere kamre mein surveillance camera laga diya ho! Lekin haan, yeh sach hai. Main akela hone par bilkul free ho sakta hoon.

PHILOSOPHER: Har koi akela hote hue king ki tarah behave kar sakta hai. Toh yeh ek aisi issue hai jo interpersonal relations ke context mein samajhna zaroori hai. Kyunki yeh nahi hai ki tumhare paas innocent self nahi hai—yeh bas hai ki tum doosron ke saamne aise cheez nahi kar paate.

YOUTH: Toh ab main kya karoon?

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh sab community feeling ke baare mein hai. Practically, yeh self (self-interest) se concern for others (social interest) mein shift karna hai, aur community feeling ka sense paana hai. Is point par teen cheezein zaroori hain: “self-acceptance,” “confidence in others,” aur “contribution to others.”

YOUTH: Interesting. Naye keywords dikhai de rahe hain. Yeh kis cheez ko refer karte hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Chalo, self-acceptance se shuru karte hain. Apni pehli raat, maine Adler ka yeh statement diya tha: “Jo ek insan ke paas hota hai, woh zaroori nahi hai, lekin jo wo us cheez ka use karta hai, woh zaroori hai.” Kya tumhein yeh yaad hai?

YOUTH: Haan, bilkul yaad hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Hum "I" ke receptacle ko discard nahi kar sakte, aur na hi usse replace kar sakte hain. Zaroori yeh hai ki hum "I" ko kis tarah dekhte hain—yaani, hum ise kaise use karte hain.

YOUTH: Matlab, apne aap ko zyada positive hona chahiye aur self-affirmation ki sense honi chahiye? Har cheez ko zyada positive dekhna?

PHILOSOPHER: Positive hone aur apne aap ko affirm karne ki zaroorat nahi hai. Hum jo chahte hain, woh self-acceptance hai, self-affirmation nahi.

YOUTH: Self-affirmation nahi, par self-acceptance?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, bilkul. Dono mein farq hai. Self-affirmation apne aap se kehna, "Main yeh kar sakta hoon," ya "Main strong hoon," jabki kuch tumhare liye beyond ho. Yeh ek aise notion hai jo superiority complex create kar sakta hai, aur apne aap se jhoot bolne ka ek tareeka ho sakta hai. Lekin self-acceptance mein, agar koi kaam nahi ho pa raha, toh tum bas apne "incapable self" ko accept karte ho jaise wo hai, aur aage badhte ho taaki jo tum kar sakte ho woh kar sako. Yeh apne aap se jhoot nahi bolna. Agar tumhare paas 60 percent score hai, aur tum khud ko yeh keh rahe ho ki "Bas iss baar mera luck khatam tha, asli main 100 percent hoon," toh yeh self-affirmation hai. Par agar tum apne aap ko 60 percent ke roop mein accept karte ho, aur soch rahe ho, "Main kaise 100 percent ke kareeb pahuch sakta hoon?" toh yeh self-acceptance hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul nahi. Koi bhi perfect nahi hota. Tumhe yaad hai maine jab superiority ke pursuit ki baat ki thi? Ki har insaan apne aap ko improve karna chahta hai? Ulta, 100 percent insaan hona kabhi bhi possible nahi hai. Yeh ek cheez hai jise humein actively accept karna chahiye.

YOUTH: Hmm. Tum jo keh rahe ho wo kai tariko se positive lag raha hai, lekin ek negative ring bhi hai ismein.

PHILOSOPHER: Yahan main jo term use kar raha hoon, wo hai "affirmative resignation."

YOUTH: Affirmative resignation?

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh bhi wahi hai jo task separation mein hota hai—tum apne jo change kar sakte ho usko aur jo nahi kar sakte usko samajh paate ho. Tum jo pehle se ho, usko tum change nahi kar sakte. Lekin jo tum us equipment ka use kar rahe ho, usmein tum apni marzi se change laa sakte ho. Toh uss case mein, tumhe bas apni focus us cheez par rakhni chahiye jo tum badal sakte ho, na ki jo tum nahi badal sakte. Yeh main self-acceptance kehta hoon.

YOUTH: Jo tum badal sakte ho, aur jo nahi.

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Jo replace nahi ho sakta, usse accept karo. Apne "iss mujhe" ko waise hi accept karo. Aur jo tum badal sakte ho, usse change karne ka hausla rakho. Yeh hai self-acceptance.

YOUTH: Hmm. Yeh mujhe ek line yaad dilata hai jo writer Kurt Vonnegut ne apni ek kitab mein quote ki thi: "God grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change; courage to change the things I can; and wisdom to know the difference." Yeh novel Slaughterhouse-Five mein hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, mujhe yaad hai. Yeh Serenity Prayer hai. Yeh shabd kaafi mashhoor hain aur kai saalon se Christian societies mein transfer hue hain.

YOUTH: Usne "courage" ka bhi use kiya. Maine yeh kitab itni dhyan se padhi thi ki mujhe yeh line yaad honi chahiye thi. Lekin ab tak yeh point mujhe kabhi notice nahi hua.

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul, humare paas ability ki kami nahi hai. Humare paas courage ki kami hai. Sab kuch courage par depend karta hai.

The Difference Between Trust and Confidence

YOUTH: Is "affirmative resignation" ka kuchh pessimistic lagta hai. Yeh thoda bleak lagta hai agar is lambe discussion ka natija resignation hi ho.

PHILOSOPHER: Kya yeh sach hai? Resignation ka matlab hai cheezon ko spasht roop se samajhna, sahas aur swikriti ke saath. Cheezon ki sacchai ko majbooti se samajhna—yeh hai resignation. Ismein koi pessimism nahi hai.

YOUTH: Sacchai ka majbooti se samajhna...

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Aur, jab aap apne aap ko swikriti ke roop mein dekhte hain, iska matlab yeh nahi ki aapko samajik sambandh mil jayenge. Yeh sach hai. Jab koi apne aap ko lekar judne se doosron ki chinta karta hai, to doosra moolbhoot concept—"doosron mein vishwas"—bilkul zaroori ho jata hai.

YOUTH: Doosron mein vishwas? Matlab doosron par vishwas karna?

PHILOSOPHER: Yahan main "doosron mein vishwas" ko trust aur confidence ke beech antar samajhaunga. Jab hum trust ki baat karte hain, to hum kuchh set conditions ke saath baat kar rahe hote hain. Hum ise credit kehte hain. Jaise jab koi bank se paisa udhaar lena chahta hai, to usse koi na koi security chahiye hoti hai. Bank is security ke moolya ke aadhar par loan ki rashi tay karta hai aur kehata hai, "Hum tumhe itna udhaar denge." "Hum tumhe is condition par paisa denge ki tum ise wapas karoge" ya "Hum tumhe utna paisa denge jitna tum wapas kar sakte ho" yeh kisi par vishwas karne ka attitude nahi hota. Yeh trust hota hai.

YOUTH: Haan, bank ka financing kuchh aisa hi hota hai, mujhe lagta hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Uske vipreet, Adlerian psychology ke nazariye se, manav sambandhon ka aadhaar trust par nahi, balki confidence par hota hai.

YOUTH: Aur yeh "confidence" yahan par kya hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh hai bina kisi set condition ke doosron par vishwas karna. Agar kisi ke paas kisi ko trust karne ke liye koi objective grounds nahi hain, to bhi woh vishwas karta hai. Woh bina kisi security ke vishwas karta hai. Yeh hai confidence.

YOUTH: Bina kisi condition ke vishwas karna? Toh kya yeh tumhare "padosi prem" waale vichar se juda hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul, agar koi bina kisi condition ke doosron par vishwas karta hai, to kuchh samay aise honge jab uska istemal kiya jayega. Jaise ek loan guarantor ki tarah, kuchh waqt aise aayenge jab usse nuksan ho sakta hai. Lekin phir bhi, agar koi uss vyakti par vishwas karta hai, chahe usse kaisa bhi nuksan ho, toh usse hum confidence kehte hain.

YOUTH: Bas ek naiv aur dimwit hi aisa karega! Mera to yeh manna hai ki manushya ka swabhav bura hota hai, jabki tum shayad yeh maanta ho ki sabhi mein acchai hoti hai. Agar tum bina kisi condition ke ajnabi logo par vishwas karoge, to tumhein bas istemal aur dikhayi jayegi.

PHILOSOPHER: Aur kabhi-kabhi koi aapko dhokha bhi de sakta hai, aur aapka istemal ho sakta hai. Lekin jab aap aise kisi vyakti ki taraf dekhenge jo aap par bina kisi condition ke vishwas karta hai, chahe aapne uska faida uthaya ho, to aap kya uss vyakti ko baar-baar dhokha de paayenge?

YOUTH: Umm, nahi. Yeh kaafi mushkil hoga.

PHILOSOPHER: Mujhe lagta hai tumhein aisa karna kaafi mushkil hoga.

YOUTH: Tum yeh keh rahe ho ki humein emotions ka istemal karna hoga? Jaise ek sant ki tarah vishwas karna aur doosre vyakti ke conscience par kaam karna? Tum mujhe yeh bata rahe ho ki Adler ke liye morals ka koi matlab nahi hai, lekin kya yeh wahi cheez nahi hai jo hum yahan baat kar rahe hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Nahi, yeh baat nahi hai. Tumhein kya lagta hai ki "confidence" ka vipreet kya ho sakta hai?

YOUTH: Confidence ka antonym? Umm...

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh hai "doubt". Socho, agar tum apne interpersonal relations ka aadhaar "doubt" par rakhoge. Tum apni zindagi dusron par doubt karte hue jeete ho—apne dost, parivar aur pyaare logon tak par. Toh uss dauran tumhare aur dusre vyakti ke beech kya rishta ban sakta hai? Wo vyakti turant samajh jayega ki "is vyakti ko mujh par vishwas nahi hai." Tumhein kya lagta hai ki tum dono ke beech koi achha rishta ban paayega? Yeh isliye hota hai ki hum bina kisi condition ke "confidence" rakhte hain, tabhi hum gehra rishta bana sakte hain.

YOUTH: Samajh gaya, shayad.

PHILOSOPHER: Adlerian psychology ko samajhna ka tareeka simple hai. Abhi tum soch rahe ho, agar maine kisi par bina kisi condition ke vishwas kiya, to bas mera istemal ho jayega. Lekin, tum woh nahi ho jo yeh decide karega ki tumhara istemal hoga ya nahi. Yeh doosre vyakti ka kaam hai. Tumhe bas yeh sochna hai, mujhe kya karna chahiye? Agar tum apne aap se keh rahe ho, "Main usse tabhi dunga agar woh mera faida nahi uthayega," to yeh bas ek relationship hai jo trust par based hai, jo security ya conditions par hai.

YOUTH: Toh kya yeh tasks ko alag karne ka tareeka hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Jaise maine baar-baar kaha hai, tasks ko alag karna zindagi ko ek behtareen aur simple form mein le aata hai. Lekin jab tak tasks ko alag karna samajhna asaan hai, ise practical mein lagaana mushkil hota hai. Main yeh maanta hoon.

YOUTH: Toh tum mujhe keh rahe ho ki main sabhi par vishwas rakho, sabhi logo par vishwas karna jaari rakho, chahe woh mujhe dhokha de, aur bas ek naive fool ban ke rahoon? Yeh philosophy ya psychology nahi hai, yeh bas ek zealot ka preaching hai!

PHILOSOPHER: Main is baat ko bilkul reject karta hoon. Adlerian psychology yeh nahi keh rahi hai ki "doosron par bina kisi condition ke vishwas rakho" kisi moralistic system of values ke adhaar par. Bina condition ke vishwas karna ek tareeka hai apne interpersonal relationships ko behtar banane ka aur ek horizontal relationship banane ka. Agar tumhe yeh chahte nahi ki tumhara relationship us vyakti ke saath behtar ho, to usse tod dena. Kyunki todna tumhara kaam hai.

YOUTH: Toh agar maine apne dost par bina kisi condition ke vishwas rakha, taaki humara relationship behtar ho sake? Maine apne dosti mein har tareeke se uski madad ki, uski paise ki requests puri ki, aur apna samay aur mehnat bhi uske liye diya. Lekin aise cases mein bhi kabhi kabhi hota hai jab insaan ka faida uthaya jata hai. Agar koi insaan jise tumne puri tarah se vishwas kiya ho, agar woh tumhein bhool kar faida uthata hai, toh kya yeh experience tumhein yeh sikhaayega ki "doosre mere dushman hain"?

PHILOSOPHER: Lagta hai tumne abhi tak vishwas ka goal samjha nahi hai. Maan lo, tum ek love relationship mein ho, lekin tum apne partner ke baare mein doubt kar rahe ho aur soch rahe ho, "Main sochta hoon woh mujhse dhokha de rahi hai." Aur tum is baat ka proof dhundhne mein lag jaate ho. Tumhein kya lagta hai uss waqt kya hoga?

YOUTH: Achha, mujhe lagta hai ki yeh situation ke upar depend karega.

PHILOSOPHER: Nahi, har case mein tumhein apne partner ke cheating karne ka evidence mil jayega.

YOUTH: Ruk, yeh kyun?

PHILOSOPHER: Tumhare partner ke casual remarks, jab woh phone par kisi se baat kar rahi ho, jab tum usse contact nahi kar pa rahe ho... Jab tak tum doubt ke saath dekh rahe ho, tumhare aas-paas har cheez uss baat ka evidence lagti hai ki woh tumse dhokha de rahi hai. Chahe woh sach mein na kare.

YOUTH: Hmm.

PHILOSOPHER: Abhi tum bas un moments ke baare mein soch rahe ho jab tumhara faida uthaya gaya, aur kuch nahi. Tum bas un dard ko yaad kar rahe ho jo tumne un situations mein bhugat liya. Lekin agar tum doosron par vishwas karne se darte ho, to lambe samay mein tum kisi ke saath gehra rishta nahi bana paoge.

YOUTH: Samajh gaya, yeh tum jo keh rahe ho, ki main apne rishton ko gehra banana ki koshish karoon. Lekin phir bhi, faida uthaya jaana dar lagta hai, aur yeh sachai hai, hai na?

PHILOSOPHER: Agar yeh ek shallow relationship hai, to jab yeh tutega, toh dard thoda hoga. Aur yeh relationship jo tumhe har din khushi de raha tha, woh bhi thoda hoga. Yeh isi liye hai ki jab tum doosron par vishwas karte ho, tab tum gehre relationships mein jaane ka hausla paa sakte ho, aur tumhare interpersonal relations ki khushi badh sakti hai, aur tumhari zindagi ki khushi bhi badh sakti hai.

YOUTH: Nahi! Yeh main baat nahi kar raha hoon, tum phir se topic badal rahe ho. Woh courage ki baat kar raha hoon, jo fear ko overcome kare faida uthaya jaane ka—woh kahan se aata hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh aata hai self-acceptance se. Agar koi apne aap ko jaisa hai waisa accept kar leta hai, aur samajhta hai ki kya woh kar sakta hai aur kya nahi, to woh yeh samajh pata hai ki "faida uthana" doosre ka kaam hai, aur doosron par "vishwas karna" ka core samajhna zyada mushkil nahi hota.

YOUTH: Tum keh rahe ho ki kisi ka faida uthana doosre ka kaam hai, aur hum ispar kuchh nahi kar sakte? Ki main bas resignation karoon, ek affirmative tareeke se? Tumhare arguments humare emotions ko hamesha ignore karte hain. Jab hum faida uthaye jaate hain, to jo gussa aur udaasi hoti hai, uska kya karein?

PHILOSOPHER: Jab koi udaas ho, to usse apne dil se udaas hone do. Jab tak koi dard aur udaasi se bachne ki koshish karta hai, tab tak woh atka rehta hai aur kisi ke saath gehra rishta nahi bana pata. Is tarah socho. Hum vishwas kar sakte hain. Aur hum doubt kar sakte hain. Lekin hum doosron ko apne saathiyon ki tarah dekhne ki koshish kar rahe hain. Vishwas karna ya doubt karna—yeh decision clear hona chahiye.

The Essence of Work Is a Contribution to the Common Good

YOUTH: Thik hai. Maan lo, maine apni self-acceptance hasil kar li hai. Aur doosron mein bhi vishwas hasil kar liya hai. Toh mujh mein kaunse badlaav aayenge phir?

PHILOSOPHER: Sabse pehle, ek insaan apne irreplaceable "yeh main" ko waise ka waise accept karta hai. Yeh hai self-acceptance. Fir, doosron mein unconditional vishwas rakhna. Yeh hai doosron mein vishwas. Aap apne aapko accept kar sakte ho, aur doosron mein bhi vishwas rakh sakte ho. Toh ab doosre log aapke liye kaun hai?

YOUTH: Mere saathiyon?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Asal mein, doosron mein vishwas rakhna is baat se juda hai ki doosron ko saathi samjha jaaye. Jab log apne saathi hote hain, tabhi aap unmein vishwas kar paate ho. Agar wo aapke saathi na hote, toh aap vishwas ki uss level tak nahi pahuch paate. Aur phir, doosron ko apne saathiyon ke roop mein dekhna, uss community mein apna sthaan dhoondhne se jura hota hai, jisme aap shaamil hote ho. Toh aapko ek belonging ka ehsaas hota hai, ki "yahaan rehna theek hai."

YOUTH: Dusre shabdon mein, aap keh rahe ho ki "yahaan rehna theek hai" mehsoos karne ke liye, doosron ko apne saathi ke roop mein dekhna zaroori hai. Aur doosron ko apne saathi dekhne ke liye, dono self-acceptance aur doosron mein vishwas hona zaroori hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, bilkul. Aap ab isse jaldi samajh rahe ho. Ek kadam aage badhkar, yeh bhi kaha jaa sakta hai ki jo log doosron ko dushman samajhte hain, unhone self-acceptance nahi hasil ki aur unmein doosron mein vishwas ki kami hoti hai.

YOUTH: Theek hai. Yeh sach hai ki log belonging ka ehsaas chahte hain, ki "yahaan rehna theek hai." Aur uske liye unhe self-acceptance aur doosron mein vishwas chahiye. Mujhe is par koi aitraaz nahi hai. Lekin mujhe samajh nahi aata. Kya kisi ko sach mein belonging ka ehsaas sirf doosron ko apne saathi dekhne aur unmein vishwas rakhne se ho sakta hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul, community ka ehsaas sirf self-acceptance aur doosron mein vishwas se hasil nahi ho sakta. Yahi samay hai jab teesra mahatvapurn concept— doosron ko contribution dena— zaroori ho jaata hai.

YOUTH: Doosron ko contribution dena?

PHILOSOPHER: Doosron par kisi na kisi tareeke se kaam karna. Unko contribute karne ki koshish karna. Yeh hai "doosron ko contribution dena."

YOUTH: Toh jab aap kehte ho "contribute", iska matlab hai apne aap ko sacrifice karna aur doosron ki seva karna?

PHILOSOPHER: Doosron ko contribution dena ka matlab self-sacrifice nahi hai. Adhikar yeh tak kehte hain ki jo log apni zindagi ko doosron ke liye sacrifice karte hain, woh log samajh ke hisse ban jaate hain. Aur yeh mat bhoolna: Hum apni asli keemat tabhi samajhte hain jab humein yeh mehsoos hota hai ki humari maujoodgi aur humara vyavhaar community ke liye faayde mand hai, yaani jab humein yeh mehsoos hota hai "main kisi ke kaam aata hoon." Kya aapko yeh yaad hai? Dusre shabdon mein, doosron ko contribution dena, kisi ko serve karne aur apne "I" ko hataane ka kaam nahi hai, balki yeh kuch aisa hai jo aap apni asli keemat ko samajhne ke liye karte ho.

YOUTH: Doosron ko contribute karna apne liye hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Apne aap ko sacrifice karne ki koi zaroorat nahi hai.

YOUTH: Arre, lagta hai aapka argument yahan toot raha hai, hai na? Aapne apni kabza khud hi khodi hai. "I" ko santusht karne ke liye, ek insaan doosron ki seva karta hai. Kya yeh hypocrisy ka definition nahi hai? Maine pehle bhi kaha tha: Aapka poora argument hypocritical hai. Yeh ek slippery argument hai. Dekho, main us villain par zyada vishwas karunga jo apni ichchhaon ke baare mein imaandaar hai, na ki us achhe aadmi par jo jhooton ka silsila sunata hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh bahut jaldhaz mein kiye gaye nishkarsh hain. Aap abhi tak community feeling ko nahi samajh paaye ho.

YOUTH: Toh phir main chahta hoon ki aap mujhe un examples ke saath samjhaayein jo aapko doosron ko contribution dena lagta hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Doosron ko contribution देने का सबसे आसान तरीका शायद काम करना है। समाज में रहना और workforce का हिस्सा बनना। या अपने घर को संभालने का काम करना। काम पैसे कमाने का तरीका नहीं है। काम के जरिये ही एक इंसान दूसरों को contribution देता है और अपनी community के लिये commitment बनाता है, और सच में महसूस करता है, "Main kisi ke kaam aata hoon," और अपनी existential worth को भी accept कर पाता है।

YOUTH: Aap keh rahe ho ki काम का essence दूसरों को contribution dena है?

PHILOSOPHER: Paisa kamana bhi ek bada factor hai, bilkul. Yeh us Dostoevsky ke quote ki tarah hai jo aapne suna tha: "Paisa hai minted freedom." Lekin aise log hain jinke paas itna paisa hota hai ki woh kabhi bhi usse istemal nahi kar sakte. Aur inmein se kayi log apne kaam mein lagatar busy rehte hain. Woh kaam kyun karte hain? Kya woh apni be-hadd laalach se prerit hain? Nahi. Woh kaam karte hain taki woh doosron ko contribute kar sakein, aur apni belonging ka ehssaas bhi kar sakein, apne aap se keh sakein "yahaan rehna theek hai." Aise ameer log jo apna bada dhan jamaane ke baad apni energies charitable activities mein laga dete hain, woh yeh sab isliye kar rahe hain taaki apni worth ka ehssaas kar sakein aur apne liye yeh confirm kar sakein ki "yahaan rehna theek hai."

YOUTH: Hmm, lagta hai yeh ek sach hai. Lekin...

PHILOSOPHER: Lekin kya?

Self-acceptance: apne irreplaceable "yeh main" ko waise ka waise accept karna. Doosron mein vishwas: apne interpersonal relations mein unconditional vishwas rakhna, na ki shak dalna. Yeh dono concepts us young man ko kaafi prabhavit karte hain. Lekin doosron ko contribution dena, yeh aisa kuch tha jo usse poori tarah se samajh mein nahi aaya. Agar yeh contribution "doosron ke liye" hona hai, toh phir yeh ek kadwa self-sacrifice hi hoga. Dusri taraf, agar yeh contribution asal mein "apne liye" hai, toh yeh hypocrisy ka sabse bada udaharan hoga. Yeh baat poori tarah se saaf karna zaroori hai. Apne vichar ko dridhtaa se rakhte hue, us young man ne apne vichar ko aage badhaya.

Young People Walk Ahead of Adults

YOUTH: Main maan leta hoon ki kaam mein doosron ko contribution dene ke pehlu hote hain. Lekin yeh jo logic hai ki ek insaan jab doosron ko contribute karta hai, toh asal mein woh apne liye kar raha hota hai, yeh kuch aur nahi balki hypocrisy hai. Aap isse kaise samjhaenge?

PHILOSOPHER: Socho is tarah ka scene. Raat ke khane ke baad, table par abhi bhi bartan pade hain. Bachche apne kamre mein chale gaye hain, aur pati sofa par baitha TV dekh raha hai. Sab kuch safai karne ka kaam wife (main) pe chhoda gaya hai. Aur sabse bura, parivaar yeh baat samajhta nahi hai, aur koi madad karne ki koshish bhi nahi karta. Aise mein, aam taur par koi sochta hai, "Woh mujhe madad kyun nahi dete?" ya "Mujhe saara kaam kyun karna padta hai?" Chahe main apne parivaar se "shukriya" na sunoon jab main saaf kar raha hoon, main chahta hoon ki woh yeh soche ki main parivaar ke liye kaam aa raha hoon. Main yeh nahi sochna chahta ki doosre mere liye kya kar sakte hain, balki main yeh sochna chahta hoon, aur amal mein lana chahta hoon, ki main doosron ke liye kya kar sakta hoon. Bas yeh contribution ka ehsaas hone se, mere saamne jo haqeeqat hai, woh bilkul alag rang le leti hai. Asal mein, agar main apne aap se gussa hoon jab main bartan dhota hoon, toh main shayad zyada mazedaar nahi hoon, isliye sab log mujhse door rehna chahenge. Dusri taraf, agar main apne aap se gungunahat karte hue aur khushi se bartan dhota hoon, toh bachche aakar meri madad karne aa sakte hain. Kam se kam, main ek aisi mahaul bana raha hoon jahan unke liye madad dena aasan ho.

YOUTH: Haan, ho sakta hai ki yeh situation mein aisa ho.

PHILOSOPHER: Toh, kaise mujhe is setting mein contribution ka ehsaas hota hai? Yeh mujhe isliye hota hai kyunki main apne parivaar ke sadasyon ko apne saathiyon ki tarah dekh pata hoon. Agar main aisa nahi kar pata, toh mujhe zaroor yeh sochne ke vichaar honge jaise, "Main hi kyun sab kuch kar raha hoon?" aur "Koi madad kyun nahi karta?" Jab ek insaan doosron ko apne dushman samajh kar contribution karta hai, toh woh shayad hypocrisy tak le jaa sakta hai. Lekin agar doosre log apne saathiyon ki tarah hain, toh yeh kabhi nahi hoga, chahe jo bhi contribution kiya jaaye. Aap "hypocrisy" shabd par itna focus kar rahe ho kyunki aap abhi tak community feeling ko nahi samajh paaye ho.

YOUTH: Thik hai...

PHILOSOPHER: Suvidha ke liye, ab tak maine self-acceptance, doosron mein vishwas, aur doosron ko contribution dene ki baat ki hai, is kram mein. Lekin yeh teen cheezein ek avashyak poore ke roop mein judti hain, ek circular structure mein. Isliye kyunki ek insaan apne aap ko waise ka waise accept karta hai—self-accepts—tabhi woh doosron mein

"vishwas karne" ka ehssaas bina is dar ke kar sakta hai ki woh usse faayda uthayenge. Aur phir jab woh doosron mein unconditional vishwas kar sakta hai, aur mehsoos kar sakta hai ki log uske saath hain, tabhi woh "doosron ko contribution dena" kar sakta hai. Aur phir, yeh contribution dene ke baad hi insaan ko yeh gehraehsoos hota hai ki "Main kisi ke kaam aata hoon," aur woh apne aap ko waise ka waise accept kar sakta hai. Woh self-accept kar sakta hai. Woh notes jo aapne kuch din pehle likhe the, kya aapke paas hain?

YOUTH: Oh, aapka matlab hai Adlerian psychology ke objectives wale note ka? Main woh note hamesha apne paas rakhta hoon. Yeh raha: "Vyavhaar ke do objectives: swavlambi hona aur samaj ke saath mel-jol mein rehna. Jo psychology in vyavhaaron ko support karti hai uske do objectives: yeh sochna ki mujhe apni shakti par vishwas hai, aur yeh sochna ki log mere saath hain."

PHILOSOPHER: Agar aap is note ke content ko humare ab tak ke discussion ke saath overlap karte hain, toh aapko zyada gehra samajh milega. Matlab, "swavlambi hona" aur "mujhe apni shakti par vishwas hai" hamare self-acceptance ke discussion se milte hain. Aur phir "samaj ke saath mel-jol mein rehna" aur "log mere saath hain" doosron mein vishwas aur phir doosron ko contribution dene se juda hai.

YOUTH: Samajh gaya. Toh jeevan ka objective community feeling hai. Mujhe lagta hai ki mujhe isse apne dimaag mein poori tarah se samajhne mein thoda waqt lagega.

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, shayad. Jaise Adler ne khud kaha tha, "Ek insaan ko samajhna asaan baat nahi hai. Saari psychology ke roopon mein, individual psychology shayad sabse mushkil hai seekhna aur usse apni zindagi mein lagoo karna."

YOUTH: Bilkul sahi kaha! Chahe theories kitni bhi convincing ho, unhe apni zindagi mein lagoo karna mushkil hota hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh bhi kaha gaya hai ki sach mein Adlerian psychology ko samajhne aur apni zindagi mein badlav lane ke liye, insaan ko "apni zindagi ke jitne saal ho, unka aadha samay" chahiye. Matlab, agar aap forty saal ki umar mein ise seekhna shuru karte hain, toh aapko dusre bees saal chahiye honge, jab tak aap sixti tak naa pohonch jaayein. Agar aap isse twenty saal ki umar mein seekhna shuru karte hain, toh aapko dus saal lagenge, jab tak aap thirty tak naa pohonch jaayein. Aap abhi bhi jawaan ho. Itni jaldi zindagi ke shuruat mein shuru karna ka matlab hai ki aap shayad jaldi badal sakte ho. Is sense mein aap duniya ke adults se aage chal rahe ho. Apne aap ko badalne aur ek naye duniya banane ke liye, ek tarike se aap mujhse bhi aage ho. Galat raaste par jaana ya apna dhyaan bhatakna theek hai. Vertical relationships par nirbhar mat raho ya nafrat ke darr se mat ghabraao, bas apna raasta khulke aage badhao. Agar saare adults dekh paate ki jawaan log unse aage badh rahe hain, toh mujhe lagta hai ki duniya mein bade tabdeeli aayi hoti.

YOUTH: Main aap se aage badh raha hoon?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, aap sach mein aage badh rahe ho. Hum dono ek hi zameen par chal rahe hain, aur aap mujhse aage badh rahe ho.

YOUTH: Ha-ha. Aap pehli baar kisi ne yeh kaha hai, jo mere liye apne bete ke umra ka ho.

Workaholism Is a Life-Lie

YOUTH: Thik hai. Main yeh maan leta hoon ke mujhe apne aap ko accept karne ya doosron par trust karne ka hosla nahi hai. Lekin kya yeh sirf "main" ki galti hai? Kya yeh sach mein doosron ke wajah se nahi ho raha, jo bina wajah mujhe ilzaam lagate hain aur mere par attack karte hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul, har insaan duniya mein accha aur virtuous nahi hota. Insaan apni interpersonal relations mein kai unpleasant experiences se guzarta hai. Lekin ek baat jo galat nahi honi chahiye, woh yeh hai: har baar jab koi insaan aap par attack karta hai, toh woh insaan hi problem mein hota hai, aur yeh bilkul nahi hai ki sab log bure hote hain. Jo log neurotic lifestyle jeete hain, unke speech mein aise shabdon ka use hota hai jaise "sab log" aur "hamesha" aur "sab kuch". "Sab mujhe nafrat karte hain," ya "Hamesha mujhe hi nuksan hota hai," ya "Sab kuch galat hai." Agar aapko lagta hai ke aap bhi aise generalizing statements use karte hain, toh aapko thoda savdhaan rehna chahiye.

YOUTH: Haan, yeh kuch familiar lag raha hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Adlerian psychology ke hisaab se, hum is lifestyle ko "harmony of life" ki kami wala lifestyle kehte hain. Yeh ek aise jeene ka tareeka hai jismein insaan sirf ek hissa dekh kar puri cheez ka judgment bana leta hai.

YOUTH: Harmony of life?

PHILOSOPHER: Judaism ki teachings mein ek kahani milti hai: "Agar das log hain, toh unmein se ek insaan aisa hoga jo chahe jo bhi karo, tumhe criticize karega. Woh tumhe nafrat karega, aur tum bhi usse pyaar nahi kar paoge. Fir, do log aise honge jo tumhe puri tarah accept karenge aur tum bhi unhe accept karoge, aur tum dono achhe dost ban jaoge. Baaki ke saat log in dono types mein se nahi honge." Ab, kya tum us ek insaan par dhyaan doge jo tumse nafrat karta hai? Kya tum un do logon par zyada dhyaan doge jo tumhe pyaar karte hain? Ya tum uss bheed par dhyaan doge, jo baaki ke saat log hain? Jo insaan "harmony of life" ki kami rakhta hai, woh sirf us insaan ko dekhega jo usse nafrat karta hai aur usse duniya ka puri tarah se judgment bana lega.

YOUTH: Dilchasp.

PHILOSOPHER: Kuch samay pehle, maine ek workshop mein hissa liya tha jahan log jo stammer karte hain aur unke parivaar ke liye discussion ho rahi thi. Kya tumhe kisi aise insaan ka pata hai jo stammer karta ho?

YOUTH: Haan, mere school mein ek student tha jo stutter karta tha. Yeh sach mein mushkil hoga, dono us insaan ke liye aur uske parivaar ke liye bhi.

PHILOSOPHER: Stammering ko handle karna itna mushkil kyun hota hai? Adlerian psychology ke hisaab se, jo log stammering se pareshan hote hain, woh apne bolne ke tareeke ke baare mein hi zyada sochne lagte hain, aur unmein inferior hone ki feeling hoti hai aur apne jeevan ko unbearable samajhte hain. Isliye woh zyada self-conscious ho jaate hain aur apne shabdon ko baar-baar chhupane ki koshish karte hain.

YOUTH: Woh sirf apne tareeke par kyun focus karte hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Aise kaafi kam log hote hain jo kabhi kabhi kisi ko apne shabdon mein galti karte dekhe toh hansne ya uska mazaak udane lagte hain. Jaise maine abhi kaha, yeh zyada se zyada ek insaan mein hi hota hai. Agar aise foolish insaan ka samna ho, toh behtar hai uss rishta ko tod dena. Lekin agar aap harmony of life se door hain, toh aap sirf uss ek insaan par focus karenge aur sochenge, "Sab mujhe dekh kar hans rahe hain."

YOUTH: Par yeh toh bas insaaniyat ka ek hissa hai!

PHILOSOPHER: Mere paas ek reading group hai jo regular basis par milta hai, aur unmein se ek participant ko stammer hota hai. Kabhi-kabhi jab uska turn aata hai padhne ka, toh thoda ruk jaata hai. Lekin wahan kisi bhi insaan ne kabhi uska mazaak nahi udhaya. Sab log chup-chaap baith kar intezaar karte hain, bilkul naturally, jab tak uske next words nahi aate. Main yakin se keh sakta hoon ki yeh phenomenon sirf meri reading group tak hi seemit nahi hai. Jab kisi ki interpersonal relations theek se nahi chalti, toh yeh blame stammering ya blush hone ya kisi aur chhoti si baat par nahi daala jaa sakta. Sach yeh hai ki yeh problem self-acceptance aur doosron par trust karne ki kami hai. Agar aap sirf ek chhoti si baat par focus kar rahe hain, jo itni zyada mahatvapurn nahi hai, aur usse apne pure duniya ke baare mein judgment bana rahe hain, toh yeh ek galat lifestyle hai jo harmony of life ki kami se bhara hua hai.

YOUTH: Kya aapne sach mein yeh itni kathor baat stammer karne walon ko samjhai thi?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Shuru mein kuch negative reactions the, lekin teen din ke workshop ke ant tak, sab log is baat se puri tarah sehamat ho gaye the.

YOUTH: Yeh sach mein ek dilchasp argument hai. Lekin jo log stammering se pareshan hain, un par focus karna kaafi khaas example lagta hai. Kya aap mujhe koi aur example de sakte hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, ek aur example ho sakta hai workaholic. Yeh bhi ek aise insaan ka example hai jo clearly "harmony of life" ki kami rakhta hai.

YOUTH: Workaholic kaise? Kya yeh?

PHILOSOPHER: Jo log stammering se pareshan hote hain, woh sirf ek hisse ko dekh kar puri cheez ka judgment bana lete hain. Workaholics mein, पूरी जिंदगी का focus sirf ek specific cheez par होता है। Woh shayad yeh justify karne की कोशिश करते हैं, "Kaam kaafi zyada hai, isliye main apni family ke baare mein sochne का time nahi nikal pata." Lekin yeh ek life-lie है। Woh bas apni doosri zimmedariyon से bachne के liye kaam को excuse बना रहे हैं। Insaan को अपनी जिंदगी के हर पहलु पर dhyaan dena chahiye, जैसे घर का काम, bachchon की देखभाल, dosti aur hobbies aur aur bhi kai cheezen. Adler aise jeene के tareekon को nahi maanta jismein kuch aspects zyada dominant ho.

YOUTH: Ah... Yeh bilkul waise hi tha जैसे मेरा father था। Bas, ek workaholic banana, काम में doob jana, aur results lana. Phir apne family पर hukumat karna, kyunki woh breadwinner था। Woh kaafi feudalistic insaan था।

PHILOSOPHER: Ek tarah से, yeh ek aise lifestyle का hissa hai जो अपनी जिंदगी के tasks को accept nahi karta. "Kaam" का matlab sirf company में job karna nahi है। घर का काम, bachon की देखभाल, local society में contribute karna, hobbies, aur kai aur cheezen bhi काम हैं। Companies aur aise cheezein toh bas ek chhota hissa हैं। Aise jeene का tareeka jismein sirf company का काम ही पहलु हो, woh "harmony of life" की kami rakhta है।

YOUTH: Bilkul waise hi है! Aur yeh bhi nahi है कि woh family, जो usne support की, unka is बात पर कोई हाक था। Tum apne father से argue nahi kar sakte jab woh gusse में के रहे हो, "Yeh jo khaana tumhare table पर है, woh sirf meri wajah से है।"

PHILOSOPHER: Aise father ने अपनी worth को शायद sirf apne kaamon के level पर ही पहचाना होगा। Woh itne ghante काम करता है, family को support karne के liye paise lata है, aur society में पहचाना जाता है—aur is basis पर woh apne aap को अपनी family के doosre members से zyada valuable samajhta है। Lekin hummein से हर एक insaan के liye, ek aisa waqt aata है जब insaan apne role को sirf provider के roop में nahi samajh sakta. Jab insaan budha होता है aur retirement age तक pahuchta है, tab usse apne pension या apne bachon से support lena padta है। Jab insaan jawaan होता है, toh chot ya health issues की wajah से bhi woh काम nahi kar paata. Aise waqton में, जो लोग अपनी worth को sirf kaamon के level पर dekhte हैं, woh kaafi damage हो जाते हैं।

YOUTH: Aapka matlab है उन लोगों से जो अपने lifestyle को काम तक ही seemit करते हैं?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Woh log jinke jeene का tareeka "harmony of life" से door है।

YOUTH: Toh aise में, लगता है कि अब मैं samajhne लगा हूँ कि आप जो "level of being" के बारे में बात कर रहे थे, woh क्या है। Aur sach में मैंने is बात पर kabhi dhyaan nahi diya tha ki kabhi na kabhi mujhe kaam nahi kar paane ki situation ka samna karna padega, ya koi bhi kaam karne ki ability nahi rahegi.

PHILOSOPHER: Kya insaan apne aap ko kaam ke level par accept karta hai, ya phir apne being ke level par? Yeh sach mein ek sawal hai jo khushi ke liye zaroori himmat se juda hai.

You Can Be Happy Now

YOUTH: Khushi hone ki himmat. Toh, yeh kaise himmat honi chahiye, yeh bataiye.

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, yeh ek zaroori baat hai.

YOUTH: Aap kehte hain ki sabhi problems interpersonal relationship problems hote hain. Phir aap yeh bhi kehte hain ki humari khushi bhi humare interpersonal relations mein milti hai. Lekin mujhe yeh aspects accept karna kaafi mushkil lagta hai. Kya jo insaan khushi kehte hain, woh bas humare acche interpersonal relations mein hi hai? Matlab, kya hamari zindagi bas itni si sukoon aur khushi ke liye exist karti hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Main aapke jo issues hain unhe samajh sakta hoon. Jab maine pehli baar Adlerian psychology par ek lecture attend kiya tha, toh us lecture mein Oscar Christensen, jo Adler ke ek disciple ke follower the, unhone yeh baat kahi thi: "Jo log aaj meri baat sun rahe hain, woh abhi, isi pal khush ho sakte hain. Lekin jo nahi sun rahe, woh kabhi bhi khush nahi ho sakte."

YOUTH: Wah! Yeh toh seedha con man ka dialogue laga. Aap yeh nahi keh rahe ki aap is baat ko maane the, hai na?

PHILOSOPHER: Khushi insaan ke liye kya hoti hai? Yeh ek aisa topic hai jo ancient times se philosophy ka hissa raha hai. Main hamesha psychology ko ek philosophy ka hissa samajhta tha, aur isliye mujhe psychology ke baare mein zyada interest nahi tha. Toh yeh philosophy ke student ke roop mein tha, maine apni tarah se yeh sawal kiya: Khushi kya hai? Main yeh nahi keh sakta ki jab maine Christensen ki baat suni, tab mujhe thoda hesitation mehsoos nahi hua. Lekin jab maine yeh hesitation mehsoos kiya, tab mujhe ek baat samajh aayi. Main khushi ke asli nature par kaafi soch chuka tha. Maine jawab dhoondhe the. Lekin maine yeh sawal itni gehraai se nahi kiya tha: Kaise khush ho sakte hain? Tab mujhe yeh laga ki main philosophy ka student hone ke bawajood, shayad main khush nahi hoon.

YOUTH: Samajh gaya. Toh aapka pehla encounter Adlerian psychology se thoda incongruous (incongruent) tha?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul.

YOUTH: Toh, mujhe yeh batayein: Kya aap aakhir kar khush ho gaye?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan.

YOUTH: Aap itna kaise sure ho sakte hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Ek insaan ke liye sabse bada unhappiness yeh hai ki woh apne aap ko pasand nahi kar pata. Adler ne is reality ko address karne ke liye ek kaafi simple jawab diya. Woh yeh tha: "Main community ke liye faayda mand hoon" ya "Main kisi ke liye useful hoon," yeh hi ek aisa cheez hai jo insaan ko apni worth ka asli ehsaas de sakti hai.

YOUTH: Aapka matlab hai yeh jo "contribution to others" aapne pehle bataya tha?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Aur yeh ek zaroori baat hai: Jab hum dusron ko contribute karne ki baat karte hain, toh yeh zaroori nahi hai ki yeh contribution visible ho.

YOUTH: Yeh zaroori nahi hai ki yeh contribution visible ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Aap yeh decide nahi karte ki aapka contribution useful hai ya nahi. Yeh doosre logon ka kaam hai, aur yeh aapke intervention ka issue nahi hai. Principle ke hisaab se, aap yeh kabhi nahi jaan sakte ki aapne sach mein contribution kiya hai ya nahi. Matlab yeh hai ki jab hum dusron ko contribute kar rahe hote hain, toh yeh zaroori nahi hai ki woh contribution visible ho—humare paas bas ek subjective feeling honi chahiye ki "Main kisi ke liye useful hoon," ya dusre shabdon mein, ek feeling of contribution.

YOUTH: Thoda ruk jaiye! Agar yeh baat hai, toh jo aap khushi keh rahe hain, woh...

PHILOSOPHER: Kya ab aap samajh rahe hain? Ek shabd mein, khushi hai contribution ka ehsaas. Yeh hai khushi ka definition.

YOUTH: Lekin... Lekin yeh...

PHILOSOPHER: Kya kuch galat hai?

YOUTH: Aise simple definition ko toh main bilkul accept nahi kar sakta. Dekho, jo aapne pehle kaha tha, main woh bhool raha hoon nahi. Aapne kaha tha ki chahe kaam ke level par koi kisi ke kaam na aaye, par being ke level par har insaan kaam ka hai. Lekin agar yeh sach hai, toh aapke logic ke hisaab se, saare insaan khush honge!

PHILOSOPHER: Saare insaan khush ho sakte hain. Lekin yeh samajhna zaroori hai ki iska matlab yeh nahi ki saare insaan khush hain. Chahe woh acts ke level par ho ya being ke level par, har insaan ko yeh mehsoos karna padta hai ki woh kisi ke kaam aa raha hai. Matlab, insaan ko contribution ka ehsaas hona zaroori hai.

YOUTH: Toh aap keh rahe hain ki jo main khush nahi hoon, uska reason yeh hai ki mujhe contribution ka ehsaas nahi hota?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, yeh sahi hai.

YOUTH: Toh main contribution ka ehसास कैसे पा सकता हूँ? काम करके? Volunteering activities से?

PHILOSOPHER: पहले हमने recognition की चाह के बारे में बात की थी. मेरे ये कहने पर की recognition के लिये मत भागो, आपने कहा था की recognition की चाह एक universal चाह है.

YOUTH: हाँ, मैंने ये कहा था. लेकिन सच में, मैं अभी भी इस point पर पूरी तरह से सURE नहीं हूँ.

PHILOSOPHER: लेकिन मुझे पूरा यaqeen है की जो लोग recognition चाहते हैं, उनका reason अब आपको समझ आगया होगा. लोग खुद को पसंद करना चाहते हैं. वो ये महसूस करना चाहते हैं की उनकी worth है. और इस feeling को पाने के लिये, वो contribution का ehसास चाहते हैं, जो उन्हें ये बताये की "मैं किसी के काम आ रहा हूँ." और इस contribution का ehसास पाने के लिये वो दूसरों से recognition चाहते हैं.

YOUTH: तो आप कह रहे हैं की recognition की चाह एक ऐसा तरीका है जो contribution का ehसास पाने के लिये है?

PHILOSOPHER: क्या ये सच नहीं है?

YOUTH: बिल्कुल नहीं. ये तो सब कुछ जो आप अब तक कह चुके हो, उसे उल्टा है. क्या दूसरों से recognition पाना contribution का ehसास पाने का तरीका नहीं होना चाहिये? और फिर आप कह रहे हैं, "खुशी है contribution का ehसास." अगर ऐसा है, तो फिर recognition की चाह पूरा करना तो directly खुशी से जुड़ा हुआ है, है ना? हा-हा! आखिरकार, आपने recognition की चाह की ज़रूरत को accept कर ही लिया!

PHILOSOPHER: आप एक important बात भूल रहे हैं. अगर आपका contribution का ehसास पाने का तरीका "दूसरों से पहचान मिलना" बन जाता है, तो लम्बी race में आपको अपनी ज़िंदगी दूसरों के इच्छाओं के हिसाब से चलानी पड़ती है. जो recognition के लिये चाह है, उसमें कोई आज़ादी नहीं है. हम वो ज़ेव हैं जो खुशी की आशा करते हुए आज़ादी को चुनना चाहते हैं.

YOUTH: तो क्या खुशी अभी मिल सकती है जब आज़ादी हो?

PHILOSOPHER: हाँ. आज़ादी का concept country, समय, या culture के हिसाब से अलग हो सकता है. लेकिन हमारे interpersonal relations में आज़ादी universal है.

YOUTH: आप तो recognition की चाह को कभी भी accept नहीं करेंगे, है ना?

PHILOSOPHER: अगर इंसान सच में contribution का ehसास रक्खता हो, तो उसे दूसरों से recognition की कोई ज़रूरत नहीं होती. क्योंकि उसे पहले ही ये असली ehसास हो जाता है की

"Main kisi ke kaam aa raha hoon," bina doosron se pehchaan paane ke liye kuch extra karne ki. Dusre shabdon mein, jo insaan recognition ki chaah se chhaya hua hai, usse abhi tak community feeling nahi mili hai, na hi usne apne aap ko accept kiya hai, na doosron mein confidence paaya hai, aur na hi doosron ke liye contribution diya hai.

YOUTH: Toh agar kisi ke paas bas community feeling ho, toh kya recognition ki chaah khatam ho jayegi?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, woh khatam ho jayegi. Doosron se recognition ki koi zaroorat nahi hoti.

Philosopher ke points ko is tarah se summarize kiya ja sakta hai: Log tabhi apni worth ko sach mein samajh sakte hain jab unhe yeh mehsoos ho ki "Main kisi ke kaam aa raha hoon." Lekin yeh zaroori nahi ki jo contribution insaan kare, woh visible ho. Bas apne aap ko useful mehsoos karna, yaani contribution ka ek subjective feeling hona zaroori hai. Aur phir philosopher yeh conclusion tak pahuchne ki baat karte hain: Khushi hai contribution ka ehssaas. Yeh sach mein sach ka ek hissa lagta tha. Lekin kya yeh sach mein khushi ka poora definition hai? Agar yeh wahi khushi hai jo main dhoond raha hoon, toh nahi!

Two Paths Traveled by Those Wanting to Be “Special Beings”

YOUTH: Aap abhi tak mere sawaal ka jawab nahi diye. Shayad main dusron ke liye kuch kar ke apne aap ko pasand karna seekh sakoon. Shayad main yeh mehsoos kar sakoon ki meri worth hai, ki main ek bekaar insaan nahi hoon. Lekin kya yeh sab kuch hai jo ek insaan ko khushi ke liye chahiye? Jab main is duniya mein aaya hoon, toh mujhe lagta hai ki jab tak main koi aisa bada kaam nahi kar leta jo aane wali naslon ko yaad rahe, jab tak main apne aap ko is tarah se nahi sabit kar leta, "Main jo hoon, wahi hoon," tab tak main asli khushi nahi paa sakta. Aap sab kuch interpersonal relations ke andar hi rakhne ki koshish kar rahe hain bina self-realizing happiness ke baare mein kuch kehne ke. Agar aap mujhse puchhein, toh yeh kuch aur nahi, bas bhaag jaana hai!

PHILOSOPHER: Main sach mein samajh nahi pa raha ki aap “self-realizing happiness” se kya matlab rakhte hain. Aap kis baat ki taraf ishara kar rahe hain?

YOUTH: Yeh har insaan ke liye alag hota hai. Shayad kuch log samaj mein safalta chahte hain aur kuch log apne personal goals rakhte hain—jaise koi researcher jo ek wonder drug develop karne ki koshish karta hai, ya koi artist jo apne kaam ka ek satisfactory body create karna chahta hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Toh aapke liye yeh kya hai?

YOUTH: Main abhi bhi yeh nahi jaanta ki main kya dhoond raha hoon ya aane wale samay mein kya karunga. Lekin yeh jaanta hoon ki mujhe kuch na kuch karna padega. Main apni zindagi ka baaki hissa ek university library mein kaam karte hue nahi guzar sakta. Jab main apna sapna dhoondunga jisme apni zindagi laga sakoon, aur jab main apne aap ko realize karunga, tabhi main asli khushi mehsoos karunga. Mere pita aise insaan the jo din raat apne kaam mein dooba rehte the, aur mujhe yeh nahi pata ki unhe yeh khushi thi ya nahi. Lekin meri nazron mein, kam se kam, woh hamesha vyast dikhte the aur kabhi khush nahi. Main aisi zindagi nahi jeena chahta.

PHILOSOPHER: Accha. Agar is point ko hum un bachon ke example se samajhne ki koshish karein jo problem behavior mein involved hote hain, toh shayad aapko samajhne mein asani ho.

YOUTH: Problem behavior?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, bilkul. Sabse pehle, hum insaanon mein ek universal desire hoti hai jise "pursuit of superiority" kaha jata hai. Kya aapko humare is discussion ka yaad hai?

YOUTH: Haan. Seedha seedha, yeh ek term hai jo "apne aap ko sudharne ki aasha" aur "ek ideal state ko dhoondhne" ko darshata hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Bahut saare bachche jo apne shuruati dino mein hote hain, woh khas taur pe achha hone ki koshish karte hain. Khaas taur par, woh apne mata-pita ki baat maante hain, samajik taur par swikrit tareeke se apne aap ko vyavhaar karte hain, apne padhai aur khel kud mein mehnat karte hain, aur extracurricular activities mein bhi achha karte hain. Is tarah se, woh apne mata-pita se recognition chahte hain. Lekin jab achha hone se kaam nahi banta—unki padhai ya khel kud achhe nahi ja rahe, for example—woh apni approach badalte hain aur bura hone ki koshish karte hain.

YOUTH: Woh aisa kyun karte hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Chahe woh especially achha hone ki koshish kar rahe ho, ya especially bura hone ki koshish kar rahe ho, unka goal wahi hai: doosron ka dhyaan apne upar kheenchna, "normal" condition se bahar nikalna aur "special being" banne ki koshish karna. Yeh unka bas ek hi goal hota hai.

YOUTH: Hmm. Samajh gaya. Kripya aage badhein.

PHILOSOPHER: Har haal mein, chahe woh padhai ho ya khel kud mein bhagidaari, dono hi cases mein, agar koi vyakti koi bhi mahatvapurn parinaam chahta hai, toh usse lagataar mehnat karni padti hai. Lekin jo bachche khas taur par bura hone ki koshish karte hain—yaani jo problem behavior mein involved hote hain—woh doosron ka dhyaan kheenchne ki koshish kar rahe hote hain, jabki woh kisi bhi sehatmand mehnat se bach rahe hote hain. Adlerian psychology mein ise "pursuit of easy superiority" kaha jata hai. Udaharan ke liye, woh problem child jo padhayi ko disrupt karta hai, erasers uchhal kar ya zor se bol kar. Woh apne doston aur teachers ka dhyaan zaroor kheench lega. Chahe yeh sirf wahan tak hi simit ho, woh shayad ek special being banne mein safal ho jayega. Lekin yeh ek pursuit of easy superiority hai, aur yeh ek unhealthy attitude hai.

YOUTH: Toh jo bachche badmaashi karte hain, woh bhi easy superiority ke peeche hain?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, bilkul. Har tarah ka problem behavior, jaise school na jaana, wrist cutting, underage drinking, smoking, aur is tarah ki cheezein, yeh sab easy superiority ka peeche karne ke tareeke hain. Aur jo aapka shut-in friend tha, jiske baare mein aapne mujhe shuruat mein bataya tha, woh bhi is mein involved hai. Jab ek bachcha problem behavior karta hai, toh uske mata-pita aur dusre adults usse daant-te hain. Aur sabse zyada, daantna hi bachche par stress daalta hai. Lekin chahe yeh daant bhi ho, bachcha apne mata-pita ka dhyaan chahta hai. Woh ek special being banna chahta hai, aur jo dhyaan milta hai, woh usse farq nahi padta. Toh ek tarah se, yeh bilkul natural hai ki woh problem behavior karte rahenge, chahe woh kitni bhi kathorta se daanthe jaayein.

YOUTH: Kya unhi daanton ki wajah se woh apna problem behavior nahi rokhte?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Kyunki mata-pita aur dusre adults unhe daant ke zariye dhyaan de rahe hote hain.

YOUTH: Lekin pehle aapne kaha tha ki problem behavior ka goal parents se badla lena hota hai, hai na? Kya yeh isse kisi tarah joda hua hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. "Badla" aur "pursuit of easy superiority" aapas mein asaani se judte hain. Ek vyakti doosre insaan ko pareshani mein daal kar, saath hi saath apne aap ko "special" banane ki koshish karta hai.

The Courage to Be Normal

YOUTH: Lekin kaise... ? Yeh toh impossible hai ki saare insaan khaas achhe ho, ya kuch aisa ho, hai na? Chahe jo ho, har insaan ke apne taqat aur kamzori hote hain, aur hamesha antar rahenge. Duniya mein bas kuch hi genius hote hain, aur sabhi ko honors student banne ka mann nahi hota. Toh un sabhi losers ke liye, kya hai jo special hone ke alawa kuch aur kar sakein, bas wo khaas bura hi ho sakte hain.

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, yeh woh Socratic paradox hai, ki koi bhi burai nahi chahta. Kyunki jo bachche problem behavior mein involved hote hain, unke liye, yeh bhi "achha" hai—hatya aur chori jaise violent acts bhi.

YOUTH: Par yeh toh bhayankar hai! Yeh ek aisi soch hai jisme koi raasta nahi hai!

PHILOSOPHER: Adlerian psychology iss waqt jo cheez emphasize karti hai, woh hai "the courage to be normal."

YOUTH: The courage to be normal?

PHILOSOPHER: Kyun zaroori hai special hona? Shayad isliye, kyunki apne aap ko normal accept kar pana mushkil hota hai. Aur isi wajah se jab khaas achha hone ki koshish fail ho jati hai, toh insaan asaani se khaas bura hone ki taraf bhi chala jata hai—bilkul opposite extreme. Par kya normal hona, yaani ordinary hona, sach mein itna bura hai? Kya yeh kisi tarah se neech hai? Ya sach mein, har insaan normal nahi hai? Is soch ko apni logical conclusion tak sochna zaroori hai.

YOUTH: Toh kya aap keh rahe hain ki mujhe normal hona chahiye?

PHILOSOPHER: Self-acceptance pehla aur zaroori kadam hai. Agar aapko normal hone ka hausla mil jata hai, toh duniya ko dekhne ka aapka tareeka bohot badal jayega.

YOUTH: Lekin...

PHILOSOPHER: Aap shayad normal hone ko isliye reject kar rahe hain, kyunki aap isse incapable hone se jodte hain. Normal hona ka matlab incapable hona nahi hai. Kisi ko apni superiority ko flaunt karne ki zarurat nahi hoti.

YOUTH: Thik hai, main samajhta hoon ki special hone ka iraada rakhna dangerous hai. Lekin kya sach mein kisi ko jaan-bujhkar normal hone ka faisla karna zaroori hai? Agar main apni zindagi bas itni hi safai se guzaaroon, agar main ek bekar zindagi jee raha hoon jisme meri koi yaad ya record nahi rahe, toh kya mujhe bas apni zindagi se khush rehna chahiye, kyunki main wahi insaan hoon jo hoon? Aap mazaak kar rahe hain. Main aise jeene ki zindagi turant chhod dunga!

PHILOSOPHER: Aapko special banna hai, chahe jo ho?

YOUTH: Nahi! Dekho, jo aap "normal" kehte ho usse accept karne ka matlab hai apni bekaar apni ko affirm karna! Yeh bas kehna hoga, "Yeh hi meri kshamata hai aur bas." Main aise bekaar zindagi ko accept nahi kar sakta. Kya aapko lagta hai Napoleon ya Alexander the Great ya Einstein ya Martin Luther King ne "normal" accept kiya? Aur Socrates aur Plato ke baare mein? Kabhi nahi! Shayad unhone apni zindagi kisi bade ideal ya objective ko apnate hue jeeti. Ek aur Napoleon kabhi aapke is tareeke se nahi aa sakta. Aap toh geniuses ko duniya se hata dena chahte hain!

PHILOSOPHER: Toh aap jo keh rahe hain, woh yeh hai ki zindagi mein uncha goal hona chahiye.

YOUTH: Par yeh toh obvious hai!

"Normal hone ka hausla" — yeh sach mein kitna bhayankar hai. Kya Adler aur yeh philosopher mujhse aise raste ko apnane ko keh rahe hain? Kya apni zindagi bas ek aur bekaar rooh ki tarah jeena, jo bilkul ordinary ho, face less ho? Main koi genius nahi hoon, bilkul. Shayad "normal" hi mera bas ek option hai. Shayad mujhe bas apne bekar apni ko accept karna hoga aur bekar, rozmarra ki zindagi jeeni hogi. Lekin main iska virodh karunga. Jo bhi ho, main iss aadmi ka virodh karunga. Hum lagta hai ki ab hum apni baat ke maqsad tak pohchne wale hain. Us yuva ka dil tez dhadak raha tha, aur thand ke bawajood uske kaste huye haath paseene se chamak rahe the.

Life Is a Series of Moments

PHILOSOPHER: Thik hai. Jab aap unche goals ki baat karte ho, toh mujhe lagta hai ki aapke dimaag mein ek aise pahad par chadhne wale chadhai ka image hoga, jisme aap upar pahuchne ki koshish kar rahe ho.

YOUTH: Haan, bilkul. Log, main khud bhi, pahad ki unchai tak pahuchne ka lakshya rakhte hain.

PHILOSOPHER: Par agar zindagi ek pahad chadhne jaise hoti, jisme aapko unchai tak pahuchna hota, toh zindagi ka ek bada hissa "raaste mein" hota. Matlab, aapki "real zindagi" tab shuru hoti jab aap pahad par chadhai kar rahe hote, aur jo distance aap ab tak tay kar chuke ho, woh ek "tentative life" hai jisme aap ek "tentative mein" ho.

YOUTH: Shayad, yeh ek tareeka hai isse samjhane ka. Abhi jo main hoon, main definitely ek "raaste mein" wala insaan hoon.

PHILOSOPHER: Ab, maan lijiye ki aap unchai tak nahi pahuchte, toh uska aapki zindagi par kya asar padega? Accidents, bimariyan, aur aise chhoti-chhoti cheezon se log hamesha apni manzil tak nahi pahuchte, aur pahad chadhai khud mein bahut mushkil hai aur aksar fail bhi ho jata hai. Toh insaan ki zindagi raaste mein hi ruk jayegi, jahan ek "tentative mein" apni "tentative life" jee raha hoga. Aise mein zindagi kaisi hogi?

YOUTH: Woh... yeh toh bas meri saza hogi. Matlab, main itna capable nahi tha, ya meri physical strength nahi thi pahad chadhne ki, ya main lucky nahi tha, ya mujhe skill nahi thi—bas! Haan, yeh woh reality hai jo main accept karne ke liye tayar hoon.

PHILOSOPHER: Adlerian psychology isse alag nazariye se dekhti hai. Jo log zindagi ko ek pahad chadhai jaise samajhte hain, wo apni zindagi ko ek line ke roop mein dekh rahe hote hain. Jaise ek line hoti hai jo tab shuru hoti hai jab insaan duniya mein aata hai, aur wo kai sizes ke curves ke saath chalti hai, jab tak wo summit tak nahi pahuchti, aur phir antim roop se apna ant paati hai, jo ki maut hai. Yeh soch, jo zindagi ko ek kahani ki tarah treat karti hai, woh Freudian etiology (causes ka attribution) se juda hota hai, aur yeh soch zindagi ke zyada hisse ko "raaste mein" bana deti hai.

YOUTH: Toh phir aapki zindagi ka image kya hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Zindagi ko line ke roop mein mat dekho. Zindagi ko dots ke series ki tarah dekho. Agar aap chalk se banayi gayi solid line ko magnifying glass se dekhenge, toh aap payenge ki jo aapne line sochi thi, woh asal mein chhoti-chhoti dots ka ek series hai. Jo seemingly linear existence lagti hai, woh asal mein dots ka ek series hai; dusre shabdon mein, zindagi ek series hai moments ki.

YOUTH: Moments ki ek series?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Yeh moments ki ek series hai, jo hum "abhi" kehte hain. Hum apni zindagi bas yahin aur abhi jee sakte hain. Hamari zindagi sirf moments mein hoti hai. Jo bade log isse nahi samajhte, wo young logon par "linear" zindagi impose karne ki koshish karte hain. Unka sochna hota hai ki conventional track pe chalna—achha university, badi company, stable household—yahi ek khushhaal zindagi hai. Par zindagi na toh lines se banti hai, aur na kuch aur.

YOUTH: Toh zindagi ka planning ya career planning karne ki zaroorat nahi hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Agar zindagi ek line hoti, toh life planning mumkin hoti. Par hamari zindagi toh dots ki ek series hai. Achi tarah se plan ki hui zindagi ko zaroori ya zaroori nahi hone ke roop mein treat nahi kiya ja sakta, kyunki woh mumkin nahi hai.

YOUTH: Arey yeh kya bakwaas hai! Kitni ajeeb baat hai!

Live Like You're Dancing

PHILOSOPHER: Isme kya galat hai?

YOUTH: Aapka argument sirf life mein plans banane ko hi nahi, balki mehnat karne ko bhi inkaar karta hai. Jaise, ek insaan jo bachpan se violinist banne ka sapna dekhta tha, aur kai saal ki kathin training ke baad, aakhirkar ek mashhoor orchestra ka hissa ban gaya. Ya ek aur zindagi, jisme intensive studies ke baad bar exam pass karke lawyer bana. In dono zindagiyan ko bina objectives aur plans ke mumkin nahi kiya ja sakta.

PHILOSOPHER: Toh, doosre shabdon mein, jaise pahad chadhne wale apni manzil tak pahuchne ki koshish karte hain, waise unhone apne raste par mehnat ki?

YOUTH: Bilkul!

PHILOSOPHER: Par kya sach mein aisa hai? Kya yeh log apni zindagi ke har ek lamhe ko yahaan aur abhi jee rahe the? Matlab, unki zindagi "raaste mein" nahi thi, woh hamesha yahaan aur abhi jee rahe the. Maan lijiye, jo insaan violinist banna chahta tha, woh hamesha music pieces dekhta aur har ek note aur measure par concentrate karta.

YOUTH: Kya woh apne objectives aise hi achieve kar paate?

PHILOSOPHER: Is tarah sochiye: Zindagi moments ka ek series hai, jise insaan har ek lamha, jaise ki ek dance karte hue, jeeta hai. Aur jab woh apne aas-paas dekhta hai, toh woh samajhta hai, shayad main itna door aa gaya hoon. Jo log violin ka dance karte hue apna safar tay karte hain, unmein kuch log professional musicians ban jaate hain. Jo log bar exam ka dance karte hain, unmein kuch log lawyers ban jaate hain. Jo likhne ka dance karte hain, unmein kuch log authors ban jaate hain. Haan, aisa bhi hota hai ki log puri tarah se alag jagah pahuch jaate hain. Par in zindagiyan ka ant "raaste mein" nahi hota. Yeh bas zaroori hai ki jo dance ho raha ho, woh yahaan aur abhi ka ho.

YOUTH: Toh, kya yahaan aur abhi mein dance karna kaafi hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Dance mein, khud dancing hi goal hota hai, aur koi bhi isse kisi manzil tak pahuchne ke liye nahi kar raha hota. Naturally, yeh ho sakta hai ki dancing karte hue koi manzil tak pahuch jaaye. Kyunki jab aap dance kar rahe ho, aap ek jagah par rukte nahi ho. Par yeh zaroori nahi hai ki koi destination ho.

YOUTH: Aisi zindagi bina destination ke, aise kabhi suna hai kisi ne? Kaun aise bechain zindagi ko maanta, jo har mod par hawa ke saath chalti ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Jo zindagi aap baat kar rahe hain, jo manzil tak pahuchne ki koshish karti hai, use "kinetic (dynamic) life" kaha ja sakta hai. Iske mukable, jo dance ki zindagi main baat kar raha hoon, usse "energeial (actual-active-state) life" kaha ja sakta hai.

YOUTH: Kinetic? Energeial?

PHILOSOPHER: Chaliye, Aristotle ki vyakhya ko samajhte hain. Ordinary motion, jise hum kinesis kehte hain, ka ek starting point aur ek end point hota hai. Agar yeh movement jitna efficient aur jaldi ho sake utna ho, toh wo optimal hota hai. Agar aap express train le sakte hain, toh har stop par rukne wali local train lene ki zarurat nahi hai.

YOUTH: Matlab, agar kisi ka destination lawyer banna hai, toh usse jitni jaldi aur efficient tareeke se wahaan pahuchna ho, utna accha hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Aur jo raasta apnaaya jata hai, usmein jab tak goal nahi pahuchta, tab tak wo incomplete hai. Yeh hai kinetic life.

YOUTH: Kyunki yeh aadha hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Energeia, doosri taraf, ek aisi movement hai jisme "ab jo ban raha hai" wahi "ab tak ban chuka hai."

YOUTH: "Ab jo ban raha hai" wahi "ab tak ban chuka hai"?

PHILOSOPHER: Isse aise samajh sakte hain ki yeh movement hai jisme process ko khud outcome ke roop mein dekha jata hai. Dance is tarah hota hai, aur safar bhi.

YOUTH: Ah, mujhe confusion ho raha hai... Yeh safar ka kya matlab hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Safar ka goal kya hota hai? Maan lijiye, aap Egypt ja rahe hain. Kya aap Great Pyramid of Giza tak jaldi aur efficiently pahuchna chahenge, aur phir sabse chhote rasta se wapas ghar challenge? Isse aap safar nahi keh sakte. Jab tak aap ghar se bahar nahi nikalte, tab tak aap safar pe hain, aur aapke destination tak pahuchne ke har ek pal ko safar ke roop mein dekhna chahiye. Haan, kuch aise circumstances ho sakte hain jo aapko pyramid tak na le jaaye, par iska matlab yeh nahi hai ki aapne safar nahi kiya. Yeh hai energeial life.

YOUTH: Main shayad isse samajh nahi paa raha... Kya aap mountain climbing ko energeial life se nahi jod rahe the? Toh agar aap mountain climbing ko energeial life se jodte hain, toh kya hoga?

PHILOSOPHER: Agar mountain climbing ka goal sirf top tak pahuchna hota, toh wo ek kinetic act hota. Agar hum ise extreme tak le jaayein, toh yeh farq nahi padta ki aap helicopter se mountaintop tak pahuchte hain, wahan 5 minute rukte hain, aur phir helicopter se wapas aa jaate hain. Agar aap mountaintop tak nahi pahuch paaye, toh yeh expedition ek failure mana jaayega. Lekin agar goal khud mountain climbing hai, na ki sirf top tak pahuchna, toh ise energetic life kaha jaa sakta hai. Isme akhirkar yeh farq nahi padta ki aap mountaintop tak pahuchte hain ya nahi.

YOUTH: Yeh argument bilkul ridiculous hai! Aapne apne hi logic mein pura contradiction kar diya hai. Puri duniya ke saamne apni beizzati se bachne se pehle, main aapke shameless nonsense ko ek baar aur sab ke samne rakhunga.

PHILOSOPHER: Oh, main aapka shukriya ada karunga.

Shine a Light on the Here and Now

YOUTH: Dekhiye, aapne etiology ko refute karte hue, aapne past par focus karne se mana kiya. Aapne kaha ki past exist nahi karta, aur uska koi matlab nahi hai. Main in baaton ko maanta hoon. Yeh sach hai ki hum past ko badal nahi sakte. Agar kuch badla ja sakta hai, toh wo future hai. Lekin ab, is energetic tareeke se jeene ki baat karte hue, aap planning ko bhi refute kar rahe hain; yeh matlab ki aap apne future ko apni ichcha se badalne se bhi mana kar rahe hain. Toh jab aap past dekhne ko mana kar rahe hain, toh aap future dekhne ko bhi mana kar rahe hain. Yeh aise lagta hai jaise aap mujhe keh rahe ho ki bas aankhon band karke bina raste ke raste par chalu ho jao.

PHILOSOPHER: Aap na to peeche dekh sakte hain, na aage dekh sakte hain?

YOUTH: Haan, bilkul! Main nahi dekh sakta!

PHILOSOPHER: Kya yeh natural nahi hai? Kahan problem hai?

YOUTH: Kya? Aap kya keh rahe ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Maan lijiye, aap ek theater stage par khade hain. Agar house lights on hain, toh aap shaayad hall ke pichle hissa tak dekh sakte hain. Lekin agar aap bright spotlight ke neeche hain, toh aap aage ke row ko bhi nahi dekh paayenge. Bilkul waise hi humari zindagi hai. Hum apni puri zindagi par ek dheemi roshni daalte hain, isliye hum past aur future ko dekh paate hain. Ya kam se kam hum samajhte hain ki hum dekh rahe hain. Lekin agar hum apni zindagi ko yahan aur ab ke liye bright spotlight ke saath jeete hain, toh na past ko dekh paayenge, na future ko.

YOUTH: Bright spotlight?

PHILOSOPHER: Haan. Humein sirf yahan aur ab mein sachche tareeke se jeena chahiye. Jo aap samajhte ho ki aap past ko dekh rahe ho, ya future ko predict kar rahe ho, wo is baat ka saboot hai ki aap yahan aur ab ko sachche tareeke se nahi jee rahe ho, aap ek dheemi twilight mein jee rahe ho. Zindagi ek series hai moments ki, aur na past exist karta hai, na future. Aap apne aap ko past aur future par focus karke apne aap ko bahar nikaalne ki koshish kar rahe ho. Jo past mein hua, wo aapke yahan aur ab se kuch bhi lena dena nahi rakhta, aur jo future ho sakta hai, wo bhi yahan aur ab sochne ka maamla nahi hai. Agar aap yahan aur ab mein sachche tareeke se jeetey hain, toh aap aise cheezon ki chinta nahi karenge.

YOUTH: Par...

PHILOSOPHER: Jab aap Freudian etiology ki nazar se zindagi dekhte hain, toh aap zindagi ko ek bade kahani ki tarah dekhte hain, jo cause aur effect par based hoti hai. Toh fir yeh sab kuch hai ki main kahaan aur kab paida hua, meri bachpan kaisa tha, kaunse school mein gaya, aur kis company mein kaam kiya. Aur yeh decide karta hai ki main kaun hoon ab aur main kaun banunga. Yeh sach hai ki apni zindagi ko kahani se compare karna shayad ek entertaining kaam ho. Lekin problem yeh hai ki aap kahani ke end tak dim light dekh rahe ho. Aur phir aap apni zindagi ko usi kahani ke hisaab se jeene ki koshish karte hain. Aur phir aap kehte hain, "Meri zindagi aisi hai, toh mujhe yeh tareeka jeena padega, aur yeh mere karan nahi hai—yeh mera past hai, yeh meri environment hai," aur aise aur. Lekin past ko laana bas ek bahana hai, ek life-lie. Lekin zindagi ek series hai dots ki, ek series hai moments ki. Agar aap yeh samajh paate hain, toh aapko kahani ki zarurat nahi hogi.

YOUTH: Agar aap is tarah se samjhaate hain, toh Adler jo lifestyle bata rahe hain, wo bhi ek kahani hai.

PHILOSOPHER: Lifestyle yeh hai ki aap yahan aur ab mein jeeyenge, aur yeh aap apni ichcha se badal sakte hain. Jo past ki zindagi ek straight line ki tarah lagti hai, wo aapke dwara lagataar resolutions lene ki wajah se aise dikhayi deti hai, taki aap badalne se bach sakein. Jo zindagi aapke saamne hai, wo ek bilkul khaali page hai, aur koi raasta nahi bana hua jo aapko follow karna ho. Wahan koi kahani nahi hai.

YOUTH: Par yeh toh bas pal mein jeena hai. Ya aur bhi bura, ek buray hedonism ka roop!

PHILOSOPHER: Nahi. Yahan aur ab par ek spotlight daalna matlab hai apni abhi ki samay mein jo kar sakte ho, usse sachche aur conscientiously tareeke se karna.

The Greatest Life-Lie

YOUTH: Kya sach mein imandari se aur puri lagan ke saath jeena hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Jaise, agar koi university mein admission lena chahta hai lekin padhai karne ki koi koshish nahi karta. Yeh ek aise soch hai jo abhi aur is waqt ko imandari se nahi jeeti. Shayad entrance exam abhi door ho. Shayad kisi ko yeh pata nahi ki kya padhna hai ya kitni gehraai se padhna hai, aur usse thoda mushkil lagta hai. Lekin thoda thoda karke karna kaafi hai—har din kuch mathematical formulas parhna, kuch shabdon ko yaad karna. Seedha kehna, apni naach ko karna. Aise karne se ek ehsaas hoga, "Aaj maine yeh kiya"; yeh jo aaj ka din tha, uska maksad yeh tha. Bilkul, aaj ka din toh distant future ke entrance exam ke liye nahi hai. Aur yeh wahi baat tumhare pita ke liye bhi sach ho sakti thi—wo apne har din ke kaam ki imandari se naach rahe the. Unhone apni zindagi ko abhi aur is waqt mein imandari se jeeya, bina kisi bade lakshya ya uske praapt karne ki zarurat ke. Agar yeh sach hai, toh lagta hai unki zindagi khushhaal thi.

YOUTH: Kya tum keh rahe ho ki mujhe is tarah jeene ko swikar karna chahiye? Ki main apne pita ke kaam se bhare jeevan ko sweekar karoon?

PHILOSOPHER: Tumhe ise swikar karne ki zarurat nahi hai. Bas unki zindagi ko us line ke roop mein dekhne ki bajaye, usse kaise jeeya gaya, uske lamhon ko dekho.

YOUTH: Lamhe.

PHILOSOPHER: Aur tumhari apni zindagi ke baare mein bhi yeh kaha ja sakta hai. Tum apne distant future ke liye objectives set karte ho, aur ab ko apna preparatory period samajhte ho. Tum sochte ho, mujhe yeh karna hai, aur main yeh tab karunga jab waqt aayega. Yeh ek aisi jeene ki tareeka hai jo zindagi ko talne ke liye hai. Jab tak hum zindagi ko talte hain, hum kahin nahi ja sakte aur humare din bas ek ke baad ek, ek hee roote pan mein guzar jaayenge, kyunki hum abhi ko bas ek preparatory period samajhte hain, patience ka samay. Lekin ek "abhi" jisme koi entrance exam ke liye padh raha ho, yeh sachchi baat hai.

YOUTH: Theek hai, main yeh swikar karta hoon. Main zaroor abhi aur is waqt ko imandari se jeene ko swikar kar sakta hoon, bina koi banayi hui line set kiye. Lekin mere paas koi sapne ya objectives nahi hain. Mujhe yeh nahi pata ki kis dance ko karna hai. Mera yeh abhi aur is waqt bas bekaar ke pal hain.

PHILOSOPHER: Objectives ya is tarah ki baatein na hona koi dikkat nahi hai. Imandari se abhi aur is waqt jeena apne aap mein ek dance hai. Tumhe zyada serious hone ki zarurat nahi hai. Kripya imandari ko zyada serious hone ke saath confuse mat karna.

YOUTH: Imandari se jeena lekin zyada serious nahi hona.

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Zindagi hamesha simple hoti hai, aisi cheez nahi jise hum zyada serious banayein. Agar koi har pal ko imandari se jee raha hai, toh usse zyada serious hone ki zarurat nahi. Aur ek aur baat hai jo main chahta hoon ki tum dhyan mein rakho: Jab koi energetic viewpoint apnata hai, toh zindagi hamesha poori hoti hai.

YOUTH: Poora?

PHILOSOPHER: Agar tumhari zindagi, ya meri zindagi, abhi aur is waqt khatam ho jaye, toh usse khush nahi kaha jaa sakta. Woh zindagi jo 20 saal ki umr mein khatam ho jati hai aur woh zindagi jo 90 saal tak chalti hai, dono poori zindagiyan hain, aur dono khushiyan bhari zindagiyan hain.

YOUTH: Toh agar maine abhi aur is waqt ko imandari se jeeya hai, toh woh lamhe hamesha poore honge?

PHILOSOPHER: Bilkul. Ab, maine "life-lie" shabd ko baar baar istemal kiya hai humari baat-chit mein. Main isse sabse bade life-lie ke baare mein baat karke samapt karna chahta hoon.

YOUTH: Kripya batayein.

PHILOSOPHER: Sabse bada life-lie yeh hai ki abhi aur is waqt ko na jeena. Yeh apne past aur future ko dekhna, apni poori zindagi par ek dheemi roshni daalna, aur yeh maan lena ki tumne kuch dekh liya hai. Ab tak, tum abhi aur is waqt se mookh mod chuke ho aur bas kalpnik past aur futures par roshni daali hai. Tumne apni zindagi ke saath, in na badalne wale palon ke saath ek bada jhoot bola hai.

YOUTH: Oh, samajh gaya!

PHILOSOPHER: Toh life-lie ko door kar do aur bina dar ke abhi aur is waqt par ek chamakdaar roshni daalo. Yeh tum kar sakte ho.

YOUTH: Yeh main kar sakta hoon? Kya tumhe lagta hai ki mujhe yeh himmat hai ki main yeh pal imandari se jeeoon, bina life-lie ka sahara liye?

PHILOSOPHER: Kyunki na toh past hai, na future hai, toh hum abhi ki baat karte hain. Yeh kal ya parson nahi decide karte. Yeh abhi aur is waqt hai.

Give Meaning to Seemingly Meaningless Life

YOUTH: Tum kya keh rahe ho?

PHILOSOPHER: Mera maanna hai ki yeh charcha ab apne ant tak pahunch gayi hai. Tumhare liye yeh faisla hai ki tum is paani ko peeoge ya nahi.

YOUTH: Ah, shayad Adlerian psychology aur tumhari philosophy sach mein mujhe badal rahi hai. Shayad main apne is faisle ko chhodne ki koshish kar raha hoon ki main badal nahi sakta, aur ek nayi zindagi, ek nayi lifestyle ko apna raha hoon... Lekin ruk jao, ek aakhri sawal hai jo main poochna chahta hoon.

PHILOSOPHER: Aur wo kya hoga?

YOUTH: Jab zindagi ko ek silsile ke palon ke roop mein liya jaye, jo sirf yahan aur ab hai, toh isse kya maine rakhne ki sambhavnayein hain? Main kyon paida hua tha, aur main kyun is mushkil bhari zindagi ko jhel raha hoon jab tak meri antim saans na aa jaye? Iska maksad mujhe samajh mein nahi aata.

PHILOSOPHER: Zindagi ka kya maqsad hai? Log kis liye jeete hain? Jab kisi ne Adler se yeh sawaal kiya, toh unka jawab yeh tha: "Zindagi ka kisi bhi roop mein koi maqsad nahi hai."

YOUTH: Zindagi ka koi maqsad nahi hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Jis duniya mein hum jeete hain, wo hamesha har tarah ke bhayankar ghatnaon se ghiri rehti hai, aur hum jangon aur prakritik aapdaon se ghire hue hain. Jab hum dekhte hain ki bachche jang ki halchal mein mar rahe hain, tab hum zindagi ke maqsad ke baare mein baat nahi kar sakte. Matlab, zindagi ke baare mein generalizations ka istemal karke baat karna bekaar hai. Lekin aise samvedansheel, samajhdari ko bhoolkar khade rehna, usse apnaana hai. Har haal mein humein kuchh na kuchh action lena zaroori hai. Humain Kant ke "ichha" ka samna karna hoga.

YOUTH: Haan!

PHILOSOPHER: Maan lo, koi ek bade prakritik aapda ka samna karta hai, aur wo pichhe mudh kar yah sochta hai, "Aise kuch kaise ho sakta tha?" Yeh kitna meaningful ho sakta hai? Ek kathin anubhav ek aise avsar hona chahiye jahan hum aagey dekh kar soch sakein, "Main ab se kya kar sakta hoon?"

YOUTH: Main puri tarah se sehmat hoon!

PHILOSOPHER: Aur Adler, jab unhone kaha ki "Zindagi ka kisi bhi roop mein koi maqsad nahi hai," toh unhone yeh bhi kaha, "Jo bhi maqsad zindagi ka hai, usse vyakti ko apne liye chhanna hoga."

YOUTH: Vyakti ko apne liye chhanna hoga? Iska kya matlab hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Yudh ke dauran, mere dada ji ko bombaardment ka samna karna pada tha, aur unka chehra bhut bhadkar jal gaya tha. Har roop mein yeh ek bhayankar aur inhuman ghatna thi. Yeh bilkul sambhav tha ki wo apni lifestyle ko "duniya ek bhayankar jagah hai" ya "log mere dushman hain" ke nazariye se chunte. Lekin jab mere dada ji hospital jaate, toh hamesha aur bhi yatrai unke liye apni seat de dete the. Yeh maine apni maa se suna tha, isliye main nahi jaanta ki unhone sach mein kaisa mehsoos kiya. Lekin yeh mera vishwas hai: Mere dada ji ne apni lifestyle ko "log mere saathi hain, aur duniya ek adbhut jagah hai" ke nazariye se chuna tha. Yeh wahi baat hai jo Adler keh rahe hain ki jo bhi maqsad zindagi ka hai, usse vyakti ko apne liye chhanna hoga. Zindagi ka kisi bhi roop mein koi maqsad nahi hai, lekin tum apne liye uska maqsad chune sakte ho. Aur tumhi wo vyakti ho jo apni zindagi ka maqsad chune sakte ho.

YOUTH: Toh, kripya mujhe batao! Main kaise ek bekaar zindagi mein sahi maqsad chhune sakta hoon? Mujhe abhi tak vishwas nahi hai!

PHILOSOPHER: Tum apni zindagi mein kho gaye ho. Tum kyon kho gaye ho? Tum kho gaye ho kyunki tum azadi chune ki koshish kar rahe ho, matlab, ek aisa raasta jahan tumhe doosron se nafrat ka dar na ho aur tum doosron ki zindagi jeene na lag jao - ek raasta jo sirf tumhara ho.

YOUTH: Bilkul! Main khushi chahata hoon, aur azadi chahata hoon!

PHILOSOPHER: Jab koi azadi chune ki koshish karta hai, toh yeh bilkul swabhavik hai ki wo apna raasta kho sakta hai. Is mod par, Adlerian psychology ek "margdarshak sitaara" dikhati hai jo azadi ke jeene ki taraf ek maha compass hai.

YOUTH: Ek margdarshak sitaara?

PHILOSOPHER: Jaise koi yatrai apne raaste ko North Star par nirbhar karta hai, waise humari zindagi mein humein ek margdarshak sitaara chahiye. Yeh Adlerian psychology ka tareeka hai. Yeh ek vistarit ideal hai jo kehta hai ki jab tak hum is compass ko nahi khona aur is disha mein aage badhte rahe, tab tak khushi milegi.

YOUTH: Wo sitaara kahan hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Wo hai doosron ko yogdan dena.

YOUTH: Huh? Contribution to others!

PHILOSOPHER: Chahe tum jo bhi moments jee rahe ho, ya koi tumse nafrat kare, jab tak tum apne guiding star "Main doosron ke liye contribute karta hoon" ko nahi bhoolte, tum apna raasta nahi kho doge, aur jo tum chaahoge, wo kar sakte ho. Chahe tumhe nafrat ho ya nahi, tum usse koi farq nahi karte, aur apni zindagi free tarike se jeete ho.

YOUTH: Agar mujhe doosron ke liye contribution ka star apne upar asmaan mein dikhai de, toh hamesha mere paas khushi aur mere saath saath doston ka saath hoga.

PHILOSOPHER: Toh phir, chalo ab sach mein yeh moments ko dance ki tarah jeete hain aur sach mein jeene ka hai. Na past ko dekho, na future ko. Har complete moment ko ek dance ki tarah jee lo. Koi competition ki zaroorat nahi hai, aur destination ka koi matlab nahi hai. Jab tak tum dance kar rahe ho, tum kahin na kahin pahunch jaoge.

YOUTH: Ek "somewhere" jo koi aur nahi jaane!

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh hai energetic life ka nature. Agar mein apni zindagi peechhe mudh ke dekho, chahe jitna bhi koshish karoon, kabhi bhi main yeh nahi samajh paunga ki main yahaan kyu hoon. Waise toh, ek waqt tha jab main Greek philosophy ka adhyaan karta tha, lekin dheere dheere maine Adlerian psychology bhi seekhna shuru kiya, aur ab main tumse yeh baatein kar raha hoon, mere anmol dost ke saath. Yeh sab uss dance ka natija hai. Jab tum yahaan aur ab sach mein, puri tarah se dance karte ho, tabhi tumhein apni zindagi ka meaning samajh aayega.

YOUTH: Kya yeh sach hai? Main... main tumpe vishwas karta hoon!

PHILOSOPHER: Haan, please vishwas karo. Mere kai saal Adler ke vicharon ke saath jeene ke baad, maine kuch dekha hai.

YOUTH: Aur wo kya hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh hai ki ek insaan ka power bohot bada hota hai, yaani "mera power anant hai."

YOUTH: Tumhara kya matlab hai?

PHILOSOPHER: Mera matlab yeh hai ki agar "main" badalta hoon, toh duniya badal jayegi. Yeh kaafi asaan hai samajhna—duniya ko badalne ke liye mujhe hi badalna hoga, koi aur nahi kar sakta mere liye. Adlerian psychology seekhne ke baad jo duniya mujhe nazar aayi, wo meri pehle wali duniya se bilkul alag thi.

YOUTH: Agar main badalta hoon, toh duniya badal jayegi. Koi aur meri duniya ko mere liye nahi badalega...

PHILOSOPHER: Yeh kuch waise hi hai jaise ek aadmi ko, jo kaafi saalon se nearsighted tha, pehli baar chashma pehene par shock lagta hai. Jo duniya pehle dhundhli thi, ab woh clearly dikhai dene lagti hai, aur rang bhi zyada vibrant lagte hain. Main sirf yeh soch sakta hoon ki agar tumhe bhi aise koi anubhav ho, toh tum kitne khush hoge.

YOUTH: Ah, agar mujhe pata hota! Main chahta hoon ki yeh sab mujhe das saal pehle pata hota, ya kam se kam paanch saal pehle. Agar paanch saal pehle pata hota, jab main job mein laga tha...

PHILOSOPHER: Nahi, yeh galat hai. Tum kehte ho ki tumhe yeh sab das saal pehle pata hota, lekin yeh isliye hai kyunki Adler ke vichar ab tumhare andar resonate kar rahe hain. Kisi ko nahi pata ki agar tumhe yeh das saal pehle pata hota, toh tum kaise mehsoos karte. Yeh discussion tumhein abhi sunna zaroori tha.

YOUTH: Haan, yeh mujhe zaroori tha!

PHILOSOPHER: Ek baar phir, main tumhe Adler ke shabdon ko dohraata hoon: "Kisi ko shuru karna hoga. Dusre log shayad cooperative na ho, lekin yeh tumse sambandhit nahi hai. Mera salah hai: Tumhe shuru karna chahiye. Chahe dusre log cooperative ho ya na ho."

YOUTH: Main ab tak yeh nahi keh sakta ki kya main badla hoon, ya jo duniya main uss nazariye se dekh raha hoon, wo badli hai. Lekin ek baat hai jo main puri vishwas ke saath keh sakta hoon: Yahaan aur ab ka pal bohot chamak raha hai! Haan, itni zyada chamak hai ki mujhe kal ka kuch nazar nahi aa raha.

PHILOSOPHER: Main maanta hoon ki tumne pani pee liya hai. Toh chhote dost jo aage chal rahe ho, kya hum saath chal sakte hain?

YOUTH: Main bhi tum pe vishwas karta hoon. Haan, chalo saath chalna hai. Aur tumhara shukriya jo tumne apna itna waqt diya.

PHILOSOPHER: Tumhara bhi shukriya.

YOUTH: Main umeed karta hoon ki tum mujhe kabhi wapas yahan aane par naraaz nahi hoge. Haan, ek anmol dost ki tarah. Aur main tumhare arguments ko todne ke baare mein kuch aur nahi kahunga.

PHILOSOPHER: Ha-ha! Aakhirkar, tumne mujhe ek yuva ka muskaan dikhaya. Achha, kaafi der ho gayi hai. Chalo apni raat guzar lete hain, aur nayi subah ka swagat karte hain.

Young man dheere se apne shoelaces bandh kar philosopher ke ghar se bahar nikal gaya. Jab usne darwaza khola, usne apne saamne ek barf se dhaka hua drishya dekha. Purn chand, jo apni udti hui roop mein dhundhla gaya tha, uske pairon ke neeche chamak rahi safedi ko roshan kar raha tha. Kitni saaf hawa. Kitni chamakti roshni. Main is nayi barf par kadam rakhne jaa raha hoon, aur apna pehla kadam uthata hoon. Yuva aadmi ne gehri saans li, apne chehre par thodi si daadi ko halka sa chhoda, aur jor se kaha, "Duniya simple hai, aur zindagi bhi."

Afterword

Zindagi mein aise kai pal hote hain jab koi kitabein jo ek din aap pick karte ho, agle din apki soch aur duniya ko bilkul badal deti hain.

Yeh 1999 ka sardiyon ka waqt tha, aur main apni 20s ke dino mein tha, jab mujhe aisi hi ek kitaab Ikebukuro ke ek bookshop mein mil gayi thi. Yeh thi Ichiro Kishimi ki Adorā Shinrigaku Nyūmon (Introduction to Adlerian Psychology).

Yeh ek aisi soch thi, jo har tareeke se gehri thi, lekin seedhi bhasha mein samjhayi gayi thi, jo humari accepted wisdoms ko unke buniyadi level pe ulat deti thi. Ek Copernican kranti jo trauma ko nafrat karti thi aur etiology ko teleology mein badal deti thi. Hamesha Freudians aur Jungians ke vicharon mein mujhe kuch unconvincing lagta tha, isliye yeh mujhe bohot gehra asar gaya.

Yeh Alfred Adler kaun tha? Maine ab tak uski existence kaise nahi jaana? Maine Adler ke har ek kitab ko kharida jo mujhe mil sakti thi aur unhein baar-baar padhte gaya.

Lekin ek baat mujhe tab samajh mein aayi. Jo cheez mujhe sabse zyada interest kar rahi thi, wo sirf Adlerian psychology nahi thi, balki ek aisi cheez thi jo philosopher, Ichiro Kishimi ke filter se nikal kar saamne aayi thi: Woh tha Kishimi-Adler studies jo main dhoond raha tha.

Socrates, Plato aur dusre ancient Greek philosophers ki soch pe adharit, jo Adlerian psychology Kishimi humein samjhata hai, woh Adler ko ek thinker aur philosopher ke roop mein dikhata hai, jiska kaam clinical psychology ke boundaries se kaafi aage tha. Misal ke taur pe, yeh baat “Sirf social contexts mein hi insaan ek individual banta hai” Hegelian hai; jabki woh subjective interpretation ko objective truth pe zyada importance deta hai, yeh Nietzsche ki worldview ko echo karta hai; aur Husserl aur Heidegger ki phenomenology se yaad dilane wale ideas bhi kafi milte hain.

Adlerian psychology, jo in philosophical insights se prerit ho kar yeh kehta hai “Sabhi problems interpersonal relationship problems hain,” “Log badal sakte hain aur is pal se khush reh sakte hain,” aur “Problem ability ka nahi, courage ka hai,” yeh sab mujhe kaafi confused tha, lekin yeh meri worldview ko bilkul badal diya.

Phir bhi, mere aas paas koi bhi aisa nahi tha jo Adlerian psychology ke baare mein jaane. Aakhirkar, mujhe yeh khayal aaya ke main kisi din Kishimi ke saath mil kar Adlerian psychology (Kishimi-Adler studies) ki definitive edition banane ka soch raha hoon, aur maine har ek editor se contact kiya aur is moka ka intezaar kiya.

March 2010 mein, mujhe akhirkar Kishimi se milne ka moka mila, jo Kyoto mein rehte hain. Mere pehle Introduction to Adlerian Psychology padhne ke baad das saal guzar chuke the.

Jab Kishimi ne mujhse kaha, “Socrates ki soch Plato ke zariye duniya tak pohncchi. Main chahunga ki main Adler ke liye Plato banun,” bina kisi hesitation ke, maine jawab diya, “Phir main aapke liye Plato banunga, Mr. Kishimi.” Aur isi tarah yeh kitaab ban gayi.

Adler ke simple aur universal ideas ka ek pehlu yeh hai ke kabhi-kabhi lagta hai ki wo bilkul obvious baat kar rahe hain, jabki doosre waqt wo bilkul unrealizable, idealistic theories ke roop mein samjhe jaate hain.

Isi liye, is kitaab mein, maine reader ke doubts ko dhyan mein rakhte hue ek dialogue format apnaya hai, jo ek philosopher aur ek young man ke beech hai. Jaise is kahani mein dikhaya gaya hai, Adler ke ideas ko apnaana aur unhe zindagi mein utarna koi aasan kaam nahi hai. Kuch baatein hain jo aapko revolt karne par majboor karti hain, kuch statements jo accept karna mushkil hota hai, aur kuch proposals jo samajhna tough hote hain.

Lekin Adler ke ideas ke paas itni taqat hai ki wo kisi bhi insaan ki zindagi ko puri tarah se badal sakte hain, jaise unhone mere saath kiya tha ek das saal pehle. Phir baat sirf yeh hai ki ek kadam aage badhne ki himmat ho.

Ant mein, main apna gehra shukriya express karna chahta hoon Ichiro Kishimi ka, jo hamesha mujhe apna disciple nahi samajhte the, chahe mein unse kaafi chhota tha, par mujhe ek dost ki tarah milte the; editor Yoshifumi Kakiuchi ka, jo har kadam par meri madad karte rahe; aur aakhri mein, is kitaab ke sabhi readers ka shukriya.

Dhanyawaad.

Fumitake Koga

Adler ki maut ke baad pachaas saal se zyada waqt guzar gaya hai, lekin unke vicharon ki tazaayi aaj bhi samay ke saath nahin chal paayi hai. Freud aur Jung ke muqablay mein, aaj Japan mein Adler ka naam kam hi jaana jaata hai. Adler ki shiksha ko ek “samaajik khudai” kaha jaata hai jisme har koi kuch nikal sakta hai. Aur, jabki unka naam aksar nahi liya jaata, unki shiksha ka prabhav kaafi door tak fail chuka hai.

Main apni late teens se hi philosophy padh raha tha, aur yeh waqt tha jab meri ek beti hui thi, aur main apne early thirties mein tha, jab mujhe pehli baar Adlerian psychology ka pata chala. Eudaimonic theory, jo sawal karti hai “Khushi kya hai?”, yah Western philosophy ke central themes mein se ek hai. Maine kai saalon tak is sawal par socha tha jab tak maine pehli baar ek lecture attend kiya aur wahan mujhe Adlerian psychology ke baare mein pata chala. Jab maine lecturer ko yeh kahte suna, “Jo log aaj mera lecture sunenge, wo is pal se apne aap ko badal kar khush ho sakte hain,” mujhe thoda gussa aaya. Lekin saath hi, mujhe yeh baat samajh mein aayi ki maine kabhi apne aap se yeh gehra socha hi nahi ki main apne aap ko kaise khush rakh sakta hoon, aur yeh soch ke “khushi dhoondhna” shayad utna mushkil nahi tha jitna maine samjha tha, main Adlerian psychology mein ruchi lene laga.

Iss tarah, main Adlerian psychology ko philosophy ke saath saath padhne laga. Jaldi hi, mujhe yeh samajh mein aaya ki main unhe alag alag fields ke roop mein nahi padh sakta. Jaise, teleology ka vichar, jo Adler ke samay mein achanak nahi aya tha, balki yeh Plato aur Aristotle ki philosophy mein bhi tha. Mujhe yeh spasht dikhayi diya ki Adlerian psychology ek aise soch ka tareeka tha jo Greek philosophy se juda hua tha. Aur, maine yeh bhi dekha ki Socrates jo youth ke saath dialogues karta tha, aur jo Plato ne likh kar duniya ko diya, wo aaj ke samay mein counseling ke bilkul barabar tha.

Zyada log philosophy ko samajhna mushkil samajhte hain, lekin Plato ke dialogues mein koi vishesh bhasha nahi hoti. Ajeeb baat yeh hai ki philosophy ko sirf visheshagyon ke dwara samjhaayi jaane wali baat ke roop mein discuss kiya jaata hai. Kyunki apne asal mein, philosophy ka matlab “wisdom” nahi, balki “wisdom ka prem” hai, aur wahi important hai jo aapko nahi pata aur aap usse seekhte ho.

Kya aap wisdom haasil kar paenge ya nahi, yeh ek alag sawal hai. Aaj agar koi Plato ke dialogues padhe, to unhe yeh dekhkar hairani hogi ki, jaise, jo courage par dialogue hai, wo kisi bhi nishchay par nahi pahuchta.

Socrates ke saath jo youths dialogue karte the, wo hamesha unse pehle se hi sahmat nahi hote the. Wo unki baaton ko puri tarah se nakaar dete hain. Yeh kitaab bhi Socrates ke baad philosophy ki tradition ko continue kar rahi hai, aur isliye yeh philosopher aur youth ke beech ke dialogue ka format follow karti hai.

Adlerian psychology ko seekhkar, jo ek aur philosophy hai, main un researchers ki tarah jeene mein bechain ho gaya tha jo sirf apne poorvajan ke likhe hue texts padhte aur interpret karte hain. Main bhi Socrates ki tarah dialogues mein shamil hona chahta tha, aur aakhirkar maine psychiatry clinics aur dusre sthalon par counseling karna shuru kiya.

Is dauraan, maine kai youth se milne ka moka paya. Yeh sabhi youth sachche jeene chahte the, lekin zyada tar aise log the jinhe duniya ke purane, thake hue buzurgon ne “zyada realistic ho” keh kar unke sapno ko chhod dene ko kaha tha, wo log jo apne interpersonal relationships mein uljhanon mein phas gaye the, jo unki purity ke karan complex ho gayi thi.

Sachai se jeena zaroori hai, lekin yeh apne aap mein kaafi nahi hai. Adler humein batate hain ki sabhi problems interpersonal relationship ki problems hoti hain. Lekin agar kisi ko achhe interpersonal relationships banana nahi aata, to wo dusre logon ki expectations ko pura karne ki koshish kar sakte hain. Aur agar wo apne jazbaat dusre logon ko nuqsan nahi pohchana chahte, toh apne asli iradon ko chhod kar, jo wo sach mein karna chahte the, wo kuch aur karte hain.

Yeh youth jo is kitaab mein hai, jiske paas kai problems hain aur jo pehle hi harsh reality ka samna kar chuka hai, unhe yeh philosopher ka nazariya, ki yeh duniya ek simple jagah hai aur koi bhi is din se khush reh sakta hai, shayad hairat mein daalne wala ho sakta hai. Adler kehte hain, “Meri psychology sabhi logon ke liye hai,” aur Plato ki tarah hi, wo humein humare interpersonal relationships ko behtar banane ke liye vishesh steps dikhte hain.

Agar Adler ki soch ko samajhna mushkil lagta hai, to isliye kyunki yeh samajik soch ke viprit hai, aur isse samajhne ke liye ise apni zindagi mein utarna padta hai. Unki baatein mushkil nahi hain, lekin phir bhi aise lagta hai jaise sardiyon mein garmi ka tasavvur karna ho, lekin mujhe ummid hai ki readers apne interpersonal relationship problems ko solve karne ke liye yahan chhupi hui chaabi ko samajh paenge.

Jab Fumitake Koga, jo mere is kitaab ke collaborator aur writer hain, pehli baar meri study mein aaye, to unhone kaha, “Main aapke liye Plato banunga, Mr. Kishimi.”

Aaj jo hum Socrates ke philosophy ko seekh pa rahe hain, jiska koi likhit praman nahi hai, to wo Plato ke dwara likhe gaye dialogues ki wajah se hai. Lekin Plato ne sirf Socrates ki baaton ko record nahi kiya. Yeh Plato ke unki baaton ko sahi tareeke se samajhne ki wajah se hai ki aaj bhi Socrates ke shikshan ko hum tak pohnachaya ja raha hai.

Yeh Fumitake Koga ki apaar samajh aur mehnat ki wajah se hai, jo unhone kai saalon tak mere saath baar-baar dialogues karke yeh kitaab banayi. Main aur Koga dono apni university ke dino mein apne teachers ke paas jaate the, aur is kitaab ka youth, jo is samasya ka samna karta hai, wo hamara ek roop ho sakta hai, lekin sabse zyada, wo aap hain, jo is kitaab ko padh rahe hain. Mera sachha vishwas hai ki jab tak aapke doubts hain, main is dialogue ke zariye aapke jeevan ki har situation mein aapka saath de paunga.

About the Authors

ICHIRO KISHIMI Kyoto mein paida huye the aur wahi abhi rehte hain. Woh Adlerian psychology par likhte hain aur lectures dete hain, aur youth ko psychiatric clinics mein counseling provide karte hain, jaise ki certified counselor aur consultant for the Japanese Society of Adlerian Psychology. Unhone Alfred Adler ke kuch writings—The Science of Living aur Problems of Neurosis—ka Japanese mein translation kiya hai, aur woh Introduction to Adlerian Psychology ke author hain, saath hi aur bhi kai books likhi hain.

FUMITAKE KOGA ek award-winning professional writer aur author hain. Unhone kai bestselling business-related aur general non-fiction works release ki hain. Unhone Adlerian psychology ko apne late twenties mein seekha aur uske conventional wisdom-defying ideas se deeply affected hue. Uske baad, Koga ne kai baar Ichiro Kishimi se Kyoto mein milke, unse Adlerian psychology ka essence samjha, aur iss book mein use hone wale classical "dialogue format" method of Greek philosophy ke notes liye.
